Gas Distended His Stomach

Caused Palpitation and Prevented Sleep. When Health Was Gone, Cure Followed Use of "Nerviline."

"My last wish will be," writes Harry P. Pollard, a well-known boot and shoe traveller of Hartford, "that everyone with a bad stomach may learn as I did, before it's too late, that Nerviline is the one remedy to cure. Why, I was in mighty bad shape, my digestion was all wrong, and every night I would waken with a start and find my heart jumping like a threshing machine. This was caused by gas on my stomach pressing against my heart. When I started to use Nerviline I got better mighty fast. It is certainly a grand remedy for the travelling man, keeps your stomach in order, cures cramps, prevents lumbago or rheumatism, breaks up chest colds and sore throat—in fact there hasn't been an ache or pain inside or outside for the past two years that I haven't cured with Nerviline. Do you wonder I recommend it?"

TESTIMONIAL NO. 4690

For general household use Nerviline has no equal; it will cure the aches and ailments of the entire family—refuse anything but Nerviline. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co. Kingston, Ont.

Sent Up For Trial.

Edward Kane, a nineteen-year-old lad, was committed for trial yesterday morning by Police Magistrate Dumble, at the Police Court, on a charge of forgery. He will come before the autumn assizes. County Crown Attorney Wood prosecuted, and Mr. G. N. Gordon, acted for the defence.

Child Severely Burned.

Mr. Edward Elcombe's three-year-old son Freddie, met with a painful accident, his clothes having caught fire while he and other children were burning leaves on the street in front of Mr. Elcombe's home. Mr. Elcombe also had his hands burned in extinguishing the burning clothes of his little son. Although suffering great pain, the little fellow is doing nicely.

Danger in Burning Leaves

It was only a few days ago that The Times warned parents to keep their children from playing near the fires when the dry leaves are being burned on the roadside. Already one little tot has suffered from carelessness in this respect. If children are allowed to throw on leaves and help to keep these fires going as too many of them do, there is sure to be accidents. Parents should exercise greater watchfulness over their little ones in this matter.

Shot in the Foot.

While rabbit hunting in the woods west of Jackson Park on Saturday, a young man named Bruce Hampton, a toolmaker in the C.G.E., works, met with a painful accident. It appears that the young man was accompanied by his two brothers, and became separated from them in some way. While looking for rabbits he was shot in the foot and legs, his boot having been taken for a rabbit by one of the brothers. He was taken to the farm house of Mr. A. Mills, and subsequently driven to Nicholls' Hospital in Hellechem's ambulance, where the small shot was extracted. No serious results are anticipated.

Charged With Wife Beating.

Jacob Batten, of Dummer, was charged at the County Police Court with wife beating. He was allowed to go on six months' suspended sentence, and on agreeing to live peacefully with his spouse, who was also willing. Since the day when the assault was alleged to have been committed, the two have been living apart, and he has been endeavoring to get her to come back. Batten admitted that he had abused his wife, but appeared to be penitent. If she will return again, he would treat her right, he said. J. E. L. Goodwill appeared for the complainant.

A New Machine.

Messrs. R. G. Sturgeon & Co., of Simcoe street, have added to their steam heating plant a new machine for pipe threading. This is said to be the only machine of its kind in the city. It is capable of threading a pipe eight inches in diameter, and acts as its own vice.

A Freak Bet.

The freak bet on the result of the election, made by two local citizens, by which the loser was to roll a peanut with a toothpick along George Street, from Simcoe street to Brock street, or forfeit $10, was understood to have been settled last night by the payment of the money.

Mrs. R. T. Hounsell's Success.

Sixty prizes at three exhibitions this fall, tells the splendid success of Mrs. R. T. Hounsell, Edinburgh St. Mrs. Hounsell had exhibits at the Peterborough Industrial, Lindsay and Millbrook fairs of commercial and ornamental penmanship, black and colored crayon work, paintings in water colors and oil, fancy work and flowers. At the same number of shows last year she took forty-five prizes. An increase of fifteen for the year's fairs, bringing the total to sixty, is very flattering to Mrs. Hounsell.

Lives in the Doomed Town

Mr. John Calder, a brother of Mr. Frank Calder, who resides in the south end of the city, is a resident of Austin, Pa. He was there when the flood swept away the little town, and was saved by almost a miracle. A letter received yesterday by his brother here tells of the awful suddenness of the deluge. People did not have time to escape, the great wall of water sweeping everything before it. People were not drowned, as a rule, but were torn and mangled by the awful debris that came with the awful anche of water.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

On Annual Trip.

The members of the Ketchecum Lake Fishing and Hunting Club, left yesterday morning for their annual hunt. The party included Messrs. E. A. Peck, A. H. Stratton, J. E. Belcher, W. H. Bradburn, R. Stuart, H. Winch, R. Gibbs, R. Denne, R. Doble and T. H. Hooper. A few days ago an interesting event took place in connection with the Club, when Mr. R. J. Munro was presented with a magnificent rifle from the members, in honor of his recent marriage, with a short, but well-worded address. Mr. Harry Winch made the presentation, and Mr. Munro responded in a few well-chosen words.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Rev. Mr. Pogue was in Toronto yesterday.

Mr. A. Beck, Detroit, is the guest of his nephew, Mr. Martin Lambe.

Mr. Wm. Wareham, Altoona, Pennsylvania, is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. R. E. Shera.

Miss Madge Graham has returned from a week's visit to friends in Buffalo.

Mr. Bruce Walton, of Toronto, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr and Mrs. Geo. Walton, Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Heasman, of Cobourg, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stuart, 593 Homewood avenue.

Mrs. R. F. Downey, 298 Boswell avenue, will receive on the 2nd Tuesday in November.

Miss Annie Patterson, of Peterborough spent Sunday in Burleigh, renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Russell have returned from their wedding tour and will take up their residence at the corner of Bennett and Benson streets.

A Provincial general election under the new Premier is regarded as certain within the next two or three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Millage of Detroit, are visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. Hetherington, 297 McDonald St.

Miss Ella Moore of Toronto, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Jas. Hetherington, McDonnell-street.

The many friends of Mr. J. J. Brandon, Fenelon Falls, who has been an invalid for some years, will regret to learn that he is seriously ill.

The condition of Mr. Tommy McDonough, of the Oriental Hotel, who is seriously ill, was somewhat easier last night. His many friends will deeply sympathize with him

RUGBY!

The P.C.I. held a fast practice at Riverside Park yesterday. The men are in good shape, but unfortunately the team has not succeeded in hitching up in any league, so that the games played will be only exhibitions

The W. E. A. C. fourteen, who were defeated Saturday in Port Hope, held a practice last night in front of the armories. As was made evident by the game on Saturday the teamwork needs great development, and the boys are working hard to get in shape for the clash with the Central Y.M.C.A. team next Saturday, when they will play their first junior O.R.F.U. game.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows: The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.20, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

A PARALLEL CASE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The "Ne Temere" decree, under which an otherwise legitimate and correct marriage is annulled because it is contrary to the canon law of the Church of Rome, is in many respects paralleled by the famous Guilbord case. It will be remembered that Guilbord was the owner of a lot in the Roman Catholic cemetery in Montreal; that he died out of the church, and the church authorities refused to allow of his being buried in this plot. The case was fought through court after court and finally went to the Privy Council. The decision of this body was to the effect that no churchly right or canon law could override British law; that Guilbord owned this plot in the Roman Catholic cemetery and should be buried there, and he was; though it took a couple of regiments of Canadian militia to enforce the order.

It would appear that our friends the Roman Heirarchy of Canada, will have to be forced if we are to have this marriage question settled. Protestants now understand where they are at.

—Justice.

CLOSE THE CLUBS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If our temperance friends would devote their attention to changing the law so as to blot out the sale of liquor in the clubs, it would do more for temperance than anything else.

CANADA DIDN'T LET THE TRUSTS SKIN THE PEOPLE

Meriden, Conn., Oct. 9.—The high price of sugar is given for the reason why a number of Meriden citizens today addressed an appeal to President Taft to investigate the "sugar trust." Among those who signed the letter to the President were Dr. E. W. Smith, a classmate at Yale of President Taft and Wm. H. Howes, who has been prominent in local civic reforms. The letter in part follows:

"We wish to call your attention to the fact that since adjournment of Congress the price of sugar has nearly doubled. No reports have appeared in the public press of any shortage in the sugar crop and no good reason has been given for the increase in price. But the sugar trust has been to great expense for defence of charges of grafting and for heavy fines for being caught with the goods and we believe the price of sugar has been advanced to cover these expenses.

"Within a short time one of our coteries of trust magnates laid plans to do business in Canada. The Canadian Government did not let them skin the people for forty years before it acted. The trust magnates were notified that if they started any hold-up operations they would go to jail as soon as they could be found. The trust magnates decided not to do business in Canada.

"We admire the splendid spirit of the Canadian officials. The jail is the place to punish the trust pirates. Fines have no more effect than shot blown from a bean blower. We are heartily sick of seeing the American people stand like helpless cattle and be robbed by the trusts."

SOWING HIS WILD OATS

REAPING A HARVEST OF SORROW

How many young men can look back on their early life and regret their misdeeds. "Sowing their wild oats" in various ways. Excesses, violation of nature's laws, "wine, women and song"—all have their victims. You have reformed but what about the seed you have sown—what about the harvest? Don't trust to luck. If you are at present within the clutches of any secret habit which is sapping your life by degrees; if you are suffering from the results of past indiscretions; if your blood has been tainted from any private disease and you dare not marry; if you are married and live in dread of symptoms breaking out and exposing your past; if you are suffering as the result of a misspent life—DRS. VOL XXXIV NO 235 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

INTERESTING PARTICULARS ABOUT THE PERSONNEL OF THE BORDEN CABINET

Toronto, Oct. 10.—Following are interesting particulars about the personnel of the new Cabinet as sworn in to-day; including age, religion occupation and years of service as M.P. Hon. George E. Foster has the honor of being the oldest member of the new Government. He is 64, Mr. W. T. White, with his 44 years, is the youngest. The average age of the 18 Ministers is 55.

There are seven Anglicans, six Methodists, four Roman Catholics and one Baptist.

In occupations, barristers, as usual predominate, there being eight gentlemen presumably learned in law. There are three merchants, four farmers, two physicians, one horticulturist, one manufacturer.

Fifteen of the new Cabinet were born in Canada, a fact which indicates that Canada is growing up. Of the other three, one was born in England, one in Ireland and one in the United States.

Seventeen members of the new Cabinet will require to be sworn in as P.C.'s. Only one (Foster) will escape that. This is the largest number of Privy Councillors created at one time in the history of British America.

Here are the details:

THE FIRST ITALIAN TROOPS HAVE LANDED IN TRIPOLI

CONSISTED OF INFANTRY, ARTILLERY, AND A COMPANY OF ARMY ENGINEERS.

Others Are En Route—The Greatest Part of the Army is at Sea—Most of Them Sail from Naples.

Constantinople, Oct. 10.—The Porte notified the Powers that she would expel all Italians from the Ottoman Empire within a given time unless Italy desisted from further action in Tripoli. It is understood that many towns in the interior notified the Government that the population will take the law into its own hands unless Turkey acted promptly in this matter. The Committee of Union and Progress of Young Turks warned the Government of the possibility of the massacre of Italians in the event of their remaining in Turkey.

The Cabinet yesterday decided, however, to postpone the expulsion of Italians from Turkish territory until the Powers had replied to her latest note asking them to intervene, now, that Italy has occupied Tripoli.

It is announced that the remainder of the army of occupation destined for Tripoli sailed last night. The statement is also made that the Turkish cavalry there is without food or ammunition and has not been reinforced. The Italian bluejackets are said to have captured 150 more Turks but where or when is not made public.

PROTECTORATE IMPOSSIBLE.

The Italian press is unanimous in the opinion that a protectorate over Tripoli is now impossible, and that since the place has been conquered offers of mediation based on the recognition of Turkish sovereignty will be refused. This attitude of the Italian press goes to prove that any attempts at mediation are useless before occupation is an accepted fact. It is believed here that the threats of Turkey to expel Italian subjects and to boycott Italian goods are bluffs preluding a direct plea for peace.

Telegraphic advices from Tripoli state that the Italian fleet at intervals is still shelling the city. The reason given is that the naval commanders are anxious to prevent a counter attack from the Turkish cavalry, which is still menacing the city. Official circles are optimistic concerning the situation, and are unwilling to believe that any serious guerilla warfare will follow the landing of the Italian forces.

LOOTING HOUSES OF EUROPEANS.

Rome, Oct. 10.—A message from Tripoli has been received here stating that the Arabs are looting the premises in the country which were abandoned by the Europeans at the outbreak of the war.

A telegram from Tripoli to the Tribuna says a force of 2,000 Turks, which was back in the country, has retreated to Charian. The Italians captured the advance posts of the Turks, taking 21 prisoners and the same number of quick-firing guns.

The branch of the Bank of Rome at Tripoli opened up again yesterday.

King Victor Emmanuel passed through Rome yesterday on his way from Pisa to review the departing troops at Naples. It is expected that a large part of the Tripolitan expedition will sail from that port to-day.

BRITAIN'S GRAIN SUPPLY THREATENED.

London, Oct. 10.—This notice was posted on the Baltic Exchange yesterday:

"Turkey has declared grain contraband of war and the banks will not finance steamers loading that staple. Such vessels have been stopped everywhere."

For the greater part of the day, it looked as if Great Britain's food supply was endangered by the action of Turkey, as 250 grain-carrying ships were tied up in the Black Sea. At this season of the year fully 30 per cent. of the wheat imported into Britain has to pass through the Bosphorus, and in this way would be at the mercy of the Turks. In view of this, Russia immediately protested and the British Foreign Office acted with all the haste possible in order to induce Turkey to rescind her action.

The result was that the grain merchants of Odessa late last evening cabled London as follows:

"Turkey has now agreed to permit the free passage of neutral vessels to their destination."

In some quarters here the action of Turkey is interpreted as a desperate attempt to embroil the other Powers.

Rome, Oct. 10.—The first Italian expeditionary force, which left Naples October 5, was landed at Tobruk, Tripoli, to-day. It consisted of infantry, artillery, and a company of engineers.

SOLDIERS ARE EN ROUTE.

Rome, Oct. 10.—(Via frontier)—The greater part of the Italian army expedition is now at sea en route for Tripoli.

This was learned from messages in conventional language that escaped the censor.

The landing of a whole army corps in Tripoli is looked upon as one of the most difficult operations of the war despite the fact that little fear of an attack by the enemy is entertained.

Once safely arrived off the Tripolitan coast it is expected that, with a favorable sea, the troops can be landed in two days.

Malta, Oct. 10.—It is reported that a majority of the Turkish troops in Tripoli have fled toward the Tunisian frontier.

Heaviness at Pit of The Stomach

A Feeling of Uneasiness Before And After Meals is Quickly Cured With Nerviline.

Nearly everyone gets an occasional attack of indigestion and knows just what that heavy feeling means in the stomach. "I was subject to stomach derangements and my health was seriously hampered on this account. After meals I belched gas, had a weighty sensation in my stomach and over my left side. The first relief I got was from Nerviline—I used it three times a day and was cured. I continue to use Nerviline occasionally, and find it is a wonderful aid to the stomach and digestive organs."

The above letter comes from Mrs. P. R. Stetson, wife of an important merchant in Brookton, and still further proof of the exceptional power of Nerviline is furnished by A. E. Rossman, the well-known upholsterer of Chester, who writes: "Let everyone with a bad stomach use 'Nerviline,' and I am sure there will be few sufferers left. I used to have cramps, rumbling noises, gas on my stomach and severe fits of indigestion. Nerviline was the only remedy that gave me relief, and I found it so entirely satisfactory that I would like to have my letter of recommendation published broadcast in order that others may profit by my experience."

You'll find a hundred uses for Nerviline—it's a trusty household remedy that sells to the extent of a million bottles per year—that's the best proof that it must cure and give unlimited satisfaction. Refuse anything offered in place of Nerviline. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co. Kingston, Ont.

COMES TO QUESTION BORDEN

London, Oct. 10.—R. A. Goulding, M.P., for Worcester, is going to Canada for the purpose, the Guardian says, of interviewing Premier Borden, and obtaining a pronouncement useful to the tariff reformers. The Guardian adds that hitherto Mr. Borden has not said a word to indicate that the new Government intends lowering the tariffs to please the Chamberlainites.

RECEPTION FOR HON. SAM HUGHES

Hon. Sam. Hughes, the new Minister of Militia, will arrive in Lindsay at 11.30 this morning. A guard of honor, consisting of one hundred members of the 45th Regiment will meet him at the station and headed by the regimental band the Minister will be escorted to Central Park, where congratulatory addresses will be presented.

A banquet will be tendered Col. Hughes by the electors of Victoria at an early date.

Many from Peterborough will no doubt be present to-day.

BLACK HAND WREAKS TERRIBLE REVENGE

TENEMENT HOUSE WAS BLOWN UP WHILE OCCUPANTS WERE ASLEEP.

Woman and Two Children Fell Into Flames—Owner Refused to Pay $1,500 to the Society.

Wheeling, Va., Oct. 10.—Four persons are believed to have perished at Benwood, a suburb, early to-day as the result of a Black Hand outrage, when a big frame tenement, housing forty persons, was blown up, and taking fire was consumed. The house was conducted by Edward Kolinskey, who, with his family and a large number of boarders, were asleep when a heavy charge of dynamite was exploded at one corner of the building.

The walls fell out, and men were blown from their beds. A woman with two children in her arms stood for a moment at a window and then fell back into the flames. A similar scene was enacted when a man attempted to escape from one of the upper stories. Kolinskey recently received a demand from the Black Hand for $1,500, but refused to place the money in the spot designated.

10,000 MILES IN 17 DAYS

London, Oct. 10.—To-night's papers made much of Lord Strathcona's 10,000 mile journey in seventeen days. His Lordship told the admiring pressmen surrounding him at Euston station: "Some day ninety years will be nearly middle age in man's life."

ITALIANS MUST SHUT UP SHOP

Constantinople, Oct. 10.—At a Cabinet Council to-day it was decided to close all Italian industrial, financial and scholastic establishments in Turkey and to seize Italian steamers.

ROMAN CATHOLIC AGGRESSIVENESS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The announcement that the Catholic Colonization Company has secured an option on four million acres of land in Western Canada for colonization by Roman Catholics from the United States is full of significance.

Reports from various sources in the West are to the effect that the Roman Church is unusually aggressive among the new settlers, and this colonization scheme may be part of a comprehensive and well-planned policy to capture the Great West, and in fact, the Dominion of Canada, for the Catholic Church. One cannot be familiar with present-day movements in this country without feeling that Romanism has too much her own way in almost every matter where Protestants and Catholics are alike concerned. The separate school systems of some of the provinces, and the marriage laws of the Province of Quebec, are evidences of how she triumphs in this free land. It is gratifying to see how her power is waning in Italy. France and Spain and other European countries, but there are many indications that her influence is growing stronger in the British Empire. "Shall Rome Conquer England?" is the title of a book published in 1910 by R. T. Horton, B.D., and Joseph Hocking. On page 75 they quote the late Cardinal Manning as saying to his clergy, "It is good for us reverent brothers to be here in England. If ever there was a country in which

WM. O. LIDGATE DIED AT ITHACA

Was Third Year Graduate at Cornell University

The many friends of Mr. Wm. O. Lidgate, Hawaiian Islands, will learn with deep regret of his sudden death at Ithica, N.Y., on Monday evening, caused by a severe attack of appendicitis. He was suddenly taken ill on Wednesday last and underwent an operation. Mr. Lidgate was a third year under graduate at Cornell University, and during the time he attended the University he frequently visited his aunts, Mrs. A. E. Coulthard and Mrs. R. R. Hall, Peterborough. His mother, Mrs. Lidgate, recently came to town to visit her mother, Mrs. John Lidgate, and his father only arrived in town last week from the Hawaiian Islands, and contemplated making a visit to their son at Ithica before returning to the Islands.

The late Mr. Lidgate was 22 years of age and was taking a very creditable course at the University. He is survived by his father and mother, and by his brother Kenneth and two sisters, Misses Elsie and Dora.

The remains were brought to Peterborough on the midnight train last night.

The funeral will take place from the residence of Mr. A. E. Coulthard 210 McDonnel street this afternoon at three o'clock, to St. John's church, where a service will be held. Interment at Little Lake cemetery.

WEDDING BELLS

WEDDING BELLS.

McKay—Carey.

THE home of Mr. and Mrs. James Carey 450 George street was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning, when their only daughter, Miss Evelyn Etta, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Sutherland McKay, of Halifax, N.S. Rev. Mr. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's church, officiated. The bride entered the parlour, escorted by her father, as Mendelssohn's wedding march was being played on the piano by Miss Aldrick. The contracting parties were unattended. The bride wore her travelling suit and the groom's gift a beautiful gold necklace and pin adorned her neck. His gift to the pianist was a gold bar set with pearls.

The bride has been one of the popular teachers on Central Normal training school, and for the last ten years has been a member of St. Paul's church choir, which suitably remembered her.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay will reside in Halifax, where the groom is prominently identified with the Quaker Oats Company.

Young—McCauley.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Anne's Church, Wooler, on September 27th, when Miss May McCauley of Trenton became the bride of Mr. Fred M. Young, Young's Point, the popular engineer of the steamer Islanda.

At 10 o'clock the bride entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Nellie McCauley. She was given away by her father and was handsomely gowned in white silk embroidered net, veiled over white satin paillette and wore a large Gainsborough hat.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Kate McCauley, of Rochester, N.Y., attired in white embroidered marquisette, with a pretty large white hat. The groom was assisted by "Pat" Young, Captain of the steamer Islanda.

Rev. Father Phelan of Lakefield, cousin of the bride officiated, assisted by Rev. Father McCauley, of the Sacred Heart Church, Peterborough and Rev. Father McFadden of Wooler.

The numerous and costly presents testified to the very high esteem in which the young people are held.

Among the guests were Mr. Harold Young and the Misses Mollie and Irene Young, of Young's Point, brother and sisters of the bridegroom.

Bell—Lampitt.

A wedding was solemnized in St. John's Church, Norway, Toronto, on Saturday last, when Miss Edith Lampitt, second daughter of Mr. Wm. Lampitt of Peterborough, East City, became the bride of Mr. Christopher Bell, of Peterborough. The Rev. W. L. Baynes-Reed officiated. The bride was given away by her father, assisted by Miss Mary Colley. The groom was assisted by Mr. Jack Colley, of Toronto.

HOT STUFF FROM THE CATHOLIC REGISTER

The Catholic Register of October 5th, contains the following:

During election time the "Ne Temere" agitation was kept discreetly in the background. No one thought of making it a political issue. Why then try to force it to the front when the election is over. The grievance complained of affects only one Province. Why not leave the people of that Province to fight it out among themselves?

The Telegram has gone back for inspiration to that sweet-scented pulpit ornament (?) the Rev. John Coburn. From now until the next campaign we may reasonably look for the usual weekly dose of pulpit filth.

• • • •

When we talk about the "unchanging Church" we do not have in mind these "changeless" Catholics who are lost in contemplation when the collection-box is passed in front of them on Sunday. Most of them, too, are able to scrape together a little "change", when there is question of a luxury or a fleeting pleasure. The Church is about the only place, nowadays, where they can "beat" their way. And altogether too many of them are doing this.

• • • •

"The rugged honesty of United States Senator Carter," says the Transcript, "who died this week, will be forgotten neither in Washington nor in Montana. In speech and manner he was racy of the soil. Outspoken in his denunciation of political combines in the halls of national legislation, Thomas Carter's voice and vote were always on the side of justice and fair play. At home or in the Capitol he was a fine type of the Catholic gentleman. HE DID NOT USE HIS CATHOLICITY TO SECURE OFFICE. HE REFUSED TO TRADE ON HIS CREED. But once honored with posts of great trust and responsibility he acquitted himself of both with a high sense of honor. Ambitious public servants who are Catholics should note Senator Carter's maxim that in the service of the State he never had to stoop to anything that jeopardized his character as a man, a gentleman, or a Catholic."

ST. ANDREW'S NOTES

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed next Sabbath at the morning service. The prayer meeting will be combined with the "preparatory service" on Friday evening when Rev. ———— will preach.

The Sunday School is about to install one of Bausch and Lamb's most up-to-date Baloptricons. The hymns together with maps and pictures illustrating the Sunday School lessons will be thrown upon a screen and teaching will be attempted through the eye as well as through the ear.

The Session and Managers are still engaged in the house to house conference in the interest of missions. The Session and Managers have also decided to inaugurate a series of district meetings during the winter months. The regular Prayer Meeting which is held in the lecture room will be closed on the fourth Wednesday of each month and in its place seven meetings will be held, one in each of the seven districts into which the congregation has been divided. These meetings will be held in the homes of members of St. Andrews, and will be partly business, partly social and partly devotional.

Mr. Herbert A. Treneer whose organ playing has been a feature of the Praise Service in St. Andrews for some time, has been engaged as organist and choirmaster.

Rev. James Rollins has been invited by the Orangemen of the city district to address the members of this Order on Sabbath evening, November 5th.

The Young People's Association will entertain the Normal students, the young ladies at the Y.W.C.A. and the young people of St. Andrews generally on Friday evening, Oct. 20th.

THE McNAMARA BROTHERS ON TRIAL

They Are Held for the Murder of Nineteen Persons in the Wreck of the Los Angeles Times---The Case Opens Today

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 10.—As if in preparation for what promises to be one of the most momentous and protracted struggles in the history of criminal law, judge, veniremen and attorneys in the McNamara case had brief respite to-day.

A State-wide special attention on constitutional amendments stopped legal machinery that is designed to show whether either John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Union, or his brother, James B. McNamara, is guilty of murder in connection with the explosion and fire which a year and nine days ago, wrecked the Los Angeles Times plant and cost 21 lives.

HELD FOR 19 DEATHS.

For the deaths of 19 of these, the McNamaras are held on indictments.

Much of the time of the District Attorney John D. Fredericks, was occupied in advising election officers and keeping that situation in hand. Attorney Clarence S. Darrow, of Chicago, chief counsel for the defense, and his associates, working during the day, but made no formal appearance.

District Attorney Fredericks was asked when he would determine which McNamara should stand trial first.

"To-morrow, at 10 a.m.," he replied. "It isn't necessary to decide until then and it saves changing your mind."

PICKING JURY HEAVY TASK.

At that time will appear the 45 veniremen left out of 122 after yesterday's preliminary examination by Judge Walter Brodwell, and unless present plans are changed, they will be taken in hand by counsel for both sides. None of them has been examined as to opinions, prejudices or similar possible qualifications.

"How long it will take to get a jury that will face extended confinement," is considered problematical.

General belief here to-day is that if one juryman is secured from the 45 the progress will be excellent.

SCENE OF THE TRIAL.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 10.—To-morrow morning in a large airy room on the fifth floor of the new hall of Records building the curtain will be drawn for the first act of another great drama which has been written in the struggle between labor and capital when John L. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' and his brother, James Bryce McNamara, are placed on trial before Judge Walter Brodwell on charges of wholesale murder by dynamiting, in connection with the destruction of the Los Angeles "Times" building on October 1st, 1910, in which disaster twenty men lost their lives.

FOUR HUNDRED WITNESSES.

For almost six months District Attorney Fredericks assisted by Agents of the William J. Burns Detective Agency, has been preparing for this trial. Almost a million dollars has been spent by the prosecution and four hundred witnesses have been summoned to appear against the two McNamara brothers. Ortie McManigal structural iron worker, and informer has been in daily consultation with the District Attorney for the last month. McManigal is a self-confessed dynamiter and it is upon his testimony that a great portion of the State's case has been built.

SIX MONTHS TO TRY CASE.

The scope of the investigation was revealed yesterday when it was announced by the District Attorney that the McNamara brothers are wanted for dynamiting in fifteen various states. This number includes only those states, it was announced, where sufficient evidence to warrant a prosecution had been secured. The total number of alleged dynamite explosions attributed to them and to McManigal is one hundred.

A Des Moines man had an attack of muscular rheumatism in his shoulder. A friend advised him to go to Hot Springs. That meant an expense of $150.00 or more. He sought for a quicker and cheaper way to cure it and found it in Chamberlain's Liniment. Three days after the first application of this liniment he was well. For sale by all dealers.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorised by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and while our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as Well as the Subsequent Payments:

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. PUDGER, ESQ.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

APPLICATION FOR CAPITAL TO

I ..... hereby apply for ..... shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each of the Capital Stock of the Canada National Fire Insurance Company at the price of One Hundred and Fifteen Dollars ($115) per share, being at a premium of fifteen (15) per cent.; and I covenant and agree with the said Company to pay for the said shares as follows: Twenty-five dollars per share on application, which shall include the premium of fifteen dollars per share, and the balance in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of nine dollars per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of said shares.

I further agree to accept said shares when they are allotted to me, and I do hereby request that my name be duly registered on the books of the Company as the holder of such shares.

Applications for stock will be filed in the order received, and on approval of same by the Board of Directors a Stock Certificate will be issued and mailed forthwith.

The holder of these shares will be paid the dividends that may be declared on the same from time to time by the Board of Directors. Dividends shall be declared and apportioned in proportion to the amount paid into the Company on the par value of the shares.

Calls on shares may be paid prior to due dates, and when all of such calls have been paid a fully-paid certificate will be issued to the holder of these shares.

These shares are transferable only on the books of the Company by the owner in person or by attorney on surrender of the Certificate of Stock properly endorsed. Transfers shall not be valid unless approved by the Board of Directors.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

ROCKS RUN RED WITH BLOOD

Brown Assyrian Sweeps Down Annually on Pacific Haunt of Primeval Nature, and Slaughters the Mutton Bird in Millions.

There are some virgin spaces in the world yet. There is Stewart Island, for example, in the South Pacific south of New Zealand. Although only fifteen miles from the mainland its rocky promontories and stupendous headlands are still the haunt of primeval nature. Only the boom of the southern surf and the cry of the wheeling sea birds. That is all for eleven months of the year. In the twelfth a portion of that virgin solitude is ruthlessly disturbed. The quiet coves and shelly beaches of the island become a shambles running with innocent blood while man, the master butcher, conducts an orgy of slaughter.

For Stewart Island and the group of rocky land specks that surround it are the home of that marvellous migrant, the sooty or short tailed petrel, a brownish black bird about the size of an English wood pigeon, popularly known throughout Australasia as the "mutton bird, because of a faint resemblance between its cooked flesh and mutton.

The mutton bird is a migrant, but the Stewart Island group is its breeding home, and thither it comes every season to lay its eggs, hatch its young and remain till the young birds are able to fly away to the north with the parent birds, those which do not fall victims to the organized savagery of the brown barbarans.

So wonderfully is the homing instinct developed in the mutton bird that each pair of birds rear their young in the same nest year after year. Identical markings on young birds reared in the same hole during successive seasons have proved this remarkable fact.

The female birds all lay on or about the same day and at the same time. Some of the mutton bird catchers actually assert that all the birds lay exactly on the same day, but such unanimity seems hardly possible.

The islands known as mutton bird islands are claimed by different Maori families who during April and the early part of May go and live upon these small tempest swept dots of earth rocks in the great Southern Pacific. The brown Assyrian sweeps down on the mutton bird fold at nighttime, lighting himself thereto with unconscious irony by the flare of a torch dipped in mutton bird oil. The butchery of the young birds is a pitiful sight.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

ERNEST WILMOT McCREADY.

Ernest Wilmot McCready was born in Ottawa, November 30, 1868. His father, J. E. B. McCready was then Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Globe, and was in the press gallery for many years, president of it for two terms.

E. W. McCready was educated at the public schools in Ottawa, and in New Brunswick, and at the University of New Brunswick, having been graduated there B.A. 1888 and M.A. 1891. Deciding to follow in the footsteps of McCready senior, he served a brief term in the ranks of those who provide the public with their daily budget of happenings, rapidly passing to the more important if more prosaic, position of City Editor of the St. John Daily Telegraph. Here again the stay of Mr. McCready was of brief duration, and in 1892 he moved southward to undertake the important duties of special writer for the Boston Post. But the wander-lust seems to have been in the blood, for soon his name was on the roll of those who were doing big things for the New York Herald, and as reporter and special writer he continued until the outbreak of Spanish American War. The young Canadian seemed to those in authority to be eminently suited for the fighting line, and he formed one of the Herald's corps of war correspondents. Mr. McCready acted with the fleet throughout the war, wrote the Herald's splendid account of the naval battle at Santiago, where, it will be remembered the Spanish fleet was destroyed, to his live pen falling the honor of inscribing the first extended report of that event published in New York.

ERNEST WILMOT McCREADY,
Prest. Telegraph and Times, St. John, N.B.

After filling the position of resident correspondent for the Herald at Havana, during part of the Cuban revolution in 1897, passing through the lively doings of that somewhat strenuous time, safe in wind and limb, Mr. McCready headed back to the less exciting surroundings of Journalistic life in Canada, and in 1902 he took over the reins of managing editorship for the Telegraph of St. John. In 1910 there came a well-deserved promotion to the responsible dual position of president and manager of the Telegraph and Times Publishing Companies.

Mr. McCready is a Protestant, (a Baptist), his Clubs are the Union, St. John, St. John Golf; Arnold Lake Fishing Club and he is Director of the Canadian Press Ltd., and of the Eastern Press Association. In 1898 he married Miss Frances Annabel of Cameron, New York, and has one son, who, it is alleged, has already a liking for pencils that are double-pointed.

SIR W. M. AITKEN,

Canadian Millionaire; British M.P.

One of the features in the Mother of Parliaments recently was the maiden speech of Sir W. M. Aitken, the young Canadian millionaire, who, at the last election, captured Ashton-under-Lyne for the Unionist party. The romance of commerce has played a big part in Sir Max's thirty-two years of life. He was "discovered" politically by Mr. Bonar Law. "Why not stand for Parliament?" said his friend. Sir Max Aitken turned the idea over in his mind very quickly. He was not a politician in the ordinary sense of the word; but was heart and soul an Empire man. He was not a practised speaker, but he had something to say. Rather late in the day he started his campaign and just talked in a friendly, conversational way upon the Imperial matters which were near his heart and which he thoroughly understood. He won. At Westminster he is a little bit shy. He does not eagerly embrace chances for self-advertisement.

Solution of the Nursing Bottle.

The original nursing bottle was a cow's horn, to the small end of which were sewn two pieces of leather, as a finger of a glove, and the infant drew its nourishment, between the stitches. Fifteenth century mothers used to nurse their babies for close upon three years, a duration still customary among the Japanese and Greenlanders. In the time of the Stuarts it had declined to between eighteen months and two years. In the time of the Georges it fell to one year, and now the average is reckoned as eight months. During the Hanoverian period the practice of feeding babies artificially became somewhat common. Cow's milk was not then considered just the food for a baby deprived of its mother's milk, and the substance called "pap" was introduced through the cow's horn. "Pap" was a mixture of crust soaked water and sugar. A baby that thrived on it was usually one of rare constitution.

Sir T. Crossley Rayner, Attorney-General of British Guiana, is one of the few white men who have ever seen Kaieteur Falls, which he declares the most beautiful and impressive in the world. "Kaieteur Falls are far inland in British Guiana," he told his interviewers on shipboard, "so far inland, in fact, that they are about 200 miles from civilization. They are 822 feet in height and about 400 feet wide."

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to avenge herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought it was a Crack.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant, and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.

The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.

"See here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes sir," replied the man, "there it is."

"Ah, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

E. M. MACDONALD, K.C.

Mr. Edward M. Macdonald, K.C., has been in politics for many years, and is also one of the leading lawyers of the Maritime Provinces. Born at Pictou, Nova Scotia, August 16, 1865, educated at the Academy there and at Dalhousie University with a legal career in contemplation, Mr. Macdonald began to carve out a promising career at a comparatively early stage of his life. Along towards his thirtieth year he began to exhibit evidences of an inward desire to occupy a parliamentary chair, and took the field as candidate for his native constituency. His first three attempts were, however, unsuccessful. He was beaten for the Nova Scotia Legislature in 1894, and in 1896 and 1900 was defeated in running for the House of Commons, his successful opponent on both these occasions being Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper. He secured a seat in the Legislature, however, and resigned it in 1904, when he was elected a member of the Commons. For years he has been strong and influential as a public man, and as a lawyer has formed most important connections.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with tea fields which make them very beautiful."

Miss Daisy Dobbin, who has been with a patient at the Jackson Sanatorium, Dansville, N. Y., for the past six months, is home for a month's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Dobbin.

A Political Prayer.

During a campaign which he conducted in the Maritime Provinces, the late Hon. A. G. Blair saw how strongly the party idea in politics takes hold.

Mr. Blair stopped overnight at the house of a Baptist minister.

"We'll have a word of prayer before retiring," said the minister, who thereupon offered a prayer that was both long and prosy.

When Mr. Blair had almost gone to sleep on his knees, the minister started praying concerning the elections. He called down anthemas on the Conservatives for their corrupt practices. Then he made a naive appeal to heaven for condemnation of the Opposition, and asked pardon for the Liberals if they should find it necessary to "fight the devil with fire."

Employs Only One-Legged Men.

Loss of a leg is essential to a job with a Chicago firm. All but two of its 102 employes in the factory and in the branch offices wear one or two artificial lower limbs, and the employes leave their work to show the newly fitted patients how well they can walk, run, and jump with the artificial article. Makers doubt if there ever was such a thing as a "cork leg" — in which cork entered in any considerable extent into the making of the limb. Some of them claim that the name was derived from one Cork who made artificial legs early in the last century in New York. In the present day they are manufactured from English willow, covered with a thin parchment of enamel, of of wood and leather.

TAFT'S DILEMMA.

One of the results of the defeat of reciprocity by the Canadian people is the renewed demand on the part of influential newspapers in the United States that the American congress proceed to lower the tariff duties on Canadian imports irrespective of what Canada has done or may do.

When President Taft vetoed the free list bills after securing the passage of the reciprocity pact, he permitted himself to play directly into the hands of the rapidly growing element in the United States hostile to a continuation of the high-tariff policy marked successively by the McKinley, Dingley and Payne-Aldrich tariff laws. The movement for a revision downward has been successful in practically every appeal to the American people since the beginning of the Taft administration. It swept the Republican party majority in the lower branch of congress out of power last November, and it promises defeat for the Republicans in the national campaign next year.

Leading Republican newspapers do not conceal their apprehension over the future of that party, especially since the failure of reciprocity in Canada offers no solution to the economic problem in the States from this side of the boundary line. Hence there is a quickening of the demand on the part of the leading administration newspapers for action which will place the Republicans in sympathy with the popular clamour for relief from tariff exactions. Unless this is done, the defeat of the administration party next year is accepted as a foregone conclusion.

The Democratic party now controls the house of representatives and the senate is Republican by a very slender margin. The Democrats are committed to a low tariff policy. Whether Mr. Taft and the ultra-protectionists, who seem to have his ear will consent to a slaughter of protected interests to save their political bacon remains to be seen. The advent of the Democrats to power would almost certainly see the overthrow of the Payne-Aldrich tariff and a revision of the schedules so pronounced as to be practically radical.

CLYDESDALE.

Several people from this vicinity attended the Coe Hill Fair on Tuesday and report it to be the best ever held in that village. The grounds have been greatly improved and the directors deserve much credit for their good management. The entries were better and more numerous than usual. An excursion was run from Trenton, which brought many strangers, including Drs. Driscoll and Gardener, Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Clarke and T. L. Nicol, who acted as judges.

Mr. T. J. Bullied shipped a cargo of lambs to Toronto this week.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Soules who has been with us for the past two summers returned to Toronto on Monday where he will resume his studies at college.

Inspector Lees visited the schools this week. Our teachers are wearing a smile again.

The annual business meeting of the Presbyterian Church was held on Friday afternoon, after which the ladies aid served lunch.

Mr. Hearl Eastland who has been camping at Loon Lake, spent Sunday at F. J. Bullied's, before leaving for Collingwood where he intends spending the winter.

The death occurred on Thursday of Mrs. Sexsmith, aunt of J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., after an illness of only a few days. On Tuesday morning the deceased went to Coe Hill fair, apparently in good health and after partaking of a hearty dinner, complained of a numbness. Medical attendance was at once summoned and she was removed to the Wheeler house where the doctors on examination, found she had received a paralytic stroke. From that time she remained unconscious until Thursday, when she quietly passed away. She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Miss Eliza of Rochester, and Mrs. R. Gossard and two sons Tobias and Simon of this place. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Sunday from the home of her son, with whom she resided.

A Sunday School convention was held at Mr. Ben Cadwell's on Monday evening. Mr. Archie Downing of Apsley superintended the good work.

The Women's Institute will hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. Hilcox on Thursday next. All are invited to attend.

Mr. Waldron, manager of the mines in the township of Galway, arrived here on Wednesday of this week. He was accompanied by Mrs. Waldron, and his daughter Mrs. Aiken and two children.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lambert and family leave this week to take up residence in Fenelon Falls.

Quite a number of residents of this place attended the Fair at Fenelon Falls on Thursday, Oct. 5th. Among the number were Mrs. Braden and Misses Maggie and Mildred Braden, Messrs. Dodd, Suddaby, Brisbin, Young and Levelly.

Business is rushing here at the quarry, on an average six to eight car loads of stone being sent out each day. Much of this is destined to Toronto, which at present proves a good market for this material.

Now that we have settled down once more to sensible thought after elections we begin to wish that some power might interfere in our behalf, and give us somewhat better accomodation on our railway. We are about ninety-five miles distant from Toronto and yet one must spend two whole days in order to make the shortest possible visit to that city.

The young people of this place look forward with much pleasure, to the prospect of having a skating rink for the coming season. Something of this kind is very much needed here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pogue of this place, entertained a number of the young people on the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 4th. Music and dancing whiled away the time, and it was long past "the wee sma' hours" when guests departed for their respective homes.

Potato digging is the order of the day here now.

The ladies of the Anglican Church here will give a fowl supper in the hall here on the evening of Friday, Oct. 27th. Preparations are being made for a good programme for the evening entertainment.

Our local sports report partridges being very plentiful around here this season.

The Minister of Education, through the School Inspectors; has drawn the attention of the teachers to the fact that the average attendance in rusal schools has been for some time on the decrease. Plans for the remedying of this evil will be laid out and it is hoped that in a short time the average attendance may be materially increased.

WORTH REMEMBERING

Those who boast they never did any harm are generally those who never did any good.

It is not always wise to judge another by their tongue or coat, for true worth lies where neither ear nor eye can penetrate.

PROGRESS IN STEAMSHIPS

Future of the Geared Turbine System of Propulsion Promises Vastly Higher Power Than Has Yet Been Attained.

When shipbuilders — or, to be strictly accurate, shipbuilders who are also marine engineers — turn from the human element in their works to the scientific they find themselves face to face with problems of even more absorbing interest. It is not necessary to look back more than one year into history in order to justify this statement. The marine steam turbine is one of the commonplaces of engineering, but all its possibilities are not yet known. It was born on the Tyne, but it was cradled and nursed on the Clyde, and at the present moment more is being done on the Clyde than anywhere else to show that its sphere of usefulness may be widened far beyond the present limits. Clydebank has proved that the Curtis type, imported from America and given the hall-mark of Clyde design and workmanship, is capable of doing splendid service; and at Fairfield and Dumbarton the Parsons type is being developed in two different directions. On the large liners which they are building for the Pacific service of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company the Fairfield Company are to drive four shafts — for the first time on vessels of great size — with triple-expansion turbines; and on the two railway steamers which the same firm are building for the Havre cross-channel service, as well as on two British destroyers at Dumbarton, the geared turbine is to be used for powers vastly higher than in anything of the kind yet attempted. With at least two other forms of reducing gear past the experimental stage, a 5000 tons oil-engined vessel making ready at Whiteinch for trials in December, and a number of similar ships building at different Continental yards, all threatening to abolish the steam engine altogether as a marine motor — not to speak of the gas-producer ship looming out of the shadows as it were — there is enough to keep the marine engineer who would remain abreast of the times thinking very hard indeed, even if he had no labour problems to consider at the same time.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

COL. WILLIAM WOOD

Col. Wood, prominent among the authors of the Dominion, a resident of Quebec, is Canadian born of British-French-American descent, and was educated in England and Germany. Specialising chiefly on the Canadian part of our Imperial history and defence, the Colonel has contributed many interesting and instructive articles bearing on the subject, with perhaps a slightly stronger inclination towards matters pertaining to the naval section.

The first work published from his pen was in 1904 "The Fight for

COL. W. WOOD,
A noted Canadian Litterateur

Canada", which ran through three editions in England, one in Canada and one in Australia, and was the earliest occasion on which was introduced the exceedingly important naval element into the history of the Conquest of Canada. These facts are entirely based on original documents nothing being taken from books or any other secondary sources of information, and his point of view is now generally accepted by all writers on the subject.

Col. Wood's second book was "The Logs of the Conquest of Canada" in 1909, which gives a selection from the logs of the men-of-war that comprised the three great British fleets at Louisburg in 1758, Quebec in 1759, and Montreal in 1760. There is an elaborate introduction, dealing with the naval history of the Seven Years War and facsimiles of the original charts by the celebrated Captain Cook are reproduced on the original scale. This is the first book on Canadian naval history ever written, and the first, except "The Fight for Canada", to take any real notice of the immense mass of naval evidence on the subject. Both books, and more "especially "The Fight for Canada," are written so as to appeal to the interested general public, though both are used by naval and military experts.

The Colonel is also the author of other works on the Conquest, of a more professedly popular kind. He has contributed a long chapter on the subject to the great new "History of the Dominion and its Provinces" in 12 volumes, the publication of which is to begin in 1912, and has written the lives of "Wolfe and Montcalm" for "The Chronicles of Canada", a publication which will be in the hands of the public towards the end of the present year. The chapters on the American invasion of 1775 and the War of 1812 in the new "History of the Dominion" are also from his pen; and he is now editing, for publication in the summer of 1912, three volumes of hitherto unpublished and mostly unknown original documents on the War of 1812, with a full introduction.

But Colonel Wood has other themes than the history of Canadian wars. He has for a long been a collector and student of French-Canadian folksongs. His first publication was a monograph on these. He is also in close touch with the inner life of the Province of Quebec in general. The Publishers Press Ltd., Montreal, will issue from his pen a book called "In the Heart of Old Canada" which comprises all the chief studies he has made of the "habitant" at home, of the Ursulines, of folksong and poetry (he is the author of the article on French-Canadian literature in the new Encyclopoedia Britannica) and many other things, such as the unknown story of the fortifications of Quebec, the true version of the tale of Wolfe and Gray's Elegy, the different Royal visits to Quebec, etc.

But the second book of his, which Publishers Press are bringing out next spring, is perhaps as near the author's heart as any of the foregoing. Under title of "Alouette" he is collecting what he has written on canoeing and yachting trips down the Lower St. Lawrence, as far as Labrador. He is a devoted lover of all animals, and the final chapter will contain the gist of his monograph on Animal Sanctuaries, which the Commission of Conservation are publishing for distribution throughout the sporting, tourist and scientific world. But the human element is even stronger.

Amongst other positions of public honor held by Col. Wood were:—President of the English Section of the Royal Society of Canada in 1908-9; vice-president of the Quebec Tercentenary in 1908, and Commanding Officer of the 8th Royal Rifles, Canadian Militia 1907-10.

Just Waiting

'Yes, mum,' said Poetic Pete, as he twined an autumn leaf through his buttonhole. 'I am a great lover of the romantic. I stopped at dis gate because I saw de sign, "Idlewood."'

'You did?' approved the housewife. 'Well, there is a lot of idle wood down at the woodpile. Just take this axe and split up half a cord.'

UNCLE TOBY'S RUSE

"Twenty-six! You surprise me. Yes, sir, you should be married. No young man should pass that age and remain single."

"You did, Uncle Toby," grinned Gerald McIntyre. Tobias Brenton was a confirmed bachelor of many years' standing.

"That's all right, boy," returned his uncle. "I'm the exception. But you should be married. Tell you what—Jerry—"

"What, uncle?"

"The day you get married I'll give you a thousand dollars for a wedding present."

"You will?"

"I will—with one proviso. If you marry anybody but Patience Allene Truesdale."

"Who?"

"Patience Allene Truesdale."

"Who's Patience Allene Truesdale? And why couldn't I marry her? And where does she live?"

"I didn't say you couldn't marry her," replied Tobias Brenton. "I haven't anything to say concerning her. I believe she is now at Collegeville. What I did say was that if you married anyone but her I would give you a thousand dollars."

"But, Uncle, I don't know this Truesdale, and there's no possibility of my marrying her, or anybody else."

"It's nearly train time," observed Uncle Toby, rising. "I realize you don't know Miss Truesdale, and so what I said may seem foolish. But you can't say I haven't put the proposition up to you. Think over this getting married, Jerry. A thousand dollars is a thousand dollars, these days. Let me hear from you."

The rest of the day Jerry gave his muscle to the hardware store where he was employed, but not his mind for that was elsewhere.

"Who was Patience Allene — Patience Allene; it was a quaint, sweet name — against whom his uncle seemed so prejudiced.

After supper he changed his clothes, tried on four neckties, and went to Collegeville.

There was chattering and laughter and an undercurrent of pointive tinkling in the College building, for three of the party in the center had stringed instruments. From out of the pleasant babel, as Gerald passed the gate a voice said:

"Lead 'My Sweetheart Was a Rover,' Patience Allene."

He met Patience Allene Truesdale presently; the girl of the soprano voice was really she. It took five trips to Collegeville, and three ice cream socials before he accomplished an introduction.

Then he made up for lost time. He called on Patience Allene as often as Normal convention and the girl herself would permit patronized soda fountains and confectionary stores, as well as two moving picture theatres, liberally, and otherwise followed the path which his uncle's words should have barred. He fell heels over head in love with Patience Allene.

He puzzled still over the mystery of his uncle's dislike for her. She came from his uncle's home town, Long Rapids, and when he had craftily introduced his name into the conversation one night, she had spoken glowingly of Mr. Brenton, who was her father's best friend, she said. It was Mr. Brenton who had advised her to attend the Normal, so she could be a high school teacher.

"There's something troubling you, Jerry," she said, so unexpectedly, that he was taken completely off guard. "Tell me what it is."

Jerry, blundering, attempted to finesse it delayed things a little longer, but at last he had to tell.

"Your uncle needn't have worried," she said coolly, when he had finished. "I haven't any designs on you or your prospects. You are wasting time with me; better begin trying to earn that thousand dollars. No, I'm not angry; good night!

Jerry, raging, went home to find Uncle Toby, having dropped into town unexpectedly, the centre of his own merry family circle.

In five minutes Uncle Toby the wealthy, the courted and the masterful was on his way to Collegeville, virtually a prisoner in the custody of this grim and silent young stranger.

"Now, sir," grated Jerry, "I brought you here to say that your prejudice against Miss Truesdale doesn't make any difference. We're going to be married; and we don't need that thousand dollars."

"Is this true, Patience Allene?" asked Uncle Toby.

Patience Allene did not seem to mind the queerness of Jerry's proposal. "Yes," she said, simply; "but, Mr. Brenton, what did you say to Jerry?"

"What did I say, Jerry?"

"You said you'd give me a thousand dollars if I married anybody but Patience Allene."

"Correct. Anything else; any reflection on her?"

"No-o."

He took a hand of each. "My dear young people," he said, "your uncle has 'put one over,' as the boys say. If you dreamed I wanted you to marry, you'd have flown apart. There, now, never mind thanking me. I must be getting back. I suppose the last car goes pretty soon. I'll let you walk that three miles alone. And — the thousand dollars shall be five thousand."

And Uncle Toby smiled whimsically as he went away, yet sighed a little, too; for he knew he was already forgotten.

His Idea of Importance.

'In one benighted region of a certain state in the southwest,' says a Chicago lawyer, 'they cherish some peculiar notions touching the duties of a juror.'

'One day a case was being tried, when suddenly the justice exclaimed: "How is this? There are only eleven jurymen in the box. Where is the twelfth?"'

The foreman arose and addressed the court respectfully, as follows:

"May it please your honor, the twelfth juror had to go away on important business, but he has left his verdict with me."

Making Observations for Mapping Out Canadian Rockies.

In a letter received by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway from Mr. Arthur O. Wheeler, the well-known mountain climber and topographer, who is at present in the Canadian Rockies making observations for the purpose of mapping out the district, he says:

"We have a great amount of splendid material for publication and a collection of photographs that cannot be surpassed. We have just completed what is very nearly a 100 mile circuit around Mt. Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies. The peaks and valleys, lakes and waterfalls on all sides of it, and the glaciers are very fine. The region is immense, and there is work for years to come, exploring, mapping and depicting. There is a fine bunch of high peaks and large snowfields and glaciers southwest of Tete Jaune Cache. There are also great peaks on the Athabaska and Fraser headwaters, tributary to your line. The most showy part of Mt. Robson is the Robson Pass and Glacier, and Berg Lake."

In addition to the above Mr. Wheeler reports that his party have collected over 600 specimens of animal and bird life, and a good botanical collection as well. This expedition which was organized by the Grand Trunk Pacific, has been a most successful one, and when its results are published will be of great value. The facts now known bear out the general impression that the territory contiguous to the mountain division of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will surpass in scenic beauty that which can be seen on any other of the North American transcontinental lines.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

Geulars at first hand, I made no effort to force his confidence. Hence I was surprised when he took up the thread of the conversation where he had left off.

"One reads of these peculiar situations in books but they are seldom encountered in everyday living. The world is full of women that I might have won. Yet I must fall victim to an insane craving for an elfin-faced, hot-tempered sprite who will have none of me. Six or seven years ago, she was a big-eyed schoolgirl, with a mop of unruly hair. Then all at once she grew up, and—and I've been the captive of her bow and spear ever since. I never told her, but I'm sure she knew; I know she did. And she—well, a man never can tell what a woman thinks, or feels, or will do, or say, or whether she means what she says when she says it. I don't know. But I've thought that she did care—only she wouldn't admit it, until I made her. She's the type that wouldn't give herself to even the man she loved without a struggle. I've only been waiting till this spring and the end of this fur deal, so that we would have the wherewith to live, before I cornered her and fought it out.

"But I've waited too long, I'm afraid. You see, Montell has always been against me; that is, he has secretly been cutting the ground from under my feet since he learned that I wanted her. The old fool looks into his own heart and, seeing perfect bliss in an alliance with 'blood' and 'money,' straightway determines that these two will insure her future happiness — oh, I can read him, like an open book. He'd move the heave to bring about what he'd term 'a good match.'

"As it happens, I can compare pedigrees with the best of them—— Good Lord!" He broke off and laughed ironically. "That's sickening; but I'm trying to make the thing clear. Naive recital this, I must say. Well, to go on. I measured up to the standard of breeding, but fell woefully short on the financial requirements. And, somehow, foxy Simon grew afraid that I was in a fair way to upset his cherished plans for Jess. This was after we'd gone in together on this fur business; so long as she went out, I could meet her socially, and he could not prevent. Then, a year ago last summer, the Hudsons' Bay undertook to run me out of the country. That bred the trouble on High River, and after that I was really outlawed. I expect he began at once to figure how he could turn that to his advantage — regarding me as a dish towel, that he could wring dry and throw aside. He has nursed a direct, personal grudge since the first season. He made mistakes. I corrected them, and held him down at every turn; I had to. It was a ticklish job, and I made him move according to my judgment; which was a very bitter sort of medicine for a man of Montell's domineering stamp. So he was not long in developing a rancorous dislike of me.

"Where I made the grand mistake was in letting him keep her from knowing that we were partners. Without giving the matter a second thought, I had kept our business strictly to myself. He hinted that others might follow our lead, and at first we had visions of making terms with the Hudson's Bay and building up a permanent trade here. After two or three years of this, I didn't think it well to plunge into explanations last spring. I made a mistake there, however; the mistake, I should say. Jessie had gone out a good deal the last two winters, both in St. Louis and New Orleans, and she was becoming quite a belle. For all that, I think — oh, well, it doesn't matter what I think. To make a long story short, a day or two before the Moon went upstream, she told me that she was going as far as Benton with her father. I, of course, had to rise to the occasion, be very properly surprised, and inform her that I, too, contemplated a trip on that same steamer. And I straightway hunted Montell up and tried to have him dissuade her from the journey.

"I didn't fathom the purport of it, even then—although I knew that he would welcome any chance to put me wrong in her eyes. It was too late, I felt, to volunteer any details concerning my part in her father's business up North. So I contented myself with his assurance, and her statement, that she would see him as far as Benton and then return on the Moon.

"You see, I could easily imagine what would be her opinion of me, if she learned all the unsavory details with which the Northwest has been pleased to embellish the record of Blowfoot George. I can't be anything but a moral degenerate, in her eyes. Oh, he engineered it skillfully. If I had only waited at Benton till the bull train was ready to start.

"You know how her returning panned out. I believe now that he intended from the first that she should go on to MacLeod. I'd come to the conclusion that he would knife me on the business end, and that was why I wanted Walt Sanders with me. But it didn't occur to me that his plans were so far-reaching. That unfortunate police raid delivered me into his hands at the psychological moment. I was like a cornered rat, that day she came to the guardhouse and peered in on us through the cell door. I could see so clearly how he had managed it. And, having accomplished his purpose, he saw to it that escape was made easy, for he still needed me up here. Mind you, it would have been pretty much the same if I had not been taken by the police. He would have seen that she was well posted before she left MacLeod.

"The rest you have seen for yourself. She spoiled his plan a little, perhaps, by coming all the way once she had started. That wasn't his fault; he didn't want her to come here, especially after I picked up one of her combs that night we came to the camp, and threatened him if he didn't send her home. She is willful. And the only way he could have kept her from coming to the Sicannie would have been to go back himself.

"If our presence here has puzzled her, you may be sure he has made satisfactory explanations. I am only biding my time. If I can hold him down and stand off the Hudson's Bay till the furs come in, I can win out, so far as the money end is concerned. And if I am to lose her, by the Lord, he will pay; she shall know the truth, if I have to choke it out of him one word at a time."

"It looks like a big contract," I sympathized.

"Oh, Bob," he addressed me, after a long interval.

"Yes," I answered.

"If that old hound and I should get mixed up, you keep out of it. Somebody will have to see that Jess gets out of this God-forsaken country. You're woods wise enough to manage that, now."

"Why, of course I'd do that," I replied. It was a startling prospect he held forth. "But I hope nothing like that happens."

"Anything might happen," he returned. "We're sitting on a powder keg. I cant guarantee its safety. Montell is a bull-headed brute, and so am I. If he should throw a slug into me, I might live long enough to return the favor."

Then, after a pause: "I've been running on like an old woman. That rifle business to-night jarred me somewhat. Maybe a decent night's rest will scatter these pessimistic ideas. Here goes, Robert; good night."

With which, he turned his face to the wall, and did, I verily believe, go at once to sleep.

The day dawned, clear and cold and very still. It passed, and another followed, and still others, till I lost track of their number in the frost-ridden cycle of time. Montell's momentous stumble grew to be a dim incident of the past; sometimes I was constrained to wonder if, after all, he had done that with malice aforethought. Upon divers occasions I met and talked with Jessie, but I did not go to the house again, until Barreau hinted one day that, unless I continued the intimacy I had accidentally begun, Montell would think I suspected him — that I was taking Barreau's side.

"There is no use in your making an enemy of him," he said.

"Well," I replied, "I must say I don't altogether like his fatherly manner. He makes me uncomfortable."

"Nevertheless," Barreau declared, "he has taken a fancy to you. He's human. And, seeing it's not your fight, you'd better not break off short on that account. Better not antagonize him. It's different with me; I have no choice."

Influenced more or less by Barreau's suggestion, I suppose, I and myself giving assent, that very afternoon, when Montell asked me to the cabin for supper and a session at cribbage. Over the meal and the subsequent card game he was so genial, so very much like other big, easy-going men that I had known, I could scarcely credit him as cold-bloodedly scheming to defraud and, if necessary, murder another man. I could not quite fathom Mr. Simon Montell — nor George Barreau, either, so far as that goes.

Shortly after that, at the close of an exceeding bitter day, an Indian came striding down the Sicannie to the post. When the guard at the big gate let him in, his word was for the "White Chief," as Barreau was known among the men of the lodges. Ben Wise came shouting this at the door of our cabin, and we followed Ben to the store.

The Indian shook hands with Barreau. Then he drew his blanket coat closer about him and delivered himself of a few short guttural sentences. Barreau asked a few questions in the native tongue, receiving answers as brief. And, after another period of consideration, he turned to me.

"Crow Feathers is sick," he said. "Pneumonia, I should judge by this fellow's description of the symptoms. The chances are good that he'll be dead by the time I get there — if he isn't already. The medicine man can't help him; so old Three Wolves has sent for me, out of his sublime faith in my ability to do anything. I can't help him, but I'll have to go, as a matter of policy. Do you want to come along, Bob? It won't be a long jaunt, and it will give you some real snowshoe practice."

I embraced the opportunity without giving him a chance to reconsider, which he showed signs of doing later in the evening. Curiously enough, Montell attempted to dissuade me from the trip.

"What's the use?" he argued. "You'll likely get your fingers or your face frozen. It's a blamed poor time of the year to go trapezin' around the country. You better stay here, where

BORN AFTER MOTHER'S BURIAL

Gruesome Experience of Woman, Who, Rescued from Death by Covetous Grave-Digger, Lived to Add to Family Birth Roll.

To be buried alive is a fate of which many persons have a nervous dread, which is by no means as fanciful as it appears. Very many cases have occurred in which a temporary suspension of animation has led to a living man or woman being actually fastened down into a coffin and even buried.

Most gruesome was the experience of the mother of Ebenezer Erskine, an Englishman, who was buried two years before her son was born! During an illness Mrs. Erskine was subject to fainting fits, and from one of these she was believed to have passed away. After the usual interval arrangements were made for her interment; and the village undertaker, who also served the community as sexton, measured her for coffin. The "deceased" was duly buried, and there, but for the cupidity of the grave-digger-undertaker, her story would have ended. But a ring which had been buried on the poor lady's hand had attracted his greed, and after the funeral this worthy opened the grave by night and began to saw off the finger bearing the ring. A ringing scream from the supposed corpse almost scared the thief out of his wits, but his humanity overcoming his fear, he roused the parson's family, and the buried lady was restored to health at the expense of a finger.

A similar experience was that of the mother of the famous General Lee, whose sorrowing relatives calmly looked on while she was buried alive! She related that she was fully aware of all the incidents of the funeral, but only mustered strength to make a rattling noise on the coffin lid when the clods of earth began to descend heavily upon it. The sound attracted the sexton's notice, and he hastily broke open the coffin, in time to save her from suffocation.

FROM PULPIT TO BUSHRANGER

Recent Death Recalls the Remarkable Career in Australia of Man Who Played Double Part of Parson and Daring Robber.

One of the most remarkable criminals of our time is recalled by the death in Melbourne of Mrs Marian Bowen. She was the widow of a senior constable killed in the attack on "Captain Moonlight" and his gang of bushranging desperadoes. "Captain Moonlight" was originally the Rev. Andrew George Scott, the Church of England clergyman on the Egerton goldfield. He broke into a bank at Egerton and robbed it so scientifically that for some time nobody suspected him. It was only when he resigned his charge and was reported to be spending money lavishly in Sydney that the police took action. He was convicted and sentenced to ten years' hard labour. Scott made a daring escape from jail and was at liberty for a few weeks. After his recapture he became the ringleader of a series of prison revolts. On his release he turned his notoriety to profit by going on a lecturing tour. A fluent speaker, and attired in evening dress, he drew large audiences. Suddenly he vanished from the platform, and was next heard of as "Captain Moonlight," emulating Ned Kelly as the head of a band of bushrangers. He was captured and executed in Sydney. The governor expressed a wish to see so interesting a criminal. "Tell His Excellency," was Scott's reply, "that I have no desire to encourage morbid curiosity."

Gathering Them In

The territorial possessions of the United States are just a little larger than they were a week or two ago Quietly, unostentatiously, and with the simplest of ceremonies another island lying near the California coast, little known even to American citizens was added to the domain of the country.

The island was annexed by Commander W. A Moffett, United Stetas navy and inspector of the Eighteenth lighthouse district, during his last inspection trip. Commander Moffett performed all the legal requirements of taking possession of the little island, which is designated on the sailing charts as Bishop Rock, in the name of the United States. The Navy Department was immediately notified.

The island is a small one Its sole denizens are herds of seals and sea lions. It is close to Cortez bank, about 110 miles from Point Loma It is south of the east and west line which divides the United States and Mexico, but the Mexican government never has claimed it.

Long Delayed in Delivery

A letter written in December, 1660, to a prominent member of the Body of Friends in Durham, Eng., has just been found in the Public Record Office, having been undelivered. A copy of the letter has been forwarded to the descendants in the eighth generation of those for whom it was intended The letter is addressed: "For My Loving friend Richard Hickson, a butcher in Durham to be delivered to William Hywaters, Durham, paid 9d."

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to ofer sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

Some Apt Proverbs.

Instead of "More haste, less speed," the Japanese say, "If in a hurry, go around."

While we say, "Accidents will happen in the best regulated families," the Japanese say, "Even a monkey will sometimes fall from a tree."

The proverb about edged tools and cut fingers the people of the flowery land vary to, "If one plays with tigers, look out for the claws."

Where we say "Out of evil good may come," they have it, "The lotus springs from the mud."

BORN OF KINDNESS

"Beauty," says Shakespeare, "lives with kindness." Lovelier than any grace of form or tint, nobler than the keen glance of discerning intellect, is the beauty which is born of kindness. We have seen how it transfigures warm and rugged faces through the loveliness which dwells within. There is no beautifier of the face like a beautiful spirit. A kind man is like music passing down the street. The cloudiest day is brightened by his presence, we take heart of hope concerning the human world. Kindness restores to men the Divine image and likeness.

It is the work of heaven to make people happy, and whoever may be left outside such workers are of the kingdom. Nor are such opportunities scarce — they are in the daily path of all of us. An encouraging word to a servant in the house; a little genial intercourse with a workman in the car; a seat surrendered in the street car to tottering age, or to a woman with or without a baby; a word of thanks to a preacher who may fear that his message has been powerless; something outside his fee to a hard-worked doctor who has rendered some signal service — these may be little things, but, they are often as "rain on the mown grass." —R. P. Downes.

TRUTHS IN BRIEF

Instead of bringing more happiness to a man, much money is apt to drive away the little he already has.

Morality, which once depended upon hard and external standards, is growing to be an attitude of the spirit.

One hearty laugh together will bring enemies into closer communion of heart than hours spent on both sides in inward wrestling with the mental demon of uncharitable feeling.

Order is the sanity of the mind, the health of the body, the peace of the city, the security of the country. As the beams of a house, so is order to all things.

THOUGHTS FOR A WEEK

Monday

The truly generous is the truly wise;
And he who loves not others lives unblest.

Tuesday

All service ranks the same with God.
There is no last nor first.

Wednesday

All habits grow by degrees,
As brooks make rivers, and rivers run to seas.

Thursday

For every evil under the sun
There's a remedy or there's none
If there's a remedy, try to find it,
If there's not, try not to mind it.

Friday

A lantern in the hand is worth a dozen stars.
Be a lantern, then, with all your might.

Saturday

Think before you speak, think before whom you speak.
Think why you speak, think what you speak.

Sunday

Talents differ; all is well and wisely put;
If I cannot carry forests on my back,
Neither can you crack a nut.

SERMONETTES

If a man does not seek wisdom, wisdom will not seek him.

Devotion with little prayer is better than much prayer without devotion.

He who seeks a brother without a fault will have to remain without a brother.

Trouble often comes to show how much we had to be thankful for before her arrival.

What poverty is like that of moral penury? When the head is poor, what mockery is money wealth!

Few people regret the times when they were silent, but many regret and often suffer because of imprudent speech

People who pray on their knees on Sunday, and prey on their neighbors on Monday, need simplicity in their faith.

The essence of all good work is timeliness For the right thing done at the wrong time is as bad as the wrong thing at any time.

Did You Know?

That on Sunday next, Oct. 8th, the Rev. R. J. M. Glassford, B. D., of Toronto, will preach morning and evening in Mark Street Methodist Church.

Shot in the Foot.

While rabbit hunting in the woods west of Jackson Park on Saturday, a young man named Bruce Hampton, a toolmaker in the C.G.E., works, met with a painful accident. It appears that the young man was accompanied by his two brothers, and became separated from them in some way. While looking for rabbits he was shot in the foot and legs, his boot having been taken for a rabbit by one of the brothers. He was taken to the farm house of Mr. A. Mills, and subsequently driven to Nicholls' Hospital in Bellegham's ambulance, where the small shot was extracted. No serious results are anticipated.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. WRITE US for full information.

Jordan & Davis Company
NORFOLK, Va.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

has been used for over SIXTY YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN while TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by all dealers.

given in the Grand Trunk Railway Pavilion daily, and since the opening of the Festival, May 21st last, 720 shows have been put on, each one of which has been attended by hundreds of people.

The building in which the exhibits are installed, is a replica of the magnificent new station that the Grand Trunk have erected at Ottawa, and its ornate design, and classic lines of architecture, has elicited admiration from all who have seen it.

The general exhibit is one of the best that the Grand Trunk have installed, compared to all those at the big exhibitions of recent years, and the company were gratified a few days ago, to learn that they had received the highest honors from the Jury of Awards by the award of two "Grande Prix" for their endeavours.

The Grand Trunk Exhibit in London this year is a splendid advertisement for the Dominion of Canada.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

Real Estate, Mining and Industrial Investments

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 20 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property in the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

THE TOBACCO-CHEWING EVIL

Continuance of the Practice Has Material Effect in Putting the Face of Man Off the Natural Shape.

Writing on "China and Character," Dr Louis Robinson says: "Tobacco-chewing, a loathsome habit which happily appears to be going out of fashion among civilised people, has been productive of a cast of countenance which will remain historic for all time. "Uncle Sam" will probably be for ever portrayed as an individual "lean of flank and lank of jaw," as Oliver Wendell Holmes verbally depicts him in his humorous apotheosis. Those familiar with the portraits of the great soldiers of the American Civil War can hardly fail to have been struck by the curious family likeness which runs through their dour determined visages. It is scarcely too much to say that this military type is practically extinct in America now. Almost to a man, these long-faced sallow heroes were tobacco-chewers, as were also many of the prominent statesmen of the same period. It was, however, by no means exclusively an American custom. Most people of middle age can remember ,among sailors and working men of Great Britain, men with long angular-jaws and wrinkled sallow cheeks resembling those of that extinct ruminant, the "typical Yankee" of caricature.

An Upright Thief

A Prince once said to Rabbi Gamaliel: "Your God is a thief; he surprised Adam in a sleep, and stole a rib from him."

The Rabbi's daughter overheard this speech, and whispered a word or two in her father's ear, asking permission to answer this singular opinion herself. He gave his consent.

The girl stepped forward, and feigning terror and dismay, threw her arms aloft in supplication, and cried out, "My liege, my liege, justice — revenge!"

"What has happened?" asked the Prince.

"A wicked theft has taken place," she replied. "A robber has crept secretly into our house, carried away a silver goblet and left a golden one in its stead."

"What an upright thief!" exclaimed the Prince. "Would that such robberies were of more frequent occurrence!"

"Behold, then, sire, the kind of a thief that the Creator was; he stole a rib from Adam, and gave him a beautiful wife instead."

"Well said!" avowed the Prince.

Railroad and Safety

The claim upon which Sir Edward Watkin never ceased to insist, that an English railway train was the "safest place in the world," is largely borne out by the annual returns of the Board of Trade in respect of the number of accidents that occur to passengers and railway servants. For instance, in the ten years ending 1909 only one passenger was killed on the average in every 72,000,000 journeys, and one injured in every 2,000,000 journeys! But even these figures — the only ones officially available — do not show the full extent of the security reached upon the railways of the United Kingdom, inasmuch as in the returns no account is taken of the journeys made by season-ticket holders.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 80,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

SLOWLY DYING

THOUSANDS ARE SLOWLY DYING FROM CATARRH, BUT DON'T KNOW THEIR DANGER.

A Case in Point

Mr. Ulric Berault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Sweetsburg, Quebec, inherited Catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up.

"Every organ of my body seemed affected and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone, and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

"Catarrhozone pleased me and the doctor so well that I used it continually, and took Ferrozone Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered, and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhozone could work such a miracle.

"Every one in town knows I was just about dead with Catarrh, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhozone can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhozone."

(Signed) Ulric Berault."

Catarrhozone beyond question is the proper remedy for catarrhal and bronchial troubles. The medicated air goes all through the air passages of the head, throat and lungs. It kills the germs, heals the sore spots, allays irritation and keeps the breath pure.

Complete outfit, sufficient for two months' treatment, price $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

FOR STONEY LAKE.

The Steamer Stoney Lake, of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company, will meet the morning G.T.R. train Wednesday morning, Oct. 11, and return in time for the evening train.

Knee Bone Fractured.

While coasting down Cross street, opposite his home, Walter Mehárry, a lad of about 14 years of age, who is slightly crippled, was thrown from his wagon, breaking one of the small bones of his knee. He was taken to Nicholls Hospital, where his injuries were attended to.

The New Protestant Home.

Work on the new Protestant Home is progressing rapidly. Ald. Graham the contractor, has a large force of men at work, and will soon have the building closed in so that work may proceed without delay during the cold weather.

Judge Huycke on Board.

His Honor Judge Huycke, along with a number of other County Judges, have been constituted a Board of County Judges.

P. O. Inspector Here.

Post Office Inspector Merrick, of Kingston, is in the city to-day, conferring with Mr. Burnham regarding rural mail delivery. Mr. Burnham is anxious to have the system put into operation throughout the riding.

Partridges Plentiful.

The open season for partridges will begin on the 15th. It is said the birds are unusually plentiful this season. While riding in his auto yesterday a few miles in Smith, a citizen saw three birds at different points on the roadway. This was quite close to town.

Fire At Manvers.

A mysterious fire occurred on Sunday morning on the farm of Mr. Wm. J. Grandy, con. 14, Manvers, when a fine barn was completely destoyed by fire. Fortunately there are two barns on the farm and the one destroyed only contained a small quantity of hay.

A Splendid Prize.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., has presented a valuable gold watch for competition amongst the pupils from the West Riding of the County outside the city, at the entrance examination. The pupil from a rural school of the West Riding securing first place over all other pupils from rural schools of the West Riding wins the watch. A similar watch has been presented by Mr. Burnham for competition in the city.

A Conference Was Held.

A conference committee meeting took place yesterday at the Charlotte street Methodist church, which was attended by Rev. Mr. Shorey of Lindsay, Rev. Mr. Johnson of Keene, Rev. W. G. Clark of Belleville and the pastor, Rev. Mr. Henderson. The chief business was the consideration of the recent grants to missionaries by the General Board which the committee had power to adjust.

The Time to Draw Business.

The time to draw business is when new business is on the market. In this connection we would again impress upon the business men of Peterborough the hundreds of homes where The Times is supreme—where a vast amount of trade may be had if only gone after. Over 95 per cent. of those residing along the rural routes take The Times. This should be sufficient.

Moving Pictures of Lift Lock.

Yesterday a bunch of artists were busy taking moving pictures of the Lift Lock in operation. The object is to show the views in England, the C.P.R. doing the work. Arrangements had been made with the Trent Canal officials to have the lock operated and yesterday afternoon pictures were taken of the steamer Lintonia being lifted from the lower to the upper reach of the Canal and of the tug Ajax being lowered.

Forestry in This County.

Prof. Fernow, the well-known forestry expert, will arrive in Peterborough and proceed to the northern part of the county to investigate the possibilities for reforestry there. That portion of Peterborough County is rapidly being cleared of its timber, and is becoming waste, or second growth, useless at present for all commercial purposes, or a waste of arid land. Mr. Burnham, M.P., has invited Prof. Fernow to accompany him on a prospecting tour with a view to a report to the Government and the adoption of some plan of reforestring.

Scotchmen to Form a Society.

A strong movement is on foot to form a St. Andrew's Society for the benefit of all Scotchmen residing in the city. The idea is being strongly supported and promises to be a great success. An inauguration dinner is to be held in the Coleman Rooms, on George street, on Saturday evening next. The society will be formed on similar lines to the "Caledonian Society" and deserves the best support of all Scotchmen in its very worthy endeavors.

Demonstration Car Coming.

The Bureau of Colonization of the Department of Agriculture of the Province of Ontario is sending through the Province a Demonstration car, exhibiting samples of the grains, roots, vegetables, etc., grown in the Great Northland—The Temiskaming Land. The car will be at Peterborough on November 11th, 12th and 13th. It is in charge of two attendants, who will supply all information, and the farmers of old Ontario should make it a point to visit the car and see for themselves the resources of this land of promise.

Escaped and Again Arrested.

Alfred Meakins, who received a term in the Central Prison by Judge Huycke, of Peterborough, for assault and robbery last spring, broke out of that institution last week. He was seen on the street and recognized by Detective Down. He was partly intoxicated at the time and a charge of drunkenness was laid against him. When closely questioned he confessed that he was the man wanted and will now have to stand trial for jail breaking.

Nominated For Alderman.

Mr. W. H. Pendry, of Brooklyn, N. Y., at one time on the staff of The Times, has received the unanimous nomination as Alderman for the 61st District, New York City. Mr. Pendry is the senior member of the law firm of Pendry and Pendry, the latter being his only son, Mr. Briar Pendry, a bright young man who is sure to make his mark in life. Mr. Pendry is a brother-n.-law of our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. Edward Courtney. Only a few days ago he returned from an extended trip abroad, visiting the British Isles, France, Italy and other places. He was for some time a member of the State Legislature of New York, where he did some excellent work. His many friends in Peterborough will be pleased to hear of his success.

Mrs. Rollins' Class.

The first class of the English Novel, conducted by Mrs. (Rev.) Rollins, was held last evening in the Y.W.C.A. There was a record attendance, about fifty being present. The lecture was enjoyed by all and everyone interested in the subject should make an effort to be present at the next meeting of the class.

Church League Concert.

Ticket holders are requested to remember that this concert starts at 8 o'clock this evening, in the S.O.E. Hall, Hunter street. The tickets have sold remarkably well. Mr. Webb, the secretary, reports that he has only a few left and he is confident of selling these. A splendid programme has been arranged and those who attend will certainly spend a very enjoyable evening. Mr. Burnham has given proof of his keen interest in the sport by promising to preside and had also, as has been stated before, kindly donated a trophy to the league.

Missing Girl Located.

Mary Weaver, the young girl who disappeared some time ago from the home of Mr. Wm. Matthews, Smith Township, has been located. It appears she went to a neighbor and induced them to take her in, where she remained in seclusion for some time. Her whereabouts was, however, discovered by Mr. Matthews, who promptly advised the Margaret Cox Home, Peterborough, of which the girl was award. They secured possession of the girl and had her removed to that institution.

Mrs. J. W. Renwick Bereaved.

Mrs. J. W. Renwick, the popular soloist at the George street Methodist church, received the sad news of the death of her father, Mr. Wm. M. Klingner, of Toronto, yesterday. It appears from the meagre information to hand, that Mr. Klingner had been in his usual health, but became suddenly ill, and expired before much, if anything, could be done for him. Mrs. Renwick left yesterday for Toronto and Mr. Renwick and Master Jock will follow to-day. Mr. Klingner leaves a family of three sons and four daughters, Mrs. Renwick being the eldest of the girls.

Their many friends in Peterborough will deeply sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Gilmour Memorial Church.

On Monday evening the 65th anniversary of the Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, Smith, was observed in a fitting manner, when a sumptuous supper was served and adelightful entertainment given. There was a large attendance, a number of merry young people from Park street Baptist church adding to the number present. After supper which was served early, an excellent programme was tendered, including splendid addresses by Rev. J. S. LaFlaire, of Port Hope, Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, Rev. W. C. Riddiford, pastor of Park street Baptist church, and Rev. Ireland. The programme was opened by the whole assemblage singing "O, Canada," and the second item on the programme was an instrumental solo by Mr. Banks. Miss Ethel Hill delighted the audience with some humorous readings, which were well received. Several anthems were sung by the choir, as well as other entertaining numbers. The ideal weather made it easy for many to attend, so that the event was not only a success as far as affording enjoyment, but also in numbers.

Official Board Held Meeting.

On Monday evening, the official Board of the George street Methodist church met in the church parlor, to talk over matters for the coming season's work. There was a large attendance, larger than usual. The pastor Rev. Mr. Couch, presided, and a most optimistic spirit prevailed. The officers were deeply interested and spoke in feeling terms of their gratitude to God for the way in which they had been led, and felt that they should plan for a still larger work. Each man seemed to have the church at heart and there was manifested a strong desire to do everything to make the people feel at home in this large and growing congregation. While it may be difficult at times to obtain pews, yet the Board wish strangers to feel at home in any pew. All are heartily welcome. The choir is doing grandly under the able leadership of Mr. Renwick. Special committees were appointed to inaugurate a forward movement along missionary and other lines. They are anxious to keep their pastor to lead them on. After three hours' deliberation the Board adjourned, encouraged, and felt they had had one of the best business meetings in the history of their church.

Car Choice Fruit.

Have just unloaded another car of fruit, comprising heaped baskets of peaches and grapes, California grapes Utah peaches, grape fruit, etc. This will probably be about the last of the peaches for this season. W. J. Oke. 'Phone 18 and 19. 375 George street.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Bert Minns, of Toronto, spent Sunday in the city.

Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., of Havelock, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Fred Roy is making atrip this week through Western Ontario on his motor cycle.

Miss Muriel Burrit has returned home after spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews are in Toronto for a few days, guests at the Queen's.

Mr. James Dickson, O.L.S., Fenelon Falls, was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a call.

Mr. Milne Hamilton, of Chicago, returned to that city on Monday. It is understood that Milne is to be united in marriage to-morrow to Mrs. Adam Ferguson, widow of the late Mr. Ad. Ferguson of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will spend a few months in California, after which they will return to Vancouver, where they will reside. Their many friends in Peterborough will join in wishing them happiness and prosperity.

there is much to do and perhaps much to suffer, it is here. I shall not say too much if I say that it is for us to subjugate and subdue, to conquer and to rule an Imperial race. We have to deal with a will which reigns throughout the world as the will of old Rome reigned once, and it is for us to bend or break that will, whose influence the kingdoms have found invincible and inflexible. Were heresy conquered in England, it would be conquered throughout the world. All its lines meet here, and therefore in England the Church of God must be gathered in all its strength. . . . . You have a great commission to fulfil, and great is the prize for which you strive. Surely a soldier's life and a soldier's heart would whoose by intuition this field of England for the welfare of the faith."

In the avowed purpose "to subjugate and subdue, to conquer and to rule an Imperial race," is involved the subjugation of Canada.

Quebec is said to be the greatest stronghold of Roman Catholicism in the world. If two or three other provinces become as strongly Catholic, the Roman Church may be in a position to do, by her vote, what she now accomplishes in Canadian national affairs by diplomacy. Her policy is not simply to minister to the spiritual needs of the people, but to control governments and be the actual ruler of the nations as well. "There cannot be two kings in Israel." The Catholic Church must either keep to her business of ministering to the spiritual life of men or else come into conflict with democracy. In the growth of democracy is the hope of Canada and of the British Empire, for democracy and Romanism have nothing in common. They are essentially antagonistic to each other. However disquieting the aggressiveness of the Roman Church may be, "the will which reigns throughout the world as the will of old Rome reigned once, ... and which nations and kingdoms have found invincible and inflexible," this will, which has grown strong under the influence of the spirit of democracy, can be relied upon, when properly enlightened, never again to be enslaved by Rome, but it must be enlightened.

The churches should be alert and aggressive, lest while we sleep much mischief be done.

HOME RULE MAY BE ROME RULE

Protestants Are Prepared to Fight for Their Liberty

WAR NOT IMPROBABLE

Protestant Irish Will Not Permit Home Rulers to Govern Without a Struggle—Intense Feeling Over Action of the Imperial Government in Regard to Home Rule.

London, October 12, 1911.

THAT Ireland will be torn asunder in strife and civil war should Home Rule be placed on the statute book, is almost certain. The people of the north of Ireland, which is almost exclusively Protestant, are actively preparing for trouble in view of the possibility of the Home Rule bill passing the Imperial parliament. The northern people make no bones about stating that Home Rule means Rome rule, and nothing else. They have the statement of scores of priests and home rulers that home rule is only a stepping stone to complete separation from England. No matter what degree of autonomy is given Ireland, the Roman Catholic element will be satisfied with nothing short of independence. So that those politicians who look upon the granting of home rule as a finality, so far as Ireland is concerned, are entirely mistaken.

Catholics Decreasing.

The natural increase of population in Ireland is still insufficient to meet the steady drain of emigration. The official figures for 1910, just issued, show an excess of 27,786 births over deaths; while 32,547 Irish men, women and children sought homes elsewhere. Thus there was a decrease in the total population of 5388, as compared with the previous year. The vital statistics of Ireland are not at all discouraging. So far as Protestantism is concerned, for the southern portion is decreasing more than 15,000 annually, while the north is increasing almost with equal strides. If the present ratio is combined it will soon be a Protestant Ireland.

Another Good Sign.

Marriages registered in the year 1910 numbered 22,112, the births 101,963 and the deaths 74,894. The marriage rate was 5.06 per 1000 of the estimated population, showing a decrease of .12 as compared with that for the year 1909, and a decrease of .08 as compared with the average rate for the ten years 1900-1909. The birth rate was 23.3 per 1000, being .2 below that for the preceding year, but .1 above that for the previous ten years. The death rate of 17.1 per 1000 was .1 below the rate for the preceding year and .6 below the average rate for the ten years 1900-1909. One of the most interesting facts brought out in the report is the maintenance of the decrease in the mortality from tuberculosis. This has now been continuous since 1908, when the death rate from the disease fell from 2.7 per 1000 in 1907 to 2.6 per 1000 in 1908. In the following year the rate declined to 2.4 per 1,000 ohu in the annual period under review to 2.3.

Intense Feeling Aroused.

Intense feeling has been aroused over the proposed Home Rule measure of the Asquith government. Protestants everywhere say that an Irish Parliament would be under the control of the priests, and the conditions, therefore, would be intolerable. They make no secret of their intention to refuse to recognize any Parliament that might assemble at Dublin.

TURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A writer in The Examiner, signing himself "A Voter", complains bitterly about the hotel men assisting the Conservatives in the late campaign. If they did, surely the Liberals should not complain. They certainly worked the hotel men politically as far and as hard as they could in their day of office. While I do not offer this as an excuse, it is not amiss to remind our friend of the fact.

Fair Play.

THE POWER QUESTION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I understand there is a proposal for the city to purchase dams Nos. 4 and 5, and develop power for the use of the city. These dams will give approximately, it is said, about 4500 horse power. Reserving 2000 for street and domestic lighting, there will be 2500 available for manufacturies. This would enable the city to provide power at a reasonable price as an inducement for industries to locate in Peterborough. I am sure the city would be willing to vote the necessary money if it can be shown that there is no graft anywhere connected with the purchase.

I hope the Council will get busy, and put its proposition in shape so as to be submitted to the people with as little delay as possible.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, &c.

ARTHUR SHERIDAN ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

SHERIDAN'S CONFESSION THAT HE USED KNIFE ON ROSS FORD NEAR ORILLIA IS PUT IN.

He Claims Self-Defence—Eye-Witness Partly Contradicts His Story—Stabbed Him in Breast.

Barrie, Oct. 12.—The stabbing of Ross Ford at George Duff's place, near Orillia, after a dance on August 9th, led to the trial of Arthur Sheridan for murder, which began yesterday. T. C. Robinette, K.C., is defending Sheridan.

Chief Reid, of Orillia, the first witness, related his visit to Duff's after midnight, August 9th, where he found the body of Ross Ford in the road beside a large pool of blood. He found a stab wound in the left breast and later examination disclosed three cuts in the back of Ford's coat near the shoulder. No evidence of any struggle were to be seen in the roadway. Witness found Sheridan on the 11th on the Muskoka road, about 10 miles from Duff's, in company with Herb. Justin and Albert Cox, strangers to Sheridan. He offered no resistance to arrest. No marks indicative of a fight were to be seen on him. Prisoner told him where to find the knife, near Duff's gate. It had a blade three inches long. When found there was sand and blood upon it.

SHERIDAN'S CONFESSION.

In cross examination Chief Reid admitted that Sheridan had voluntarily made a confession. This was produced and read as follows: "On Wednesday, 9th day of August, I was dancing at Duff's in North Orillia. Ross Ford sent Robert Thorburn into the house to tell me that he wanted to see me. I went out to the gate He said: 'What talk is going roundf' I said I did not know. He asked me to come on down the road. When we were going down the road he said that some fellow said I was telling lies. I told him that I did not know, that I never told lies about anybody. He said we would have to fight it out. I told him I would want to fight. He said, 'I don't give a —— whether you do or not.' He struck me in the eye and knocked me in the ditch. I got up again and he hit me in the ribs. He clinched and he backed me over a root and we both fell. When I asked him to let me up, and I said I did not want to fight, he had his hand on my throat and answered: 'I don't give a —— I will kill you anyway.' I said: 'I do not know about that, Ross. Let me up. I have a knife here.' I told him I would put the knife into him if he did not let me up. He still held on. I pulled the knife. I then raised my hand with the knife in it and struck him in the breast."

STABBED HIM IN BREAST.

"I think I stabbed him in the breast first. I only stabbed him twice that I remember. He then said 'Give me the knife.' I then rolled him over and I got up, and he got up also and walked toward's Duff's house, about twenty feet. He let a yell out of him and dropped. I went up and got Jim Cable to come down. He called to a crowd of men to come quick, and they came down. Some of the men's names are Murdoch, McKee James McKee and George Thorburn. When I went back to the house I told young Lever I had struck him with a pair of steel knuckles. I was standing around and did not know whether to leave or not, and young Lever told me to stand my ground. I fainted, and lay down on the ground for half an hour. When I got up I looked around and went up the road into a field of stooks, and then went to the swamp and met asurveyor, and he coaxed me to come back. He said the police were in here after me. It was an old Italian knife that I had; the blade was three inches long. I got the Italian knife that I stabbed Ross Ford with down in the Italian camp. After I stabbed Ford, I put the knife under a rail by Duff's gate. I had a fight with Ford about a monthago over some whiskey. On the 12th July, at Wm. O'Connor's I had a quarrel with him. (Signed) Arthur Sheridan."

SAW SCUFFLE AND FORD FALL.

James Cable was beside the two men when Ford asked Sheridan to go down the road with him. They were apparently on good terms. In a few minutes he saw them scuffling. Then Ford fell forward, with his head in the wheel track. There had been no noise or shouting between the men. Sheridan ran toward witness calling: "Come quick, Jim; I have killed Ford."

He asked Sheridan what he had done and the prisoner replied: "I thought it would come to that," and said they should hurry for a doctor.

Robert Thorburn, a youth of fifteen, told of going into the house for Sheridan at the request of Ford. Also that Ford had said: "I let him go once before, but I won't this time." Ford had been going with Thorburn's younger sister and Sheridan with the elder sister.

Drowned in the Otonabee

A very sad drowning accident occurred yesterday afternoon when Mr. Dick Milburn lost his life in the Otonabee river just above the C.P.R. bridge.

It appears that Mr. Milburn, who is employed in the machine shop of the C.G.E., got apass out yesterday afternoon to have his teeth attended to by his dentist after which he went home and took out his boat to go for a sail and in some manner fell from the boat. Mr. Milburn leaves a wife and child who will have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their sad bereavement. Dick, as he was familiarly known, was very popular with his fellow workmen who were shocked to hear of his death.

SIR JAMES STATEMENT IN ANNOUNCING THE ELECTIONS

Sir James:—"We have decided to dissolve the House in the near future, and I give this notice now in order that there may be no suggestion that we desire to hurry the elections. The present Legislature has already existed longer than its predecessor, and there are now ten vacant seats. The expense of bye-elections would be large—about $15,000—and this expense would have to be duplicated in less than a year did we not dissolve now.

"There are several other very important reasons for our decision—reasons of vital importance to the province—and which I shall lay before the public in the course of a week or ten days, or perhaps earlier.

"Owing to the length of time necessary for the preparation of the voters' lists in unorganized districts, the polling cannot take place earlier than about the first or second week in December, and the issuing of the writs will be held over until the last day possible in order to facilitate the revision of the voters' lists in Older Ontario."

SERIOUS FIRE ALONG MANCHESTER CANAL.

Loss of $150,000 to English Branch of the Standard Oil Company.

Manchester, Eng., Oct. 11.—There was a serious fire along the banks of the ship canal early to-day. It started in the oil tanks, and soon great quantities of escaped and burning oil poured into the canal and covered the water for a long distance igniting everything combustible along its patch. Buildings abd jetties on both sides of the canal were burned.

The fire was controlled after a fight of three hours.

The Anglo-American Oil Company, the English branch of the Standard Oil Co., in whose tanks the flames started, suffered a loss of $150,000.

CHINESE ON VERGE OF EMPIRE-WIDE REVOLT

Dissatisfaction, Merited and Profound, Exists in a Great Part of the Country

Hankow, Oct. 12.—The revolutionary movement is gaining momentum with every hour. Since noon yesterday it has swept the little city of Han-Yang and the native quarter of Hankow. Great numbers of Chinese are joining the movement voluntarily.

The losses in the fighting thus far aggregate several hundred, but practically all the dead are Manchu's. The slogan of the movement which is guided by shrewd and temperate leaders, is evidently "Down with the Manchus."

Thus far there has been no indication of any animosity against foreigners on the part of the revolutionists. A special proclamation issued by the rebel general in charge of the forces in Hu Peh, states that the penalty for any interference with foreigners or with commerce shall be instant death. The proclamation further declares:

WIDESPREAD DISSATISFACTION.

"This is the army of the people. We will overthrow the tyrant Manchu dynasty and revive the rights of the real Chinese."

London, Oct. 12.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times says that the most disturbing feature of the revolt in Wu Chang is the currency chaos which must inevitably follow the destruction by fire of the treasury building.

CHINESE CURRENCY.

The main currency of the three great cities, Wu Chang, Hankow and Han-Yang forming the metropolis of mid-China is the Hu Peh Governments dollar notes, which have been issued in unknown millions. A financial crisis is therefore believed to be inevitable.

Referring to the Wu Chang rising The Times says to-day that profound, widespread and merited dissatisfaction with the Imperial Government exists over a great part of the Empire.

SUGAR CARGO INCREASED IN VALUE $107,000 IN TRANSIT

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—Unusual interest was manifest in the arrival of the British steamship Kwarra with sugar from Java to-day by reason of the fact that the vessel's cargo increased in value in transit more than $107,000. The Kwarra sailed from Java on August 1st, bound for McCann Refinery here. More than 6,000 tons of sugar were put on board. The value per 112 pounds was 14s 6d. Yesterday's quotations for Java sugar were 18s. 6d. The advance of four shillings in the price will net the owners $107,140 over the original purchase price.

The duty paid on the Kwarra's cargo totalled $180,000, or on a basis of $30 per ton.

VILLAGE SCHOOL TEACHER MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARS

PEOPLE OF DILLON PORT IN A STATE OF GREAT EXCITEMENT —BELIEVE THAT VIOLET SMITH MAY HAVE BEEN BRUTALLY MURDERED.

Search Parties Drag Small Rivers—Beating Through Miles of Forest in Hope of Finding the Body.

—Mysterious disappearance —— —

Parry Sound, Ont., Oct. 12.—A drive of 25 miles northeasterly through af orest district brings you to the comparatively isolated settlement known in the post office guide as Dillon Port.

There is probably no place in Ontario in a greater state of excitement, their local teacher, Miss Violet Smith, having mysteriously disappeared on Monday morning. Since then all the farmers of the district and several women and children have been diligently searching the woods for her, but so far without success.

The men have also dragged the small river which winds through the forest, but their drag hooks do not throw any light on the mystery.

Miss Smith, in answer to an advertisement in the settlement. She began her duties about five weeks ago, coming from Toronto, where she boarded with her sisters on McGill street or Mutual street. She had attended the Normal School during the past year, and was agirl of unusual ability. She came formerly from Collingwood, where many of her relatives are still living. The young teacher who was in her 19th year, had so far been quite successful in her new charge, and according to Mr. Peter Ramsay and family, with whom she boarded, nothing of an unusual character had been noticed in her manner or conversation.

WALKED OUT THE BACK.

Mrs. Ramsay states that Miss Smith came down stairs as usual on Monday morning, at 7.30 o'clock and walked out the back door, wearing neither hat nor coat. As she did not return and was not in the habit of taking much breakfast, they thought she had gone to school early, but shortly after 9 o'clock the children came to the Ramsay house and wanted to know where the teacher was. It was then remembered that she had left by the back door early in the morning, and it was suggested that she might have got lost in the woods immediately to the rear of the Ramsay home. The little tots then scurried back over the rocks, calling loudly for Miss Smith, but there was no answer. Still they called, and back as far as the river they went, but there was nothing but silence. At noon neighbors took the search and continued it that afternoon, and evening and practically with little cessation since then, all without avail. The block of woods next to Mr. Ramsays consists of about 50 acres, but crossing a road to the south, a person comes to 20 miles of almost unbroken forest into which a person might wonder and remain for days without being found.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

500 HENS IN EGG LAYING CONTEST

Storrs, Conn., Oct. 12.—Arrangements are about completed for the International egg laying contest, to be conducted under the supervision of the Connecticut Agricultural College. The contest will last one year, commencing November 1. There will be 500 hens in the race, four hens to a team and each team housed by itself in a separate pen. A fifth bird will be permitted as substitute in case of sickness. One hundred small frame houses have been erected for the contestants.

The entries are from Canada, Mexico, Cuba, South America, Europe, Japan and United States.

ITALY TO GET THE HOLY LAND

Chicago, Oct. 12.—According to L'Italia, an Italian newspaper published in Chicago, Italy will demand Jerusalem and the Holy Land, before she will consent to peace with Turkey. When these lands are ceded the paper declares, they will be presented by Italy to the Pope, as head of the Roman Catholic Church.

Oscar Durante, editor of the paper, declares this confession comes from a high official of the Government in Rome, and is authentic. The Roman correspondent who cabled the story, declares the Pope knew of the plan, and it was this which caused him to bless the Italian undertaking and pray for success for Italian arms. The advantage to Italy, it is said, would be a restoration of amicable relations between the Vatican and the Quirinal.

LOOKS FOR A HARD WINTER

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 12.—"There will be more suffering this winter than ever before," predicted James J. Hill in discussing the condition of business over the country and particularly in the west. "This is the reason," continued the chairman of the Great Northern, "our capacity for production along industrial lines has grown faster than our consumption along the same lines.

"Some years ago the farmer had to raise enough to feed himself and another man in the cities; now he must raise enough for himself and for two other men, on account of the movement to industry rather than to farms.

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience, viz., Mrs. P. H. Brogan, of Wilson, Pa., who says, "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For croup there is nothing that excels it." For sale by all dealers.

CORONATION MUSIC AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Solo Organist and King George's Trumpeter Here.

St. Paul's Church last night was well filled with a highly appreciative audience to hear Gatty Sellars, solo organist at the Queen's Hall concerts London, and King George's Trumpeter, Willie Short, principal trumpeter to the King's private and state concerts, Buckingham Palace. The coronation music, which they rendered, included the coronation marches of Sir Edward Elgar, Frederick Cliffe, and the special trumpet fanfares arranged by Sir Frederick Bridge and Dr. Borland for the coronation. Also the chorales sung at the coronation service. In addition to the trumpet and the full resources of the organ a set of cathedral chimes was used in conjunction with the instruments just mentioned. Needless to say, with such a combination a magnificent ensemble was produced. They have had immense receptions.

Much credit is due Mr. John Crane and the members of St. Paul's Choir for giving our citizens such an excellent musical treat.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industtial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial cosporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoparty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as well as the Subsequent Payments:

No. of Shares.	Amount of First Call.	Half-yearly Payments.

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

APPLICATION FOR CAPITAL TO

I ..... hereby apply for ..... shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each of the Capital Stock of the Canada National Fire Insurance Company at the price of One Hundred and Fifteen Dollars ($115) per share, being at a premium of fifteen (15) per cent.; and I covenant and agree with the said Company to pay for the said shares as follows: Twenty-five dollars per share on application, which shall include the premium of fifteen dollars per share, and the balance in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of nine dollars per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of said shares.

I further agree to accept said shares when they are allotted to me, and I do hereby request that my name be duly registered on the books of the Company as the holder of such shares.

Applications for stock will be filed in the order received, and on approval of same by the Board of Directors a Stock Certificate will be issued and mailed forthwith.

The holder of these shares will be paid the dividends that may be declared on the same from time to time by the Board of Directors. Dividends shall be declared and apportioned in proportion to the amount paid into the Company on the par value of the shares.

Calls on shares may be paid prior to due dates, and when all of such calls have been paid a fully-paid certificate will be issued to the holder of these shares.

These shares are transferable only on the books of the Company by the owner in person or by attorney on surrender of the Certificate of Stock properly endorsed. Transfers shall not be valid unless approved by the Board of Directors.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

There's Music!

Senator Depew, at a recent dinner in New York, said of Richard Strauss's music:

"To hear Strauss's 'Elektra' or his 'Domestic Symphony' always makes me think of the old Scotch piper who said: "'Ah, there's ane nicht I sall ne'er forget. There were nineteen pipers besides mysel' all in a wee bit parlor, all playin' different tunes. I just thoucht I was in heaven!"

A Sea Monopoly

The fishing waters of the Caspian Sea are divided into plots and let out by the government at auction. Two firms combined and bid in the right to fish in two-thirds of all the fish water. This crowded out the smaller fishermen and made a monopoly. Thus both land and water are being monopolized.

Waste in Armaments.

Despite all the peace movements of the day the expenditures of the nations upon armaments is to-day, with no great war in progress, greater in the aggregate, according to a statement made by the editor of the London Statist, than they have ever been in times of war.

Knowledge is, indeed, that which, next to virtue, truly and essentially raises one man above another. It fights one half of the human soul. It gives ease in solitude and grace-[illegible] — Addison.

One Truthful Fisher

His eyes gleamed with triumph as he strode into the presence of his wife.

"You talk about luck," he exclaimed; "just look at these fish, Maria. Just look at them!"

After gaping at them for a few moments she said—

"I suppose they weigh about two pounds each, don't they?"

"I will be truthful with you," he said, as he gently handled his booty. "I have had them weighed, and they average only one pound and a quarter each."

While his wife eyed him in astonishment, he continued—

"You just ought to have seen the three that got off my hook."

"Were they big four-pounders?"

"Guess again, Maria."

"Were they six-pounders, the kind that are so often hooked and never caught?"

"You're wrong, my dear; you're wrong again. Guess once more."

"Surely they didn't weigh about eight or ten pounds apiece?"

"You are anything but a good guesser," he replied. "I tell you what it is, Maria. I may not be much of an adept when it comes to angling, but when it comes to telling the truth, I'm at home there. Those fish that got off my hook were not large at all. They were about the size of sardines."

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Pittsburgh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

A Comical Prayer.

During a campaign which he conducted in the Maritime Provinces, the late Hon. A. G. Blair saw how strongly the party idea in politics takes hold.

Mr. Blair stopped overnight at the house of a Baptist minister.

"We'll have a word of prayer before retiring," said the minister, who thereupon offered a prayer that was both long and prosy.

When Mr. Blair had almost gone to sleep on his knees, the minister started praying concerning the elections. He called down anthemas on the Conservatives for their corrupt practices. Then he made a naive appeal to heaven for condemnation of the Opposition, and asked pardon for the Liberals if they should find it necessary to "fight the devil with fire."

Employs Only One-Legged Men.

Loss of a leg is essential to a job with a Chicago firm. All but two of its 102 employes in the factory and in the branch offices wear one or two artificial lower limbs, and the employes leave their work to show the newly fitted patients how well they can walk, run, and jump with the artificial article. Makers doubt if there ever was such a thing as a "cork leg" — in which cork entered in any considerable extent into the making of the limb. Some of them claim that the name was derived from one Cork who made artificial legs early in the last century in New York. In the present day they are manufactured from English willow, covered with a thin parchment of enamel, or of wood and leather

Beware of Imitation Sold on the Merits of Minard's Liniment

Dr. Mrs. ADAM SHORTT

This lady, who prior to her marriage with Dr Adam Shortt, was Miss Elizabeth Smith of Hamilton, Ont., is one of Canada's very busy women, having quite a long list of self-imposed duties to cover in connection with the different branches of work that appeal specially the fair sex, in Ottawa and elsewhere in the Dominion, having indeed earned no small share of distinction in a number of the outstanding departments of women's work in her pre-nuptial days. Since her marriage Mrs. Shortt has taken a very deep interest in all forms of philanthropy, especially that pertaining to the public health. She is at present convenor of the Public Health Committee of the National Council of Women, and is on a similar committee, of which Lady Aberdeen is convenor, in the International Council. She is also keenly interested in the Anti-Tuberculosis Crusade. She is an active member of the Y.W.C.A. having held the office of president in the Kingston branch for several years, during her residence in that city. Mrs. Shortt it was who first wrote to Queen's University to ask for separate classes for women and was the first regularly matriculated woman student to enter the University. In 1884 she graduated in medicine, one of the first three women to do so, and besides her degree from Queen's she holds a diploma from the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, so that she was able to practice medicine, which she did for two years in Hamilton. In Ottawa, Mrs. Shortt holds the office of vice-president of the Women's Canadian Club, vice-president of the Council of Women, and belongs as well to the Women's Historical Society and to the Mothers' Union.

Mrs. Shortt was born at Kingston, and her husband, who for a number of years was Professor of Political Economy at Queen's University is now Commissioner of the Civil Service at Ottawa.

Sons of the King.

The Prince of Wales, much to his disappointment, it is said, is not destined for a naval career. He may spend only six months on the Hindustan, and after that enter a cavalry regiment.

The future of the King's next son, Prince Albert, has been engaging the King's attention lately, and it is understood that he will eventually become a midshipman. In his case the navy will furnish him with a career. Prince Henry, the third son, is not fitted for the strenuous life of a sailor and he may, after spending some years at Eton, be gazetted to a cavalry regiment.

Sir T. Crossley Rayner, Attorney-General of British Guiana, is one of the few white men who have ever seen Kaieteur Falls, which he declares the most beautiful and impressive in the world. "Kaieteur Falls are far inland in British Guiana," he told his interviewers on shipboard, "so far inland, in fact, that they are about 200 miles from civilisation. They are 823 feet in height and about 400 feet wide."

OUT IN CHASE OF THE WHALE

An Exciting and Interesting Pursuit, Which However Seems to Point To An Extermination of the Species.

It may not be known generally but it is a fact that many varieties of the whale are now as extinct as the buffalo, and unless the remnants be protected from slaughter they will, it is feared, be altogether exterminated.

The whale is a mammal and not a fish; that is to say, it is a warm-blooded animal which breathes air instead of water, drowns if submerged too long, brings forth its young alive and nourishes it with milk from its own body. The largest of the family is the sulphur-bottom whale. Specimens measuring 97 feet in length have been killed. Such a creature would weigh 110 to 120 tons. A fair number of these creatures still exist in the Pacific Ocean, though they are now being killed off very rapidly.

Then there is the bowhead, also called the Greenland or Polar whale, which inhabits the waters round the North Pole. This species is now very scarce.

The right whale, slightly larger than the bowhead, is now virtually extinct. A quarter of a century ago it was found in large numbers in both the North and South Atlantic Oceans. The whale generally seen by passengers crossing the Atlantic is the humpback species, which attains a length of from forty-five to sixty feet. Then there is the finback of the North Atlantic coast, which attains a length of sixty feet, and yields little oil and is difficult to kill. In the Pacific Ocean there is the California gray whale, often found in comparatively shallow water, but savage and dangerous. It attains a length of about forty-five feet.

The virtual extinction of the right whale and the bowhead has been brought about by the invention of the harpoon gun. In the old days whales were captured from boats. It required courage, pluck, and the whaler took his life in his hands. To-day the animals are slaughtered by firing at them from the bow of a vessel with a heavy cannon, which shoots a harpoon weighing more than a hundred pounds, and having an explosive head of point, called the "bomb."

Not a particle of the great carcase is wasted. The blubber is "tried out" for oil, and the meat and bones are boiled for the same purpose. The flesh is artificially dried and sifted, making a very fine guano, and the bones are ground for fertiliser. Even the blood is boiled and dried with the flesh, and the water in which the blubber has been tried out makes excellent glue. The fins and tail, after being sliced into thin strips, salted, and barrelled, are sent to Japan, where they are used as food.

The Trials of a Parson.

If he delivers a written sermon, he is a back-number. If he preaches extempore, he is a shallow thinker.

If he is not constantly calling upon his people, he is unsociable. If he visits to any extent, he is a gadabout.

If he is married "he is an awfully nice fellow, but his wife doesn't amount to much." If he lives in single blessedness (?) woe be to him. All the eligibles and many of the others never speak to each other at the guilds and parish socials, or else they do speak — gossip!

If he is content to serve his Master and his people on a small monthly sum (paid at irregular intervals) he is "cheap." If he timidly asks for a large enough stipend to keep his household "decently and in order," he is worldly-minded.

If he would be "all things to all men," he is a hypocrite. If he is somewhat reserved, it is a cloak to conceal his sly attempts to foist a mediaeval priestcraft upon his people.

If he quotes the sources from which his best ideas are drawn, he is lacking in originality. If he fails to give due credit for these various ideas, he is dishonest and a thief.

Sartorial Sentences.

Eve is probably the only woman on record who could dress just as she pleased.

It takes a heroic woman to go to church in anything but her best.

How many a man takes a wife when he really only wants a needle.

Man owes his superiority to woman entirely to his pockets.

Self-consciousness is the precious faculty bestowed on a privileged few of hearing the sermon and at the same time studying the hats.

Who has not seen the Great shabby and spotty to a degree? It is one of the privileges of being great that one can afford to have samples of bygone repasts on one's waistcoat.

The Achilles' heel of a man is his hat. He must guard that as he does his reputation, for it is at once his strength and his weakness.

Every policeman is an arbiter of fashion. To him any originality in clothes means either crime or insanity. — From "The Talk of the Town," by Mrs. John Lane.

Lord Avebury's Pet Wasp.

There are few who would choose a wasp as a companion, but Lord Avebury is among the few. Some years ago he captured a wasp in the Pyrenees and he kept her for nine months. "I had no difficulty," he writes, "in inducing her to feed on my hand; but at first she was shy and nervous. She kept her sting in constant readiness; and once or twice in the train when the railway officials came for tickets, and I was compelled to hurry her back into her bottle, she stung me slightly — I think, however, entirely from fright. Gradually she became quite used to me, and when I took her on my hand apparently expected to be fed. She even allowed me to stroke her without any appearance of fear, and for some months I never saw her sting."

WOOD USING INDUSTRIES.

The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, is conducting an exhaustive statistical study of the industries in Ontario, which in any way use wood in the manufacture of their products. This report, will cover practically every manufacturer in Ontario, for besides those using wood directly, as in the manufacture of vehicles, cars, boats, automobiles, furniture and interior finish, it is also expected that reports will be secured from every industry consuming wood for boxes and shipping crates. Information forms will shortly be sent out and the data obtained will be published in bulletin form, including a classified list of co-operating firms, a technical discussion of the various woods used, as well as statistics on the consumption and cost of each species. All individual information will be held strictly confidential by the Department. Such a work will be of benefit to every producer and consumer of wood in the province. To the mill-owner, it will show the purpose for which certain species are used, the quality of wood required and the prices paid. The manufacturer can ascertain what is the relative importance of his class of industry, and the total consumption and value of wood used in manufacture. Every manufacturer reporting will receive a copy of the bulletin when published. All those receiving schedules are asked to co-operate by reporting fully and promptly.

ELECTION IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 9.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, who left Sunday evening for Ottawa, will follow the example of Hon. A. G. Blair in 1896, and tender his resignation as Provincial Premier after he has been sworn in as a member of the Federal Cabinet. There is as yet uncertainty as to whether Hon. J. K. Fleming, Provincial Secretary, or Hon. W. C. H. Grimmer, Surveyor-General, will succeed him as Premier. The former can have the post, but private considerations may influence him to decline it.

It is not yet known what portfolio Hon. Mr. Hazen will get, but local opinion is that he will either be Minister of Public Works or Minister of Railways.

THE ESCAPE FROM SELF

Among the ancient Jews they had cities of refuge. The rash murderer, not with malice aforethought, might flee to any one of these and be safe from the wrath of the avenging kin.

They were a wise people who thus had prevision and made provision for their own weakness.

For a man's intelligence may be better gauged by his knowledge of his own shortcomings than by his consciousness of his own strength. And the one person against whose folly and enmity one needs most to guard is one's self.

I have, therefore, says a writer, my own cities of refuge, whither I flee to escape my implacable enemy — myself.

As there were three cities of refuge in Jewry, so I will give but three of mine, though there are others.

First and foremost is work. I work not because I like it, for I would rather spend money than earn it; nor because I need to make a living, for anyone can knock off work and be a parasite; someone will always look out for the lazy as well as for the sick; but because I am afraid not to work.

In work I respect myself and am at peace with the infinite without me and within me. Work is simply the salvation of the soul.

Crime in society is largely the product of leisure. Most of the ordinary moral lesions could be cured by sawing wood.

The second city of refuge is called order.

I find that if I do not compel myself to system and regular hours I get nothing done at all. If I worked only when I felt like it you could put it in your eye. The greatest humbug loose is inspiration. Perhaps this should be qualified thus: occasional inspiration is a humbug.

The third city of refuge is called wife. How sometimes her presence and the touch of her hand give peace and avert a panic. Most of us are simply human, and a human man needs a wife as a locomotive needs an engineer, to prevent a wreck, as well as to make him go.

These cities of refuge and these arts and ways of saving one's self from one's self may throw some light, perhaps, upon the reason why there is inserted into the Lord's Prayer the petition: "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil!"

I do the very best thing I know — the very best I can; and I mean to keep on doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference. — Lincoln.

LUNG TROUBLE

PROMPTLY RELIEVED AND PERMANENTLY CURED BY INHALING CATARRHOZONE.

Mrs. Bisy Brown of Tenecape, N. S., was cured by Catarrhozone of lung trouble and catarrh after hundreds of other remedies failed.

If your lungs are weak ; if there is consumption in your family , if Cold-Catarrh and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhozone. It is especially adapted for these diseases, and cures every time.

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures, but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but, after resorting without benefit to poultices and numerous other remedies, she tried Catarrhozone.

"I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown, "five minutes every hour, and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold or catarrh can exist if Catarrhozone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone. By means of the Inhaler the local symptoms such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Ferrozone tablets, which are taken after each meal, purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons and build up and strengthen the system.

This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhozone.

Complete outfit costs $1 ; small size, 25c. At druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Effective September 18th, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway inaugurated a mixed train service to be operated on the Regina Branch between Melville and Regina. This train will run Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, leaving Melville at 10.35 a.m., and arriving at Regina at 7.35 p.m. Leaving Regina Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 7 a.m., arriving at Melville at 4 p. m., and will make stops at the intermediate stations.

COW TESTING NEWS

The records of the Cow Testing Associations of Trewern, Central Smith, Shearer, Maple Leaf, Warsaw, Peterboro', Ennismore, Norwood and Keene, have been compiled for the month of August and show the following results :

The best cow gave 1410 lbs. of milk, testing 3.8 per cent., thus producing 53½ lbs. of fat. Valuing the fat at 25 cents per lb., she brought in for her owner $13.37. The poorest cow gave 175 lbs. of milk, testing 4 per cent., thus producing 7 lbs. of fat, which would be worth $1.75, or about $11.50 less than that produced by the best cow.

Many people consider that because a cow is giving a small amount of milk that it is extremely rich and that the cow is probably as profitable as larger milkers in the herd, and in many cases are right in their belief, but we have here an example of a cow which has never tested over 4 per cent., and has never given over 335 lbs. of milk in a month. No doubt there are many cows equally as unprofitable in Peterborough County.

The best cow, referred to above, is a 5-year-old grade Holstein, owned by Mr. F. J. Greenbank of Norwood, whose herd in the month of June, averaged 1388 lbs. of milk and over 44 lbs. of fat. Mr. Greenbank has used pure bred Holstein sires,—sires with official backing for about 20 years, and by saving the heifers from the best cows, has graded up a herd which he may well be proud of.

The highest average lbs. of fat for the month, was 40¾ lbs., which was produced by Mr. Greenbank's herd. The herd of Mr. Louis Brown of Norwood, was a close second with 39½ lbs. fat.

Leaving the Norwood Association out of consideration and looking over the records of some of the herds nearer Peterboro' we find some excellent herd averages. The herd of Mr. J. A. McGregor of Central Smith, averaged 33¾ lbs. fat. The herd of Mr. R. Scott, also of Central Smith, averaged 32 lbs. of fat. The herd of Mr. Joseph Mann of Trewern 32¾ lbs. fat and the herd of Mr. Wm. Telford of Ennismore, 34¾ lbs. fat.

A remarkable cow in this herd is a 6-year-old grade Holstein, which Mr. Telford did not consider amounted to much, but the scales and the Babcock Test have proven otherwise, as this cow has in four months produced 3800 lbs. of milk and 161 lbs. of fat, or more than the average cow in Canada, produces in a year.

No doubt there are a number of excellent cows sent to the butcher every year because their owners do not realize their value.

TURKEY AND ITALY WILL CEASE HOSTILITIES, PENDING PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

London, Oct. 11.—A despatch to The Times from Malta says that on October 8, two hundred Turkish cavalry men advanced to within two miles and a half of Tripoli and tried to surprise the sentries, but were repulsed. Three Turks were killed.

A majority of the Turkish troops have fled, says the despatch, by the four caravan routes, but 3,500 are concentrating near Gheurian, some distance from Tripoli behind a chain of hills. They have only four guns, as the others are abandoned in the Tripoli forts, where the Italians found 50, including several Krupps, dated 1875 and some guns.

The Times Tripoli correspondent, in a despatch dated October 8, describes the Turkish army as being in an inenviable plight and Munhir Pasha, "a dear old gentleman incapable of independent action without instructions from Stamboul."

STOLE THE CAMELS.

"He has been marching to and fro in the desert," continues the correspondent, wanting to attack the Italians, but lacking backbone to carry through his splendid intentions. Finally he halted about a day's march outside the town while the baggage and camels were sent unescorted into the interior. Realizing that the Turkish regiment was ended and that they were not likely to receive their pay, the camel men decamped with the camels.

"Nearly all the local conscripts, as well as the Arabs who were armed by the local authorities, deserted and Munhir Pasha in despair opened negotiations with the Italian commander. As the Turks left both artillery and wives in Tripoli, there can never be any intention of a serious resistance. The story is one that should whiten Shefkel Pasha's hairs with grief."

WARSHIPS IN ACTION.

A despatch from Tripoli to The Times, dated October 10, says :

"Last night the naval outpost line around the town was disturbed by a hostile movement along its front. The Italians fired many volleys, and the warships joined in with schrapnel and shell. No Italian casualties are yet reported."

The Constantinople correspondent of the Times says :

"The Italian military authorities have seized the offices of the imperial public debt administration in Tripoli and expelled all the officials, who have been given six days in which to quit the country. The council of the public debt will protest to Italy and the Powers on behalf of the bondholders."

TURKS RECONNOITERING.

Tripoli, Oct. 11.—The Turks apparently do not intend to abandon Tripoli to the Italians without further determined resistance. For several days bands of horsemen have been reconnoitering in the vicinity of the Italian outposts. Several times at night they have been discovered by the searchlights of the warships, and then shells drove them back again into the hills.

REJOICE IN THE LORD ALWAYS

In the voyage of life, when the storm cloud is dark,
And breaks the wild surge o'er our struggling bark,
When swept by adversitys pitiless blast,
A wreck on the rocks of despair we are cast.

Though trouble springs not from the curse-laden soil,
'Stead of wheat, how oft tares have rewarded our toil,
Youth's birthright of happiness, pilfered by care
And frowning the future, looms cheerless and bare.

Friends whose smile beamed as warm in misfortunes bleak day,
As prosperity's glow, with its uncertain ray.
When slow, tolls their departing, the funeral bell,
Through our hearts empty portals, re-echoes the knell.

The worn body wasted, by ling'ring disease,
Till our tent flutters free, to the gentlest breeze.
Pain deepens with gloom the lone watches of night,
And restless we long, for the dawning of light.

Perchance scandals foul tongue, with withering scorn,
Has blighted life's roses, and left but the thorn,
Pass our days, as the shuttle, so swift

We must tread, unattended, Death's shadowy vale,
In rejoicing, how then, shall a mortal have part
While, as rain wears the rock, slowly grief wears the heart.

Speaks wisdom eternal, triumphant her voice,
And bids us again and again to rejoice.
Rejoice in the sun that in splendor shall rise,
Dispersing the mists, from our tear bedimmed eyes.

The King in his glory, we then shall behold
And the Land afar off with its City of Gold,
Where the ransomed rejoice with the harp and the song,
Exulting in Him to whom praises belong.
Rejoice for earth's sorrow shall vanish away,
Brief sadness, long ages of bliss shall repay.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

Eventually we had the food — a hundred pounds of flour, a square tin of tea, a little coffee, some salt and pepper, and half a dozen extra pairs of mocassins — lashed on the toboggan. Then he stirred up the surly dogs, and we went crunching over the harsh snow to the stockade wall, attended by Donald and his lantern and the factor himself, swathed to the heels in a great coat of beaver.

At the drawing of the bar and the inward swing of the great gate, Barreau put a final question to Le Noir. "Tell me, if it is not betraying a confidence," he said ironically, "how much Montell's flitting cost the company?"

"It is no secret," the factor replied "Sixty thousand dollars in good Bank of Montreal notes. A fair price."

"A fair price, indeed," Barreau laughed. "Good night, M'sieu the Black."

The gate creaked to its close behind us, as the dogs humped against the collars. A hundred yards, and the glimmering night enfolded us; the stockade became a vague blur in the hazy whit.

Barreau swung sharp to the west. We plodded thus till we were once more abreast of the stockade. For a moment I lost sight of Barreau; then he called to me, and I came up with him, standing with his back to the cutting wind, that still thrust from out the east like a red-hot spear.

He took the dog whip from me without a word, swinging the leaders southward. Once among the spruce, Barreau halted the near-winded dogs for a breathing spell.

"We will go a few miles and make camp for the night," he said. "This is Montell's trail."

"The more miles the better." I rejoined. "I'm tired, but I have no wish to hobnob with the policemen."

"Faugh!" he burst out. "There are no policemen. That was as much a bluff as my hundred well-armed Indians. Le Noir is a poser. Do you think I'd ever have got outside that stockade if there had been a redcoat at his call? Oh, no! That would have been the very chance for him — one that he would have been slow to overlook. I know him. He's well named the Black Factor. His heart is as black as his whiskers, and the truth is not in him when a lie can make or save a dollar for his god — which is the company. We have not quite done with him yet, I imagine. Hup there, you huskies — the trail is long, and we are two days behind!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Long Arm of the Company.

The fourth day out, at a noon camp by a spring that still defied the frost, Barreau straightened up suddenly from his stooping over the frying pan.

"Listen," he said.

His ears were but little keener than mine, for even as he spoke I caught a sound that was becoming familiar from daily hearing — the soft pluff-pluff of snowshoes. Upon the snow the toot of man gave but little sound, even where there was a semblance of trail. So that, almost in the instant that we heard and turned our heads, we could see those who came toward us. Three men and two women — facing back upon the trail we followed.

The men I recognized at once. One was Cullen, the bookkeeping automaton; the other two were half-breed trackers. They halted at sight of us, and from their actions I believe they would have turned tail if Barreau had not called to them. Then they came up to the fire.

"Where now?" Barreau demanded.

"We go back on ze pos', m'sieu," one of the breeds declared.

"What of the others?" Barreau asked sharply. "And why do you turn back?"

"Because Ah'm not greesh for follow no fat trader an' sixteen som' snowshoe," the breed retorted sullenly. "M'sieu Barreau knows ze company has taken ze pos', eh?"

"I do," Barreau answered. "Go on."

"Ze Black Factor hees say to heem, 'Why not you stay feel ze sprenz,' but M'sieu Montell hees not stay, an' hees mak talk for us to com' wees heem on ze sout' trail. Eet don' mak no diffrence to me, jus' so Ah'm geet pay, so Ah'm tak ze ol' woman an' com' long. Montell hees heet 'er up lak hell. Ever'seeng sh'es all right. Zen las' night som'body hees mak sneak on ze camp an' poison ze dog — ever' las' one — an' hees steal som' of ze grub, too. Dees morneeng w'en Jacques Larue an' me am start out for foller dees feller's track, hees lay for us an' tak shot at us. Firs' pop hees hest Larue — keel heem dead jus' lak snap ze feenger. Ah'm not go on after sat. MacLeod she too dam' far for mak ze treep wit' no dog for pull ze outfeet. Not me. Ah'm goin' back on ze pos'. Ze companie hees geev me chance for mak liveeng. For why som'body hees poison ze dog an' bushwhack us Ah don' can say; but Ah know for sure Montell hees dom crazee for try to go on."

"You, too, eh, Cullen?" Barreau observed. "Oh, you are certainly brave men."

"He was a fool to start," Cullen bristled; the first time I had ever seen a flash of spirit from the man of figures. "And I am not fool enough to follow him, when it is plain that he is deliberately matching himself against some hostile force. The Hudson's Bay men did us no harm. The factor did advise him to stay there till spring opened — I heard him, myself. But he was bound to be gone. Whoever is dogging him means business, and I have no wish to die in a snowbank — as Jean puts it.

"How was the taking of the post managed?" Barreau asked him next.

Cullen shook his head. "I don't know," he mumbled. "It was just at day light of the morning you left for Three Wolves' camp. Somebody yelled, and I ran out of the cook house, where I sat eating breakfast. The yard was full of company men And when I got to the store, why, there was Montell making terms with the company chief; a tall, black-mustached man. We started within an hour of that. Montell seemed in great haste. He is determined to go on. I felt sorry for Miss Montell. I tried to show him the madness of trying to walk several hundred miles with only what supplies we could carry on our shoulders. He wouldn't turn back, though."

"For a very good reason," Barreau commented. "Which a man who knew as much of our affairs as you did, Cullen, should have guessed. Well, be on your way. Doubtless the Black Factor will welcome your coming."

The three men had laid down the shoulder packs with which they were burdened. They reslung them, and passed on, with furtive sidelong glances; the women followed, dragging a lightly loaded toboggan.

"Rats will quit a doomed ship," Barreau remarked. Then he resumed his turning of the meat that sizzled in the pan."

"We will soon come up with them," he said, when we had eaten and were putting the dogs to the toboggan again. "They cannot make time from their mornin camp."

The beaten track was an advantage. Now, since the returning party had added a final touch to it, we laid aside our snowshoes and followed in the wake of the dogs, half the time at a jogging trot. In little more than an hour of this, we came to the place where Montell had lost his dogs — and his followers. The huskies lay about the trodden camp ground, stiff in the snow. A toboggan and its useless dog harness stood up-ended against a tree.

"So much for loss of motive power," Barreau said grimly. "It is a pity to leave all this, but we are loaded to the limit now. If we should lose our dogs, now——" He left the sentence unfinished.

And so we passed by the abandoned goods, and followed on the trail that led beyond.

Nearing the gray half hour of twilight, he checked the straining huskies and myself with a gesture. Out of the woods ahead came the faint squeal of a toboggan bottom sliding over the frosty snow. Barreau's eyebrows drew together under his hood.

"It's a hundred to one that there will be fireworks the moment I'm recognized," he muttered finally. "Yet I can see no other way. Come on."

A hundred yards farther I caught my first glimpse of the two figures, Montell's huge body bent forward as he tugged at his load. Barreau increased his speed. We were up with them in a half minute more. Montell whirled, with a growl, half alarm, half defiance. He threw up the rifle in his hands. But Barreau was too quick for him, and the weapon was wrenched out of his grasp before he could use it. With an inarticulate bellow, Montell shook himself free of the shoulder rope by which he drew the toboggan, and threw himself bodily upon Barreau, striking, pawing, blaspheming terribly.

Strangely enough, Jessie made no move, nor even cried out at the sight. She stood like one fascinated by that brute spectacle which, fortunately, did not endure for long. The great bulk of Montell bore Barreau backward, but only for a moment. He ducked a wild swing, that had power enough behind it to have broken his neck, came up under Montell's clutching arms, and struck him under the chin — a lifting blow, with all the force of his muscular body centred therein. It staggered the big man. And as I stepped forward, meditating interference, Barreau jammed him backward over our loaded toboggan, and held him there helpless.

He pinned him thus for a second; then suddenly released him. Montell stood up, a thin stream of blood trickling from one nostril. He glowered sullenly, but the ferocious gleam had died out of his eyes.

"Get a fire built," Barreau ordered, "and a tent pitched. We shall camp here to-night. Make no more wild breaks like that, unless you want to be overtaken with sudden death. When we are warm, I have something to say to you."

Twilight merged into gray night, and the red blaze of the fire we built glowed on the surrounding trees and the canvas of the tent. A pot of melted snow bubbled and shed steam. Close by it a piece of moose meat thawed in the heat. Jessie, still mute, sat on a piece of canvas I spread for her, and held her hands to the flame.

"Now," Barreau challenged Montell, "is a good time for explanations. Only facts, no matter how they gall you, will serve. Speak up. First begin at the beginning, and tell the truth—to her." He motioned to Jessie. She started slightly. A half dozen times I had noticed her looking first at myself and then at Barreau, and there was wonder and something else in

THE REAL WOMAN.

A Story of a Bridge Party

There was nearly a score of women in Mrs. Empet's parlors that afternoon. The tables were up and everybody was anxious to begin the game. But there was needed just one more guest to make the requisite number and she was late. She had never been late before and Mrs. Empet was quite put out about it.

The women were all as gorgeous as could be. All the time they were talking their eyes wandered over each other's toilettes or to the prizes, which rested in plain sight upon a table in the next room.

Several women wanted the claret set, and were resolved to use all means, fair or foul, to get it. It was no sin to cheat; everybody did it, and it lent zest to the game, as long as one wasn't found out. Between the prizes and the refreshments one was sure to be interested if not actually diverted. It was to be hoped Mrs. Empet would have something new to eat. Everybody was tired of ices and cakes.

At that moment the door bell rang and there was a general start. Conversations were cut ruthlessly in two. Then Laura St. John said: Mrs. Files—at last!

Whereupon everybody sat up and looked animated, for they had exhausted all available sources of entertainment, and the newcomer was sure to create a diversion. She entered immediately — a large, smiling woman in a catawba satin gown, with an enormous diamond sunburst glowing like an electric light bulb right on the front of it. They were so intent in looking at her that for a moment they did not notice that another woman was coming in behind her and half obscured by her — a little, slight woman in a perfectly plain cloth gown with an edge of white at the throat and no jewellery showing save a thread of wedding ring on her left hand. She had nice gray hair, smoothly parted and coiled; her complexion was her own and her gentle gray eyes gazed with frank friendliness at the astonished company. She was no older than several of those who were trying so hard to keep young, and somehow she did not look any older. She only made them look tawdry and cheap and unnatural.

Mrs. Empet, although she had not expected her, made the best of her coming. She took her round and introduced her. None of them had ever seen her before; she was a cousin of Augusta Files and she lived in the country and did not get into town very often. She had come just as Mrs. Files was ready to start for her bridge party and she either had to stay at home herself or bring her. Her name was Mrs. Thayer and it was easy to see that she was unused to fashionable gatherings. A spot of delicate red came out on either cheek and she fluttered a little shyly, holding out her hand to each lady as she met her.

"I don't play bridge,' she exclaimed, "or any card game bigger than casion, and I always get beaten at that. Cards weren't played so much in my young day. Now, you mustn't let me put you out. I'll just sit and look on and do a bit of tatting. I shall enjoy myself splendid. It will all be new to me, you see."

So that was the way they arranged it. They took their place at the tables and Mrs. Empet drew a big chair to the top of the room for Mrs. Thayer, where she could see all the company and all the company could see her. It had to be half filled with cushions to accommodate her small figure. She sat upright, smiling pleasantly about her as her hands plied the tatting shuttle — a remarkable contrast to the overdressed, made-up women at the card tables. And somehow not she but they became conscious of this contrast. There was a subtle influence in her genuine simplicity. They felt guiltily the weight of their false hair; their faces flushed under their rouge, and they tried furtively to dab it away with their handkerchiefs. Above the edges of their cards they looked at each other with curiously cleared vision and then away at the one real woman of them all who sat there doing tatting. And slowly it was revealed to them, that bridge was but a poor substitute for the things that should have engaged their attention They saw themselves for the cotton roses they were, while she was the real rose ripening to a graceful fall. It was as if Mrs. Thayer had roused them to better aims and longings.

Nobody cheated at cards that afternoon. It seemed immaterial how the prizes went. There was a tie between Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Sherrod when it came to the claret set, and with one accord these ladies voted to give it to Mrs. Thayer. Everybody clapped their hands at that. So Mrs. Stout made a little presentation speech and the set went to Mrs. Thayer, who got up holding tight to her tatting shuttle and tried with all her might to say something more than just thank you.

Then the maid brought in the refreshments which consisted merely of cake and sherbet, but somehow nobody was disappointed.

They had all gathered about Mrs Thayer, and she was telling them about her grandchildren and how she was in a hurry to get this tatting done for little Jennie's petticoat. And so they were led to talk about their own grandchildren and children. From that the talk drifted to their young days and how they had worn hoopskirts and white stockings — things they had never before admitted even to themselves.

The clock was striking 6 before they ever thought of going home, and even then they were loath to leave Mrs. Thayer. They all kissed her good by and said they were glad they had met her and it was the pleasantest bridge party they had ever had just on account of her being there.

Go Without Her

If you should ask your girl to go
To Portland, or some other where,
And she refuses, don't you know,
Then do not go — into despair,
But go wherever you've a mind,
And leave her to her own sweet will
There's pleasure in the world, you'll find,

"Bill" Should Know

Sir William Lyne, a pioneer of female suffrage in Australia, in addressing British voteless ladies in the London Pavilion, referred to the fantastic prophecies that have been falsified in the Commonwealth. One of them was that the enfranchised women would especially favor some good-looking candidates. They have really sent "some ugly men" into the Commonwealth parliament. Sir William should know. He is himself known in Australia as "Plain Bill."

NOT SUCH AN AWFUL WHIRL!

By Campbell Raymond

(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

The clerks and officials in one of the smaller bureaus at Washington would, about now, seem to a casual visitor, to be afflicted with a chronic trip. Even the somewhat sedate Chief sometimes breaks into a solemn chuckle. The joke was rather on them, so they tried to keep it quiet but it leaked out, of course. Briefly, it was nothing less than a grand red paint whirl by the most circumspect clerk on Uncle Sam's payroll that ensued that yrin.

"Uncle Charlie," as he is called by everyone from the Chief to the messenger, is a meek, patient little man weighing about one hundred and five with mutton-chop whiskers, who has struggled along for fifteen years on a slary of $1,200. Twelve hundred dollars does not mean affluence down here when one has a family of five girls, and Uncle Charlie has always been seedy.

One by one the girls were married however, and it came about that with the June roses the last of Uncle Charlie's responsibilities as to his family vanished. For several days after this event he was observed to wear a preoccupied look. Slowly his air of abstraction gave way to one of determination, and one sweltering afternoon, suddenly laying down his pen, he announced to the man at the next desk that he proposed to have a whirl.

The news ran like wildfire through the bureau, and presently employes began to nanse casually beside Uncle Charlie's desk.

"Say," the office sport whispered "You take my tip. Drink about an ounce of olive oil before you start in. You will last twice as long." He winked and went on.

"I wonder what that young man really meant?" Uncle Charlie pondered.

"I hear that you are going to give yourself a little recreation, Uncle Charlie," the Disbursing Clerk said and gave him a playful dig in the ribs. "Of course you know that it is not exactly regular, but if you would like to have a little advance, why, er, I guess we could fix it up between us."

"That's very kind of you, sir, but I really don't think I shall need any advance," Uncle Charlie said, sorely perplexed.

"Perhaps you'd better leave the number of days blank on your application for leave, Uncle Charlie," the Chief advised, meeting him in the corridor. "But then," he added with sudden indulgence, "if you should happen to overstay the time coming to you, why, er, we'll just consider that you are sick and charge it up to sick leave."

That was on Tuesday. On Thursday Uncle Charlie's rusty alpaca coat was hanging on its usual hook and Uncle Charlie was at his old desk when the rest of the clerks came racing in at one minute to nine. Uncle Charlie was chipper and smiling, though his nose was curiously peeled. The office sport dropped his hat with its fancy band in his astonishment, and walked round and round Uncle Charlie, eyeing him from head to foot.

"Nary headache, as I live!" he finally gasped. "Say, Uncle Charlie, put me wise to that dope, will you? You look as fresh as a daisy!"

It was no use trying to disguise their curiosity, and presently half the office force, including the Chief, had gathered about Uncle Charlie's desk.

"Now, look here, Uncle Charlie," the Chief said; "we just want to know what you did, anyway. I guess we sort of—well, misunderstood your intentions."

"Well, it wasn't such an awful whirl, maybe, for one or you boys, but it was a right smart one for me," Uncle Charlie told them, as they pressed eagerly forward. "You see, for quite a long while I have had to look after things about the house — there were always so many little jobs that the girls couldn't do — and I used all my leave working at home. And I wouldn't have felt like being extravagant while they were dependent on me and required so many things. But after Louise was married —she was the last one, and their mother has been dead several years —why, I felt like letting myself out a little. It was one of the most delightful days I have ever experienced."

"But what did you do, Uncle Charlie?" they demanded in chorus.

"Why," he said, "first of all I went down town and bought this red necktie — I've always wanted one," he added bashfully. "And then I went out to the ball park, and bought a bag of peanuts and sat on the bleachers in the sun, and drank pop, and watched the game. And say," Uncle Charlie concluded impressively, "Do you know, I really believe it was a better game than the one I saw fifteen years ago when our home town beat the Carter Corners' team thirty-seven to twenty-eight!"

Parental Tactics.

A worried parent is sometimes obliged to do something like this:—"Pa, what is a transcendentalist?" "Have you chained up the dog, as I told you?" "Not yet, pa." "Well, do that, and when you come back I will tell you what a transcendentalist is." While Bobby was gone his astute parent dug the needed information out of a dictionary.

A man's ideal woman is simply one who believes everything he tells her.

WORTH REMEMBERING

Those who boast they never did any harm are generally those who never did any good.

It is not always wise to judge another by their tongue or coat, for true worth lies where neither ear nor eye can penetrate.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. WRITE US for full information.

Jordan & Davis Company
NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by all dealers.

Real Estate, Mining and Industrial Investments

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth $2 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

HON. J. M. GIBSON

Ontario's Lieut.-Governor has recently had another honor added to an already fairly lengthy list, that of a Knight of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, approved by the King as patron of the Grand Priory in recognition of good work done in connection with the Canadian branch of the St. John Ambulance Association.

Col. Gibson, who is an M.A., LL.D., K.C., A.D.C., etc., was born in 1842, and gathered alphabetical and other pointers in education at the Central School Hamilton, and the University of Toronto, carrying away such honors as the Prince of Wales Prize, medals in classics, and modern languages, L.L.B. with Gold medal, 1869; L.L.D. Barr (U.C.) 1867.

The Hon. Gentleman's Military Progress reads:—Lt.-Col. 13th Regiment, 1895; Hon. Col. 1901; Col. Reserve of officers 1902; Col. Commanding 16th Brigade Canadian Militia, 1903. He has been to Wimbledon and Bisley in command of Canadian detachments of shooting men, and was honored by being chosen Hon. A. D. C. to Their Excellencies the Earl of Aberdeen and the Earl Minto while Governors General of Canada. The Colonel has held down many important legal appointments, and is besides Past Grand Master, Lodge of Canada A. F. and A. M., besides being Grand Commander A. and A. S. Rite for Canada, the two latter conferments, it is said,

COL. HON. J. M. GIBSON, Lt.-Governor of Ontario

being the most highly prized of the list.

NEVER USES SLANG

I know a well-bred little boy who never says, "I can't";
He never says, "Don't want to", or "You've got to", or "You shant";
He never says, "I'll tell mama"! or calls his playmates "mean".
A lad more careful of his speech I'm sure was never seen.
He's never ungrammatical—he never mentions "aint";
A single word of slang from him would make his mother faint.
And now I'll tell you why I' is (lest this should seem absurd);
He's now exactly six months old, and cannot speak a word!

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 60,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Distress in the Stomach

Hundreds of Thousands of Bottles of Nerviline Used Every Year for Curing Cramps, Diarrhoea, and Stomach Disorders.

Deadly cramps—the symptoms are not to be mistaken. Suddenly and without warning the patient experiences such agony in the stomach as to contort the countenance and cause him to cry aloud for help.

Then it is that the wonderful power of Nerviline can make itself felt — it cures so quickly, you would think it was made to cure cramps and cramps only.

LETTER NO. 4877

"Last summer I was stricken with a frightful attack of cramps. I feared the pain in my stomach would kill me.

"My eyes bulged out and the veins in my forehead stood out like whipcords.

"My cries attracted a neighbor, who came to my assistance, and in a moment or two handed me half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in some sweetened water.

"It seemed as if an angel had charmed away the pain. In ten seconds I was well. Nerviline has a wonderful name in this locality, and is considered best for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, stomach and bowel disorders. I urge all my friends to use Nerviline.

"MANLEY M. LEGARDE., Williamsburg."

No home is safe or can afford to miss the manifold advantages of having Nerviline on hand in case of accident or emergent sickness. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Has Another Job.

Mr. Ward, a valued employee of the Fire Department, has accepted a lucrative position in Picton. He will leave in a few days for his new home.

Hunting Licenses.

Hunters' licenses this year can be procured at Mr. Sam. Ray's, Hunter street. The deer hunting season will begin on Nov. 1, so that those who intend to engage in the hunt should procure their licenses early.

Moving a House.

Mr. Huffman has the contract for moving a frame house, the property of Messrs. Comstocks, from the west end of Water street to the corresponding block on Aylmer street.

Plate Glass Window Broken.

Yesterday morning the plate glass window in the store of Mr. R. J. Sutherland, Water street, was shattered during the process of being cleaned.

A Rapid Flight.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. Joe Kelly, local bird fancier, released three carrier pigeons, the property of Mr. Frank Bortell, Bowmanville. He has since received a letter saying that the birds arrived home safely. Their time for the fifty-three miles, was one hour and fifteen minutes.

St. Andrew's Society.

The Scotchmen of Peterborough propose organizing a St. Andrew's Society here. There is to be an inaugural meeting in Coleman's grill rooms on Saturday evening. Peterborough once had a strong St. Andrew's Society, and we hope to see a large attendance to-morrow evening.

Liberals to Meet.

A meeting of the Liberals of West Peterborough will be held on Saturday evening, in order to fix a date for the Liberal convention, and to discuss important Provincial issues. The meeting will be held in the Board Room of the Central Canada Offices, George street.

At Rev. Mr. Carpenter's Church.

Campbellford Herald: Harvest Thanksgiving services were held in Christ Church on Sunday last, and were very successful. At both services the church, which was beautifully decorated, was filled to the doors. Rev. Mr. Carpenter is being well received by his new congregation, and the beginning of his ministry augurs well for his success. He expects to move his family here shortly.

How It Works Out.

At a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council on Wednesday evening, the question of milk and meat inspection is one of the matters which was discussed. It was claimed that some of the milk men who are delivering milk in bottles have been noticed filling the bottles out of milk cans on the streets and then delivering to the next customer. This is where the trouble comes in delivering it in bottles.

Was a Grand Success.

Mr. Webb, secretary of the Church League Football team reports that the concert last Wednesday night was a great success and on behalf of the committee wishes to thank those who assisted in the programme and also Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., who kindly attended and acted as chairman in spite of the fact that his presence was also urgently required at the Armouries. Mr. Burnham left for the Armouries latter on in the evening.

Annual Thank-Offering.

The W. F. M. S. Auxiliary of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, will hold their annual thank-offering meeting this afternoon, Friday, Oct. 13th, at half past three o'clock in the school room of the Church. The usual programme will be given. Mrs. (Rev.) Rollins will give an address, and it is hoped there will be a large attendance to hear this message.

A Birthday Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jones, 180 Auburn street, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering on Wednesday evening, on the occasion of the birthday of Master Willie, their eldest son. Music and games provided delightful entertainment for the young people, during which dainty refreshments were served. The party separated at 10.30 o'clock, not however, before wishing Master Willie many happy returns, and heartily thanking Mr. and Mrs. Jones for their hospitality.

Case Again Appealed.

Reason vs. Canadian Chicle Company.—An appeal by plaintiffs from the judgment of the County Court of Middlesex of the 3rd of August, 1911. The plaintiffs; paper box manufacturers of London, brought action against defendants, manufacturers of Peterborough, to recover $113.85, the price of 25,300 folding gum boxes. Defendants claimed that the boxes were negligently and unskilfully made and were unfit for the purpose for which they were intended by defendants, to the knowledge of the plaintiffs. At the trial the action was dismissed without costs. Appeal dismissed with costs. The case is again being appealed. O'Connel & Gordon are appearing for the Canadian Chicle Co., and Gibbons, Harper & Gibbons, of London, are appearing for the Reason Co.

WEDDING BELLS

Edmison—Sippi.

THE Anglican church in Winnipeg, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday last, when Miss Minnie Sippi youngest daughter of the late Dr. Sippi, of London, Ont., was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert H. Edmison, youngest son of George Edmison, Esq., County Magistrate, Peterborough, Ont. The handsome church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and a large number of guests witnessed the ceremony. The young couple were unattended.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held, after which the young couple left on a honeymoon trip to New York and points east, will visit the groom's parents, Magistrate and Mrs. Edmison, Rubidge street, city. They will reside in Winnipeg.

Ringer—Henry.

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday morning, when Miss Minnie, daughter of Mr. George Henry, Bethune street, was united in marriage to Mr. Arthur A. Ringer, son of Alfred Richard Ringer, of Aylmer street. The Rev. H. J. Keith performed the ceremony. The bride was assisted by her sister, and the bridegroom by Mr. George Metheral. Only a few immediate friends were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Ringer will reside on Stewart street.

White Bread Eaters

Beri-beri! What's That?

A recent press dispatch from Paris to the New York American quotes Thomas A. Edison as saying, that in France:

"They (the French) do not unbalance the wheat for the sake of appearance, but retain the gluten qualities in an extraordinary way. I think that most of the indigestion in America comes from the desire to make bread look pretty, and in so doing, unbalancing the wheat, taking from it qualities most essential to nutrition and health.

"It has been found in countries where that dreaded disease known as beri-beri flourishes (Beri-beri is a fatal disease attacking the nerves and nerve centres) that in the process of polishing and whitening rice, elements are taken from the food that, if allowed to remain and be fed to patients suffering from the disease, actually cures them."

In the making of white flour, the vital elements of the hard outer coat of the wheat are "thrown away," because they darken the flour. Nerve starvation is a natural result.

No one can "beat" Old Mother Nature. She places in wheat and barley certain elements (Diastase Potash, Lime, etc.) up under the outer shell. Diastase is the element which helps to transform or digest starch and make it useful for the body. The Potash goes to rebuild the gray matter in the nerve cells.

In the making of

these brain and nerve-building elements are purposely preserved, among them the valuable Phosphate of Potash, (grown in the grain) the essential tissue salt of all grey nerve matter.

For growing children, for men and women who work with body and brain, there is no better food than Grape-Nuts.

Grape-Nuts contains all the meat of the wheat and barley from which it is made. A dish of Grape-Nuts and cream is the cereal part of the daily morning meal of hundreds of thousands of people all over the world.

A CALL SOLICITED

OPENING GAME OF THE SEASON

The senior P.C.I. rugby team dashed with the W.E.A.C. fourteen yesterday, and both teams displayed some good work. For the P.C.I., Hill, Eastwood and Stewart did the most effective work and for the West Ends, Craig, Denison and Corbery were always on deck with the goods. As prophecied, the daylight practice against such a fast team as the Kennerites certainly rounded the boys into shape. The big fellows walloped the P.C.I. 17—5, but the fight was a tough one all through the game.

THE GAME TO-MORROW.

The Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. rugby team have engaged a private car for their game here to-morrow, when they will meet the local fourteen in a junior O.R.F.U. game. This will be the first league game this season for both teams, and the fight will likely be a hot one to the finish. According to the Toronto News the Y.M.C.A. boys figure on a victory, but judging by the shape the local team is in, the west end fourteen will surprise the invaders. Every rugby fan should turn out and root for the boys to-morrow.

VOL XXXIV NO 238 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 14 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

MILLIONAIRES IN BORDEN CABINET

How They Are Grouped as to Religion and Race

MEETING OF PARLIAMENT

Ministers Busy Arranging for Seats —East Peterborough Suggested for Hon. Frank Cochrane—This Would Probably Mean That Mr. Beaumith Would Secure a Senatorship.

THIS desire of Senator Lougheed to be left without the worries of administering a portfolio made it possible for Mr. Borden to give Ontario a sixth portfolio, instead of five, as originally intended, and also paved the way for the taking in of Mr. Crothers. Mr. Kemp's ambitions are satisfied, and his long party services rewarded by his being made a minister without portfolio. Mr. Osler was also offered a similar honor, but declined.

In reality the position of minister without portfolio is honorary rather than onerous. They will have a say in deciding any large questions of public policy, but ninety per cent. of the work of the cabinet council is taken up with matters affecting the administration of one or other of the departments of state.

Four Millionaires.

There are at least four millionaires if Mr. Rogers can be included in that category. There would have been five if Mr. Forget had accepted Premier Borden's invitation. Nearly all the ministers are successful and wealthy business or professional men. There are eight lawyers.

Religious Beliefs.

There are eight adherents of the church of England in the new cabinet, five Methodists, four Roman Catholics and one Baptist. The church of England men are Hon. Messrs. Borden, Hazen, Perley, Rogers, Roche, Burrell, White and Lougheed. The Methodists are Hon. Messrs. Cochrane, Crothers, Kemp, Hughes and Reid. The Roman Catholics are Messrs. Monk, Pelletier, Nantel and Doherty, while Mr. Foster is the Baptist.

Taking the Oath.

The swearing in of the ministers took place at Rideau Hall a few days ago. The new premier and his colleagues drove down to Government house and were received by his excellency Earl Grey in the drawing room. The ministerial deputation was a decided mixture so far as its clothes went. Seven of them — Messrs. Borden, Crothers, Rogers, Kemp, White, Monk and Foster—wore the traditional frock coat and the silk topper. The others were content with fedoras and ordinary felt hats, so that the democracy of the occasion was made apparent. The only minister absent was Martin Burrell, of British Columbia, who was, in fact, telegraphed to only last night to come to Ottawa, and whose swearing in will have to be done before the duke of Connaught.

Signed the P. C. Roll.

His excellency was supported by his aides, and was assisted by Thomas Mulvey, K.C., under-secretary of state, who bore the great seal of the Dominion of Canada, and by Rodolphe Boudreau, clerk of the privy council, who bore the roll of the privy council. Each minister was sworn as a member of the privy council except Hon. George E. Foster, who has been a member of that body for twenty-six years, although he has been out of office for fifteen years. The oath was administered by his excellency in person, and the inscription was made by each individual in Mr. Boudreau's magnificently bound volume. Then this part of the ceremony having been accomplished, the ministers were sworn as administrators of their various departments, and this time Mr. Foster had to take the oath. All were so sworn except Messrs. Perley, Kemp and Lougheed, who, having no portfolios, did not need to take the second oath.

Then the new cabinet came out into the grounds, were photographed,

Foreigners in Battle Array Under a Japanese

Pekin, Oct. 13.—Consular advices received here to-day state that the rebel artillery has occupied a hill commanding Hankow and the rebels have taken possession of the railway station. The allied foreign marines have landed and are protecting the foreign concessions under command of the Japanese Admiral Kawashima, the head of the third squadron of the Japanese navy. The Chinese gunboats are anchoring off the foreign concessions for their own safety.

HAVE FOUND NO TRACE IN WOODS OF MISS SMITH

SEARCHERS HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO LOCATE THE MISSING TORONTO GIRL.

Are Dragging River—Manly Chew, Ex-M.P., and Provincial Constable are Still Doing Their Best.

Parry Sound, Ont., Oct. 13.—Provincial Constable Markle, Mr. Manly Chew, ex-M.P., and the entire population around Dillon's Port are engaged in the search for the missing Toronto girl, Violet Smith. Her sister is also here.

All last night parties were engaged in a thoroughly careful dragging of the river Shebashekong, a small and sluggish river, where it is thought the girl may have been drowned, and there is no cessation of the search into the woods, which so thickly surround the hamlet of Dillon's Port.

Those who know the people of Dillon's Port best, do not even hint at foul play, except it may have been a passing stranger. The girl disappeared on Monday before breakfast, when she left the house without hat or coat.

M'MANIGAL A "DARE-DEVIL"

EARNED THAT SOBRIQUET FOR HIS RECKLESSNESS ON SKYSCRAPERS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—Ortie E. McManigal, who in a confession, declared that he was the confederate of John and James McNamara in a conspiracy which involved murder and destruction all over the country, lived an uneventful life, as he himself described it, up to the time he was arrested in Detroit with James B. McNamara last April, and brought to this city to be the principal witness against the brothers at their trial on the charge of having murdered nineteen of the men killed in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building, October 1, 1910.

He was born at Bloomville, Ohio, April 1, 1874, his mother died when he was four years old, and her parents, who lived at the same place, took him and his sister and cared for them until he was six or seven years of age. Then his father remarried, and took the children back to his home, where they remained until Ortie was about 12 years old. A separation then occurred between father and stepmother, and the children were sent to live with the father's parents in Hutchinson, Kas., where they lived for a year or two.

ONCE A SOLDIER.

When McManigal was about 15 years old his father ventured for a third time into matrimony, and took his children with him to a farm near Forest, Ohio. Shortly afterward they removed to Tiffin, Ohio, where McManigal senior is still living.

But Mrs. McMan, the third, objected to her husband's children, Ortie said, and so once again he and his sister were sent to the home of their mother's parents in Bloomville. There McManigal stayed until he was 19, when he returned to Tiffin to work with his father in the ice business and in stone quarries.

When war was declared against Spain in 1898, McManigal enlisted, but did not get out to the training camps. He was made orderly to an officer, a position he said he liked very much. Upon being mustered out of the military service he went to Milwaubee, where his uncle, George Behm, who figured recently in contempt proceedings here for refusing to answer questions propounded in the grand jury room, wanted him to become a railroad worker.

He started to enter railroad employment, but latter went into a quarry in Milwaukee and afterwards worked in a foundry there. Then he removed to Melrose Park, a suburb of Chicago, and worked for a copper concern.

MARRIED IN 1901.

McManigal fell in love with his wife while she was visiting his relatives in Milwaukee, and married her May 8th, 1901. After his marriage he became an iron worker, and joined Local Union No. 8, in Milwaukee, in 1903.

He worked at his trade in Louisville, Chicago, Milwaukee and other cities, then left the ranks of the iron workers to join his father and half-brother in the saloon business in Tiffin. But he had trouble there with his half-brother and sold out his liquor interests.

That was in 1906, and he remained in Tiffin, working in the iron trade, until his self-alleged connection with the McNamaras.

A DARE-DEVIL.

Of a reckless nature, McManigal earned the sobriquet "dare-devil," by feats of agility on the towering skeletons of skyscrapers. In Chicago, while working on the tallest buildings he would leap off the top storey to catch a beam being swung upward by the derrick.

When a small boy, McManigal fell off a wagon, and, a wheel passing over him, severely injured his head he said.

McManigal appears to regard his coming ordeal as chief witness in the McNamara trial with as little uneasiness as he does the accidents in his childhood and his exploits on the top of high buildings.

He recently determined to break with his wife, because, he said she was too active on behalf of the McNamaras. His only regret in this connection grows out of the fact that he believes a break with her means separation from his children, Evelyn, 8 years old, Walter, 6 years, who were out here with their mother last July and August, but who were not permitted to see their father.

J. R. STRATTON MAY BE LEADER

Rumor That He May Succeed Hon. A. G. MacKay

WOULD MAKE A HUM

Story Goes That He is Considering the Advisability of Coming Out Squarely Against Bi-Lingualism—The Irish Roman Catholics Would Probably Stick to Him.

Now that the Ontario elections are on, the politicians will again become busy. Candidates have been chosen in the East Riding, but in West Peterborough the Liberals have not yet selected their man. A short time ago The Times stated that the Hon. J. R. Stratton might have the nomination if he desired it, and furthermore, that he probably was then considering the matter. At all events, The Examiner has not denied the rumor, so that it looks as though there is something in it.

A New Move.

Realizing that bi-lingualism in the public schools of the Province is likely to be a leading issue in the approaching campaign, the rumor has got abroad that Mr. Stratton may accept the nomination and come out flat-footed against the teaching of anything but King's English in the schools of Ontario. It is well-known that not a very friendly feeling has existed for many years between Irish and French Roman Catholics, this being largely due to racial jealousies. This was clearly demonstrated a short time ago when Bishop Fallon, of London, spoke strongly against the teaching of the French language in the schools in his diocese.

HON. J. R. STRATTON

Who May Become Leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature.

Has Nothing to Lose

In taking this stand Mr. Stratton has nothing to lose and much to gain His political friends amongst the French are down and out likely for many years to come. Indeed, it is quite improbable that any portion of Canada, except of course, Quebec Province, will ever again be dominated by the French race, as it undoubtedly has practically been ever since Confederation.

May Become Leader

It is also in the air that if Mr. Stratton succeeds in being elected member for West Peterborough, he will become the leader of the Opposition in the Legislature, as it is said that Hon. A. G. McKay, is not deeply enamoured with the job. Mr. Stratton would, it is known, introduce more aggressive tactics than the comparatively easy course pursued by the man he would succeed. He has the advantage also of being familiar with every detail of work in connection with the Ontario Parliament.

In a few days the Liberals will be obliged to act, when the facts will become public. In the meantime all The Times can say is that we believe that the above is not far from the truth.

GREAT GROWTH C.P.R. BUSINESS

Fine New Freight Sheds to be Erected at Once

IN THE BUSINESS SECTION

The Present Premises Not Now Adequate for the Enormous Trade Which Has Been Developed—New Buildings to be Erected on English Property, on Bank of River, in Rear of Peter Hamilton Co's. Foundry.

FOR some time the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has been preparing for important changes that have become absolutely necessary in order to handle the ever-increasing business which has developed in Peterborough. The property on the bank of the river, formerly owned by Mr. Wm. English, was purchased, and on this and other property adjoining the Company will erect large and well-arranged freight sheds and offices, plans for which have been prepared by the Company's architects.

Big Improvements to be Made.

The company is double tracking their route east of Peterborough. The matter of constructing a right of way or bridge across the present structure as arranged by the City Council in the agreement with the company, has been laid over until the plans of the railway people become definite.

The construction of what is known as the Grain Route, is now completed between Lindsay and the Georgian Bay, and the work of building to Peterborough will now proceed at once. When this line is completed, Peterborough will become a great centre for C. P. R. traffic. The property of the Company on the river front will be utilized with tracks for the handling of freight.

Mr. W. S. Dodd, the Company's local manager, is a busy man these days, in view of what is going on.

BURNS ASSAILS GOMPERS CONSPIRACY TALK STUPID

Cleveland, O., Oct. 13.—William J. Burns, former Government secret service agent and detective, who worked up the evidence in the case against the McNamara brothers, now on trial in Los Angeles, last night vigorously assailed Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. The detective further discussed the Ohio Legislature bribery case and made the statement that political influences are endangering the successful completion of the present investigation into legislative corruption at Columbus.

EN ROUTE TO LOS ANGELES.

Detective Burns stopped at Cleveland from New York, while en route to Los Angeles, where he will remain he says, until the trial of James B. McNamara is over.

EVIDENCE COMPLETE.

"The charge President Gompers made in New York Tuesday that the case against the McNamara brothers is a conspiracy against Union labor is worse than asinine," said Burns. "I say this, well knowing that my professional reputation is at stake. I am willing to stand or fall by the evidence as it will be produced in the trial. And I say that the evidence is not only complete, but overwhelming.

"It is charged by President Gompers and the same report is being sent out from Los Angeles that the prosecution is afraid to place J. J. McNamara, the union official, on trial first, because evidence against him is incomplete. In plain language that is a falsehood, intended to stir up public prejudice."

MORE THAN A MILLION RAISED

Detective Burns here made public the information that the union labor campaign to raise funds for McNamara defence has been closely watched from its inauguration. He emphatically disputes the statement of Clarence S. Darrow, in charge of the defence of the two brothers, that but $120,000 so far has been raised for the trial.

"As a matter of fact," says Burns, "more than $1,000,000 already has been raised. We know that to be a fact. We have cumulative evidence. The country is to know in detail concerning the raising of this fund. And with this information will go positive evidence of just where the money has gone and how it has been expended."

WILL SPRING A SURPRISE.

Burns talked about some of the methods of the defence. He made charges of an extremely strong nature, which he says, formally will be brought to the attention of the court, probably before the trial has progressed beyond the stage of securing a jury. Burns has been working, he says, for a month on this phase of the case and the material he has in hand is the chief reason for his present trip to Los Angeles.

SECURING A JURY.

Los Angeles, Oct. 13.—Examination of Talisman Z. T. Nelson, of Pasadena, was the first proceeding set before Judge Walter Bordwell in the Superior Court to-day in the murder trial of James B. McNamara. Questioning of talismen frequently regarded as a dismal proceeding, furnished in this case, interest to spectators and partisans, because it was expected to define, in advance of the opening arguments, some of the essential issues of the trial which is designed to show whether the defendant is responsible for the death of Charles J. Haggarty, who, with twenty others, was killed in the Los Angeles Times explosion over a year ago. For 19 deaths James B. McNamara is held on indictments, but the state has elected to go on trial on Haggarty's case.

Nelson's attitude toward labor organizations and their members, and touched upon at the preceding session of the court, was made the subject of further inquiry for the defense, under Attorney Clarence S. Darrow, and the rulings of the court on objections interposed by District Attorney John B. Fredericks and his aides, were awaited as showing what confines would be placed upon the examination of other talismen.

Before Nelson's examination was taken up one more talisman was called into the box to replace one dismissed at the last moment of court on Wednesday, because of physical inability to stand the fatigue of a long trial.

ENGLISH WAGES NOT HALF OURS

Comparison Indicates That Canadian Average is Double

LIVING ABOUT THE SAME

But Canadians Enjoy More of the Luxuries Than Their British Fellow Workmen—It is Thought That We in Canada will be Forced to Live More Economically.

MANY people who have not given the matter any thought are not aware of the great difference that exists in wages of skilled labor in the British Isles and Canada. It is a fact that workmen in Canada do the work that is done by English mechanics and operatives and get more than twice the wages that are paid in England. Here they comb, spin and weave exactly the same classes of wool, alpaca and mohair and the same qualities of yarn and cloth as do the operatives in English mills. They use identically the same machinery. They do precisely the same things. Indeed, many workmen here were working in the English mills only six years ago.

This also applies to other trades. Take for instance carpenters, who receive as a rule about $15 per week in Canada and about $7.50 in England. The only difference is that in this country they work 9 hours per day and 10 hours in England.

Machinists, artizans of all kinds are practically the same. The result is that there is bound to be a large and ever-increasing tide of emigration to this country, largely made up of skilled mechanics of all kinds. This is what labor unions do not want, as it is likely to provide a surplus of labor which will have the effect of lowering wages. The law of supply and demand after all regulates the price of labor as it does the price of the product of labor.

HE COULD NOT SLEEP AT NIGHTS

TILL HE FOUND RELIEF IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Fred. Swanson, of Saskatchewan, Sends a Message of Cheers to Those Who Feel the Weariness and Discouragement That Comes From Broken Rest.

Macklin, Sask., Oct. 13.—(Special)—Those who suffer from sleepless nights and get up in the morning feeling tired and discouraged will find renewed hope in the statement made by Fred Swanson of this place. He could not sleep at nights. He discovered the cause. It was Kidney trouble. He discovered the cure. It is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Yes," Mr. Swanson says in an interview regarding his case, "I was troubled with my Kidneys for over a year, so bad that I could not sleep at nights. After using one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills I found great relief. Four boxes removed all my pain and now I sleep well and I am as strong in my kidneys as any man."

If the Kidneys are wrong the blood becomes clogged with impurities and natural rest is an impossibility. Strong, healthy Kidneys mean pure blood, new life all over the body and that delightful rest that is the sweetest thing in life. Dodd's Kidney Pills always make strong, healthy Kidneys.

PETERBORO MAN TURKEY OFFICER

Former Lake Skipper Now Commands Sultan's Fleet

HAS WONDERFUL CAREER

Peterboro' Man Turkish Admiral — Was Born in Nova Scotia and Worked His Way West, Spending a Summer in Peterborough Where He Worked on Steamer Golden Eye for Commodore Calcutt—Started as a Ship Carpenter.

THAT a Peterborough boy should become a Turkish admiral seems altogether strange. Bucknam Pasha, personal naval adviser to his Majesty the Sultan of Turkey, admiral commander of the Imperial Ottoman navy, is a Canadian by birth and a Turk by adoption. He was born in Hansport, N.S., and when only a young lad drifted west. He became a ship carpenter and worked in several towns in Ontario, including Peterborough, where he assisted in building the steamer Golden Eye for Mr. H. Calcutt, sailing one season on the boat under Capt. Leon Dixon, whom many of our citizens will remember. He was known in those days as Ranford D. Bucknam. He subsequently went to the United States, where he became famous as a designer of battleships for the U. S. navy.

Now Bucknam Pasha

The boy is now Bucknam Pasha, and is yet a young man. He longed for the sea, and finally got a position at Duluth on a steamer commanded by Capt. Lewis Elliott. Two seasons he remained on Lake Erie, spending his winters with Captain and Mrs. Elliott at Romeo, Mich. They were father and mother to him, but he wanted to go to sea.

He finally left for Boston and got a berth on a ship bound for Australia. Two years later he returned to the lakes and became mate on the Iron Duke, a ship owned by Capt. Elliott.

Subsequently Bucknam became master of a whaleback steamer for Capt. Alexander McDougall of Duluth. Later he was promoted to be manager of the McDougall fleet and superintendent of the American Steel Barge Co., which owned the shipyard now known at the Superior plant of the American Shipbuilding Co. For a time he lived at Detroit, Mich.

Employed by Cramps

When the steamer City of Everett was to go from the Great Lakes to Everett, Wa., Bucknam got the place of captain. For three years he was on ships of the Pacific Mail line, part time as master of the Peking and part of the time as superintendent at Panama. It was while in this position that he attracted the attention of the Cramps Shipbuilding Co., who employed him at their plant in Philadelphia. When they built the ill-fated battleship Maine Bucknam was selected to command her on her trial trip.

Then Cramps obtained an order to build the cruiser Medjido for the Turkish government. When it was delivered Capt. Bucknam was first officer.

July 4, 1904, Bucknam, in the Medjida, arrived at the Bosphorus. Bucknam remembered the day and shot so many cannon and started so much commotion that Abdul Hamid took a liking to him and insisted that he remain as naval expert to teach the Ottoman sailors how to handle a war ship and shoot with modern guns. He did.

Turkey owes her present navy to Bucknam Pasha. Ottoman hero medals and the insignia of the Order of Osmanieh decorate the tight fitting Turkish uniform of the Canadian commander of the sultan's fighting force on the sea. His salary is $12,000 a year.

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by all dealers.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date $1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industtial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be secured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $2,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the property, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1909 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,736,569.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,636.25, and of this amount $6,561,844.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $289,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,647.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

Dr. JOHN D. REID

Born in Prescott, — where he still resides, — on New Year's Day of 1859, Dr. Reid received his advanced education at Queen's University, where he obtained the degree of M.D., and returned home a full-fledged doctor, ready for practice. But the strong desire of the people to have him in Parliament after the lamented death of his father, Mr. John Reid, who held the Grenville seat for many years, changed his whole course of life. In 1901 he went to his first House of Commons with a very substantial majority, and he has been going back every year since that time. A speaker of natural ability, he has steadily improved with constant practice, and now he is regarded as one of the keenest debaters in the house, a man who has been given a lot of the important work to do, and who has done it well. The doctor is a rousing speaker, who dearly loves a fight, and at his best when hitting hard, he was capable of holding the attention of an audience as well as any man in the late House of Commons.

Dr. Reid is married. His wife was formerly Miss Ephie Labatt, of London, Ont. He has one son and one daughter. Since the demands of parliamentary life would not permit of his practising medicine, he entered business with an energy and determination that spelled success. He was for seven years manager of the Edwardsburg Starch Company, and for four years manager of the Imperial Starch Company.

Dr. J. D. REID, M.P.
Popular Ontario Parliamentarian

He is a member of the Rideau Club and he is also well known in Toronto, being a member of the Albany Club and the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of that city.

He who thinks he can't win is quite sure to be right about it, for he has already lost.

Clothes to Float You.

A remarkable demonstration was given the other day in the Spree, near Berlin, of a new fabric designed to make clothing so buoyant that it will keep its wearer afloat in the water. The composition of the invention which brings about this result is a well-guarded secret. To don a garment lined with it is to become unsinkable. On the occasion in mention infantrymen, in full marching kit, clad in uniforms lined with the material, which rendered the clothing neither heavier nor thicker than usual, threw themselves into the water, and not only did not sink, but were able to "march" in the water and to fire. At the same time coffee was served to a party in the water, waiter and guests being clad in the special fabric.

TOO MUCH MELON

"Pal, it's a sad, sad story. I was hittin' gravel on the Colorado desert, alone an' hungry.

"Hence, at the witchin' hour, as the feller says, a large, handsome man might have been observed to sort o' trickle out o' the sage-brush around a water-tank and insert himself in the midst of a side-door Pullman. It was a little jerkwater line, runnin' from the main line down through the farmin' district, an 'the car was loaded with crates of Rocky Ford melons. I crawled up near the roof where there was two foot of space and made myself as comfortable as a flea on a setter pup, except for a gnawin' at my inwards remindin' me that the tabble de hoaty was long overdue.

"All of a sudden a delicious perfume steals up an' salutes my nostrils, like the scent of blushful Hippodromes you read about. It's melons; juicy Rock Ford melons, an' before you could say 'Methusalem!' I had the top off a crate. Them melons were for Denver an' Chi, and were picked ripe an' prime, an' I don't ever expect to taste anything again so excruciatin'ly delicious. That is, the first six or eight.

"I was dosin' off, perfectly peaceful an' contented, when it happened. I woke up flyin'. I wasn't touchin' a thing. I sailed over them cartes of melons till my feet hit hard against the end of the car. Then I up-ended, an' the jar drove my head between my shoulder-blades; then I went over an' over, like a loop-the-loop; there was a crash, about fourteen tons of melons flew up an' lit on me, an' my lights went out.

"When I come to I was smothered with melons. I couldn't move an inch, an' the sharp corners of crates was proddin' me full of equilateral triangles.

"What had happened was a mighty excitin' game of 'snap-the-whip.' Roundin' a sharp curve, my car, bein' last an' the lash of the whip, was flicked off into a gully, goin' clear to the bottom and landin' in a clump of mosquite bushes. This horrible catastrophe escapes the notice of the trainerew at the time, an' the balance of the train proceeds on its way, triumphant. They remains ignorant, complete, of the calamity, till the yard-master up at the junction discovers he's shy one carload of melons, invoiced, an' one large, amiable goat, uninvoiced, accordin' to specifications.

"Meantime, I'm busy pickin' melons out of my system, tryin' to get room to bat my eyes an' draw my breath just once more for luck. Most of the crates had busted, an' every move I made, more melons would come slidin' on to me. I wasn't broke anywhere, but mashed to a pulp, an' it seemed several years before I got one arm free, dug myself out, an inch at a time, an' got a few lungfuls of air. The car was lyin' on its side, considerably lower at one end than the other, an' up under the peak of the upper corner I had plenty of room. I ate a few melons an' made myself comfortable. The car didn't seem to be hurt none, but I wasn't worryin'. I figured there had been a wreck an' pretty soon some hero'd come along an' dig me out with an ax.

"Nobody did. By an' by it got daylight. I could see it perkilatin' through the ventilator slits; but there wasn't any welcome sound to mar the holy peace an' solitude of that ravine except me hollerin' through the slits. I burrowed down to the door that was top-side, but it was locked fast. Did you ever try to carve yourself out of an iron-bound fruit-car, reenforced with two-by-fours, with a jack-knife? Mebbe it can be done, but towards evenin' my knife broke an' I hadn't made no headway.

"I ate some more melons, but I hadn't no enthusiasm for 'em. I was beginnin' to sort o' founder on a melon diet. A lot of 'em had got all squashed an' mushy in the melly an', lyin' there in a heap with the hot sun beatin' on the car, it wasn't long before they began to bubble an' ferment, an' by the end of the second day the atmosphere of that car was somethin' stupenjus. After that I spent most of my time with my nose at a ventilator slit, gettin' all the outside air I could.

"Pardner, not to harrow up your feelin's further, I was in that car eight days! I'd got into a sort of catamose condition, full of nightmares of melons, when all at once I heard a long "sniff-f-f!" at one of the cracks, an' the idea of any one or anything' wantin' to sniff at the flavor of that car pulled me wide awake with a jump. 'Sufferin' cats!' I yelled, 'lemme out o' this!' But my voice was smothered like a man shoutin' into a pillow.

"It got an answer, though, for I heard the sound of a horse, a man called through the cracks, and then: 'Look out!' says he, 'I'm goin' to shoot!' Then bang! bang! bang! the door splintered, an' the staple busted. The door was shoved open, I crawled out, took a long whiff of pure, clear, melonless air, an' collapsed.

"I come to with the whisky an' there was a man an' a pony an' a dog, with long whiskers — the man, I mean. He was one of these hollow-cheeked, long-nosed fellers that aliens seem to be on the verge of graspin' an idea an' never connectin' up.

"He gave me more whisky an' got me on my feet. There was a kind of halo of melon-smell all around that car. 'Friend' says I; 'lead me hence! I'm weak as a kitten an' I can't look at that car without emotions risin' in my bosom. Now,' I says, when he'd helped me out o' sight an' smell of the car, 'now, friend, you've saved my life. There's only one more thing I'll ask of you.'

"'What air that?' says he.

"'Why,' says I, 'I want you to let me take a bite out o' that hoss of yours. Just a mouthful somewheres where it won't show. I need a change of diet,' I says, 'to get rid of the taste of melons.'

"Well, the old buck sat an' cackled for fifteen minutes. He actually thought I was foolin'. Finally, seein' I was really done up, he got me on his horse, took me to his ranch, fed me for a week, an 'said my story paid him for it all. He was mighty good to me an' I hated to leave. I haven't been able to look a melon in the face since."

A Political Prayer.

During a campaign which he conducted in the Maritime Provinces, the late Hon. A. G. Blair saw how strongly the party idea in politics takes hold.

Mr. Blair stopped overnight at the house of a Baptist minister.

"We'll have a word of prayer before retiring," said the minister, who thereupon offered a prayer that was both long and prosy.

When Mr. Blair had almost gone to sleep on his knees, the minister started praying concerning the elections. He called down anthemas on the Conservatives for their corrupt practices. Then he made a naive appeal to heaven for condemnation of the Opposition, and asked pardon for the Liberals if they should find it necessary to "fight the devil with fire."

Employs Only One-Legged Men.

Loss of a leg is essential to a job with a Chicago firm. All but two of its 102 employes in the factory and in the branch offices wear one or two artificial lower limbs, and the employes leave their work to show the newly fitted patients how well they can walk, run, and jump with the artificial article. Makers doubt if there ever was such a thing as a "cork leg" — in which cork entered in any considerable extent into the making of the limb. Some of them claim that the name was derived from one Cork who made artificial legs early in the last century in New York. In the present day they are manufactured from English willow, covered with a thin parchment of enamel, or of wood and leather.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet, Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Pittsburgh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with tea fields which make them very beautiful."

Miss Daisy Dobbin, who has been with a patient at the Jackson Sanatorium, Dansville, N. Y., for the past six months, is home for a month's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Dobbin.

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 16th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

A CHARACTER BUILDER

"A most potent force the world over for wholesome companionship is the Sunday-school. If that institution, aside from its spiritual aspect, means anything humanly, it lies in its manifest intention to bring those of strong moral inclinations together for a common cause of the good.

"Financiers, commercial interests, even the farmers in the fields, study the associates of those they employ. Having important interests to intrust to subordinates it is necessary for them to know the habits and the company of those they trust. This is only a new proof of the old saying that the company one keeps marks his character.

"The Sunday-school lends its influence to the side of wholesome associates. It is an intellectual as well as spiritual force, building for moral character and strengthening the activity of the mind. Young and old, of wholesome, vigorous thought, are brought together in an unselfish work — a pure work for pure ends."

USE THE TONGUE ARIGHT

"Since God made the tongue, and He never makes anything in vain, we may be sure He made it for some good purpose. What is it, then?" asked the teacher one day of her class.

"He made it that we might pray with it," answered one boy. "To sing with," said another. "To talk to people with," said a third. "To recite our lessons with," replied another.

"Yes; and I will tell you what He did not make it for. He did not make it for us to scold with, to lie with, or to swear with. He did not mean that we should say unkind or foolish, indecent or impatient words with it. Now, boys, think every time you use your tongue, if you are using it in the way God means you to."

COMPREHENSIVE PROTECTION.

In his address to the Canadian Manufacturers' association the other day, President Rowley avowed himself to be a supporter of a policy of national protection; but the protection which he advocates is much broader and more comprehensive than the restriction of imports by high duties, says the Hamilton Herald. Indeed, Mr. Rowley declares that he does not favor a higher tariff than the one now in force—does not favor a high tariff at all, but only a "reasonable, fair and practical" tariff. As to what constitutes a reasonable, fair and practical tariff opinions will be, as they have been, widely different. Probably the best way to deal with that matter is to have a permanent tariff board of economic experts study the question scientifically and thoroughly, ascertaining the cost of production at home and abroad, and so arranging the tariff schedules that all classes of industries will have a fair chance to prosper while the consuming public is safe guarded against undue exactions. Such a board might give invaluable assistance to the government, and its operation would save the minister of finance from the perpetual importunities of the protected interests.

But in Mr. Rowley's scheme of national protection the tariff is only one feature. His program includes the conservation of our natural resources, cold-storage transportation, experimental farms, fish hatcheries, geological surveys, fire ranging, a broad measure of compensation to workmen for injuries—in fact, almost everything which promotes the material welfare of the country. This is progressive protection indeed. There is probably no Canadian who is not heartily in sympathy with some phases of it, and so it can be said that we are all protectionists of the Rowley stamp.

GERMAN SOCIALISM.

Germany is to have its general elections in January. The bye-elections since the last general elections have been a long succession of victories for the Social Democrats, the latest being the capturing of Dusseldorf, which has been a Conservative stronghold since the formation of the Empire. These victories of the Social Democrats have been at the expense of all the other parties. The Berlin correspondent of the London Daily News writes:

"We can get some slight idea of the strength of the party from the fact that its annual income is £223,000, and that the subscribers to its various publications number 1,500,000. There is nothing like this in any other country, for the German Social Democrats are a party chiefly of wage-earners, and it is wage-earners who supply its funds."

The Social Democrats are a sore thorn in the Kaiser's side. They are looking forward to making a good showing in the elections in January. The success they have achieved already is all the more remarkable from the fact that the franchise in Germany is on a more restricted basis than the franchise in the English-speaking countries.

SAYS TURKEY IS ABOUT TO GIVE IN London, Oct. 12.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Tripoli, dated Oct. 9, says:

"I just heard a courier, who arrived from Munhir Pasha, asking the Italian Government to enter into negotiatsons with a view to a Turkish surrender. It appears that the Turkish officers held a council and decided, owing to the shortage of provisions and water and an outbreak of fever not to offer further resistance."

MORE TRANSPORTS ARRIVE.

Tripoli, Oct. 12.—Nineteen transports arrived in the harbor this morning. They brought the second part of the Italian army expeditionary corps which is to occupy Tripoli. The landing of the troops, artillery, ammunition and horses began immediately.

ARRANGING AN ARMISTICE?

Paris, Oct. 12.—The French Foreign Office had no confirmation to-day of the published statement that Italy and Turkey were on the point of arranging an armistice. On the contrary the officials regarded the report premature under the actual circumstances. Neither powers has indicated to France the condition under which an offer of mediation could be made.

RETURNING TO TRIPOLI.

Malta, Oct. 12.—Five hundred Maltese refugees, whose passage has been paid by the Government, have just left here for Tripoli. They are proceeding on the steamer Marco Aurello, and the Government has supplied them with three days' rations and small sums of money raised by charity. The refugees are fearful that they may find their home destroyed when they arrive in Tripoli. Another large contingent of refugees will be sent back to Tripoli shortly.

BULGARIA IS SAFE.

London, Oct. 12.—The Times is informed that reports have been received in London from an apparently trustworthy source that the Turks have laid mines in the neighborhood of the Dardanelles.

A "WHALE" OF A FISH.

Brookville, Ont., Oct. 12.—Messrs. John Gibson and Thos. Stack had the honor a few days ago of landing possibly the largest maskinonge taken from the River St. Lawrence this season. While trawling near Chimney Island Mr. Gibson made the strike and the efforts of both men were required to make the prize safe. After a hard battle lasting three-quarters of an hour the lunge gave up the struggle and quietly submitted to capture. It tipped the beam at 42 pounds.

THE ESCAPE FROM SELF

Among the ancient Jews they had cities of refuge. The rash murderer, not with malice aforethought, might flee to any one of these and be safe from the wrath of the avenging kin.

They were a wise people who thus had provision and made provision for their own weakness.

For a man's intelligence may be better gauged by his knowledge of his own shortcomings than by his consciousness of his own strength. And the one person against whose folly and enmity one needs most to guard is one's self.

I have, therefore, says a writer, my own cities of refuge, whither I flee to escape my implacable enemy — myself.

As there were three cities of refuge in Jewry, so I will give but three of mine, though there are others.

First and foremost is work. I work not because I like it, for I would rather spend money than earn it; nor because I need to make a living, for anyone can knock off work and be a parasite; someone will always look out for the lazy as well as for the sick: but because I am afraid not to work.

In work I respect myself and am at peace with the infinite without me and within me. Work is simply the salvation of the soul.

Crime in society is largely the product of leisure. Most of the ordinary moral lesions could be cured by sawing wood.

The second city of refuge is called order.

I find that if I do not compel myself to system and regular hours I get nothing done at all. If I worked only when I felt like it you could put it in your eye. The greatest humbug loose is inspiration. Perhaps this should be qualified thus: occasional inspiration is a humbug.

The third city of refuge is called wife. How sometimes her presence and the touch of her hand give peace and avert a panic. Most of us are simply human, and a human man needs a wife as a locomotive needs an engineer, to prevent a wreck, as well as to make him go.

These cities of refuge and these arts and ways of saving one's self from one's self may throw some light, perhaps, upon the reason why there is inserted into the Lord's Prayer the petition: "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil!"

I do the very best thing I know — the very best I can; and I mean to keep on doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference. — Lincoln.

COLD IN THE HEAD

What's the sense in sneezing and Sniffling, dosing with purgatives, or bothering with atomisers?

Catarrhozone

A convenient inhaler treatment is the proper remedy to cure quickly and pleasantly.

Sensible people long ago abandoned the idea of "working off" a cold by means of laxatives and purgatives for the simple reason that the cure is as bad as the disease itself.

To cure a cold in about ten minutes' time use Catarrhozone. It is aromatic, delightful to inhale, clean and very simple to use.

Catarrhozone is a vegetable antiseptic, and perfectly safe and harmless. Even children and infants can use it. The vapor is inhaled at the mouth, and after passing through the respiratory organs is exhaled slowly through the nostrils.

Catarrhozone never disappoints, it stops sneezing, coughing and running at the eyes, by a few inhalations. Inflammation, congestion and all irritation disappear under the influence of Catarrhozone more quickly than can be told.

C. B. College, of Clarence Street, London, says:—"I had a continuous cold in the head for years, and never used anything with such quick results as I derived from five minutes' use of Catarrhozone. I am delighted to find a remedy that cures colds in a few minutes. Catarrhozone cures every time."

To carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in the pocket means you won't have colds, catarrh or any lung or throat trouble. It keeps these diseases away and is warranted to protect you against all the ills of winter. Complete outfit, with Hard Rubber Pocket Inhaler costs $1.00. Small size, 25 cents. NEW MINISTER OF LANDS AND MINES

Toronto, Oct. 12.—William Howard Hearst, K.C., M.P.P. for Sault Ste. Marie, was this morning sworn in as a Minister of the Crown for the Province of Ontario, succeeding Hon. Frank Cochrane to the portfolio of Lands, Forests and Mines.

The oath of office was administered in Sir James Whitney's office by Hon. John Mortimer Gibson, Lieut.-Governor of the Province, in the presence of the other members of the Cabinet, Mr. Geo. Gooderham, M.P.P., South Toronto, and Mr. Rance Howitt, M.P.P. for South Wellington.

After receiving congratulations of his colleagues in the Cabinet, the new minister went to the office of the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines in the east wing of the Parliament buildings and took possession, being made acquainted with the members of his office staff.

The new Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines sits in the Legislature for the riding for Sault Ste. Marie. He was born on a farm in Arron Township in the County of Bruce on the 15th of February, 1863, and is now, therefore, 48 years of age. He attended the Collingwood Collegiate Institute, then took up the study of law with the late Judge Masson of Owen Sound. On being called to the bar he located at Sault Ste. Marie, where he has since carried on the practice of his profession.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows: The train which has been leaving here at 8.00 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.20, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

Balance of Year 50c.

The Times will be delivered to new subscribers for the balance of the year for 50c. The circulation of the paper has increased by leaps and bounds during the past few months, and we are anxious to add 1000 or more names to our list this fall.

Effective September 18th, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway inaugurated a mixed train service to be operated on the Regina Branch between Melville and Regina. This train will run Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, leaving Melville at 10.35 a.m., and arriving at Regina at 7.35 p.m. Leaving Regina Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 7 a.m., arriving at Melville at 4 p.m., and will make stops at the intermediate stations.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

her heavy-lashed eyes. Now she flashed a look of inquiry at her father For a moment I thought she was about to speak.

I cannot say what there was in Barreau's tone that stirred Montell to the depths. It may have been that finding himself checkmated, dominated by a man he hated so sincerely another fierce spasm of rage welled up within and ruptured some tautened blood vessel. It may have been some weakness of the heart, common to fleshy men. I cannot diagnose; at best, I can but feebly describe.

Montell's jaw thrust forward He blinked at Barreau, at his daughter at me, and then back to Barreau. A flush swept up into his puffy cheeks surged to his temples — a flush that darkened to purple. His very face seemed to swell, to bulge with hate rising blood. His little swinish eyes dilated, thrust forward. His mouth opened. He gasped. And all at once, with a hoarse rattling in his throat, he swayed and fell forward on his face.

We picked him up, Barreau and I, and felt of his heart. It fluttered. We loosened his clothing, and laved his wrists and temples with the snow water. The body lay flaccid; the jaw sagged. When I laid my ear to his breast again, the flutteringhad ceased. Barreau listened; felt with his hand; shook his head.

"No use," he muttered.

Jessie was standing over us when we gave up.

"He's dead," Barreau looked up at herand murmured. "He's dead." He rose to his feet and stared down at the great bulk of flesh that had vibrated with life ten minutes before "After all his plotting and planning—to die like that."

The girl stood looking from one to the other, from the dead man in the firelight to me, and to Barreau Of a sudden Barreau held out his hands to her. But she turned away with a sob, and it was to me she turned, and it was upon my shoulder that she cried "Oh, Bobby, Bobby!" as if her heart would break.

And, at that, Barreau dropped to his haunches beside the fire There, when the storm of her grief was hushed, he still sat, his chin resting on his palms, his dark face sombre as the North itself.

CHAPTER XIX.

The Strength of Men— And Their Weakness.

No wind could reach us where we sat At the worst, a gale could little more than set the treetops swaying, so thick stood the surrounding timber. But the blasting cold pressed in everywhere.

Presently, at Barreau's suggestion, we set up Montell's tent fashioned after an Indian lodge in the centre of which could be built a small fire This was for her. We chopped a pile of dry wood and placed it within. By that time the moose meat was thawed so that we could haggle off ragged slices. These I fried while Barreau mixed a bannock and cooked it in an open pan Also we had tea. Jessie shook her head when I offered her food. Willy-nilly, her eyes kept drifting to the silent figure opposite.

"You must eat," Barreau broke in harshly upon my fruitless coaxing "Food means strength You can't walk out of these woods on an empty stomach, and we can't carry you."

A swarm of angry words surged to my tongue's end—and died unspoken Right willingly would I have voiced a blunt opinion of his brutal directness. To protect and shield her from everything had all at once become a task in which I desired no other man's aid.

"Now let us see how much of the truth is in the Black Factor," Barreau began when we had cleaned our plates and put them in the grub box.

He turned down the canvas with which I had covered Montell, and opened the front of the buckskin shirt. Jessie stirred uneasily She seemed about to protest, then settled back and stared blankly into the fire. Deliberately, methodically, Barreau went through the dead man's pockets. These proved empty Feeling carefully, he at last found that which he sought, pinned securely to Montell's undershirt, beneath one arm He brought the package to our side of the fire, considered a moment, and opened it. Flat, the breadth of one's hand, little over six inches in length, it revealed bills laid smoothly together like a deck of cards. Barreau counted them slowly. One—two—three—four —on up to sixty; each a thousand-dollar Bank of Montreal note. He snapped the rubber band back over them and slid the sheaf back into its heavy envelope.

"Le Noir did not draw such a long bow, after all," he observed, to no one in particular. "Yet this is more than they offered me Well, I dare say they felt that it would not be long —" He broke off, with a shrug of his shoulders. Then he put the package away in a pocket under his parka Jessie watched him closely, but said nothing A puzzled look replaced her former apathy.

That night we slept with the dogs tied inside our tent, and the toboggan drawn up beside our bed. I did not ask Barreau his reason for this. I could hazard a fair guess. Whosoever had deprived Montell of his dogs, might now be awaiting a chance to do a like favor for us. I would have talked to him of this, but there was a restraint between us that had never arisen before. And so I held my peace

I fell asleep at last, for all the silent guest that lay by the foot of our bed What time I wakened, I cannot say The moon glare fell on the canvas and cast a hazy light over the tent interior. And as I lay there, half-minded to get up and build a fire, Barreau stirred beside me, and spoke.

"Last night was Christmas Eve," he muttered. "To-day—peace on earth, good will to men! Merry Christmas. What a damned farce!"

He turned over. We lay quite still for a long time. Then, in that dead hush, a husky whined, and Barreau sat up, with a whispered oath, his voice trembling, and struck savagely at the dog. The sudden spasm of rage subtly communicated itself to me. I lay quivering in the blankets. If I had moved, it would have been to turn and strike him, as he had struck the dog. It passed presently, and left me wondering. I got up then and dressed. So did Barreau. We built a fire and sat by it, thawing meat, melting snow for tea, cooking bannock; all in silence, like folk who involuntarily lower their voices in a great empty church, the depths of a mine, or the presence of death. Afraid to speak? I laughed at the fancy, and looked up at the raucous sound of my own voice to find Barreau scowling blackly — at the sound, I thought.

Before long, Jessie came shivering to the fire. The rigors of the North breed a wolfish hunger. We ate huge quantities of bannock and moose meat. That done, we laid Montell's body at the base of a spruce, and piled upon it a great heap of brush. Then we packed and put the dogs to the toboggan, increasing the load of food from Montell's supply, and leaving behind our tent and some few things we could not haul. Barreau went ahead, bearing straight south, setting his snowshoes down heel to toe, beating a path for the straining dogs. Fierce work it was, that trail-breaking. My turn at it came in due course. Thus we forged ahead, the black surrounding forest and the white floor of it irradiated by the moonbeams.

At our noon camp, a gun snapped among the trees, and a dog fell sprawling. As we sprang to our feet, another husky doubled up. Barreau caught the remaining two by the collars and flung a square of canvas over them. A third shot missed. He caught up his rifle and plunged into the timber. An hour or more we waited. When he returned I had the toboggan ready for the road.

"I got his track" he said, between mouthfuls of the food I had kept warm. "One man. He struck straight east when he saw me start. There may be more, though. It is not like the company to put all its eggs in one basket."

"You think the company is behind this?" I asked.

"Who else?" he jeered. "Isn't this money worth some trouble? And who but the company men know of it?"

"Why bother with dogs, if that is so?" I replied. "The same bullets would do for us."

"Very true," Barreau admitted, "but there is a heavy debit against me for this last four years of baiting the Hudson's Bay, and this would be of a piece with the Black Factor's methods. Their way — his way is the policy of the company — to an end is often oblique. Only by driving a bargain could they have taken the post — Montell could have fought them all winter. Even though they bought it cheap, I do not think they had any intention of letting him get away with the money. Le Noir paid — and put me on the trail; at the same time this bushwhacker held Montell back so that we overtook him — otherwise, with two days' start, he might have beaten us to the police country, where we would not dare follow. Le Noir knows how the North will deal with us, once we are reduced to carrying our food and bedding on our backs. He has based his calculations on that fact. These breeds, of his can hover about us and live, where we shall likely perish. Then there will be no prima-facie evidence of actual murder, and the company will have attained its end. They have done this to others; we can hardly be exempt. If we seem likely to reach the outer world, it will be time enough then for killing. Either way, the company wins. I wish to God it would snow. We might shake them off, then."

We harnessed the two remaining dogs and pushed on. There was nothing to do. Either in camp or on trail, the huskies, to say nothing of ourselves, were at the mercy of that hidden marksman. So we kept our way, praying only for a sight of him, or for a thick swirl of snow to hide the betraying tracks we made. We moved slowly, the lugging of the dogs eked out by myself with a rope. Barreau broke trail. Jessie brought up the rear.

At sundown, midway of a tiny open space in the woods, our two dogs were shot down. Barreau whirled in his tracks, stood a moment glaring furiously; then, with a fatalistic shrug of his shoulders, he stooped, cut loose the dead brutes, harness and all, and laid hold of the rope with me

That night we were not disturbed. Jessie slept in the little round tent. Barreau and I burrowed with our bedding under the snow beside the fire. I think Barreau was in a black mood. The girl sensed it, too. She shrank from both of us So to the trail again, the weary drag of the shoulder rope

THE MAN WHO BEAT BIG BEN

Like a forest fire, the news swept the camp. Big Ben, the mighty, champion sawyer of the world, had been done up, beaten to a lay-down, whipped, humbled — and by an Indian. Wonders would never cease. The loggers swore when they heard the news, but there was one satisfaction back of it all. There would be a fight worth going miles to see.

And that night, in camp, the gauntlet was hurled. Big Ben, striding upon his silent conqueror, knotted his huge fists and glowered down upon him. "You——" he said wickedly. "I'll make your head break your back." The Indian stared back stolidly.

"Mebbyso."

"When will you fight?"

"Sunday good 'nuff day for me."

The white man turned away with a growl. This was Friday night, and the time mentioned was not unreasonably distant. He rolled himself in his blankets, grumbling like an angry bear; but the Indian, slipping quietly from the room, stood long in the biting air without, his face again turned toward the North. And as he looked and listened there came through the starlight night a long, faint, quavering howl, and at its first note he started as though stung. With a quick leap, he reached the bunk house, and, snatching his snowshoes from the peg where they hung against the logs, thrust his feet into the straps, and went slipping away among the dark woods, along his almost obliterated trail of three days before.

Kenny, a hostler, coming from the stable, saw him as he vanished in the forest, and hurried with the news to the long building.

"The Injun has "puckacheed," skipped out, dead scart to fight," he said disgustedly. And Big Ben, hearing the words, sat up in his bunk, and roared with disappointment and rage.

Down the steep hillside that led to the lake, the runaway shuffled and slid ,the razor-edged air of the night cutting keenly through flannels and deerskin. At the edge of the frozen surface he stopped and swept it with his black eyes, but it lay like a spotless sheet, and he hurried on. Ahead of him was a low peninsula of tangled, snow-buried brush heaps, and as he rounded its point he gave a guttural cry, for a quarter of a mile ahead of him a black mass lay upon the snow, while slinking upon it from the shadow of the near-by forest was the gaunt form of one of the great gray runners of the North woods.

"Puckachee!" cried the man, from a distance of four yards. The wolf's lip curled.

"Get out," repeated the Indian, more harshly, his knife suddenly gleaming in the moonlight. Slowly, ominously, the brute got upon all fours; and, with ears flattened and legs held stiffly, paced around the man at a distance of six feet. The latter, seeing his great size, his gauntness, and the famine in his eyes, crouched and pivoted in his tracks, with his blade held low. Three times the beast made the circle complete, and three times the man turned round and round about, and never for an instant did the red eyes of the one or black eyes of the other fall to meet, point to point. Then the Indian rushed.

With a catlike leap, a snarl, and a snap of his teeth, the wolf was far to one side, while the assailant, tripping unluckily, fell floundering through the crust, from the violence of the wasted knife sweep. And, before he could clear the smother from his eyes, the stilletto-like teeth ofthe starving one had sunk into his right wrist, and at the first crunch of the iron jaws the knife fell from the helpless hand. But the man, twisting like a worm, buried the sinewy fingers of his free hand in the shaggy throat above him, and floundered to his knees.

Not many men have strangled a timber wolf that stood three feet high at the shoulder with their naked hand; but, for that matter, only one man ever bore the brunt of Big Ben's giant strength, and came off victorious. The Indian killed his enemy with the strength that the prospecting spirit of lovers gave him; choked him until the slathering jaws fell apart, and the glowing eyes grew dull as dead ashes. Then, bleeding and dizzy, he arose.

"Live," he whispered, as he painfully swung the motionless form of the woman across his broad shoulders. "Live, and I will always work and hunt for you. And may Mo-no-ko lend me his strength once more, for the trail is long, and my strength runs away like the waters of a river." Bent nearly double beneath his burden, he shambled across the bosom of the lake, floundered up the ridge, reeled along the summit, and fell prostrate upon the floor of the bunk house.

Slowly the sleep-benumbed camp aroused itself, and stared through heavy eyelids at the senseless woman and gasping man, with the red ice thick upon his sleeve. Then, one by one, they crept from their bunks and bent over the motionless pair. Little was said, but muscle-knotted arms laid them tenderly in a bunk, and rough hands chafed the icy wrists of the girl until she sat up, gazed wonderingly about; and then, with a cry, threw herself upon the still heavily breathing form by her side.

"It is the wish of Mo-no-ko that we part no more," said he, as his hand closed over hers. "Your tongue was long, and my patience short, yet you are my squaw, and our trails should run side by side. One tepee is enough for both of us, and the wolfskin shall cover us when we are old."

Big Ben slowly got upon his feet, and glared at his companions. "That Injun is the best man in the woods, and I want to hear some one say different," he said threateningly. "He's the one man that's got me beat, and we two will saw those others out of their hides yet. Shake hands, partner."

A Sign in Gray's Inn Road.

A correspondent thinks he has discovered the shortest shop front name in London. It is above a shop in Gray's Inn road—simply, S. Be. There is some sort of accent on the e, but the sign writer seems doubtful about it. Can you beat that name for brevity?

NEVER USES SLANG

I know a well-bred little boy who never says, "I can't";
He never says, "I don't want to", or
"You've got to", or "You shant";
He never says, "I'll tell mama"; or calls his playmates "mean".
A lad more careful of his speech I'm sure was never seen.
He's never ungrammatical—he never
mentions "aint";
A single word of slang from him
would make his mother faint.
And now I'll tell you why it is (lest
this should seem absurd);
He's now exactly six months old, and cannot speak a word!

TAUGHT BY THE CORN

The corn sent up a beautiful shoot that grew tall and straight and strong, with fine, broad, graceful leaves; but it was not satisfied. So it put forth several ears, round and smooth, with a dainty tassel, of which it was very proud.

That was not enough, however, and in each ear it placed long rows of kernels, plump and juicy, which grew rich in substance and color. Even then it was not perfectly happy, until it had put inside of each kernel a heart. Then it felt that its work was well done.

The message of the corn to every boy and girl is that you should put your heart into every good thing that you do. You may run the errand on which you are sent, but mother finds little pleasure in it if you go with slow step, unhappy face and whining voice. Put your heart into it, doing it heartily.

You may be present at every session of the Sunday School this year, but if you wiggle and whisper and forget it will give your teacher little pleasure, and do you little good. Put a heart into every attendance at Sunday School.

Yes, whatever you do, whether you play, or sing, or study, or work, into every minute, of every day of all this year, put a heart. Let the corn teach you.

SOWING AND REAPING

Be careful what you sow, boys!
For seed will surely grow boys;
The dew will fall, the rain will splash,
The clouds grow dark, the sunshine flash;
And he who sows good seed to-day,
Shall reap the crop to-morrow.

Be careful what you sow, boys!
The weed you plant will grow, boys!
The scattered seed from thoughtless hand,
Must gathered be by God's command;
And he who sows wild oats to-day,
Must reap wild oats to-morrow.

Then let us sow good seeds, boys!
And not the briars and weeds, boys,
The harvest time its joys shall bring,
And when we reap our hearts shall sing:
For he who sows good seed to-day,
Shall reap the crop to-morrow.

TALKING WITH GOD

Do you know that whenever we wish, we may talk with God? Prayer is simply another word for "talking with God," and whenever we pray to our loving, heavenly Father we are talking with God. Little children may come to Him to thank Him for His love and kindness; to ask Him to forgive them when they have done wrong; or to help them try to do right. And God will always hear and answer.

A temper always fault-finding, if not mastered in its youth, will cling to you like ivy round a tree, to root it out if you do not want a life of misery.

THE LOST SODOM AND GOMORRAH

Searchers Fail to Locate the Sites of the Cities that Were Consumed by Brimstone Showers but Exploration Still Proceeds.

To the majority, perhaps, the Dead Sea is invariably associated with Sodom and Gomorrah. No one knows exactly where these cities stood. They have been variously placed at the north end, on the west side, at the south end, and on the east side of the Dead Sea. Popular tradition has always most conveniently pointed to the north shore the place visited by tourists and pilgrims from Jerusalem, as the site. No less an authority than Canon Tristram, however, places the site on the east side. At Callirrhoe, on the east side, there is certainly palpable evidences of volcanic upheaval, not to mention the combustible substances in sulphur, bitumen, and possibly oil that might have played a part in the overthrow of these ancient cities The Zerka — a stream almost as great as the Arnon and amid surroundings of much the same character, but having a small plain on the seashore that might very well be cultivated — flows into the sea some fifteen minutes' journey further north from Callirrhoe. Here, as elsewhere, the wild oleander with its beautiful pink flower is abundant. Also the reed with its feathery tuft or bloom "shaken by the wind," and referred to by Christ; also the willow, the Tamarisk, and the "Ghrraf," a pretty-looking wild fruit much like a cherry. Mount Nebo, from which Moses viewed the Promised Land, is about opposite the north end of the sea, on the tablelands, and Medaba about ten miles inland, in a straight line Between Medaba and Kerak, before crossing the River Arnon, lies the ancient Dibon, where was discovered the historic Moabite Stone At the south end of the Dead Sea is the open country, the Bible "Araba", with only one slight rise above sea-level, which fact gave rise to the wild scheme of connecting the waters of the Mediterranean and the Red Seas, thus furnishing the English with an alternate route to India, in case someone shut off the Suez Canal.

WORTH REMEMBERING

Those who boast they never did any harm are generally those who never did any good.

It is not always wise to judge another by their tongue or coat, for true worth lies where neither ear nor eye can penetrate.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. WRITE US for full information.

NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

Real Estate, Mining and Industrial Investments

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $300, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realise that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $20, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 80 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Sending Forth the Word.

The new report of the British and Foreign Bible Society — the 107th — contains some impressive facts. It seems that, in whole or in part, the society has promoted the publication of the Scriptures in 432 languages. A perusal of the Historical Table of Languages and Dialects suggests reflections upon the mighty devotion of workers of a past generation. There are, in fact, over ninety entries marked 'S'—some of them entire Bibles — indicating them as the work of the Serampore Mission, with which the names of Carey, Marshman, and Ward are so honorably connected. Of this number some thirteen, representing New Testaments and portions, prepared for Rajputana and other parts of India, have not been reproduced in modern times. Yet, in the fear of God and in the spirit of joyous service, these versions were made by the worthy brethren of the Mission, and by their means the Gospel message was sent forth among men and women who have long since passed away.

The Bed-Time Prayer

In pleading for greater strictness in the habit of private prayer on retiring to rest, Rev. Dr. J. Douglas Adam of Brooklyn emphasized that some of the moral processes which are most powerful in moulding us take place when we have no definite consciousness of them. If the last thoughts before sleep were set upon high things, those thoughts would penetrate and work themselves out in the subliminal self during the hours of unconsciousness. They would weave themselves into the texture of character even while we dreamed. Hence it was of supreme consequence morally that the last thoughts at night should convey spiritual suggestion. John Keble was not familiar with modern psychology, but his lines appear to contain a vital truth:

Be my last thought How sweet to rest
For ever on my Saviour's breast!

COURAGE AND HOPE

How often do we hear the admonition: 'Keep your head above water.' The best way to fulfil the injunction is to keep the spirit above. Courage, hope, what can a man not do with these? What is he able to do without them. Courage is an elixir of life, giving power both to mind and body. It strengthens the sinews, it revivifies the spirit. It makes life, indeed, worth living

'But,' it may be asked, 'how can a person gain courage who is not "born with it"?' There are two requisites: 1. He believes that what he is doing is worth doing. 2. He must feel that of all the things in the world it is the thing that calls him. With these convictions, he is equipped with weapons that shall level every obstacle, make a path through every mass — for of these are born courage and faith.

Strength of Character

There are no circumstances so poor but that character may display itself and make itself therein. Strength of character lies not in demanding special circumstances, but in mastering and using any that may be given. Our work and daily contact with our fellows form our scene of action, and God blesses with a peculiar blessing the efforts to put to profit, not some self-selected occasion, but the actual conditions in which we find ourselves. — Canon Scot Holland, "Creed and Character."

Knowledge is, indeed, that which, next to virtue, truly and essentially raises one man above another. It finishes one half of the human soul: it gives ease to solitude and grace fulness to retirement. — Addison

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 80,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Annual Thank-Offering Meeting.

The W. F. M. S. Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church, held their annual thank offering meeting yesterday afternoon in the school room of the Church. Mrs. (Rev.) Rollins gave a splendid address. There was a good attendance.

Anonymous Letters.

We are constantly in receipt of anonymous letters for publication. These always find their way to the waste paper basket, as it is strictly against our rules to publish such. Writers should always remember that letters to the press should bear the name of the author—not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

Police Court.

Alex. Thompson appeared before the Magistrate yesterday morning on a charge of being drunk, partaking too freely of the bowl that inebriates. He was discharged.

Edward Parks, who was present on a similar charge, was remanded for one week in which to overcome the effects of intoxicants.

Three young offenders each suffered a fine of $2.00 for gambling in a public lavatory.

Demonstration Car.

A demonstration car, under the auspices of the Bureau of Colonization of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, is billed for Peterborough on November 11th and 12th. In the car will be found an interesting exhibit of grain, vegetables, roots etc., products of New Ontario. The public are cordially invited to avail themselves of this opportunity of seeing for themselves the agricultural productiveness of the great northland of this province. Attendants will be on hand to furnish all information.

An Excellent Idea.

The proposal of the Ministerial Association to hold a public meeting in the Armouries on Thanksgiving Day should receive the endorsement and support of the citizens generally. Recently Rev. Canon Davidson and Rev. Mr. Rollins, on behalf of the Association, asked the City Council to co-operate which they are doing. The press and pulpit, should see that the meeting is properly advertised, so that the armouries may be filled to overflowing.

In a Destitute Condition.

County Constable Cochrane has placed in the Children's Shelter a young girl of fourteen years and a boy a trifle younger. He found the little ones in a house near Burleigh Falls, amid what is reported as extremely lamentable conditions. The children are reported to have been sadly neglected with scarcely any clothing to protect them from the late cold weather. It is also alleged that the father of the children will shortly be called upon to face a very serious charge. The circumstances surrounding this deplorable case are being thoroughly enquired into by the County officials.

Belleville's Rifle Range.

Belleville has a new rifle range, but recently completed, and which enjoys the unique distinction of being the only one in Canada to be built over water, but the reason is that there was difficulty in getting land on account of the Canadian Northern railway line.

The firing points are cedar cribs filled with stonework, connected by a board walk and a telephone line running the whole length of the range. Each crib is 8 feet wide by 64 feet long and a distance of a hundred yards intervenes between them. The range is a short one, 600 yards with a clear length across the water of about a mile and a half. The last firing point is on land at the west end. There are six targets at the East end and built on Big Hill, on which a top has been put to prevent bullets passing over. The marker shelter is of the lightest concrete description.

The completion of the range has been delayed through a change in the location of the range, the original situation being found too low for proper drainage and shelter.

The Comet Brilliant.

Brook's comet is, these nights, weather conditions favorable, exceptionally brilliant, its tail being plainly discernable to the naked eye, extending in an almost vertical direction for a considerable distance, in fact, from near the north-western horizon, to the star Mizar in the constellation Ursa Major, which perhaps will be more easily recognized, if described as the second star in the handle of the Big Dipper.

The comet sets at about 7.45 p.m. so that if one looks towards the northwest soon after dark and the conditions are as favorable as last night he will easily discover the celestial visitant, which is rapidly leaving us, not to call again until seven years and ten months have elapsed.

Dr. Marsh succeeded in securing a very nice photograph of the comet

St. John's Sunday School.

To-morrow will be "Children's Day." Parents are asked to help this day the most important day for the little people. At 8.30 a corporate communion for teachers and parents will be solemnly observed. At 11 a.m. special sermon by the Rev. Canon Davidson on the "Sunday School"; 3 p.m. children's day service. Will parents come with the children and gladden every heart by a united thankful service. Every scholar is asked to bring a flower with their special offering for Sunday school work to decorate the "children's cross" in the chancel. Scholars are asked to be present at 2.45, as the bells will be rung 15 minutes earlier than usual.

WEDDING BELLS

Southworth—McCullough.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at Spokane, Wash., the bride being Miss Margaret F. McCullough, of Harwood, Northumberland County Ontario, and the groom Mr. R. S. Southworth, of Calgary, Alta. Rev. W. E. Dunn, pastor of Montgomery Avenue Presbyterian church, officiated the marriage taking place at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. G. B. McCullough. The house was attractively decorated in pink and White. Miss Mildred McCullough, neice of the bride, was flower girl.

BETHANY.

The anniversary services of the Bethany Presbyterian church were held on Sunday, October 8th, conducted by the Rev. George Brown, of Campbellford. They were very much appreciated by large congregations at both services.

Mr. Asa Huycke of the Peterboro Music Co., sang at both the morning and evening services. In the morning his solo "Face to Face," was ably rendered and well received. In the evening the congregation was again delighted to hear his splendid voice in "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "The Palms."

Mr. Huycke has a beautiful baritone voice of great range and power. His rendition of "The Palms" especially pleased the congregation and afforded an opportunity to show his splendid control and enunciation. His return to Bethany will be heartily welcomed at any time.

Wonderful Praise Accorded Peruna the Household Remedy

Mrs. Maria Geerts, Orienta, Oklahoma, writes:

"My husband, children and myself have used your medicines, and we always keep them in the house in case of necessity. I was restored to health by this medicine, and Dr. Hartman's invaluable advice and books. People ask about me from different places, and are surprised that I can do all of my housework alone, and that I was cured by the doctor of chronic catarrh. My husband was cured of asthma, my daughter of earache and catarrh of the stomach, and my son of catarrh of the throat. When I was sick I weighed 100 pounds; now I weigh 140.

"I have regained my health again, and I cannot thank you enough for your advice. May God give you a long life and bless your work."

OBITUARY.

Elizabeth Collins.

A well known and highly esteemed resident of Ennismore, Elizabeth Collins, passed away at three o'clock yesterday morning. Deceased was the daughter of the late John Collins, of lot 3, con. 2, and is survived by a mother and three brothers, William and John of Ennismore and Stephen of Ottawa. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock. Service will be held at St. Martin's church and interment in St. Martin's cemetery.

REMOVE THE POLES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I noticed in the proceedings of the City Council, as reported in The Times, that it is proposed to pave Chambers street. Before this is done I submit that every pole should be removed. This street, like George street, is disfigured with poles. The telegraph and electric light companies are the greatest sinners in this respect. Cannot something be done to remedy this pole nuisance for once and all? It will have to be done some time, and the sooner the better.

TEMPERANCE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice some of your correspondents are trying to give the temperance people the idea that the hotelkeepers are the particular friends and allies of the Conservative party, especially at the late election. This is all by way of getting ready for the local. There is not one word of truth in it. The good old days when a certain man treated the hotelkeepers as his property are gone by and don't you forget it. One of the strongest supporters of the Liberals was and is a white-haired old hotel gentleman who owns a hotel and who worked tooth and nail for the Liberal candidate although he says he's a Conservative, &c. The bunco-steering has begun already. The Grits must be going to play the local option fiddle for all it's worth this time. The temperance people are not so gullible as they used to be, and don't you forget it.

Yours truly,

One of Them.

ARE FEELING SORE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Liberal party in this city must be feeling pretty sore about the result of the recent election. Every day some new excuse is invented by them to account for their defeat. Their ingenuity is really marvellous and worthy of a better cause. The latest one is intended to capture the Temperance party here, and is to the effect that the hotel keepers in the city are in league with the Conservative party. Quite the reverse is the true state here. The fact is, in my humble opinion, the voters here voted the way they did because their loyalty and common sense combined pointed the way very clearly. The Liberal party by their mud-slinging tactics disgusted all lovers of fair play. The people voted right, because they loved right.

T. C. HOLT, LTD. OF VANCOUVER

Splendid Investments Offered by This Well Known Firm.

The Times would call special attention of investors to the advertisement of the T. C. Holt, Limited, of North Vancouver, one of the most substantial and prosperous brokers and real estate firms on the Pacific Coast. Capitalists in the east are now looking to the west for safe and profitable investments, and there is probably no spot on the continent where more money has been made faster than in Vancouver real estate. North Vancouver is rapidly forging ahead, and those who are able to get in now will be sure to reap a golden harvest.

T. C. Holt, Limited, recommend the following investments to their clients:

1st—While they last, 100 Shares in the T. C. Holt Ltd. at $100 per Share. 25 per cent. on application and 10 per cent. per month until fully paid up. This Company being strictly under Government supervision is not allowed to sell their shares for less than par. We consider these shares a good and safe investment, as they will bring the investor a dividend of from 10 to 20 per cent. per year or more. Only a limited number left.

2nd—Investments in Real Estate. Remember, Mr. Investor, inside property in North Vancouver, is as yet cheaper than property in Point Grey, Fairview, South Vancouver, or Grand View, on the outskirts of Vancouver. 5 years ago an investor North Vancouver, far $10,000, to-day bought a corner on Lonsdale Avenue the same piece of property is worth $100,000.00. We can buy for our clients to-day property for investment from $1000 to $50,000.00 and over and can almost guarantee a profit of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. in a couple of years.

3rd—Investments in Mortgages and Agreements of Sale which represent a very safe and sure investment and bring in from 8 to 10 per cent. per year. Nearly every day some party calls in our office and invests his money in Mortgages or Agreements of Sale. They say they prefer absolute safety for their money with a good rate of interest, rather than no interest with a hope of increase in selling value.

Progress is the dominant note in the City of Vancouver to-day, and where progress is, where wealth accumulates, there will realty values advance, and this is inevitable in Vancouver.

and drove back to the city in time to get a hurried luncheon before they held their first cabinet council at 3 o'clock.

East Peterborough Suggested.

It has been suggested that East Peterborough be given up to the Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals. Of course Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, the present member, would have to consent. It would probably mean the elevation of Mr. Sexsmith to the Senate. East Peterborough would be a safe riding, and Mr. Cochrane's election by acclamation would practically be assured.

Meeting of Parliament.

The first session of the new parliament will be summoned for the second week in November, and it is expected that the government will not propose any extensive legislative program. The principal business will be the winding up of work of the last unfinished session and the passing of the balance of the estimates. The real legislative work of the new administration will be left over until the following session, which will probably begin early in February.

PREPARE TO BUY TAGS.

The Children's Aid Society Will Hold Another Tag Day on October the 28th.

As published before, the Children's Aid Society have decided to hold a tag day each succeeding year, the proceeds to go toward strengthening the society financially in aid of the friendless little ones, in whose interests the association is organized. This year their tag day will fall on Saturday, October 28th, and it is to be hoped the public's response will be as generous as last year, when $1,276.43 was raised by this method. Ladies of this city recently collected $1,000 during a one day campaign. The coming event is one that commends itself to all right-minded citizens.

Line-Up for To-day's Game.

The West End line-up for to-day's junior O.R.F.U. game with Toronto Central will be as follows:

Right inside—Thompson.
Right outside—Gilbert.
Spares—Leahy, Walkis, Stewart, Camill, Kirn, Elliott.

The local team will meet at Riverside Park at 2.30, when it is to be hoped a big attendance will be present. The struggle will be a closely contested one.

DECISION OF RAILWAY BOARD.

In a Case of an Order for Siding Into Housedry & Sons' Premises.

The Toronto Telegram of yesterday refers to a ruling of the Dominion Railway Board, of interest locally, as follows:—

"Chairman Mabee and Commissioner D'Arcy Scott constituted the Dominion Railway Board, when it began its labors in the city hall this morning.

Last fall the Board granted an application for a siding south of Romaine street, Peterborough, extending into the premises of Messrs. Housedry & Sons.

J. W. Bennet, on behalf of Peterborough property owners, asked that the order be rescinded as the siding closed a lane which had been used by them.

Daniel O'Connell for Housedry & Sons, argued that the siding was necessary for their clients.

"But the lane is necessary for the others," said the Chairman.

"If we had understood the facts, the order of last fall would not have been issued. Anyhow, Mr. O'Connell, your clients must settle with those property owners for blocking up that lane, or we'll cancel the order."

There was some argument over the matter of costs.

"Well," said the bluff chairman, "we never have made an order as to costs; we're not going to start now. The order of December 5th last will be awarded and unless the parties can come to some agreement as to compensation there will be an arbitration."

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE STATES PROTESTANT CASE

Statement Issued Through Bishop Farthing and Hon. S. H. Blake—The Question of Civil Rights

Toronto, Oct. 15.—The climax of the efforts on behalf of the Protestant churches of Canada to overthrow the Ne Temere decree of the Roman Catholic Church has been reached, when the Evangelical Alliance of Canada, under the executive direction of Bishop Farthing, of Montreal, and Hon. S. H. Blake, of Toronto, issued a statement of the Protestant case against the Catholic position on marriage. Every denomination under the Protestant flag has subscribed to the document, and it will be immediately issued in 10,000 copies for the use of clergymen and other public speakers from coast to coast to assist in carrying on a series of public protest meetings.

The document is the first comprehensive pronouncement of the Protestant bodies, and will be the basis of a Dominion-wide appeal to the Federal parliament. Petitions for that purpose will shortly be sent broadcast.

The Question Direct.

In an exhaustive manner the Protestant alliance enters upon the legal aspects, and asks: "Can Canada be compelled to submit to the dictation of Rome in a matter of such vital importance to it as the validity of marriages? The alliance holds that there should be nothing to encourage clandestine or secret marriages. All that tends to clandestinity, secrecy or underhand dealing in connection with the marriage contract should be forbidden and rendered impossible as far as this can be done. There should be no interference with a marriage except under authority of statute.

"Any attempts to interfere with or discredit such status or the parties who are enjoying the same by any communion, community or individual except in the manner prescribed by statute should be declared illegal."

Reversing Attitudes.

"Would it not be well for Rome to learn, in place of using the specious plea of a desire, 'to remove drawbacks and dangers' in connection with marriage, as a ground for the introduction of the Ne Temere Decree, which is used as a means of virtually coercing persons desirous of marriage to enter the Roman Catholic Church and thus swell her numbers, that it is her duty by every means to aid the civil power in passing and enforcing such general laws applicable to all citizens of the Dominion as will protect and preserve the holy estate of matrimony, the status of those who have entered into the marriage bond, and preserve its indissolubility.

"Is Rome prepared, by setting the hierarchy against the people of Canada to introduce all the revolutionary woes and disturbances which she has from time to time brought into France, Italy, Spain, Portugal, and South America?

"Such a change as that now sought to be introduced is indeed an arrogant attempt to subvert the authority of our sovereign lord the King.

The Legal Aspect.

"It is said that the Civil Code gives peculiar rights to the Roman Catholic Church. Its language is simple and distinct. The main clause is 128, which affirms that 'marriage must be solemnized openly by a competent officer, recognized by law.' In the French version, the word used in place of 'openly' is 'publiquement.' In order to meet the demands of the Roman Catholics a meaning is sought to be given to those words 'openly' and 'publiquement' entirely unwarranted."

"Recent events make it imperative that the present doubts and uncertainties introduced into the question of marriage and the wrongs thereby caused by the Church of Rome, should be set at rest and ended. The actual position of the citizens of the Dominion should be clearly defined and declared by the Legislature, and so far as possible one uniform marriage law for the whole Dominion should be passed.

Powers of Churches

"It should not be tolerated that when a Protestant is married to a Roman Catholic according to the regulations set forth in the legal enactments of the land, the Roman Church or its priests should be at liberty to assert that such marriage is illegal, that the parties are living in concubinage, and that the children are illegitimate. No torture of the inquisition could more keenly afflict a chaste woman than such an unwarranted charge.

Question of Civil Rights.

"The question raised by the Ne Temere decree is a matter of civil right, dear to all, and embraces a most solemn contract in which it is well that they should ask the blessings of the church to which they de facto belong. In order to have this sacramental blessing there must be a binding and open contract, without which there cannot be a valid sacrament. The civil law must settle the terms of this contract for all, upon its statutes. Thereupon each church should add its blessing, but not mar or place impediments in such marriage laws, in the enactment of which all should join.

"Let us unite in a holy war, and as one man arise against any power that seeks to invade our wholesome marriage laws, to interfere with the sacred status obtained thereunder and to breed strife and misery where holiness and happiness should reign."

FEW NOBLES IN ROYAL RETINUE

King and Queen Will Not be Accompanied by Many on Their Indian Trip

CAN'T GO EVERYWHERE

So Said Princess When Told She Couldn't Go to Heaven If She Was Troublesome—The Great Indian Durbar Will Take Place at Delhi in December.

London, October 15. THE plans for the trip to India to attend the imperial durbar at Delhi in December are crystalizing. The attendance of the British nobility will not be so large as had been supposed, the king having intimated that he would not expect a large contingent to make the journey. For this reason some of the peers and peeresses who went out to witness the proclamation durbar in 1903 have decided to stay at home. It is, however, very certain that the number of lords and ladies who will be at Delhi next December will be larger than on the last occasion, and many of them will be seeing the golden east for the first time. Some there are, such as Cora, countess of Strafford, who are going out again. This applies more particularly to their majesties' personal entourage, which includes several courtiers who went out to see the duke of Connaught's pageant eight years ago. Others were in the royal retinue when the king and queen toured India three years later on.

Among the distinguished guests who will have no court duty will be the duke of Devonshire, the duke and duchess of Hamilton, Lord and Lady Londesborough, the earl and countess of Mar and Kellie, Lord and Lady Gerard, Lord Duncannon, Lady Irene Denison and the Hon. Sybil Fellowes. Some of the quidnuncs seem to harbor the notion that this sprinkling of English nobles—there will be several times as many as these—will add lustre to the spectacular effects of the durbar ceremonies. In point of fact they will not be distinguishable, so far as their attire is concerned, from the many untitled commoners who will also witness the pageants. The only crowns to be worn will be those of the king emperor and the queen empress.

The King's Joke.

The king is credited with a witty vein. The agent of a burglary insurance firm insured for his majesty a lot of valuable tapestries, plate and pictures. In his elation he asked if he might announce this fact. But his majesty smiled, shook his head, and replied: "Well, on the whole, I think you had better not. My subjects might feel offended if they thought I entertained any suspicion of their honesty."

Couldn't Go Everywhere.

Princess Mary of Teck, the daughter of Prince and Princess Alexander of Teck, is original in her remarks. She was told recently by her grandmother, the Duchess of Albany, that she was a naughty little girl because she had been plucking the blossoms off the rose trees at Claremont and scattering the petals. "And," added her grandmother, if you are troublesome you won't go to heaven." "Well," rejoined the princess, "I have been to the Hippodrome, and Aunt Mary's party at Buckingham palace, and really, grandmamma, I can't expect to go everywhere."

THE WEATHER.

Light showers and about the same temperature.

FATALLY BURNED THROUGH EXPLOSION OF COAL OIL

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT TO MRS. PETER GIFFORD ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Rushed Into the Street a Mass of Flames From Head to Foot—Face Burned Almost Beyond Recognition—Prompt Assistance by Neighbours — Unfortunate Lady Died at Nicholls Hospital Saturday Night—Remains Will be Interred at Port Hope.

Screaming with pain and terror, and enveloped in a mass of angry flames, Mrs. Peter Gifford rushed from her home, 555 Albert street, South City, Saturday afternoon, and fell to the ground in apparently a dying condition, surrounded by her horrified neighbors.

Sympathetic hands quickly extinguished the flames, summoned medical held and rendered the best possible assistance under the circumstances.

It was then noticed that the interior of the house was on fire, and the brigade on being notified, quickly responded to the call and readily extinguished the flames.

The unfortunate lady was conveyed promptly to the Nicholls Hospital, where an examination revealed the fact that she had sustained terrible injuries, her face being burned almost beyond recognition, and her limbs and body very severely scorched. Drs. Cameron and Young were in attendance, but notwithstanding the unremitting treatment and care of both physicians and hospital staff, Mrs. Gifford succumbed Saturday night to her injuries and the awful shock to her system.

PUT COAL OIL ON THE FIRE.

This deplorable accident was the result of deceased's trying to coax the fire to burn by pouring coal oil into the stove, the oil exploded and the unfortunate victim was quickly enveloped in flames that proved her death.

LIVED ALONE.

The late Mrs. Gifford, who was 83 years of age, lived entirely alone in a comfortable home that indicated easy circumstances, at 555 Albert street. Her husband, who predeceased her about a year ago, was an esteemed veteran who had participated in repelling the Fenian Raid in 1866, as the medals found in the house give evidence.

THE SURVIVORS.

The unfortunate lady is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Spy, of Port Hope, and two sons—George, of Toronto, and William, of Philadelphia. The sympathy of the entire community will go out to the family so suddenly bereaved in such a terrible manner.

TOOK POSSESSION OF THE VALUABLES.

As the late Mrs. Gifford lived alone at the request of certain of the neighbors, Fire Chief Howard, accompanied by Mrs. John Theobald, Mrs. F. Shephard and two firemen, went through the house and took possession of the valuables, in the form of a bank book, $2.95 in cash, a valuable chain and locket of old gold, three veteran medals and some letters. No deeds or fire insurance policies were found. In the shed were found a milch cow, a calf, and a number of chickens. A quantity of eggs were in the house. Mr. Marvin took charge of the cow and calf and fowl.

THE FUNERAL.

The remains of the unfortunate victim of a practice very much in vogue amongst housewives, will be taken on the noon train to-day to Port Hope for interment.

GERMANY NEGOTIATES ARMAMENT REDUCTION

London, Oct. 14.—According to the Chronicle's Vienna correspondent, negotiations which were initiated by Germany have been proceeding for months between Great Britain and Germany for a reduction in naval armaments.

HAVE FORMED A MERGER

Toronto, Oct. 14—Three big Canadian packing houses have formed a merger with acapital of $5,000,000.

They are Park, Blackwell Co., of Toronto; the Laing Packing & Provision Co., of Montreal, and George Matthews, Limited, with plants at Hull, Peterborough and Brantford. The present capital of these firms is about $2,000,000, but the flotation of stock to be made after the merger is accomplished will allow for considerable enlargements of their plants.

Mr. Matthews is to be president of the merger, while Mr. Blackwell is expected to be chosen as vice-president.

The merger is to be an accomplished fact on November 5.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

CELEBRATED 85th BIRTHDAY.

Is Hale and Hearty and Looks Forward to Many Happy Years Yet.

On Saturday, Mr. Joseph Clarke, a highly esteemed resident of South Monaghan came into the city in celebration of his 85th birthday. He is still in robust health, and sees no reason why he should not yet celebrate many more anniversaries of his advent into this vale of tears. For 76 years he has resided in South Monaghan, and came from the County of Monaghan, Ireland, an orphan, in the year 1835. At the age of eight years he made his passage across the ocean which took eight weeks, and on this trip was the first of the passengers to be stricken with small pox. The boat was quarantined on arrival at Quebec for three weeks. Mr. Clarke well remembers this terrible journey, as he also does the death of his mother when he was but three years of age. On e year ago to-day he cut down what was said to be the biggest maple in the County of Peterborough. It measured 44 feet at the butt and the distance to the front limb was 57 feet. Something like two thousand feet of lumber was secured.

A meeting of the West Peterborough Liberal Association was held on Saturday afternoon to arrange for the holding of a convention to select a candidate to contest the riding for the local Legislature.

FEEL THAT VIOLET SMITH BECAME DESPONDENT

NO TRACE HAS YET BEEN FOUND OF THE MISSING 18-YEAR-OLD SCHOOL TEACHER.

River Dragged and Woods Searched in Vain—No Reason to Suppose She Met With Foul Play.

Parry Sound, Oct. 14.—Provincial Constable Markle, who has charge of the search parties that have been endeavoring to find traces of the missing school teacher, Violet Smith, has returned from Dillonsport and reports that not the slightest trace has been found of the missing girl. Search has been carried on continuously both on land and water. The little river Shebashekong, has been systematically dragged over almost every foot for along distance above and below the place where the young girl was last seen, and the woods for many miles have been carefully scoured without a single trace of the girl being found.

There are all kinds of stories in circulation to account for the disappearance of the girl, but there does not seem to be any tangible story which would account for her either making away with herself or to suppose that she has been the victim of either hate or lust. Dillonsport is a collection of half a dozen houses with a few settlers' houses scattered along the shores of the Shebashekong River, and is one of the most out-of-the way parts of Parry Sound district, in so far as it is inaccessible by either rail or water. The river empties into Shebashekong Bay a short distance above Dillon's mill, some 22 miles north of here, and the nearest railway station is the C.P.R. flag station at Ambo, over 15 miles distant from Dillonsport. The hamlet is one of the smallest and most quiet in the district, and being so far out of the regular line of travel there is little or no probability of any tramps staying there, while there have been some acts of lawlessness, such as fishing and hunting out of season, robbing summer cottages and such like, nothing of danger to human life has been reported.

It is therefore, most likely that Miss Smith discouraged and lonely, and homesick walked into the river or bay, or wandered into the woods and became lost.

SUSPICION OF FOUL PLAY.

But there is also the probability of foul play, but this is regarded as somewhat remote. It is said that the school teachers who have taught at Dillonsport in the past have not had a happy lot, owing to the interferences of parents. Take a young girl like Miss Smith, just out of a big and bustling city, with lots of amusement and gayety, and plant her in such an out-of-the-way and forsaken place as Dillonsport, add unsocial surroundings and company, disputes with parents and others, the general loneliness of the young lady accustomed to such a life so widely different, and it would not be hard to imagine that such a state of affairs would speedily set her nerves on edge.

So far as can be gathered the young lady's conduct has been most exemplary, but the few young men and lads who reside there have been persistently accompanying her on all possible occasions, and it is not to be wondered if she encouraged the attention to some degree. It is said she spent Saturday evening with one young man, but made no complaint of any rudeness. Monday morning, before breakfast she just walked out of her boarding house without either hat or coat, and simply disappeared.

TRYING TO "DO" U. S. CUSTOMS

Returning Americans Trying to Dodge Duties on French Jewellery Purchases

WAR SCARE NOT OVER

Miss Morgan Set New Style by Tying Her Shirts With Running String—Rich and Poor Alike Appear to be Anxious to get the Better of Uncle Sam.

Paris, October 15. NOW that American women go in throngs to London and Paris, they always carry back with them much wealth in fine dresses, jewellery, &c. As is generally known the American customs authorities keep a constant watch on the Paris jewelers to spot Americans who buy expensive gems, so that especial attention may be given them to see that the American customs are not defrauded.

Just why it is that American travelers are so keen on "beating Loeb," as they say, it is hard to say unless it be that they like the excitement of the game, but it is a fact they are.

Who could have ever thought that a circumstance so trifling as that of Miss Anna P. Morgan tying with a running string her skirt around her ankles prefatory to an aviation flight could be to the great industry of Roubaix as the ill-wind that blows nobody good? Some anobesses who saw this contrivance devised by the daughter of the foremost New York banker took the notion as an elegant novelty to the Rue de la Paix, where it was at once adopted. In a few days all the leading race course belles came out at Auteuil in jupes entravees. This mode is now out, but the very narrow skirt derived from it still remains in, with, however, quilles to render motion easier at lateral openings from the knee down.

It does not follow that the great economy of stuff obtained by the couturieres must lead to a cheapening of the dress. When a gown contained at least a third less stuff, one might suppose, in following the light of reason, that a corresponding reduction must appear on the bill. This is far from being the case.

Hence great profits to the Rue de la Paix, and the serious slackening of trade at Roubaix. That town supplies superfine delaines, tweeds, twills and ratines for ladies' clothing to the whole civilized world. Its very interesting exhibition, which President Fallieres went to visit has not remedied the evil due to the jupe entravee, and the silhouette slimness of figure which the couturieres do their best not to cast aside.

Seven hundred gallons of confiscated wine thrown into a canal at Frontignan by the customs officers have had, it is affected, the effect of intoxicating the fish which swim on the top of the water and can be picked out by hand. The housewives refuse to buy fish when they can get them for themselves, and the fishermen in the district have united to protest against the action of the customs officers.

FAVORABLY IMPRESSED WITH THE WEST.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy Have Returned From a Pleasant Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy are home again after afive weeks' trip through Western Canada and contingent States.

Mr. Kennedy is far more favorably impressed with our Great Western Provinces than with those across the border. He is quite enthusiastic as to Edmonton, where under a single tax system, the city owns and operates its own exhibition, owns street railway, electric light plant and telephone system. This with a tax rate of only 13 mills. Mr. Kennedy neither denies or confirms the rumor that he intends removing to Toronto.

HUSBAND GETS POSSESSION OF STRONG CHILD.

Mr. Justice Sutherland Gave His Decision in Favor of the Father—Mother May See Her.

Toronto, Oct. 14.—From the decision handed down by Mr. Justice Sutherland in the Non-Jury Assize Court late this afternoon, W. J. Strong will retain possession of his five-year-old daughter Alice, for whose care the mother had brought action. It is left at Mr. Strong's option to arrange with Mrs. Strong to see if she will be allowed to visit the girl from time to time.

The question of settlement of costs is now being taken up by the Court.

NO OTHER SEWER WORK WILL BE UNDERTAKEN THIS YEAR

The Board of Works has decided to hurry forward the work on the south city sewerage system in connection with the new pumping station as rapidly as possible. No other work but that at present in progress under the supervision of Mr. Wade in South City will be undertaken this year. It appears that men are too scarce to permit of any new sewer operations just now. There is plenty of work for willing hands at the south city scene of operations and such men are invited to consult with Mr. Wade at the works.

This work composes the contract thrown up by Messrs. Bogue and Conroy, and which is now under satisfactory progress by day labor, with Mr. Wade as the city's superintending foreman.

Miss Mary Grove Found Dead With $310.33 Cash and a Bank Book Showing $350.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 15.—Hidden in the clothing of Miss Mary Grove, who died, apparently in destitute circumstances in a room in the South end, the medical examiner found yesterday $310.33 in cash and a bank book showing deposits of $350. It had been saved up to pay for her funeral. She was 68 years old and resided with her sister, Mrs. Mary Sanborn, 71 years of age. Among their ancestors was Col. Jonathan Case of revolutionary fame.

Money for Mrs. Sanborn had been collected by a charitable society, but yesterday she was told that it would be returned to the donors. She then produced $400, which she had saved to pay for her funeral.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be secured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,635.26, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.30 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

RELIABLE AGENTS WANTED. APPLY TO THE HEAD OFFICE, WINNIPEG, MAN.

THE GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the property, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

THESE COME OF OLD FAMILIES

Residents of Britain Today Who Can Reliably Trace Their Genealogy Back to the Twelfth Century.

There is, of course, a good deal of truth suggested by the familiar and oft-quoted couplet—

When Adam delved and Eve span,
Who was then the gentleman?

But, like a great many other truisms, the suggested answer to the question is only a half-truth; for, though it goes without saying that we could no doubt trace ourselves back to a common stock, the fact remains that most people cannot get very far back into their family history. It speaks, therefore, very strongly for the stability of a family, and for the capacity of its members to hold their own in the ups and downs of the centuries, when a genealogy can be traced far back into the early days of our history.

Perhaps the most interesting lineage, as it is certainly one of the most ancient in England today, is that of the family of Wake, of Courteen Hall, Northampton. This is one of the oldest now existing in the male line in England, being directly traceable to the celebrated Hereward the Wake, son of Leofric, Earl of Mercia, and Lady Godiva of Coventry fame. It is not remarkable that in the family which boasts "the last of the English" as its founder, the name of Hereward, Herewald, or Herwald should be of frequent occurrence, and a Herewald Wake nobly sustained the honour of the name during the Indian Mutiny when, although a civilian, he held the Puckah House at Arrah against the Sepoys. A daughter of this house was mother of Joan (the Fair Maid of Kent), the wife of Edward the Black Prince; and Sir John Wake, with characteristic loyalty to a failing cause, mortgaged his estate to raise a troop of horse for Charles I.

Another very long pedigree is that of the Cornish family of Salusbury, Trelawny. The name is taken from Trelawne, in Cornwall, which one Eduni, an ancestor of the present family, possessed in the reign of Edward the Confessor. To this family belonged the Right Reverend Sir Jonathan Trelawny, Bishop of Bristol, who was one of the seven bishops committed to the Tower by James II.

The family of Scott of Ancrum, in Roxburghshire, boast an antique and singularly romantic history. "Uchredus, filius Scote" was witness to the foundation of Holyrood Abbey in 1128, and it was to this house that there belonged the famous wizard, Michael Scott, mentioned in the "Lay of the Last Minstrel," and also, as is probably less generally known, in Dante's "Inferno."

Few people can claim a more distinguished origin than the house of Perrott of Plumstead in Kent, said to be of ancient British descent. The founder of this family, the British Edwal, Lord of Penfro, married a grand-daughter of Alfred the Great, and the son of the marriage first took the name "de Perot" from his castle in Armorica. A later Perrott was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in the reign of Elizabeth, and the family took a vigorous part on the Royalist side during the Civil War.

Cleopatra's Needle.

The London County Council have erected a scaffold round Cleopatra's Needle, and cleansing operations are in progress. The monolith had its last rub down some fifteen years ago. It is to be feared that the London atmosphere is beginning to tell upon the sharpness of the hieroglyphic inscriptions, and nobody has yet completely solved the problem of preserving stone or even granite surfaces against sulphuric acid deposits. The County Council's chemist has been giving attention to the matter, and he has advised the use of paraffin wax as a protective coating. The monument will therefore be scrubbed all over with water and the paraffin wax will be afterwards applied. The column, which was placed on the Embankment thirty-three years ago, is about 87 feet high.

BRIEF BUT INSTRUCTIVE

Never trust a friend in business.

Whatever is good for humanity comes from ambition and the struggle for life.

It has been said that there are three sexes: Men, women, and educated women.

You can achieve no laurels in any career if you will not scorn delights and live laborious days.

The real joys of life are found in the simple things which rich and poor alike have within their reach.

Idleness and ignorance amongst women, with the frivolity and waste they cause, are dangers to the community.

True patriotism begins not with Empire, but with home and school and suburbs and city, working outward.

The cleverest man imaginable, with the utmost possible knowledge, is a perfect nuisance if he is not "straight."

There can be no more demoralising idea than to suppose that the honours of life are all dispensed by the goddess of luck.

We are sent into the world to be supremely happy, and, if we do not achieve this, we make a hopeless muddle of things.

Train Versus Elephant

Among the remarkable photographs published in the last official report of the Federated Malay States Railways were two, showing the wreck of a passenger train and the wild elephant which caused it. The animal, apparently frightened by the noise of the approaching train, started to cross the track, and was struck by the engine. The force of the impact was sufficient to throw the engine and tender from the track. The elephant was almost instantly killed by the force of the blow and thrown into a ditch.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER
You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

Sons of the King.

The Prince of Wales, much to his disappointment, it is said, is not destined for a naval career. He may spend only six months on the Hindustan, and after that enter a cavalry regiment.

The future of the King's next son, Prince Albert, has been engaging the King's attention lately, and it is understood that he will eventually become a midshipman. In his case the navy will furnish him with a career. Prince Henry, the third son, is not fitted for the strenuous life of a sailor and he may, after spending some years at Eton, be gazetted to a cavalry regiment.

Child Laborers.

Italy has no child labor laws, and young merchants throng the streets. The cherry vender, often scarcely in her teens, carries his luscious fruits in baskets, tucks his measure into his vest, and swings his scales over his shoulders. Thus equipped, he makes his way merrily through the city streets, calling his merchandise.

THE VOICE OF CONSCIENCE

"What is conscience?" asked a Sunday School teacher. Several of his children answered, some one thing and some another, until a timid little child spoke out: "It is Jesus whispering in our hearts." We all know that there is something in our breasts that approves when we do right and chides when we do wrong. This voice is no respector of persons, but speaks with kingly authority to all.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Not Your Own Face

"My boy," said a wise father who knew how to play and be a "chum" with his twelve-year-old lad, "my boy, you do not own your own face." The boy looked puzzled. He had come to the breakfast table with a frowning, clouded countenance, and had started moodily to eat his food. Everybody felt the shadow of his ill spirits, evident in his looks. His father's unexpected words brought him back to life, and he looked up with a half-guilty expression, but did not understand what was meant. "You do not own your face," his father repeated. "Do not forget that it belongs to other people. They, not you, have to look at it. You have no right to compel them to look at a sour, gloomy and crabbed face."

Shoe Shops of Japan.

Writing about the shops of Japan a visitor to that country says that the typical shoe store makes a strange impression on the foreign visitor. "All the footwear of the little brown men are here in view. The funny wooden clogs and straw sandals are indeed a fanciful exhibition. They line the benches, the floors, the shelves. They hang from above, and seemingly are everywhere, allowing the seller just about enough room to squat on his mat. The newcomer is at once startled at the immense quantity of this simple footwear and the many places where it is sold, but he soon finds a solution to his query when he hears that a Japanese man annually makes away with from eight to ten pairs."

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Pittsburgh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

To Keep Youthful

"It is well known that within recent years the men have become extensive patrons of beauty specialists and masseurs. Not only the fastidious, but men generally who have a care for personal appearance. This has also led to the employment by many of means calculated to enhance or preserve physical attractiveness, especially by those who abhor "beauty parlors."

Of these, perhaps the most widely used is ordinary mercolized wax — which explain the mystery of the silver-haired gentleman with the boyish face. The mercolized wax, is applied after shaving, the same as cold cream, only not rubbed in. This gradually absorbs the dead and half-dead cuticle in tiny particles, revealing the fresher, healthier-hued skin beneath. To secure best results many apply the wax at night, washing it off in the morning. Women not only encourage husbands in this, but use the treatment themselves.

Gordon's Cigar-Case

Major-General Sir John Maxwell has received from an Italian, who has just come from Khartoum, General Gordon's cigar-case. The case is a plain brown leather one, and has evidently seen much service, although it is in good condition. At the outer portion is pulled back the name "C. E. Gordon" in black ink is seen. When Sir John Maxwell received the case there were two cigars in it.

CHINESE WAYS STILL CURIOUS

In Addition to Ways that Dark and Tricky that are Vain, the Heathen Chinee is Still Otherwise Peculiar.

China is the land the cities of which have no lights, no plan, no sewers, and no sidewalks. Her people have no public spirit, no patriotism, no rulers, no national feeling, and no secrets.

Notwithstanding all these anomalies, every Province, every city, every hamlet is districted, and in the hamlets some respected citizen is recognized as head man. He is held responsible for its good conduct. If any crime is committed he is held till the culprit is found.

In a land where there are few secrets, and where these head men are very close to the people, the guilty seldom escape. Numberless cases of social troubles and dispute are, through this arrangement, never brought to the courts, but are settled among themselves.

The scholars rule China to-day. Dress is of more moment there than in any other country, yet the scholar although poor and meanly dressed, is received with honor by the highest in the land.

"The superior man" of the classics is the equivalent of the "good man" with us.

In contradiction to the popular idea of dignity, however, the superior man will play battledore and shuttlecock with his feet and fly kites, while the boys, like old men, stand sedately by and look on. This he does as a method of instruction, and to show the children how the superior man can relax when his high purpose is to entertain and educate the young.

To the Chinese the foreigner is a boor and a barbarian. It seems a hopeless task to teach him politeness.

CAN'T DANCE THE HORNPIPE

Traditional Dance Gone Out of Active Service with the Fiddler and Piper who Used to Provide Sea-Going Music.

The following story recently appeared in Truth, contributed by "a service correspondent":

"A ship was at a certain port, where an entertainment in aid of a deserving cause was being organized, and a lady who was helping in this suggested that a real sailor's hornpipe danced by a bluejacket would be a novel attraction. The officer promptly volunteered to find her twenty performers. But his confidence received a mild shock when, after exhaustive enquiry, he discovered that only one man of the whole ship's company could dance the hornpipe at all, and he a steward, who had to be rigged out in bluejacket's kit in order to save the reputation of the ship."

This anecdote is held to illustrate the decay of traditional naval customs, but the decay is not of this century, and it is a doubtful question whether sailors have been adepts at this dance for many years past. It appears to have gone out of use with fiddlers and bagpipes, which once formed the music on board ship, after trumpetery disappeared. Far from having a nautical origin, the so-called "sailor's hornpipe" seems to have come from the shore and even its name has a ring of flocks and herds rather than of tar and oakum. The general knowledge of this institution of the forecastle is almost wholly summed up by the definition given in the Shipping Encyclopaedia, which says that the hornpipe was formerly the name of a musical instrument which became obsolete, when its name was "appropriated for a jig-like dance, common among sailors." But while the hornpipe is no longer a general feature of life on board ship, the bluejacket cannot be said to have lost his lightness of foot, and there are some ships which still carry a fiddler, or even a piper, for their gratification.

The Morning Times

MONDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1911.

North Monaghan Council.

The North Monaghan Council met in the County Council chambers, Peterborough on Oct. 7th. All the members were present, the Reeve presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.—Carried

By-law No. 642 to levy County and Township rates and By-law No. 643, to levy school rates were read and finally passed.

A communication was received from the Bank of Ottawa as required by the Municipal Act, stating that the indebtedness of the township on the 30th Sept., was $1469.19.

On motion of Messrs. May and Forster, Mr. Cameron was given $25 in full account re Byersville sidewalk.

On motion of Messrs. Morrow and Robson, the following accounts were ordered to be paid :

The Times Ptg. Co.	$ 5.40
The Review Pt[illegible]	5.40
The Examiner Ptg. Co.	5.40
Peterborough Hardware Co., shovels	4.25
Geo. Ward, pay roll Cavan bridge	19.00
	$39.45

The Peterborough Radial Railway Co. made application to the township for a franchise agreement, similar to those previously entered into for the extension of their Canadian General Electric branch out Chamberlain St. and down Monaghan road to the C. P. R. tracks, where they propose to build a Y. at Lundy's Lane or on other property between there and the railway.

The township solicitor's advice in the matter states that the council could only sanction an agreement, and that a by-law would have to be submitted to the ratepayers, according to law.

The meeting then adjourned.

T. C. HOLT, LTD. OF VANCOUVER

Splendid Investments Offered by This Well Known Firm.

The Times would call special attention of investors to the advertisement of the T. C. Holt, Limited, of North Vancouver, one of the most substantial and prosperous brokers and real estate firms on the Pacific Coast. Capitalists in the east are now looking to the west for safe and profitable investments, and there is probably no spot on the continent where more money has been made faster than in Vancouver real estate. North Vancouver is rapidly forging ahead, and those who are able to get in now will be sure to reap a golden harvest.

T. C. Holt, Limited, recommend the following investments to their clients :

1st—While they last, 100 Shares in the T. C. Holt Ltd. at $100 per Share. 25 per cent. on application and 10 per cent. per month until fully paid up. This Company being strictly under Goverament supervision is not allowed to sell their shares for less than par. We consider these shares a good and safe investment, as they will bring the investor a dividend of from 10 to 20 per cent. per year or more. Only a limited number left.

2nd—Investments in Real Estate. Remember, Mr. Investor, inside property in North Vancouver, is as yet cheaper than property in Point Grey, Fairview, South Vancouver, or Grand View, on the outskirts of Vancouver. 5 years ago an investor North Vancouver, far $10,000, to-day bought a corner on Lonsdale Avenue the same piece of property is worth $100,000.00. We can buy for our clients to-day property for investment from $1000 to $50,000.00 and over and can almost guarantee a profit of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. in a couple of years.

3rd—Investments in Mortgages and Agreements of Sale which represent a very safe and sure investment and bring in from 8 to 10 per cent. per year. Nearly every day some party calls in our office and invests his money in Mortgages or Agreements of Sale. They say they prefer absolute safety for their money with a good rate of interest, rather than no interest with a hope of increase in selling value.

Progress is the dominant note in the City of Vancouver to-day, and where progress is, where wealth accumulates, there will realty values advance, and this is inevitable in Vancouver.

Address all communications to T. C. Holt Limited, North Vancouver, B. C.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows : The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.30, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

Effective September 18th, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway inaugurated a mixed train service to be operated on the Regina Branch between Melville and Regina. This train will run Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, leaving Melville at 10.35 a.m., and arriving at Regina at 7.35 p.m. Leaving Regina Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 7 a.m., arriving at Melville at 4 p. m., and will make stops at the intermediate stations

Puns in the Bible.

It has been pointed out that the pun is one of the commonest forms of humour in the East. The Old Testament writers, especially the prophets, are true Orientals in this respect, for they use this ornament of speech most effectively."

Amos, the desert prophet, the first of the writing prophets, uses puns more successfully than any of the prophets. Unfortunately in our translations the play of words is lost to us, and we fail to see the delicate shade or meaning or the mocking or scornful irony of many a phrase. A most notable pun of this prophet is that of the vision of summer fruit—"And he said Amos, what seest thou? And I said a basket of summer fruit. Then said the Lord unto me—The end is come upon my people Israel." (Amos viii. 2.)

"In this verse the translation fails to bring out the play upon the words 'summer fruit' and 'end,' consequently the point is lost to us. The Hebrew word for 'summer fruit' is kaitz, and the word for 'end' kets. The parable is made far more expressive by the pun and much more liable to stick in people's memories. Just read the verse, substituting the original words, 'And he said What seest thou? And I said a basket of kaitz. Then said the Lord unto me. The kets is come upon my people Israel' — and we at once see how sight and sound must have combined to arrest the attention and impress the mind of the unthinking Israelite. The beauty of this punning parable lies in the fact that 'the symbol and the word expressing it coincide.'"

At the Court of St. James'.

But it is not everybody who realises that the Palace of Westminster—the correct name for the Parliamentary Houses—contains a second throne. This is placed in the King's robing room and is used by the King when he is putting on his legal garb before entering the House of Peers to read the "Speech from the Throne."

As a matter of fact, the official throne of these realms is the one at James' Palace, that very ordinary looking building at the foot of St. James' street. All ambassadors are accredited to this court, and, in the eyes of foreign governments, it stands for the majesty of Britain. Its throne is a very handsome one, and stands under a magnificent and most ornate canopy.

Though the throne at Windsor is but little used, it is unique in one respect. It is really an Eastern throne, after the style of the one we read of in the records of King Solomon, for it is composed entirely of ivory, and was the gift of one of the Princes of India.

THE VENOM OF LOVE

By L. A. Raffman
(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

"I can't meet you on Sunday. I'm not going to meet you any more."

Nettie leaned back among the fragrant Capebroom, jutting its golden spray through the fence, her eyes upon the ground, seeking refuge from the open avowal Sid's stupid obtuseness forced from her.

He stepped forward, his hand fell upon her shoulder, turning her roughly, compelling her to face the situation.

"I'm sick of you," she whimpered, "so there!"

"There's someone else?"

He was still dragging at her, forcing her eyes to his.

"Well, what if there is?" She faced him, a small fury. "Haven't I a right to please myself?"

"If there is——" He threw her off with such violence that she rebounded from the fence, and her bonnet was tossed over her eyes.

Nettie tore her hat off. "There is! There is!" she cried.

The girl caught herself up with a gasp. Sid was looking very ugly just then. In the eyes that stabbed her there was a vicious heat, his mouth was slightly open, the under jaw rigid.

"You little beast!" he said. He held her tightly. "It's Bodio." The pressure increased, bruising her soft, slim body. "It's Bodio."

"Yes, it is," she answered, defiantly.

"A Dago. A dirty Dago!" He pushed her away, his face full of disgust.

"He's lovely. I don't care what you think. I don't care what you say, he's lovely."

For over three weeks Sidney Wood saw nothing of Nettie, but he heard of her often, and always in association with Gian Bodio, the dapper, black-eyed Italian who speared oysters with amazing dexterity on the right side of Silvio Panzacchi's shop front, while Nettie Mulholland boxed sweets and bagged bananas behind her natty little counter on the left.

Sid was a commonplace youth in a commonplace world, suddenly thrust into a vortex of the emotions that make for tragedy.

One moonlight night, after following them like a blackmailer for an hour, creeping meanly from bush to bush, he saw Gian kiss Nettie good-night by the Cape-broom hedge, where he and she had so often parted. The Italian held her close in his arms, and kissed her again and again, with uncouth, noisy kisses. Suddenly Sid arose. He understood now what it all meant. He realized in a moment what the fury and the fever had prompted. Nettie must die. He would kill her.

No argument followed, no self-questioning. In his mind there were no doubts. He no longer cherished enmity towards Gian Bodio; his soul was absorbed in the killing of Nettie Mulholland.

Then he heard she was to be at the trade-picnic with Gian Bodio, and that decided him. At the picnic, somewhere in the bush, before the eyes of her Dago, he would kill her.

None detected the smallest evidence of Sid's intention as they drove to the picnic. Gian Bodio sat on Nettie's left. Next her on the right, pressed very close, was Martin Sickert, big, black-haired, violet-eyed, handsome, a suburban Mephistopheles. He certainly enjoyed more of Nettie's attention than poor Bodio; yet Martin was nothing but lorryman for Sin Me, the banana king, with two guineas a week and the beer habit. Throughout the morning at Grass Creek, too, Nettie Mulholland flirted openly and impudently with Sickert, and Bodio sat with his back to a gum butt, and watched them, small and silent, no emotion in his pale face.

Nettie was conscious of Bodio, but gave no thought to Sidney, and he too was watching. It was not till after dinner, when Martin was too drunk to be companionable, that Nettie returned to the Italian. There were no reproaches. They sat together for half an hour and then went off through the trees and along the creek. Sid followed. He felt his moment was at hand. Near the camp they passed from view beyond a clump of saplings. He waited, but they did not reappear.

He stole forward, crept quietly to the saplings, arose, and pushed his way through, without a sound, his hand on the weapon, his soul hot with resolution.

He stopped. They were there. Nettie lay upon the grass, Bodio knelt upon her, his knee crushing her breast, his left hand gripped about her throat. In his right hand he held a knife, from the bright blade of which the sunlight flamed. His face was close to hers, his teeth bared, and he spat Roman oaths at her with something of the tiger, something of the snake. His face was contorted with abominable malice, hers wild with the horror of death.

For one tense moment Sidney Wood gazed down upon the lovers, and then a heart-burst filled him with blind rage. He hurled himself at Bodio.

A moment later the two men were on their feet fighting. Nettie, crouched down, backing under cover of the saplings, watched them, mad with fear.

Sid was sparring and punching with bare hands. The other slashed with his knife in a blind fury. Instinctively Wood's left shot for the face with every movement of the Italian. His arms were cut. He got the knife in his breast again, and then he saw Bodio's chin as through a mist, and swung his right with all the weight and power he could put into it. The Italian collapsed on himself, and went down, limp and lifeless. Sid staggered to his knees, and then fell, face foremost, across the body of his foe.

Nettie was running towards the picnic party, white and wild, shrieking "Murder! murder!"

The men found Gian Bodio on his knees, still dazed; but Sidney Wood lay prone, bleeding from a dozen wounds.

"Take care of Nettie," he whispered. "For God's sake, take care of Nettie. The Dago will kill her!"

As they lifted him a loaded revolver fell from the right-hand pocket of his coat.

CATARRH

Remember the best Catarrh medicine that money can buy is Catarrhozone; it cures quickly and permanently when all others fail.

The remedy doesn't exist that will cure Catarrh as quickly as Catarrhozone. It relieves the most stubborn cases in a short time, and drives the disease so thoroughly from the system that it never returns.

Druggists boldly recommend Catarrhozone in preference to other remedies, because they know it is the best, and every progressive doctor prescribes it for the same good reason.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common-sense treatment that finds favor with everybody. It cures by the inhalation of medicated air, which comes into contact with the mucous surface of all the breathing organs. It gets at the source of the trouble, kills the germs and drives every vestige of catarrh right out of the system.

It doesn't matter how deep-seated or chronic your case may be, Catarrhozone can cure it. Even though a thousand other remedies have failed, don't give up hope till you have used Catarrhozone. It has cured other cases probably worse than yours, and will cure yours if it gets a chance.

Mr. Dutcher Law, a prominent citizen of Italy Cross, N. S., says: "I experimented with hundreds of catarrh remedies and found the majority to be worthless, dismal failures. Catarrhozone was the first to give lasting relief; it cured me and I am with pleasure testifying to its merits as a cure for Catarrh of the nose and throat.

(Signed) DUTCHER LAW.

You are sure to derive the most pleasant results from Catarrhozone. It has been tested many times and never found wanting. Every druggist in Canada sells it. Complete two months' treatment, guaranteed to cure costs $1, or a trial size 25c. By mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

CHURCHES ACTIVE

sible for the success of this gigantic undertaking. It is not settled as yet where the convention will be held in this city, but it brings home to the people the necessity of a great convention building, as it is expected five thousand people will want to hear Sir Andrew Fraser and some of the other prominent speakers, whose names will be mentioned later.

Sir Andrew Fraser's father, Rev. A. J. Fraser, D.D., was an eminent minister of the Scottish Presbyterian Church, while his mother was the daughter of another clergyman of the same denomination, Rev. J. Shaw. Such being his parentage, it is easy enough to understand his taking an active and intelligent interest in church work. He was educated at the Edinburgh Academy and Edinburgh University, obtaining at the latter the degree of M. A. in course and that of L.L.D. honorarily. In his 23rd year, in 1871, he entered the Indian service, and remained actively engaged therein until 1908, when he returned to Scotland, taking up his residence at Auchenleish, in Perthshire.

His activities in the Indian service covered a wide sphere. He was member of the historical Hemp Drugs Commission, which investigated the grave evils resulting from the general use of vile drugs, and whose report resulted in the enactment of drastic remedial laws of the greatest importance. For two years he was land revenue officer, an appointment which brought him directly in touch with all the local governing bodies of the country, and also with those holding Government concessions. The Government revenues increased materially during his administration, and incidentally many injustices and petty hardships imposed on poorer classes of natives disappeared. In recognition of these services he was created C. S. I. For some time he held the important office of president of the police commission, using his influence to keep down the illicit sale and use of opium and other harmful drugs, and and making a determined effort to put a stop to child murder and kindred heathenish practices, which in a few remote places had contrived to survive in spite of the law. From 1903 till 1906 he had the honor of holding one of the most dignified and influential appointments under the Governmeat of India, that of Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and the year he received his commission to this office, he was created K.C.S.I.

Sir Andrew Fraser is the man that a fanatic in India tried to assassinate. One of the great Indian princes threw himself between the assassin's pistol and Sir Andrew. Fortunately the gun missed fire twice, and before he could pull the trigger the third time, one of the workers in connection with the Y.M.C.A. in India grabbed the fanatic and was able to wrest the pistol from his grasp.

Sir Andrew has a son who was a missionary in South Africa and took the sleeping sickness, and was ordered to discontinue his work, but would not give it up, so was sent to Ceylon, where he is actively engaged at the present time.

Deafness Cannot se Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

At noon we ate the last of our moose meat, and whe next we crossed moose tracks in the snow Barreau ordered me in a surly tone to keep straight south, and set out with his rifle.

It was slow work and heavy to 'ug that load alone Jessie went ahead, but her weight was not enough to crush the loose particles to any degree of firmness. For every quarter mile gained we sat down upon the load to rest, sweat standing in drops upon my face and freezing in pellets as it stood. And at one of these halts I fell to studying the small oval face, framed in the parka hood, beside me The sad, tired look of it cut me. There was a stout heart, to be sure, in that small body. But it was killing work for men; and for her I gritted my teeth at the mesh of circumstance

"If you were only out of this," I murmured tenderly.

I looked up quickly at a crunching sound, and there was Barreau, empty handed. I shall never forget the glare in his eyes at sight of me standing there with one hand resting lightly on her shoulder There was no word said He took up the rope with me.

"Where in the name of Heaven are you heading for?" something presently spurred me to ask of him.

"To the Peace," he snapped back "Then west through the mountains, down the Fraser, toward the Sound country D'ye think I intend to walk into the arms of the police?"

"You might do worse," some demon of irritability prompted me to snarl.

He looked back at me over his shoulder, slackening speed For a moment I thought he would turn on me then and there, and my shoulder muscles stiffened. There was a thrill in the thought. But he only muttered:

"Get a grip on yourself, man"

Just at the first lowering of dusk, in my peering over Barreau's shoulder I spotted the shovel antlers of a moose beside a clump of young willows I dropped the rope, snatched for my rifle, and fired as Barreau turned to see what I was about I had drawn a bead on the broad side of him as he made the first plunge, and he dropped.

"Well, that's meat," Barreau said "And it means camp."

He drew the toboggan up against a heavy stand of spruce, and, taking a snowshoe shovel-wise, fell to baring the earth for a fire base. I took my skinning knife and went to the fallen moose. Jessie stirred about, gathering dry twigs to start a fire.

Happening to glance campward, I saw, in the firelight, Barreau towering over Jessie, talking, his speech punctuated by an occasional gesture. His voice carried faintly to me. I stood up and watched. Reason hid its head abashed, crowded into the background by a swift flood of passion. I could not think coherently. I could only stand there, blinking, furious — over what I did not quite know, nor pause to inquire of myself. For the nonce I was as primitive in my emotions as any naked cave-dweller that ever saw his mate threatened by another male And when I saw her shrink from him saw him catch at her arm, I plunged for the fire.

"You damned cub!" he flashed, and struck at me as I rushed him. I had no very distinct idea of what I was going to do when I ran at him, except that I would make him leave her alone. But when he smashed at me with that wolflike drawing apart of his lips — I knew then. I was going to kill him, to take his head in my hands and batter it against one of those rough-barked trees. I evaded that first swing of his fist by a quick turn of my head. After that I do not recollect the progress of events with any degree of clearness, except that I gave and took blows while the forest reeled drunkenly about me. The same red rage in which I had fought that last fight with Tupper burned in my heart. I wanted to rend and destroy and nothing short of that would satisfy. And presently I had Barreau down in the snow, smashing insanely at his face with one hand, choking the breath out of him with the other.

[illegible] remember; remember, too, Jessie's cry behind me. With that my recollection of the struggle blurs completely.

I was lying beside the fire, Jessie rubbing my forehead with snow in lieu of water, when I again became cognizant of my surroundings. Barreau stood on the other side of the fire, putting on fresh wood.

"I'm sorry, sorry, Bob," she whispered, and her eyes were moist. "But you know I couldn't stand by and see you —— It would have been murder!"

I sat up at that. Across the top of my head a great welt was now risen. My face, I could feel, was puffed and bruised. I looked at Barreau more closely; his features were battered even worse than mine.

"Did you hit me with an axe, or was it a tree?" I asked peevishly "That is the way my head feels."

"The rifle," she stammered "I—it was—I didn't want to hurt you, Bob, but the rifle was so heavy I couldn't make you stop any other way; you wouldn't listen to me, even."

So that was the way of it! I got to my feet Saving a dull ache in my head and the smarting of my bruised face, I felt equal to anything and the physical pain was as nothing to the hurt of my pride. To be felled by a woman—the woman I loved! I did love her, and therein lay the hurt of her action. I could hardly understand it, and yet — strange paradox — I did not trouble myself to try to understand. My brain was in no condition for solving problems of that sort. I was not concerned with the why; the fact was enough

If I had been the unformed boy who cowered before those two hairy-fisted slave-drivers aboard the New Moon—but I was not; I never could be again. The Trouble Trail had hardened more than my bone and sinew Standing there by the fire, I could see how it would be, I thought. Unless the unseen enemy who hovered about us cut it short with his rifle, we were foredoomed to maddening weeks, perhaps months, of each other's company. Though she had jeered at him and flaunted her contempt for him at both MacLeod and the post, Jessie had put by that hostile, bitter spirit. To me, she seemed afraid of Barreau. She shrank from him, both his word and look. And I must stand like a buffer between. Weeks of suspicious looks, of jealous actions, of simmering hate that would bubble up in hot words and sudden blows; I did not like the prospect.

"I have a mind to settle it all, right here and now!"

I did not know until the words were out that I had spoken aloud. As a spark falling in loose powder, so was the effect of that sentence upon a spirit as turbulent and as sorely tried as his.

"Settle it, then—settle it." He rose to his feet and shouted at me. "There is your gun behind you."

I blurted an oath and reached for the rifle, and as my fingers closed about it Jessie flung herself on me.

"No, no—no!" she screamed hysterically. "I won't let you. Oh, oh, for God's sake, be men, not murdering brutes. Think of me, if you won't think of your own lives. Stop it, stop it! Put down those guns!"

She clung to me desperately hampering my hands. He could have killed me with ease. I could see him across the fire, waiting, his rifle half raised, the fire-glow lighting up his face, with its blazing eyes and parted lips, teeth set tight together. And I could not free myself of that clinging, crying girl. Not at once, without hurting her. Mad as I was, I had no wish to do that. At length, however, I loosened her clinging arms, and pushed her away. But she was quick as an athlete. She caught the barrel of my rifle as I swung it up, and before I could break her frenzied grip a second time a voice in the dark near by broke in upon us, with startling clearness.

"Hello, folks, hello!"

The sound of feet in the crisp snow, the squeaking crunch of toboggans, other voices; these things uprose at hand. I ceased to struggle with Jessie. Only when a man stepped into the circle of firelight, with others dimly outlined behind him, did she release her hold on my gun. Barreau had already let the butt of his drop to his feet. He stood looking from me to the stranger, his hands resting on the muzzle.

"How-de-do, everybody."

The man stopped at the fire and looked us over. He was short, heavily built. Under the close-drawn parka hood, we could see little of his face. He was dressed after the fashion, the necessity, rather, of the North. His eyes suddenly became riveted on me.

"God bless my soul!" he exclaimed.

He reached into a pocket and took out a pair of glasses wrapped in a silk handkerchief. The lenses he rubbed hastily with the silk, and stuck them upon the bridge of his nose. I could hear him mumbling to himself. A half dozen men edged up behind him.

"God bless me," he repeated. "Without a doubt, it is Bob Sumner. Somewhat the worse for wear, but Bob, sure enough. Ha, you young dog, I've had a merry chase after you. Don't even know me, do you?"

He pushed back the hood of his parka. The voice had only puzzled me. But I recognized that cheerful, rubicund countenance with its bushy, black eye-brows; and the thing that favored me most in my recollecting was a half-smoked, unlighted cigar tucked in one corner of his mouth. It was my banker guardian, Bolton, of St. Louis.

Wakening out of the first doze I had fallen into through that long night, I was constrained to rise and poke my head out of the tent in which I slept to make sure that I had not dreamed it out. For the event savored of a bolt from a clear sky. I could scarcely believe that only a few hours back I had listened to the details of its accomplishment; how Bolton had in the fullness of time received both my letters; how he had traced me, step by step, from MacLeod north; and how he had only located me on the Skeanais River, through the aid of the Hudsons' Bay Company. He was on his way to the post. Our meeting was purely accidental. And so on From the tent, I saw a lone sentinel plying the fire I slipped on the few clothes I had taken off, and sat down beside the cheery crackle of the blaze, to meditate upon the miracle. I was sane enough to shudder at what might have been, if Barreau and I had had a few minutes longer.

In an hour all the camp was astir. Bolton's cook prepared breakfast, and we ate by candle light in a tent warmed by a sheet-iron stove How one's point of view shuffles, like the needle of a compass! A tent with a stove in it, where one could be thoroughly comfortable, seemed to me the pyramid point of luxury.

After that there was the confusion

NEVER USES SLANG

I know a well-bred little boy who
never says, "I can't";
He never says, "Don't want to", or
"You've got to", or "You shant";
He never says, "I'll tell mama"! or
calls his playmates "mean".
A lad more careful of his speech I'm sure was never seen.
He's never ungrammatical—he never
mentions "aint";
A single word of slang from him
would make his mother faint.
And now I'll tell you why I' is (lest
this should seem absurd);
He's now exactly six months old, and
cannot speak a word!

THE VEIL OF FUTURITY

By Martin Lyon

(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

Perfectly motionless lay the ship on the still water, awaiting the dawn to enter the harbor. In a deck-chair Leslie Cartwright stirred restlessly It was late, and nearly all the other passengers had retired for the night: but he was in no mood for sleep.

In the dim light the man's face was gray with an unnatural pallor, scored blackly here and there, on the forehead and round the mouth, with short hard lines. Every now and then his hands would clench nervously, and a quick, impatient sigh escaped his compressed lips. The light murmur from the bulwarks, where a late fellow-traveler and the first officer were chatting over a last cigar, came to him as an impertinence and an irritation. At length the voices died away as the speakers moved forward, and nothing broke the stillness save the long wash of the Australasian sea, and at intervals, with jarring suddenness, the striking of the ship's bell.

The man looked around to see if he was alone, and dropped back with an exclamation of satisfaction. By-and-by he began to murmur and fret once more. "What fools women are!" he growled. "They take an abstraction and make a god of it; they take a literature and make it a fetish. And what a fool I am to take so much notice of their chatter!"

He was silent for a time. Then he resumed his muttering. "Who said 'the Veil of Futurity is woven by the hand of Mercy'? Stuff! I should like to lift it, for one. Just as though there could possibly be any mercy in not letting a poor devil see what's ahead of him — and people have lifted it, too — what about the Eastern mystics — the sooth-sayers — the Chaldeans? — what about prophecy? The old prophets were more than the mere far-sighted statesmen as some would have us believe — wonderful — wonderful——"

His voice died away in a low, dreamy murmur; then he stirred again, and began to mutter once more.

"What about their wretched Western imitators! They are too grossly material to possess even a fraction of the occult power they presume to lay claim to. Centuries of European training have been quite enough to exterminate any force of the kind, even if it ever existed. Existed? — of course it did. Men have read the stars like an open book and seen their own fate in the signs of the wind and the wave — they have foretold war and famine and pestilence and the doom of nations; but they were men of old — not the puerile would-be mystics of to-day.

"I do not believe the most spiritualised, sensitive Anglo-Saxon could look five minutes into the unknown."

As he spoke, his white face grew whiter, and an expression almost of fear came over it. He shivered for a moment, then braced himself, evidently with an effort. He laughed nervously.

"Something is wrong with me," he said savagely. "I hope I am not going to get fever. I had a feeling then that I could know the future, if I would — only — that it would be well for me if I did not will to know. It's horribly uncanny; I can't shake it off. Well — his voice rose in excited defiance — "I will test this power. I demand to see myself a year hence."

x x x

Then he was floating in a thick, heavy atmosphere; now dark — dark to blackness — now lightening into transparent blue; sometimes flashing into silver, and even blazing into a splendor of gorgeous golden freshness.

Around him, with him, and of him, were long, spherical gray shapes. He was conscious of a curious sense of dispersion — of separation in some indefinite, indefinable manner from himself; and yet he was perfectly capable of connected thought.

"Can this be an answer to my demand?" he questioned. "Bah! As vague as all prophecy! Well, we will ask eleven months." There was no change. "Well, then, ten — nine — eight — seven six!"

A look of horror seized him. Great drops of sweat sprang out on his brow. One might have seen the muscles start and stiffen in his hands as he gripped the arms of the chair. "Five — four — three — two — a month, yes, a month!" he spoke with agonized intensity.

The sense of uneasiness was with him still, but in a modified degree. He seemed more sentient, more living, more human. His voice rose to a shriek. "Take me back to this hour — to this minute." He was alive now, but oh! the agony of that revival! Ah, that fierce, deadly grip on his shoulder! A score of cruel, sharp points were entering his flesh and crushing his loins as in a steel trap! What was that awful wrenching tug at his foot? "Ah, mercy! mercy!"

The first officer reported to the captain:

"I had been talking to Mr. Chadwick till he finished his cigar. I noticed Mr. Cartwright — he was lying in a deck-chair, I thought asleep. Before turning in finally, I made the round of the decks, after Mr. Chadwick had gone. When I came back Mr. Cartwright was still there, and, as I thought he might get a chill if he slept in the open air, I was going to awake him.

"As I got close to him, I found that he was talking in his sleep very excitedly. I was just about to rouse him when he sprang out of his chair with a most dreadful shriek for mercy and before I could stop him he had rushed to the side and jumped overboard. I snatched up a coil of rope and ran to the place, but I was too late. It would almost seem as if the sharks had been waiting for him There were three of them."

And he turned away and put his hand over his eyes.

The man who always follows the dictation of his conscience must have pretty sharp ears.

R. L. BORDEN

The history-in-a-nut-shell of Canada's new Premier is worth placing before the public at the present time when the press of the country is confining its attention more to the happenings of recent days, and to forecasting with more or less foundation the probabilities of his immediate future.

Born on June 26 1854 at Grand Pre, the son of Andrew Borden and Eunice Laird, the future premier had his early education at Acadia Villa Academy, Horton; was subsequently professor in Glenwood Institute, on return to Nova Scotia he studied law and in 1878 was admitted to the bar.

ROBERT LAIRD BORDEN
Canada's New Premier

became head of the law firm of Borden, Ritchie and Chisholm, Halifax, and was for ten years president of the N. S. Barristers' Society; created Q. C. 1900; Hon. LL.D. (Queen's) 1903; Hon. LL.D. (St. Francois-Xavier (1905); elected to the H. of C. for Halifax 1896 and 1900; unsuccessful candidate for Halifax 1904; elected by acclamation for Carleton Ont., 1905, in place of Edward Kidd retired; re-elected by large majority at general election and also elected for Halifax; chosen leader of Conservative party in H. of C. 1901. Is a member of the Church of England, and as recreation has been known to fill in some idle moments at golf, cricket and fish chasing.

"ANDY" BRODER, of Dundas

Mr. Andrew Broder first saw the light of day at Franklin Centre, Que., on 18 April 1845, and was educated at Malone, N.B., and Huntingdon Academy, Que., subsequently transferring to the Dundas district where he has since continued to coax a fairly comfortable living from the land, being, indeed, recognised as one of the particularly intelligent members of that section of humanity which sticks by the original working programme of Father Adam of ancient and historic fame. With a natural business aptitude, full of the humor that never gives offence, sporting a delightful Irish brogue, and with that fondness for politics which is accredited to every second member of Erin's big family, Mr. Broder is one of the really popular men in his district, and indeed over many miles both near and far.

For a time he acted as Collector of Customs at Morrisburg, Ont., but resigned in 1896 to take a seat in the Commons where he has been noted as a speaker with few equals, quiet, but incisive in style with wonderfully appealing perorations. Mr. Broder is married and has three sons and one daughter.

As portraying one phase of a preeminently "straight" sample of the human family, — not too often met with — the story is worth re-telling of how Mr. Broder, on one occasion, set himself a very stiff task in order that only a clean name could be associated with his family. Some of Mr. Broder's relatives died and left debts. These debts preyed upon the mind of Andrew in his young days. "The name of Broder will be clean," he said to himself. "These debts will be paid." He sacrified everything to that end, the hard-earned pence which he managed to save brought down the debt but slowly. He could have made success for himself had the money which he paid away been utilized as capital with which to further his own progress, but Andrew put away the temptation from him, and in due time was able to point to a clean family slate.

Sir T. Crossley Rayner, Attorney-General of British Guiana, is one of the few white men who have ever seen Kaieteur Falls, which he declares the most beautiful and impressive in the world. "Kaieteur Falls are far inland in British Guiana," he told his interviewers on shipboard, "so far inland, in fact, that they are about 200 miles from civilisation. They are 870 feet in height and about 400 feet wide."

Have as little as possible to do with people you cannot trust: when on marshy ground tread lightly, and get over it as rapidly as you can.

If you sit down and allow your mind to dwell on the evil characteristics in your neighbors, you wilfully bring yourself to their level, and are associating from choice with the worst that you can find in them instead of dwelling with and assisting the good you may also find, and with less trouble.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. WRITE US for full information.

Jordan & Davis Company
NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

Real Estate, Mining and Industrial Investments

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $300, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFE-TIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Couldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 20 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days.

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

T. W. CROTHERS

Mr. Crothers only entered parliament in 1908, as representative of East Elgin, and for a young member has done some capital work in the interests of the country generally. A man of stern integrity, he has kept keen eye on the spending departments of the Government, and sleight-of-hand work was scarcely possible while the Elgin man was awake. Mr. Crothers is credited by expert judges of the siam to own a tongue with more acidity to it than even that of George E. Foster, when the duty of exposing wrong was to be done. Northport claims him as a birthchild and he practices law at St. Thomas, Ont.

T. W. CROTHERS,

An M.P. watchful of expenditure

Bells from the Pope.

The Campanile of St. Mark is nearly finished. The four gilded lions which Napoleon had brought to Paris, and which have been since taken back to Venice, are in their place, and the workmen are now beginning to pull down the scaffolding around the monument. The spire, however, has yet to be built, but it is hoped that in a few months it will be possible to place on the top of it the great gilded angel which is to dominate the Square of St. Mark. The official inauguration of the Campanile will take place next April. The present Pope, as Patriarch of Venice, was present at the commencement of the rebuilding, and as his heart always goes out to his beloved Venice, he presented a fine set of bells to the tower.

Clothes to Float You.

A remarkable demonstration was given the other day in the Spree, near Berlin, of a new fabric designed to make clothing so buoyant that it will keep its wearer afloat in the water The composition of the invention which brings about this result is a well-guarded secret. To don a garment lined with it is to become unsinkable. On the occasion in mention infantrymen, in full marching kit, clad in uniforms lined with the material, which rendered the clothing neither heavier nor thicker than usual, threw themselves into the water, and not only did not sink, but were able to "march" in the water and to fire. At the same time coffee was served to a party in the water, waiter and guests being clad in the special fabric.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 60,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

CURED QUICKLY BY 'NERVILINE'

No stronger proof of the wonderful merit of Nerviline could be produced than the letter of Miss Lucy Mosher, who for years has been a well-known resident of Windsor, N. S.

"I want to add my unsolicited testimonial to the efficacy of your wonderful liniment.

TESTIMONIAL NO. 3785

"Nerviline," I consider it the best remedy for a cold, sore throat, wheezing tightness in the chest, etc., and can state that for years our home has never been without Nerviline. I had a dreadful attack of cold, that settled on my chest, that fourteen different remedies couldn't break up. I rubbed on Nerviline three times a day, used Nerviline as a gargle, and was completely restored. I have induced dozens of my friends to use Nerviline, and they are all delighted with its wonderful power over pain and sickness.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., delivered an eloquent and exceedingly appropriate address to the Sunday school children and parents of All Saints' church yesterday afternoon, children's day.

New Factory for Port Hope.

Mr. N. B. Gould has offered the trustees of the Tin Factory $5000 for the building at the corner of Mill and Peter streets. Mr. Gould agrees to pay $500 per year for ten years, without interest, and wants remission of taxes, except school taxes. He does not state for what purpose he wants the building.

New Billiard Parlours.

Yeates Bros., proprietors of the Billiard and Pool parlours, 337 George street, are extending their premises, taking in the first floor above their present premises. The new room will be opened on October 26th.

Officers Elected.

St. Peter's Ladies' Literary Society are actively preparing an attractive and acceptable season's work. Miss L. Hurley has been re-elected president, and Mrs. Alfred Lehane is vice-president by acclamation. This evening the officers will be elected and the several committees appointed.

A Missionary Meeting.

Archdeacon Reinison, who is well acquainted with Indian missionary work, will address a meeting in St. John's school house on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be under the auspices of the missionary society of St. John's church, and should be largely attended. Archdeacon Reinison was one of the most interesting speakers at the recent meeting of the Anglican General Synod, held at London, Ont.

Beautiful Floral Tribute.

The Sunday School children of St. John's yesterday afternoon contributed a beautiful floral offering in commemoration of children's day. The flowers were arranged in the design of a huge cross, which was in evidence in the name of the sacred building last night, brilliantly illuminated by several incandescent lamps. This offering was an exceedingly graceful and appropriate one to the occasion.

Improvements at Little Lake Cemetery.

Next spring a $1000 brick veneer stable will be erected at the Little Lake cemetery. The building will be used both as a stable and drive shed, and the other sheds will be built adjoining it to take the place of those already on the grounds, which will be torn down and the ground graded and put in good condition.

Killed on the Railway.

Mr. J. Dixon, Bermondsey, London, England, brother-in-law of Mr. J. W. Bailey, this city, has met death on the East London Railway, the result of an unfortunate accident. The deceased leaves a widow and two children. Details are not yet to hand.

To Augment W.M.S.

The auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society in connection with George street Methodist Church is arranging for a crusade after new members, and confidently look forward to a successful campaign. This commendable society has done and is doing brilliant work in the cause of missions.

Father Phelan Leaving His Parish.

Rev. Father Phelan is leaving the Parish of Lakefield and Young's Point, where he has energetically labored the past ten years. Owing to ill-health the reverend gentleman will make a trip to the Southern States in the hope of being physically benefitted by the change of air and a well earned rest. His successor at the Northern parish will be Rev. Father John O'Brien, of Peterborough.

Having a Good Time.

The Ketchecum Lake Fishing Club are having an enjoyable outing, located near Westlake's Landing. The party is composed of the following gentlemen: Ald. Bradburn, Messrs. A. H. Stratton, John Belcher, Henderson Nesbitt, A. E. Peck, T. H. Hooper, Robt. Gibbs, Vincent Eastwood, Jack McCarthy, Herb. Stinson Wm. Boyd of Bobcaygeon, Edwards, of Lindsay, Robt. Munro, Robt. Stuart, Mr. Dobbie of the C.G.E., R. Denne and H. C. Winch.

A Splendid Season.

The Stoney Lake Navigation Co. has had a very prosperous season, as the result of splendid management and efficient service. It is rumored that an addition will be made to this company's staunch and comfortable line of boats next year. The fleet is now being thoroughly overhauled; the Empress has been treated to a coat of paint and some repairs have been made. The same treatment is to be accorded the Stoney Lake and a new boiler and engine may be installed in the Islanda.

Hotelmen to Fight.

The Hotelkeepers' Protective Association of the Province of Ontario, has formulated plans to resist further limitations of the hours in which liquor may be sold in licensed houses. It is understood that the hotelmen are preparing their forces also for any local option fights that may be brought on this year. It is said that Owen Sound will be again the scene of a hot contest as an appeal of the by-law in that town will again be tried for. So far as Peterborough is concerned, The Times is not aware that a further reduction of licenses will be asked for by the temperance people.

Big Christian Endeavour Rally.

On Monday evening next the Young People's Societies of this city will hold a union rally at St. Andrew's when Karl Lehmann, the interstate secretary of the C.E. Society of the United States, will address the meeting. Mr. Lehmann is a powerful advocate of "endeavor" work, and the coming event consequently promises to be very largely attended. Next Sunday morning Mr. Lehmann will preach in the Murray street Baptist church, and will occupy the pulpit at St. Andrew's in the evening.

Conservative Convention at Madoc.

A Conservative Convention is to be held in Madoc on Oct. 26th, for the purpose of selecting officers and selecting a candidate for the North riding in the next Provincial elections. The present representative Mr. J. W. Pearce, M.P.P., has announced his intention of retiring at the end of his term. Dr. Harper, Jno. McCoy, of Madoc, and Robt. Cook, of Rawdon, are being mentioned as aspirants and no doubt there are others.—Tweed News.

A Musical Treat.

Lovers of high class music will be offered a musical treat on the evening of Friday, October 20th, when Miss Grace Smith, the eminent pianist of London, England, and Mr. Frank Whitehouse, a talented violinist, will give a recital in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum, Simcoe street. This event will be under the auspices of the Musical Department of St. Mary's Convent. On this occasion the medals and testimonials of the Convent's music class will be presented.

Miss Grace Smith comes to Peterborough highly recommended by the leading English and Canadian press. She has frequently played under vice-regal patronage, when her fashionable audiences have been charmed by her methods.

Scientific Men Easily Gulled.

A singular storm has arisen among the physical directors in England. A middle-aged man confesses that he and a clever mesmerist perpetrated frauds 30 years ago in the presence of distinguished scientists and the proceedings of the first volume of the physical research society are based on deception. The reason of the young man's attempt was, it is stated, to prove that scientific men could easily be gulled when they were in search of a proof to substantiate a theory. But the author of the confessions admit that he and his colleague were deeply ashamed of what they were doing as soon as they found out the pleasant and earnest natures of the men whom they were deluding.

Spirited Team Runs Away.

A Smith farmer was driving a spirited team of horses down Water street at noon on Saturday, when the bridle fell off from one of the horses, resulting in the animals bolting. Two pedestrians narrowly escaped being run over and for a time it looked as though the runaway would result in disaster. On reaching the corner of Water and King streets, however, the uncontrolled dash of the frightened team was checked by the presence of mind and brave action of George Donaldson, who seized the bit of the nearest animal, and with the assistance of the driver, succeeded in bringing the horses to a standstill. Fortunately no damage was sustained by either horse, driver or rig, and unquestionably the plucky action of Mr. Donaldson averted disaster.

Eloquent Divine Coming.

The Sundays of October 29th and November 5th have been announced as the dedication festival days of St. John's church. On October 29th, Rev. Dr. Patterson Smith, of St. George's Cathedral, Montreal, will be present and preach the dedication festival sermon. This eloquent divine is well known throughout both England and Canada as a brilliant orator and author, and Rev. Canon Davidson is to be congratulated upon securing the attendance of so distinguished a member of the ecclesiastical world. Capacity congregations may be looked for on October 29th.

The Fund Growing.

The following additional subscriptions have been received for the Protestant Home Building Fund:

Mrs. R. Steadman	$5.00
Mr. B. Shortly	5.00
W. Allen	5.00
J. Nugent	5.00

PREPARING FOR WINTER.

Lindsay Hockey Enthusiasts May Arrange a Second Team.

The Lindsay Junior Midgets are already getting down to business and training will commence in the course of a few days. Manager Gamble intends to have the players in good trim by the time the first thin layer of ice appears on the rain barrel and with this end in view will have the players do various gymnasium stunts and exercise their long legs on the highways.

There is some talk of organizing an intermediate hockey team as well, but whether this plan will be carried out, is merely a conjecture. The following players are still available for intermediate hockey and they could be reinforced by several fast juniors if necessary: Peter Spratt, of the famous St. Michael's College seven; Bill Stoddard, of championship fame; Alf. Gamble, who figured on the junior team which landed the championship for Port Hope and on the Lindsay intermediate team as well; Frank Cote, of championship fame; Jos. Cane, Norton and others.

In connection with the foregoing, the Lindsay Post is authority for a denial that any attempt will be made to organize an intermediate team. Undivided attention will be devoted to the junior team.

WEDDING BELLS

WEDDING BELLS.

A quiet wedding was celebrated in St. Andrew's Manse, Saturday afternoon, at 3.30, when Mr. Herbert G. Withers and Miss Lillie Wright, both of this city, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. James Rollins, pastor of St. Andrew's church, was the officiating clergyman. The happy couple were attended by Miss Edith Theobald and Mr. Walter W. Withers. Mr. and Mrs. Withers will reside at 617 Bethune street.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Louis Yeates, of Yeates Bros., is in Toronto on business.

Miss Grace Campbell, of Chatham, is visiting with Miss Dollie Comstock.

Mr. Earl Doxsee of Norwood, has taken a position with B. F. Ackerman & Sons.

Mr. Mulholland, teller of the Bank of Toronto, leaves to-day for Shelbourne.

Mr. and Mrs. Heberden and child leave for New Glasgow, Nova Scotia to-day.

Miss Gertrude Heaslip, of Nestleton is the guest of Miss Maud Lindsay, 659 George street.

Mrs. W. A. Deremo, of this city, was the guest of Mrs. W. W. Bryans, of Havelock last week.

Miss Aimee Hill's friends will be delighted to hear that she is convalescent at Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. Roland Denne has returned home after spending a week with the Ketcheeum Lake Fishing Club, near Westlake's Landing.

Local Young Men In Exciting Runaway.

A mishap occurred outside the grounds of Alma street. A surrey containing four young men from Peterborough and as many women was leaving the grounds to go to Hastings, when the horses became frightened and a strap broke and let the end of the neckyoke fall. The frightened steeds ran down the street at a rapid pace, and at the corner of Queen street, the vehicle was overturned and the occupants thrown out. One of the women was rendered unconscious by the fall, and for a time it was thought had sustained some serious injury. Drs. Ford, Pettigrew and Sutton were hurried to the scene in Mr. W. A. Richardson's automobile which was a short distance ahead, but upon examination it was found that the woman was only slightly injured. In the upset several bottles of liquor rolled out of the rig. The liquor was taken in charge by Constable Johnston and afterwards the men were also taken in charge by the officer but were afterwards liberated after depositing what cash they possessed with the authorities and promising to appear when wanted. The vehicle and harness suffered considerable damage in the upset and the horses were cut by falling on the pavement. The steeds after getting free of the vehicle, ran along Queen street and down the Hastings road, but were caught by some parties near Mr. John Doherty's residence—Norwood Register.

THE MILK BY-LAW.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Mr. John Carlisle is certainly doing good work in fighting the proposed milk trust—for that is surely what it means. The whole thing is wrong. I firmly believe that the present system is much better from a sanitary point of view than the proposed bottle system.

A better plan would be to license all milk vendors, and regularly inspect their premises. This might be done with but little cost to the city. At all events, the proposed change must not be made, as it is clear that few ratepayers favor it.

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was greatly pleased to see that Ald. Edgar has taken action in regard to government by commission. It is a long step in the right direction, and while the move which Mr. Edgar is making may not be immediately successful, it will start people thinking and talking, and the more they think and talk the greater the force will be created in favor of the plan. By placing the affairs of the city in the hands of three or four business men of ability and of unimpeachable integrity, who will run it as a business proposition pure and simple, the sooner will we get lower taxes and better conditions.

I think the ratepayers are to be congratulated on having a man of Mr. Edgar's ability to take this up and fight it through.

SCHOOLS ARE NECESSARY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice that some few persons are objecting to the erection of additional schools in the city. These writers say we cannot afford it. What? Cannot afford to provide schools for our children? Surely no one is so belated as to seriously propose such a thing. I think the greatest care should be taken in the erection of buildings, that they should be built for use more than for ornament. Large square buildings, with plenty of space in them for future growth, is what we need.

Ratepayer.

THE SEWER WORK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice the Council is having some trouble in having Mr. Bartlett start in on the sewer work. It seems to me the duty of the Council is quite plain. There should be implicit obedience demanded of the servants of the corporation. Where this cannot be secured discipline is at an end.

PUBLIC LIBRARY MUCH APPRECIATED.

Its Present Membership is 2200—Quietness and Order Prevails.

That the work of providing a handsome, commodious and well equipped public library is meeting with the appreciation of this community is evidenced by the rapid and almost phenomenal growth in membership since its inception. In February of this year, when the new building was opened, there were but 150 names on the books, whereas up to Saturday evening last the membership has increased to 2200, involving the handing out by the efficient staff of some 31,000 volumes. This public institution is exceedingly well ordered and the public efficiently served. Many new and desirable works are being added by the acceptable board of directors, who are thoroughly representative and conversant with the requirements of the varied classes of readers resident here. Apart from the circulating advantages offered by this commendable institution, its bright and cheerful reading and reference departments offer quiet rest for those seeking an hour or two's profitable recreation amid instructive companions—"high class authors and magazines." The exchange of books is effected in that quiet manner which reflects considerable credit not only upon the reading public but also upon the officials in charge.

SPORTS

Locals Lost Game on Saturday.

The Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. team defeated the local Wes Und fourteen on Saturday by a score of 22—0. While the play lasted the game was fairly fast, but the constant interruptions made by players being injured, made it considerably slower than it should have been. The game was lost by the poor condition of our men who had the signals down well, but whose tackling and passing was poor. For the locals, Denison, Hill, Minorgan, Thompson and Langley played fast games. For the Toronto Centrals, Ramsay, Duke and Bannerman did effective work. Unless the locals get into the game and beat the Centrals in Toronto they will be out of the running.

New Rink for Trinity College School.

Mr. L. E. Hall, has been awarded the contract for the new covered rink at the Trinity College School, says the Port Hope Guide. It will be fitted out with dressing rooms

Collins' error gave the Giants their bath and lavatories and a gallery will extend around the entire building. The floor of the rink will be made of cinders and tarvia and an up-to-date steam heating system will be installed.

NEW YORK WON.

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 14—The Giants won the first game of the world series from the Athletics today by 2 to 1, after a pitchers' battle between Matthewson and Bender. Both twirlers pitched superbly, but the great New Yorker was steadier first run, while the New Yorkers played gilt-edged ball behind "Mattie."

The feature fielding stunt was contributed by Merkle in the fifth, when he fielded Collins' slow hit ball and made a diving tag to get the runner at first, thereby cutting off two sure runs for the Athletics.

After the game, bets were offered at even money and 6to 5 that New York would win the series.

The game played on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition grounds, between St. James' and Park Street was keenly contested, and drew a large number of spectators.

From the outset the play was very even, and at no time did one team overshadow the other. Towards the end of the second half great excitement prevailed. At that time the score stood 1—0 in favor of St. James (goal scored by Tart) when a beautiful shot from Williams of Park street, went home and the score was equalled. Subsequently to this the game became somewhat heated and great excitement prevailed.

Simonite of St. James' rushed up the field with the ball, and Jackson, who received it, found the goal with a magnificent shot, and the game resulted in a win for St. James' by two goals to one.

VOL XXXIV NO 240 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

MR. G. N. GORDON MAY BE CHOSEN

The Times Has Been So Informed by Prominent Liberals

A POPULAR CHOICE

Mr. Gordon's Friends Think He Has All the Qualities for a Successful Politician—A Good Speaker, and Has any Amount of Energy.

The article which appeared in The Times of last Saturday in regard to Hon. J. R. Stratton, has attracted considerable attention. At a meeting of the Liberals held on Saturday evening last, Mr. Stratton said in part: "In regard to the Liberal candidature, The Times had been good enough to suggest that he (Mr. Stratton) should again contest the constituency and again take a seat in the Legislature. He observed that the Evening Review rather feared that he would undertake this proposal, and had already commenced to resume its old tactics of personal criticism that had been practiced for the past twenty-five years. But he had no such intention, as was suggested by his friends of the press. There was plenty of Liberal material for good candidates, in West Peterborough, said Mr. Stratton and that he felt now, as he had felt before the last election, that some of these gentlemen should be selected for nomination."

This means that Hon. Mr. Stratton will not be a candidate, and that some one else will have to be chosen as the party's standard bearer. In this connection The Times has been advised that the choice will probably fall on Mr. G. N. Gordon, the well-known barrister. Mr. Gordon is the secretary of the West Peterborough Liberal Association. He has been a resident of Peterborough some six or seven years, and during that time has become one of the best known men in the county. As a progressive, active politician, having the confidence of his party and well and favorably known among Conservatives, we believe that he would make an excellent run if he is the nominee of the Liberal party for the Local Legislature. However, he would require to uncompromisingly stand upon that platform we have been told that he favors, namely, the abolition of bi-lingual schools.

A young man of Mr. Gordon's energy and organizing ability would give the Liberals of West Peterborough a fair chance of success, and at the same time he would be a man upon whom the whole party would probably unite to support. There is no doubt that at the present time there is an exceptionally good opportunity given for a young, aggressive member of Liberal leanings, from this part of the Province, to make good in the local Legislature, and we do not know of any person who would investigate things more carefully and at the same time deal with his opponents more fairly than Mr. Gordon, who has so successfully and quickly become one of the best known public men in this part of the Province.

While The Times does not say that Mr. Gordon is the only man to be considered by the Peterborough Liberals in this contest we believe he is regarded as a good, square, fair fighter, who has made a name for himself professionally during the time he has lived in Peterborough, and has also a very large number of friends in both political parties, and we believe that being the active, strong campaigner that he is, that he could put up a first-class fight with fair chances of success, provided he incorporated in his platform hostility to bi-lingualism and stood for equal rights with special privileges for no church or creed.

PROFESSOR FERNOW VISITS PETERBOROUGH

Prof. Fernow, perhaps the most eminent forestry expert in the world, left yesterday for Toronto after completing a 200-mile trip through the northern part of Peterborough County, and into Haliburton to the head waters of the River Otonabee. The trip was undertaken by request of Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., who is anxious that something shall be done to reclaim extensive stretches of the country to the north rapidly becoming a useless waste. The question of water conservation is also involved. The party went up the Burnt River side and returned by the Gull River side, following those waters to where they join Balsam Lake at Coboconk. Mr. Burnham and Superintendent McClellan, of the T.V.C., escorted Prof. Fernow. The party journey by motor, by boat and on foot. They first motored to Buckhorn, then up the Cavendish road, then back to the Harvey road, then across the Kinmount road, and then with occasional inspections of the country, to Kinmount to which they returned for the night, after a side trip in to White Lake on the Cavendish and Snowden boundaries. The next morning at seven o'clock, the party started for the upper waters, the Burnt River being on the right. It rises, properly speaking, at Kosh Lake and Devil's Lake. The other main source of water supply from the height of land, viz., Gull River, flows farther west but in a parallel direction to Burnt River. It rises in 12-mile Lake and flowing through Moore, Gull Mountain and Horseshoe Lakes (a forty foot fall here) reaches Balsam Lake at Cobocook, while the Burnt River flows into Cameron Lake farther east. Numerous smaller streams flow into these two lakes also. But some of this upper water has to supply the canal to the west and the power house at Kirkfield. This water is drawn off in the opposite direction to that in which it formerly flows going ultimately into Lake Simcoe. This trip into Northern Peterborough and Haliburton may perhaps be properly called a forester's first reconnaissance or bird's eye view, to determine what ought to be done with large portions of the public lands in such a country, whether to rescue or to abandon them. To abandon them to fire and sterility is ultimately to drive out the settler, to depopulate the "back country" and to deprive Peterborough and Lindsay of a source of revenue. The country will not rescue itself. It would take 5000 years for it to crawl back to a state of nature. It would take not more than 60 years however, if the Government took up the work on its own lands and bought out those of the settlers also, which are otherwise quite useless and hopeless. In Galway over three-quarters of the land of the township is not assessed to anyone. It has been left worthless after lumbering has gone out of commission altogether. In Harvey there are thousands of acres in the same state. Mr. Burnham's idea is that the Governments should co-operate with each other in helping to reclaim this land and that the National Conservation Commission should take the matter up also and acquire lands and assist in reclaiming them. In Germany, forestry and reclamation is as much a branch of government as finance or public works, and what is it but public works? There are in addition to the general scheme of reclamation, small patches of struggling second growth pine that ought to be conserved. But what will happen to them if left to their fate as usual? They will be swept away again by fire along with the aspen and birch and the soil. The whole matter is one of farming. Are farms to be tilled farmed dry and then left to become weeds and sand dunes and a pray to flames? This fate of sterility is overtaking many a township at the front. The back is going the same way. Prof. Fernow will report upon his visit and Mr. Burnham will bring the report before both Governments. If our water also and water-powers are to be maintained in proper quantities, something must be done to protect them. Ten years growth would very greatly help the water sources and land moisture. Fifty years would restore the land and the woods, except where the soil is burned off. The "back country" may with care and forestry, again be the scene of industry and value, but not if neglected and despised as at present. Let our newspapers support the movement and then the Governments will have to do something. They will have to adopt the enlightened policies of other countries in this respect. In no other way can the vast reaches of our back country be made again to contribute to the general prosperity of the townships, the counties, the province and the Dominion. Peterborough county is worse in this respect than Victoria. Haliburton is picturesque, but the decise growth of woods there is nearly valueless. Forest weeds are the same as farm weeds. As well expect a farm to sow its own wheat and oats as a forest to reproduce itself. The streams and lakes are in most cases but poorly stocked with fish. With this attended to and a good healthy growth of pine, cedar, etc., begun over the entire face of the land, where possible, it would become at once a sportsman's paradise and an immediate source of revenue to the settlers and of supply to the cities, and with a future before it. As Prof. Fernow quietly remarked, "This forlorn condition of sterility and abandonment could not happen in Germany." Slash and fire have done their work and Governments must now do their best to remedy it.

A FLEET OF AEROPLANE SCOUTS LAND AT TRIPOLI

Rome, Oct. 16 (via Frontier)—The last contingent of the Italian army expedition arrived off Tripoli during last night. The troops were not landed as they are destined to provide garrisons along the coast, particularly at Benzai and Derna.

The aviation corps was landed and to-day was occupied in constructing sheds for aeroplanes. When this is finished, the machines will be put together and the work of exploring the position of the Turks will be begun.

STREET RAILWAY CO. PERFECTING PLANS TO EXTEND LINE TO BYERSVILLE

MR. MUNRO MEETS BOARD OF WORKS ON THIS QUESTION

A Slight Difference Between Board and the Company as to Exact Route of Extension. Mr. Munro is Looking Forward to a Thickly Populated District at Southerly City Limits—This Move Will Be a Popular One.

Mr. Munro, manager for the Peterborough Radial Railway Company, has prepared plans for the extension of their lines from Park street to Byersville, and submitted the proposition to the Board of Works last evening. It is proposed to extend from the present terminus at Park street to Lafayette avenue, thence to Chamberlain street and on to the Monaghan road, north of the C.P.R. near Romaine street. Mr. Munro offered that as Chamberlain street from Lafayette avenue to near Monaghan road is below grade it would have to be raised up to the level of the tracks to avoid an embankment upon which the railway would run. He proposed drawing gravel from the city's gravel pit, north Water street, with which to level the company's road bed, and offered to draw the gravel for the corporation's grading requirements on Chamberlain street, the corporation to load and unload their own cars. The railway company will supply the gravel for their roadbed.

The City Engineer objected to the proposed route and reported an alternative one along Albert street to Alfred street instead of to Lafayette avenue, and thus avoid the bad portion of Chamberlain street, which surface is all sand and would require to be raised from 6 to 10 inches. Apart from this, no sewer has as yet been provided for on Chamberlain street. Then Lafayette avenue is, he offered, too narrow for a street railway, being but 26 feet wide between the curbs.

Mr. Munro replied that the company were a unit on the route he proposed, as they wished to get as far south as possible to serve efficiently an area that is bound to become thickly populated. They contemplate a series of parallel lines from Park street to Monaghan road.

The Board endorsed the Engineer's alternative proposition that the extension run along Albert to Alfred street—a 66 foot thoroughfare with grade established and manholes and sewers provided for. This would avoid the very considerable expense of raising the grade of Chamberlain street up to the tracks and would, they offered, serve the interests of citizens as well as the other route via Lafayette avenue.

Mr. Munro could not agree with the Board in this, but will bring the matter up again before his company's Board of Directors.

USING BLACK HAND TACTICS

There is evidently a pretty bad bunch of boys in the south end. In addition to breaking into various places and stealing money and committing other depredations, the lads have, according to their own admission, been working the Black Hand game. It appears that Mr. and Mrs. Philox Kearney, 63 Olive avenue, on the morning of Wednesday 11th, received a letter demanding that $400 be left in front of the door that evening. The letter was discovered by a member of the family, stuck in the screen door. The letter was signed "J. G. Barrie, Montreal," and contained in a good business hand on ordinary letter paper, the following:

"If you do not leave $400.00 in front of your door to-night, we will blow out your brains in a short while.

"(Signed) J. G. Barrie,
"Montreal."

It appears the letter had been left at the house on Tuesday night and the following night they were afraid to stay in the house, and spent the night at a neighbors. Next night, they having notified the police department, they slept at the house, which was guarded by a police officer. They remained at the house, but according to Mrs. Kearney's story, they got very little sleep.

Although the police watched the place, nobody came to do any damage, but a revelation took place at the police station, when the six boys charged with committing petty robbery in the south ward, admitted doing the trick. The boy will face this charge along with the other charges laid.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

$775 WANTED FOR LAYING PIPE AND FILLING DITCH AT SOUTH CITY

BUT BOARD OF WORKS IS OUT OF FUNDS.

Isolation Hospital Board Will Spend $700 in Improving Grounds at The Hospital—Contend that Sick People Require Bright and Cheerful Surroundings.

At the meeting of the Board of Works last night, the City Engineer reported on the cost of laying pipe and filling in the ditch on West side of Park street from the C.P.R. to Lake street as follows: the ditch is from 10 to 15 feet wide and 4 to 5 feet deep; it would require 15 inch pipe and 1000 yards of filling material for a length of 640 feet. Six catch basins and 2 cross drains of 8 inch pipe would be needed. This work which would be of considerable value to adjoining property could be done at a cost of $775. The Board is short of funds, hence the report was sidetracked.

HOSPITAL GROUNDS.

His Worship reported for the Isolation Hospital Board that laying out the grounds of the Isolation Hospital, planting shrubs, etc. so as to convert them into an acceptable and cheerful appearance, would cost $700. The Board was anxious to securing Council's endorsement of this work before proceeding with it. The Board of Works readily fell into line and acquiesced in the proposition. They will so recommend to Council on Wednesday evening.

St. Andrew's Church Notes.

The Young People's Association of St. Andrew's church met last night and there was a large and encouraging attendance. The Association had intended entertaining the Normal School students and young ladies of the Y.W.C.A., as well as the young people of the congregation on Friday evening, but owing to St. Paul's Y.P.A. having arranged to entertain the Normal students the same evening, St. Andrew's Y.P.A. have postponed their evening until Friday, November 3rd. On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the minister will deliver his lecture "A Prince of the Sea." Miss Chalmers will render a number of vocal solos and Mr. Herbert C. Kinnear will render an organ solo. The lecture is under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, the regular mid-week prayer service.

On Thursday evening every member of the choir is requested to turn out to practice as special music for Thanksgiving will be rehearsed.

Cholera Among Troops.

Malta, Oct. 14.—It is reported that several cases of cholera have developed among the soldiers taking part in the Italian expedition to Tripoli. The stricken men have been isolated and other energetic measures adopted to prevent a spread of the disease.

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by all dealers.

G.T.R. WILL PAY HALF COST OF NEW CULVERT AT CONCESSION ST. SOUTH

WORK TO BE A SUBSTANTIAL ONE OF CONCRETE.

The Board of Works Met Last Night—Will Probably Be No Street Paving Done This Year—Not One Tender for the Two Sections Advertised—A City Contractor Cannot Undertake the Work This Season, But Would Next Spring.

The City Board of Works met at 7.30 last evening. There were present Mayor Morrow, Chairman Ald. Metheral, Aldermen Duncan, Anderson, Kerneghan, Morgan, Buller and Graham.

The matter of securing bells and relays for the alarm system connected with the pumping station was left in the hands of the chairman with power to act.

In regard to the paving of Chambers street and a section of Hunter street west, only one reply to the city's invitation for tenders for this work was to hand, which came from Mr. W. H. Lytle, of this city, who while submitting no tender, wrote that he would be pleased to undertake the contract next spring. It would be impossible for him to consider the matter this season.

Committee decided that the chairman write Mr. Reid of the Windsor Pavement Co. and ascertain if he would undertake these sections of pavement laying this year, and under what guarantee.

Jas. Brodie, of Granville, Quebec, wrote, offering 18 or 20 thousand Stoney Lake Cement Brick, now at Lakefield, similar to those laid at the Sacred Heart church, for $1.65 per square yard. This proposition was not accepted.

City Engineer Hay reported that the diversion of the Monaghan road by the C.P.R. is not satisfactory. The road at this point is only 24 feet wide, which the Engineer contended is too narrow for so extensively travelled thoroughfare. This could be improved, he said by the company moving their railing 15 feet. He also advised that the embankment should be cribbed, and road fenced, otherwise the whole extension would prove a danger spot for equestrians. Engineer Hay further complained that poor timber had been used in constructing the road culvert, and he characterized the whole work as having been done in a cheap and hurried manner, suitable only for a farm crossing.

The C.P.R. authorities will be advised of this matter, and will no doubt make the diversion satisfactory to all requirements.

A CONCRETE CULVERT.

The G.T.R. wrote that they would bear half the expense of constructing a new culvert on Concession street south, providing it is renewed in concrete, which would cost $775 and the work done under the supervision of the company's engineer—This proposition was on motion of Ald. Anderson accepted.

IT WILL COST $96 A YEAR TO LIGHT SMITH ST. BRIDGE

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE IN SESSION.

Chairman Will Arrange for Installing a Number of Additional Street Lights—Man Needed to Take Charge of Fire Hall in Absence of Brigade.

The Fire Water and Light Committee met last night, there were present Mayor Morrow, Chairman Ald. Morgan, Aldermen Kerneghan, Graham, and Metheral.

The alarm bell will be removed from ex-assist.-chief Grange's house and placed in that of his successor—Time it was!

Chief Howard reported that Arch. McDonald (substitute) had made good and recommended his permanent appointment. On motion of Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Kerneghan, this appointment was made.

MORE LIGHTS.

The placing of the following street lights was left in the chairman's hands: On Aylmer, from Princess to Lansdowne; from Aylmer to Park on Lansdowne; on Pearl avenue; at the corner of Princess and Park; on Aylmer, north of Smith, and two incandescent lamps on Elm street.

COST OF LIGHTING SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

The lighting of Smith street bridge will cost $96 a year. An account of $30 and a few cents for this service was passed.

Chairman Ald. Morgan will interview Chief Howard on the question of permanently appointing a man to take charge of the fire hall while the brigade are out at a fire. The idea is to secure services of some person handy to the hall who can drop in when an alarm is rung.

The Treasurer was authorized to deduct from the street lighting account at a pro rata charge for lamps not burning at night.

DOCTORS CONDEMN OILY LINIMENTS

The Public Are Warned to be Careful of These Strong-Smelling Oily Liniments Containing Harmful Acids, Ammonia, Etc.

Many people have clung to the old-fashioned idea that a thick, greasy liniment is the best kind. Doctors say not—and they know.

Recently a number of these white, oily liniments were analyzed, and they were found to contain an enormously high percentage of harmful acids, and such irritating chemicals as ammonia, etc. For the moment they may cause a warm sensation when first applied, but their continued use never cures rheumatism, and only deteriorates the skin, sets up inflammation and causes endless trouble.

When a doctor warns you to quit using a white, oily liniment—do so. He knows that a thick liniment can't penetrate, can't sink through the pores and reach the seat of the pain.

When asked his opinion a few days ago, Dr. Roberts stated that he considered a strong, penetrating, pain-subduing liniment, such as "Nerviline," to be superior to any of the white ammonia liniments. In his twenty-five years of practice he had witnessed cases of rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago that simply would not respond to ordinary treatment—but Nerviline cured them. The same physician also spoke of the great advantages of keeping a preparation like Nerviline in the house always, because of cramps, diarrhoea, stomach disorders, earache, toothache, headache and such minor ailments. Nerviline is a first-class cure. There is scarcely an ache or a pain, internal or external, that Nerviline won't cure. In thousands of homes no other pain-relieving medicine is used. Fifty years' continued success and the endorsement of the profession are proof that Nerviline is the liniment for the home.

Any good druggist or dealer can supply large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c.

PARTY OF SIXTY MEN ORGANIZED

Parry Sound, Ont., Oct. 16.—Detective Markle and Boyd returned yesterday from Dillonsport after dynamiting the river, into which it is thought Violet Smith, the missing teacher may have fallen. They left here on Saturday at one o'clock with two men in a gasoline launch taking along a liberal supply of dynamite. Upon arriving at 3.30 they immediately began dynamiting putting in 20 shots at various intervals before midnight. At each explosion the river bed was disturned for considerable distance, the water being hurled as high as 15 feet.

There was no trace of the missing girl, however, and the party returned to Parry Sound. It was reported here yesterday and also this morning that the girl's body had been found in the bush to the rear of her boarding house and that she had been shot. These rumors, however were mere street gossip, having no foundation in fact. Neither the Crown Attorney, detectives or any other authority had heard of it, and moreover, there had been no message from Dillonsport. The understanding is that should the body be found a messenger will be at once despatched on the 25 miles to Parry Sound to notify the Crown Attorney and Coroner.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industtial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be secured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our [illegible] is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

OUR CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

"A most potent force the world ever for wholesome companionship is the Sunday-school. If that institution, aside from its spiritual aspect, means anything humanly, it lies in its manifest intention to bring those of strong moral inclinations together for a common cause of the good.

"Financiers, commercial interests, even the farmers in the fields, study the associates of those they employ. Having important interests to intrust to subordinates it is necessary for them to know the habits and the company of those they trust. This is only a new proof of the old saying that the company one keeps marks his character.

"The Sunday-school lends its influence to the side of wholesome associates. It is an intellectual as well as spiritual force, building for moral character and strengthening the activity of the mind. Young and old, of wholesome, vigorous thought, are brought together in an unselfish work — a pure work for pure ends."

Not Your Own Face

"My boy," said a wise father who knew how to play and be a "chum" with his twelve-year-old lad, "my boy, you do not own your own face." The boy looked puzzled. He had come to the breakfast table with a frowning, clouded countenance, and had started moodily to eat his food. Everybody felt the shadow of his ill spirits, evident in his books. His father's unexpected words brought him back to life, and he looked up with a half-guilty expression, but did not understand what was meant. "You do not own your face," his father repeated. "Do not forget that it belongs to other people. They, not you, have to look at it. You have no right to compel them to look at a sour, gloomy and crabbed face."

Shoe Shops of Japan.

Writing about the shops of Japan a visitor to that country says that the typical shoe store makes a strange impression on the foreign visitor. "All the footwear of the little brown men are here in view. The funny wooden clogs and straw sandals are indeed a fanciful exhibition. They line the benches the floors, the shelves. They hang from above, and seemingly are everywhere, allowing the seller just about enough room to squat on his mat. The newcomer is at once startled at the immense quantity of this simple footwear and the many places where it is sold, but he soon finds a solution to his query when he hears that a Japanese man annually makes away with from eight to ten pairs."

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel of duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Pittsburgh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with tea fields which make them very beautiful."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

A FOUNDER STORY.

During a campaign which he conducted in the Maritime Provinces, the late Hon. A. G. Blair saw how strongly the party idea in politics takes hold.

Mr. Blair stopped overnight at the house of a Baptist minister.

"We'll have a word of prayer before retiring," said the minister, who thereupon offered a prayer that was both long and prosy.

When Mr. Blair had almost gone to sleep on his knees, the minister started praying concerning the elections. He called down anthemas on the Conservatives for their corrupt practices. Then he made a naive appeal to heaven for condemnation of the Opposition, and asked pardon for the Liberals if they should find it necessary to "fight the devil with fire."

Employs Only One-Legged Men.

Loss of a leg is essential to a job with a Chicago firm. All but two of its 102 employes in the factory and in the branch offices wear one or two artificial lower limbs, and the employes leave their work to show the newly fitted patients how well they can walk, run, and jump with the artificial article. Makers doubt if there ever was such a thing as a "cork leg" — in which cork entered in any considerable extent into the making of the limb. Some of them claim that the name was derived from one Cork who made artificial legs early in the last century in New York. In the present day they are manufactured from English willow, covered with a thin parchment of enamel, or of wood and leather.

CHINESE WAYS STILL CURIOUS

In Addition to Ways that Dark and Tricky that are Vain, the Heathen Chinee is Still Otherwise Peculiar.

China is the land the cities of which have no lights, no plan, no sewers, and no sidewalks. Her people have no public spirit, no patriotism, no ideas, no national feeling, and no secrets.

Notwithstanding all these anomalies, every Province, every city, every hamlet is districted, and in the hamlets some respected citizen is recognized as head man. He is held responsible for its good conduct. If any crime is committed he is held till the culprit is found.

In a land where there are few secrets, and where these head men are very close to the people, the guilty seldom escape. Numberless cases of social troubles and dispute are, through this arrangement, never brought to the courts, but are settled among themselves.

The scholars rule China to-day. Dress is of more moment there than in any other country, yet the scholar although poor and meanly dressed, is received with honor by the highest in the land.

"The superior man" of the classics is the equivalent of the "good man" with us.

In contradiction to the popular idea of dignity, however, the superior man will play battledore and shuttlecock with his feet and fly kites, while the boys, like old men, stand sedately by and look on. This he does as a method of instruction, and to show the children how the superior man can relax when his high purpose is to entertain and educate the young.

To the Chinese the foreigner is a boor and a barbarian. It seems a hopeless task to teach him politeness.

CAN'T DANCE THE HORNPIPE

Traditional Dance Gone Out of Active Service with the Fiddler and Piper who Used to Provide Sea-Going Music.

The following story recently appeared in Truth, contributed by "a service correspondent":

"A ship was at a certain port, where an entertainment in aid of a deserving cause was being organized, and a lady who was helping in this suggested that a real sailor's hornpipe danced by a bluejacket would be a novel attraction. The officer promptly volunteered to find her twenty performers. But his confidence received a mild shock when, after exhaustive enquiry, he discovered that only one man of the whole ship's company could dance the hornpipe at all, and he a steward, who had to be rigged out in bluejacket's kit in order to save the reputation of the ship."

This anecdote is held to illustrate the decay of traditional naval customs, but the decay is not of this century and it is a doubtful question whether sailors have been adepts at this dance for many years past. It appears to have gone out of use with fiddlers and bagpipes, which once formed the music on board ship after trumpetery disappeared. Far from having a nautical origin, the so-called "sailor's hornpipe" seems to have come from the shore, and even its name has a ring of flocks and herds rather than of tar and oakum. The general knowledge of this institution of the forecastle is almost wholly summed up by the definition given in the Shipping Encyclopaedia, which says that the hornpipe was formerly the name of a musical instrument which became obsolete, when its name was "appropriated for a jig-like dance, common among stations." But while the hornpipe is no longer a general feature of life on board ship, the bluejacket cannot be said to have lost his lightness of foot, and there are some ships which still carry a fiddler, or even a piper, for their musician.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

COL. WILLIAM WOOD

Col. Wood, prominent among the authors of the Dominion, a resident of Quebec, is Canadian born of British-French-American descent, and was educated in England and Germany. Specialising chiefly on the Canadian part of our Imperial history and defence, the Colonel has contributed many interesting and instructive articles bearing on the subject, with perhaps a slightly stronger inclination towards matters pertaining to the naval section.

The first work published from his pen was in 1904 "The Fight for

COL. W. WOOD,
A noted Canadian Litterateur

Canada", which ran through three editions in England, one in Canada and one in Australia, and was the earliest occasion on which was introduced the exceedingly important naval element into the history of the Conquest of Canada. These facts are entirely based on original documents nothing being taken from books or any other secondary sources of information, and his point of view is now generally accepted by all writers on the subject.

Col. Wood's second book was "The Logs of the Conquest of Canada" in 1909, which gives a selection from the logs of the men-of-war that comprised the three great British fleets at Louisburg in 1758, Quebec in 1759, and Montreal in 1760. There is an elaborate introduction, dealing with the naval history of the Seven Years War, and facsimiles of the original charts by the celebrated Captain Cook are reproduced on the original scale. This is the first book on Canadian naval history ever written, and the first, except "The Fight for Canada", to take any real notice of the immense mass of naval evidence on the subject. Both books, and more "especially "The Fight for Canada," are written so as to appeal to the interested general public, though both are used by naval and military experts.

The Colonel is also the author of other works on the Conquest, of a more professedly popular kind. He has contributed a long chapter on the subject to the great new "History of the Dominion and its Provinces" in 12 volumes, the publication of which is to begin in 1912, and has written the lives of "Wolfe and Montcalm" for "The Chronicles of Canada", a publication which will be in the hands of the public towards the end of the present year. The chapters on the American invasion of 1775 and the War of 1812 in the new "History of the Dominion" are also from his pen; and he is now editing, for publication in the summer of 1912, three volumes of hitherto unpublished and mostly unknown original documents on the War of 1812, with a full introduction.

But Colonel Wood has other themes than the history of Canadian wars. He has for a long been a collector and student of French-Canadian folksongs. His first publication was a monograph on these. He is also in close touch with the inner life of the Province of Quebec in general. The Publishers Press Ltd., Montreal, will issue from his pen a book called "In the Heart of Old Canada" which comprises all the chief studies he has made of the "habitant" at home, of the Ursulines, of folksong and poetry (he is the author of the article on French-Canadian literature in the new Encyclopoedia Britannica) and many other things, such as the unknown story of the fortifications of Quebec, the true version of the tale of Wolfe and Gray's Elegy, the different Royal visits to Quebec, etc.

But the second book of his, which Publishers Press are bringing out next spring, is perhaps as near the author's heart as any of the foregoing. Under title of "Alouette" he is collecting what he has written on canoeing and yachting trips down the Lower St. Lawrence, as far as Labrador. He is a devoted lover of all animals, and the final chapter will contain the gist of his monograph on Animal Sanctuaries, which the Commission of Conservation are publishing for distribution throughout the sporting, tourist and scientific world. But the human element is even stronger.

Amongst other positions of public honor held by Col. Wood were:—President of the English Section of the Royal Society of Canada in 1908-9; vice-president of the Quebec Tercentenary in 1908, and Commanding Officer of the 8th Royal Rifles, Canadian Militia 1907-10.

Just Waiting

'Yes, mum,' said Poetic Pete, as he twined an autumn leaf through his buttonhole. 'I am a great lover of the romantic. I stopped at dis gate because I saw de sign: "Idlewood."'

'You did?' approved the housewife. 'Well, there is a lot of idle wood down at the woodpile. Just take this axe and split up half a cord.'

A SOLDIER'S PROPHECY.

Not since the Boer war has the German press manifested such a bitter vindictive spirit against Britain as during the last few weeks—ever since the speeches of Premier Asquith and Lloyd George, conveying warnings to the German war party that the British government would support France in her resistance to Germany's high-handed course in Morocco. German newspapers which are usually very cautious in their political utterances have recently been frankly hostile to Britain. "The enemy with which we have to reckon," says the Cologne Gazette, "is not France. The enemy is across the North Sea." This is a specimen utterance. It is clear that the present outbreak of Anglophobist sentiment is going to be utilized by the war party to obtain public sanction to the policy of enlarging and accelerating the German program of naval construction.

All this lends special interest to a prophecy made by General ("Chinese") Gordon nearly thirty years ago. That famous hero and saint, writing to a friend, J. R. Purdy, F. R. G. S. in June, 1882, made the following prediction:

So far as England is concerned, she need not for the next quarter of a century be under any apprehension of serious difficulties arising with any of her European neighbors but in 1910 or thereabout there will have risen a naval power which may prove mightier than she, and should she (Germany) gain the supremacy England will become extinct both as a sea and land power, and all her dependencies, including India, will fall into Germany's clutches. You may live to see this; I shall not. But when the time comes, remember my words.

T. C. HOLT, LTD. OF VANCOUVER

Splendid Investments Offered by This Well Known Firm.

The Times would call special attention of investors to the advertisement of the T. C. Holt, Limited, of North Vancouver, one of the most substantial and prosperous brokers and real estate firms on the Pacific Coast. Capitalists in the east are now looking to the west for safe and profitable investments, and there is probably no spot on the continent where more money has been made faster than in Vancouver real estate. North Vancouver is rapidly forging ahead, and those who are able to get in now will be sure to reap a golden harvest.

T. C. Holt, Limited, recommend the following investments to their clients:

1st—While they last, 100 Shares in the T. C. Holt Ltd. at $100 per Share. 25 per cent. on application and 10 per cent. per month until fully paid up. This Company being strictly under Government supervision is not allowed to sell their shares for less than par. We consider these shares a good and safe investment, as they will bring the investor a dividend of from 10 to 20 per cent. per year or more. Only a limited number left.

2nd—Investments in Real Estate. Remember, Mr. Investor, inside property in North Vancouver, is as yet cheaper than property in Point Grey, Fairview, South Vancouver, or Grand View, on the outskirts of Vancouver. 5 years ago an investor North Vancouver, far $10,000, to-day bought a corner on Lonsdale Avenue the same piece of property is worth $100,000.00. We can buy for our clients to-day property for investment from $1000 to $50,000.00 and over and can almost guarantee a profit of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. in a couple of years.

3rd—Investments in Mortgages and Agreements of Sale which represent a very safe and sure investment and bring in from 8 to 10 per cent. per year. Nearly every day some party calls in our office and invests his money in Mortgages or Agreements of Sale. They say they prefer absolute safety for their money with a good rate of interest, rather than no interest with a hope of increase in selling value.

Progress is the dominant note in the City of Vancouver to-day, and where progress is, where wealth accumulates, there will realty values advance, and this is inevitable in Vancouver.

Address all communications to T. C. Holt Limited, North Vancouver, B. C.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows: The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.30, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

Effective September 18th, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway inaugurated a mixed train service to be operated on the Regina Branch between Melville and Regina. This train will run Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, leaving Melville at [illegible] and arriving at Regina at [illegible] Leave Regina Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at [illegible] p.m., arriving at Melville at [illegible] p.m., and will make stops at the intermediate stations.

Navigation.

While it has been the custom with most steamship lines to discontinue their Quebec and Montreal sailings about November 15th each year and transfer their steamers to the winter ports, the White Star Line has just announced that their crack triple-screw steamer "Laurentic" will make an extra sailing to the St. Lawrence in November to accommodate the pre-Christmas traffic.

The "Laurentic" will sail from Montreal and Quebec November 22nd and will be the last of the big liners out of the river.

WESTERN PROGRESS

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto. Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

New Trolley Wires.

The local Street Railway Company is stringing new wires over their system. The work is being done without interfering with the traffic.

Will Attend Convention.

Rev. J. R. Webb left on the midnight for Montreal, where he will attend the Baptist convention, of Ontario and Quebec, which commences this morning and will be in session for eight days. Rev. Mr. Webb is to give an address to-morrow evening.

Normal Students Entertained.

Last night the students of the Normal school were entertained by the Epworth League of the Charlotte street Methodist church. There was a fair attendance and a splendid programme was presented, during which refreshments were served.

Annual Thank Offering.

The annual thank offering meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Foreign Missionary Society will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. (Rev.) Fee will give an address. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

Blacklister Fined.

A Blacklister was fined the usual $10 by Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court yesterday morning, for being drunk. He handed over the cash and quietly departed, it is to be hoped a wiser man.

Cylinder Burst.

The Grand Trunk train which leaves Peterborough at 8.30 for Toronto, was delayed about two hours yesterday morning by the bursting of one of the cylinders of the engine. The accident occurred about four miles out. An engine was sent forward which took the train through to its destination.

Water Main Burst.

Early yesterday morning a water main burst on George street, at the intersection of Hunter street and flooded the street. Police Sergeant Adams reported the break. The force of the water tore a large hole to the surface of the road. Such a mishap could be brought about by the turning on of water at the pump house too rapidly or by shutting off a fire hydrant too quickly.

Information Wanted.

Information is desired of a boy named Thomas Sullivan, aged 15 years, who was employed on a farm in Douro Township, from November 1910, until April, 1911. Anyone knowing of the lad's whereabouts will confer a favor by corresponding with his mother, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, 41 Albert street, St. Catharines, Ontario.

A Broken Leg.

On Saturday evening Mr. James Elliott of Cavanville, was the victim of a painful accident. It appears that while walking into the Montgomery Hotel his foot slipped on a patch of water and he fell, sustaining such injury to his leg as rendered him incapable of rising. Bellegham's private ambulance, which had been summoned, arrived shortly after and he was taken to Nicholls Hospital, where it was found that his leg was broken.

Lecture on Tactics.

Major Horden, the general staff officer of the Third Divisional Militia area, accompanied by other officers, will be in Peterborough to-day, and Major Horden will deliver a lecture in the evening to the officers of the Peterborough Garrison on the subject of "Tactics." All officers of the Garrison are expected to be present. On Wednesday a staff tour will be held when officers will go out into the country and receive instructions.

Saved By Family Cat.

A fire broke out early yesterday morning in the house owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Irwin, Parnell street, and they both would have probably perished but for the family cat, who became alarmed and scratched at the door of their room. The house was gutted and the furnishings completely wrecked, the damage amounting to $500. The fire started in the pantry and gained considerable headway before it was discovered. The fire department was promptly on hand and extinguished the blaze, got however, before house was completely gutted.

Almost Drowned.

A little four-year-old child, the daughter of Mr. S. Bouregard, residing on the bank of the river near Crawford's Grove, while playing near an open cistern close to the house, fell in, and was not discovered until life was almost extinct. The child was discovered by her little brother, whose cries brought the father to the scene, who at once sprang into the water and brought the apparently lifeless body to the surface. Artificial respiration soon brought the unconscious child to, and she is now alright. A minute or two longer and it would have been all over with the little one.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. William Welch of Havelock, spent Sunday in the city.

Mr. Richards of the "Millbrook Mirror" was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Firth Buller of Brantford, is in the city the guest of his parents, Alderman and Mrs. Wm. Buller.

Mrs. Robt. Cruikshank, of Sherbrooke street, is spending this week visiting her parents near Roseneath.

Miss Hughes and Miss Downs, of the Cressman Co's Millinery Department staff, are in Toronto attending the winter millinery openings.

Mr. Ernie Bruce, local manager of the Bell Telephone Co., in Collingwood, was in the city over Sunday, the guest of Mr. Arthur Rodgers.

Mrs. John Stiner has returned after a three weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Haws, Schnectady, N.Y.

OBITUARY

The Late Johnston J. Brandon.

"Not here, O Death, not here,
Is there no other flower for thee to take?
All the world is thine, and for its sake
Oh! Come not here."
But alas, "Death loves a shining mark"—and so it came.

There passed away at the home of his mother, Fenelon Falls, at four o'clock on Thursday morning last, Johnston J. Brandon.

Mr. Brandon for over 20 years had been an invalid, having been stricken with paralysis in aform that prevented him from moving about except in a rolling chair, otherwise he had usually good health. During these years of patient suffering he was never known to complain, bearing his affliction with serene resignation and even cheerfulness. He lived at home with his mother in the quiet enjoyment of life, doing all the good he could. His greatest pleasure was to try and add to the happiness of those around him. He was known not only in his native village, but also throughout the district, including Peterborough, where he spent a month or two every summer until the last few years, when he became adverse to leaving home. In Fenelon Falls he played as a child, developed into splendid manhood, and after attending college began a business career which was continued until he was stricken with disease. He then retired from active business, with sufficient means to enable him to live in comfort and spend much of his surplus income on his loved ones around him. There was a daily beauty about his life which won every heart. In temperament he was mild, conciliatory and candid, and yet remarkable for an uncompromising firmness. He gained confidence when he seemed least to seek it. He believed in the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. He believed that the man who scatters flowers in the pathway of his fellow-men, who lets into the dark places of life, the sunshine of human sympathy and human happiness, is following the footsteps of his master.

Mr. Brandon leaves to mourn his demise, a faithful and loving mother, who was his constant companion during his long illness, and who will miss him so much—more than anyone will ever know. It will be her consolation to know that she did her duty by him, caring for him with that tenderness and affection that a mother's love only can demonstrate. The other members of the family are Mr. J. H. and Mr. M. W. Brandon, Fenelon Falls, and Mrs. W. H. Robertson, Peterborough.

The funeral took place from his mother's residence on Saturday last, and was largely attended. The stores and other business places being closed from 2 to 4 o'clock. The obsequies were conducted by the Masonic Order of which Mr. Brandon was an honored member, many being present from Lindsay and surrounding towns and villages.

Mrs. Ellen Rogers.

At the age of 80 years, Mrs. Ellen Rogers, passed away on Sunday at the family residence, Murray street.

The late Mrs. Rogers, the last of her family, was born in Ireland and came to Canada when she was fourteen years of age, residing in Peterborough ever since. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Derocher, Peterborough, Mrs. Kennedy, Ashland, Wis., and Sister St. Agnes, Villemarie, Montreal; also one son, Edward Rogers, Rochester, N.Y.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed yet.

Golf Club.

A competition Mixed Foursomes was played off at the Golf Club on Saturday afternoon for prizes donated by Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, which were won by Mr. Mowat and Mrs. Gardiner. The following is a list of those competing. A large number of spectators were on hand and were afterwards entertained at tea by the President and Mrs. Matthews:

Mr. Mowat and Mrs. Gardiner.
Mr. Neil and Mrs. Matthews.
Mr. Hill and Miss Pearse.
Mr. Mulholland and Miss H. Davidson.
Rev. Mr. Henderson and Miss Perkes.
Mr. Cameron and Mrs. Campbell.
Mr. Campbell and Mrs. C. Hill.
Mr. Wainwright and Mrs. Sanderson.
Mr. Burnett and Mrs. W. H. Hill.
Mr. Blanchet and Mrs. Goodwill.
Mr. Shaver and Mrs. Frederick.
Mr. Ritchie and Miss D. Hall.

"IN BAGGAGE COACH AHEAD."

The following poem was handed The Times yesterday, with a request that it be published in their columns:

On a dark stormy night as a train rattled on, all the passengers had gone to bed,
Except one young man with a babe on his arm, who sat there with a bowed down head;
The innocent one commenced crying just then, as tho' its poor heart would break,
One angry man said, "Make that child stop its noise, for you're keeping all of us awake,"
"Put it out," said another, "don't keep it in here, we've paid for our berths and want rest."
But never a word said the man with the child, as he fondled it close to his breast.
"Where is its mother, go take it to her," this a lady then softly said;
"I wish that I could," was the man's sad reply, "but she's dead in the coach ahead."

REFRAIN.

While the train rolled onward a husband sat in tears,
Thinking of the happiness of just a few short years;
For baby's face brings pictures of a cherished hope that's dead.
But baby's cries can't awaken her in the baggage coach ahead.

Every eye filled with tears when his story he told, of a wife who was faithful and true,
He told how he'd saved up his earnings for years, just to build up a home for two;
How, when heaven had sent them this sweet little babe, their young, happy lives were blessed;
In tears he broke down when he mentioned her name, and in tears tried to tell them the rest.
Every woman arose to assist with the child, there were mothers and wives on that train.
And soon was the little one sleeping in peace, with no thoughts of sorrow and pain.
Next morn at the station he bade all goodbye. "God bless you," he softly said;
Each one had a story to tell at home of the baggage coach ahead.

DEPLORES HUNTING.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The time is near at hand when the so-called "open season" for hunting begins in this Province. At that time license is given to human beings to sally forth into the secret places of Mother Nature, and there employ the deadly bullet, the torturing trap and the treacherous snare against the happy and innocent children of the woods, fields and streams.

Allow me, in this connection, to quote a sentence from Du Maurier's wonderful story, "Peter Ibbetson," pages 95 and 96:

"As I picked it (the shot rabbit) off the ground, and felt its poor little warm, narrow chest, and the last beats of its heart under its weak ribs and saw the blood on its fur, I was smitten with pity, shame and remorse; and I settled with myself that I would find some other road to English gentlemanhood than the slaying of innocent wild things, whose happy life seems so well worth living."

J. M. Greene.

Kingston.

U.S. ARMY AND NAVY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Will you kindly answer the following in order to settle a dispute? What are the salaries of the United States army and navy officers?

Reader.

Reply—Army—Lieutenant-general, $11,000; major-general, $8,000; brigadier-general, $6000; lieutenant colonel, $3,500; major, $3,000; captain $2100; first lieutenant, $1800; second lieutenant, $1700; army officers are advanced a certain per cent. after every five years of service.

Navy—Admirals, $13,500; rear-admirals (first nine), $8000; rear-admirals, (second nine) $6,000; captains, $4,000; commanders, $3,500; lieutenant-commanders, $3000; lieutenants, $2400; lieutenants (junior grade), $2000; ensigns, $1700; midshipmen, $1400.

A Startling Revelation

The friends of Miss Mary McKenzie, of London, were astonished to hear that she had gone into consumption.

This sad intelligence came as a shock to Miss McKenzie's many friends. In the early fall she contracted a heavy cold which developed rapidly into Catarrh, and finally made such rapid advances that the bronchial tubes and lungs became affected.

Although the doctors said nothing short of a change of residence to the south would benefit, on the advice of a Dundas Street druggist Miss McKenzie decided to thoroughly test Catarrhozone, which is warranted to cure all diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes.

Miss McKenzie says: "After my druggist had recommended Catarrhozone I spoke to my friends about it and they all said it was such a good remedy that I commenced forthwith to inhale it five or six times each day. I breathed it deeply into my lungs, and felt its beneficial action very quickly. It seemed to go where other remedies did not reach, and was so pleasant and convenient that I did not mind using it very frequently, which, probably, was the cause of it curing my obstinate case so quickly. Certainly no case of Catarrh or Bronchitis should go uncured if the sufferer can get Catarrhozone, which is a sovereign remedy, worthy of the highest recommendations.

Miss McKenzie's case needs no enlargement. She was in a critical condition, apparently beyond the aid of doctors' medicines.

Catarrhozone has cured her, and others in her condition should no longer experiment with uncertain, untried treatments, but should turn at once to catarrhozone, and in it they will find relief and cure unobtainable by other means. Remember the name, Catarrhozone. Complete outfit guaranteed to cure. Price $1.00. Small size 25 cents. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Food Route Is the Safest Way To Steady Health

Many people are kept ill because they do not know how to select food that their own particular bodies will take up and build upon.

What will answer for one will not do for another.

If one is ailing it is safe to change food entirely and go on a plain, simple diet, say:

Cooked fruit
Dish of Grape-Nut and Cream.
2 Soft eggs
1 Cup Postum
Slice of Crisp Toast,

no more.

Man! But a diet like that makes one feel good after a few days use.

The most perfectly made food for human use is

Grape-Nuts

SUPPORTED HIM

Food That Saved When Everything Else Failed.

The food route is a safe and very sure road back to health.

"For six years I was a serious sufferer from indigestion and general stomach troubles, from the improperly cooked food in boarding houses and restaurants of which I was a victim.

During three of the six years, I was so bad off nervous prostration set in and I sought relief of a specialist without success. I had gotten so that I could eat almost nothing and was steadily losing flesh.

"Many different foods and preparations were recommended for a trial, without success, and I had become indifferent to all food.

"Some months after seeing your ad in the daily papers about the scientifically prepared food, Grape-Nuts, and its good qualities, and being driven almost to despair over my plight I skeptically resolved to give Grape-Nuts a trial as a last resort. And I thank God that I did.

"From my first meal of Grape-Nuts I felt a great change for the better; the knot that arose in the chest after meals disappeared; stomach ceased its uneasiness and gradually the nervousness disappeared.

"For about a year I ate Grape-Nuts and cream 3 times a day and have gained 54 lbs. of lost weight and weigh 5 pounds more than I ever did and now do not find any trouble in using my old-time relishes with my Grape-Nuts.

"I expect to be married soon and I do not expect Grape-Nuts to be eliminated from my bill of fare as long as I live. If my testimony will help some poor mortal, place my letter conspicuously where it can be read. I will gladly answer letters." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"Grape-Nuts contain all the constituents of a complete food and in a highly assimilable state," says the "London Lancet."

BOYS CHARGED WITH SERIOUS OFFENCES.

Band of Six Fifteen-Year-Old Youngsters Committed Number of Petty Robberies—Alleged to Have Broken Into Schools and Into St. James' Church.

As a result of a number of petty robberies committed in the south end of the city, a number of boys ranging from 13 to 15 years of age, will appear at the police court in a day or two. On Sept. 9th, St. James church was entered and a gold watch and $5 in money was stolen from the pockets of coats left in the basement windows. A week later the King Edward school was entered and damage was done. On Sept. 24th the Lake street school also suffered, small articles being stolen. Again on Sept. 27th the school was entered and more things taken. The boys who are charged with committing this series of robberies will have to answer for their conduct.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE LAND OF GREAT SORROWS

of tearing up camp and loading a half-dozen dog teams. Jessie sat by the great fire that was kept up outside, and her face was troubled. Barreau, I noticed, drew Bolton a little way off, where the two of them stood talking earnestly together, Bolton expostulating, Barreau urging. Directly after that I saw Barreau, with two of Bolton's men to help him, load one of the dog teams over again. He led it to one side, his snowshoes lying on the load. Then he came over to Jessie. Reaching within his parka he drew forth the package he had taken off Montell's body, and held it out to her.

"Girl," he said, and there was that in his voice which gave me a sudden pang, and sent a flush of shame to my cheek, "here is your father's money. There is no need for me to take care of it, now. Good-by."

She stared up at him, making no move to take the package, and so with a little gesture he dropped it at her feet and turned away. And as he laid hold of the dog whip she sprang to her feet and ran after him.

"George, George!" If ever a cry sounded a note of pain, that did. It made me wince. He whirled on his heel, and the dog whip fell unheeded in the snow.

"Oh, oh," she panted, "I can't take that. It isn't mine. It's blood-money. And—and if you go by yourself, I shall go with you."

"With me!" He held her by the shoulders, looking down into her upturned face. Never before had I seen such a variety of expression on a man's features, in so short a span of time; hope, tenderness, puzzlement, a panorama of emotions. "I'm an outlaw. There's a price on my head — you know that. And you yourself have said — ah, I won't repeat the things you have said! You know — you knew you were stabbing me want-only, when——"

"I know, I know," she cried. "I believed those things then. Oh, you can't tell how it hurt me to think that all this time you had been playing a double part — fooling my father and myself. But now I know. I know the whole wretched business; or, at least, enough to understand. I got into his papers back there on the Skannie. There were things that amazed me — after that. I stormed at him till he told me the truth—part of it. You don't know how sorry I am for those horrible, unwomanly things I said to you. How could I know? He lied so consistently — even at the last he lied to me — told me that the company men had taken the post by surprise, that we were lucky to get away with our lives. I believed that, until I saw you find that money. Then I knew that he had sold you out — his partner. I've been a little beast," she sobbed, "and I've been afraid to tell you. Oh, you don't know how much I wanted to tell you; but I was afraid. I'm not afraid now. If you are going to strike out alone, I shall go, too."

He bent and kissed her gravely.

"The Northwest is no place for me, Jess," he said. "I cannot cross it in the winter without being seen or trailed, and there is no getting out of that jail-break, if I am caught. I must go over the mountains, and so to the south, where there are no police. You cannot come. Bolton and—and Pob will see you safe to St. Louis. If nothing happens, I shall be there in the spring."

She laid her head against his breast and sobbed, wailing over him before it all. I bit my lip at the sight, and, putting my pride in my pocket, went over to them.

"Harreau," I said, "I don't, and I probably never will, understand a woman. You win, and I wish you luck. But, unless you hold a grudge longer than I do, there's no need for you to part in ill-will. Let the dead past bury its dead, and we will all go over the mountains together. I have no mind to take a chance with the police again, myself. You and Bolton seem to forget that I'm just as deep in the mud as you are in the mire."

Barreau stood looking fixedly at me for a few seconds. Then he held out his hand, and the old, humorous smile that had been absent from his face for many a day once more wrinkled the corners of his mouth.

"I do," he said, "I think that you and I are hard men to beat — at any game we play."

That, to all intents and purposes, ends my story. We did cross the mountains and traversed the vast, silent slopes that fall away to the blue Pacific. Bolton had gilded the palm of the Hudson's Bay Company in his search for me, and so they considerately dropped their feud with Barreau—at least there was no more shooting of dogs, nor any effort to recover the money that cost Montell his life. Or perhaps they judged it unwise to meddle with a party like ours.

So, by this wide détour, we came at last to St. Louis. There Barreau and Jessie were married, and departed thence upon their honeymoon. When their train had pulled out, I went with Bolton back to his office in the bank. He seated himself in the very chair he had occupied the day I came and saddled the burden of my affairs upon him. He cocked his feet up on the desk, lighted a cigar, and leaned back.

"Well, Robert," he finally broke into my meditations, "how about this school question? Have you decided where you're going to try for a B. A. —and when? What about it?"

"I can take up college any time," I responded. "Just now—well, I'm going to the ranch. A season in the cow camps will teach me something; and I would like to run the business just as my father did. I can't take up study again. Anyway the schools have no monopoly of knowledge; there's a wonderful lot of things that a fellow has to teach himself."

He surveyed me in silence a few minutes, his cigar pointed rakishly aloft, his eyes half shut. Then he delivered himself of this:

"Quite a development, Bob; yes, indeed. You left here last June, a callow, cigarette-smoking kid—an average specimen of an ordinary type of youth. The North made a man of you."

I did not make any answer to that. I was reflecting, a trifle bitterly, that there were penalties attached to the attaining of manhood — in my case, at least.

THE END.

LORE OF THE FINGER RING

From remotest antiquity finger rings have played so many parts in the various affairs of men and women, and have been so closely identified with the moods, sentiments, and aspirations of all classes of people that a connoisseur's collection of this class of jewellery is really a summing up of most that is distinguished, picturesque, and romantic in history.

Starting at the threshold of history, we find among the rings of the ancient Egyptians examples which experts agree must date from a period before the Deluge.

The Greeks, Etruscans, and Romans revelled in rings of all styles, shapes, and sizes, some of them so exquisitely beautiful that modern goldsmiths have extreme difficulty in imitating them.

From earliest Biblical times the ring has been regarded as a sign of rank and a symbol of authority. In the seventh century of the Christian era we find it recognized as a mark of episcopal dignity. These ecclesiastical rings are invariably set with a sapphire — the emblem of hope. Some of them are very massive and of giant circumference — which is accounted for by the fact that these rings were for several centuries worn outside a glove and on the thumb.

The prevailing religious sentiment of Europe during the Middle Ages is illustrated in the numerous crucifix and death's head rings. With the crucifix ring, which is still worn in some parts of Italy, the mere raising of the hand brings an altar before the eyes. The death's head or "memento mori" rings depict a more morbid sentiment, but the fashion of wearing them seems to have been followed by such eminent personages as Martin Luther, John Bunyan, and King Charles I, of England.

Allied to this class are the memorial and mourning rings, which bear designs of monuments and burial urn, sometimes worked in the hair of the dear departed with such comforting mottoes as "Be ye also ready."

Betrothal and weddings have pleasanter associations, and some of the antique ones are charming and curious in form. Among the most remarkable of the nuptial rings is the "Gimmal", or double ring, with its symbolism of the twin hoops, which when closed appear as one.

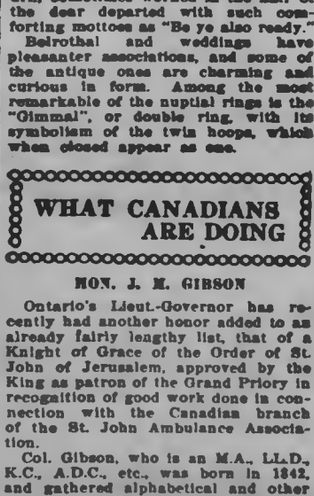
WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

HON. J. M. GIBSON

Ontario's Lieut.-Governor has recently had another honor added to an already fairly lengthy list, that of a Knight of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, approved by the King as patron of the Grand Priory in recognition of good work done in connection with the Canadian branch of the St. John Ambulance Association.

Col. Gibson, who is an M.A., LL.D., K.C., A.D.C., etc., was born in 1842, and gathered alphabetical and other pointers in education at the Central School Hamilton, and the University of Toronto, carrying away such honors as the Prince of Wales Prize, medals in classics, and modern languages, LL.B. with Gold medal, 1869; LL.D. Barr (U.C.) 1867.

The Hon. Gentleman's Military Progress reads:—Lt.-Col. 13th Regiment, 1895; Hon. Col. 1901; Col. Reserve of officers 1902; Col. Commanding 15th Brigade Canadian Militia, 1903. He has been to Wimbledon and Bisley in command of Canadian detachments of shooting men, and was honored by being chosen Hon. A. D. C. to Their Excellencies the Earl of Aberdeen and the Earl Minto while Governors General of Canada. The Colonel has held down many important legal appointments, and is besides Past Grand Master, Lodge of Canada A. F. and A. M., besides being Grand Commander A. and A. S. Rite for Canada, the two latter conferments, it is said,



COL. HON. J. M. GIBSON, Lt.-Governor of Ontario

being the most highly prized of the list.

AN EPISODE IN ITALY

"It isn't you who decide what you are going to do in Italy," said the woman.

"It's the cabby.

"I thought I was going to leave Naples that morning. In fact, I had my valises with me as I stood at the door while the porter whistled for a cab, seven of which rushed out of the shimmering sunlight around the corner at me. A handsome young cabby grabbed the valises, put them in the cab, helped me in, and started off.

"'I want to go to the station,' I told him as we went along. 'I'm going home.'

"He slowed up, rested his left hand on the back of the seat, turned half way around ,and said smilingly in French:

"'You want to go to Pompeii?'

"'No!' I cried. 'I want to go to the station. I am starting for home, for America, for home!'

"'I'll take you to Pompeii,' he offered graciously, 'for 8 lire.'

"I braced myself for the conflict.

"'I want to go home,' I declared. If I went to Pompeii, I wouldn't go over that old road anyway. I'd go by train. That's the same road you take to Vesuvius. I was over it the day before yesterday. It is full of beggars and ruts.'

"My driver paid not the slightest attention. Instead he pointed proudly to a passing cabby.

"'That's my brother,' he grinned, adding softly, 'I'll take you to Pompeii for 7 lire.'

"'A handsome fellow ,' I said, 'and if you paid me 7 lire I wouldn't go to Pompeii to-day. I'm going home.'

"He drove awhile, then turned and smiled at me again.

"'This road takes you to the station,' he said, 'and to Pompeii, too. I'll take you to Pompeii for 6 lire. A whole long day, a handsome driver, a fine carriage, and all to yourself for 6 lire,' he summed up, flashing a triumphant face full upon me.

"'If you gave me the cab and the harness and the horse thrown in,' I wailed, 'I wouldn't go. You couldn't pay me to go, I know that old road. Besides, I want to start for home. Amerike! Home!'

"He drove and drove. I got absorbed in the things we passed. In the doorways, back of which was invariably the single room of the family, the one large bed, the three chairs at the foot of it ,the table, and in the rear the altar, before which burned the little lamp to the Blessed Virgin, and in her humble worshippers, who lived, it seemed, on the door steps, there being only one room inside.

"There played the children, the little ragged girls of 5 and 6 holding the bambino done up in swaddling clothes, tossing it between them as they would toss an overgrown doll, and the boys more ragged yet, if that were possible. There were the dogs, cats, the chickens, and now and then a proud turkey, ignominiously tied, far from barnyards and its kind, by a string to a post.

"I didn't know which I pitied most, the babies in training for cripples swaddled so, their tiny limbs so unnaturally bound, the unwashed cats and dogs, or the turkeys in chains.

"I recalled my destination with a start.

"'Where are we?' I demanded to know.

"'The station is about a mile back yonder,' my handsome driver said stolidly, 'and you'll be too late for your train. I'm taking you to Pompeii now for 5 lire.'

"I could have wept, but what was the use? I was now too late for my train.

"'Anyway,' I petitioned, 'you'll rescue me from the beggars. Won't you? When you get to them drive fast.'

"To my amazement he complied. We sped past the man with the withered arm, the cripple tangled up with the donkey, and passed another cab. The driver flung a bright look at me.

"'Do you see that man?' he asked.

"'Yes,' I answered.

"'Well, he's my brother,' gloated he.

He seemed to have an oversupply of brothers, but he endeavored to compensate for bringing me out of my way for five lire by showing me the sights.

"He pointed out all the pictures of the saints by the roadside, the crucifixes on the walls, the Holy Virgins at the corners of the lead-colored houses, until at last the wide sweep of level country where the dust and ashes of the buried city were began to show.

"Arrived there, a babbling guide hurried me through with the velocity of a whirlwind, showed me broken columns, old fountains, Madusa heads with the faces worn away by hands long since ashes, the buried dog, its mouth in the attitude of barking, prints of chariot wheels, gray walls through the apertures of which the smoky peak of the mountain that had done all the harm glowed purple, and hurried me out again through the gate to my cab.

"My cabby stood there smiling, a man beside him who was even handsomer than he.

"'My brother,' said he.

"I smiled and bowed, and we started over the long gray road of the poor to Naples.

"The sight saddened me. I wished I had started for America, for home! As we bumped over the terrible slags of the Naples streets my resentment grew. It was not lessened by the behavior of my guide. Three times more he had pointed out brothers. Now he leaned over to me, smiled, and pointed out another before we drove up to my door.

"Some acquaintances ran out, amazed at seeing me.

"'I thought,' they cried, 'that your started for home this morning.'

"'I thought so, too,' said I, 'but my cabby thought differently.'"

McCarthy was boasting of the prominence of his family in bygone ages. "But there were no McCarthy's in Noah's ark," said O'Brien. "No," said McCarthy, "our family was very exclusive in those days and had yachts of their own."

NEVER USES SLANG

I know a well-bred little boy who
never says, "I can't";
He never says, "Don't want to", or
"You've got to", or "You shant";
He never says, "I'll tell mama"! or
calls his playmates "mean".
And more careful of his speech I'm sure was never seen.
He's never ungrammatical—he never
mentions "aint";
A single word of slang from him
would make his mother faint.
And now I'll tell you why I' is (lest
this should seem absurd);
He's now exactly six months old, and
cannot speak a word!

IN THE WORLD OF SCIENCE

CURIOSITIES OF THE FISHERIES

Mackerel All But Gone and Nobody Knows Where.

What is the mater with the mackerel? They have all but disappeared and nobody has any idea of what has become of them.

In 1885 mackerel fishery furnished half a million barrels of salted fish. Last year the catch was only about twenty-seven hundred barrels. What has become of this valuable food animal? Certainly it has not been wiped out by overfishing.

At the present time nearly two millions of dollars are invested in the business of hunting for mackerel — an industry prosecuted more in the way of a lottery than anything else, vessels being fitted out every spring in the hope that they will come back in their former abundance. Salted mackerel are now worth forty dollars a barrel.

If the great schools of earlier years have sought feeding grounds elsewhere how precious would be information of their whereabouts!

Dr. Johan Hjort, the Norwegian director of fisheries, says that the production of marine fishes is subject to such mighty influences as to be independent of the interference of man. For illustration, in 1902 and

Sir T. Crossley Rayner, Attorney-General of British Guiana, is one of the few white men who have ever seen Kaieteur Falls, which he declares the most beautiful and impressive in the world. "Kaieteur Falls are far inland in British Guiana," he told his interviewers on shipboard, "so far inland, in fact, that they are about 200 miles from civilisation. They are 829 feet in height and about 400 feet wide."

AUGUSTA STOWE GULLEN,

Miss Stowe was the first Canadian woman to study and graduate in medicine in the Dominion, the first to take a degree in that branch of study from a Canadian University, and the first to receive an appointment on the teaching staff of a Medical College in this country. In 1883 she graduated from Victoria University, Cobourg, and in the same year when the Ontario Medical College for Women was founded at Toronto, Dr. Stowe Gullen was chosen Demonstrator of Anatomy, a work she continued during the history of the College.

Have as little as possible to do with people you cannot trust; when on marshy ground tread lightly, and get over it as rapidly as you can.

If you sit down and allow your mind to dwell on the evil characteristics in your neighbors, you wilfully bring yourself to their level, and are associating from choice with the worst that you can find in them instead of dwelling with and assisting the good you may also find, and with less trouble.

Child Laborers.

Italy has no child labor laws, and young merchants throng the streets. The cherry vender, often scarcely in his teens, carries his luscious fruits in baskets, tucks his measure into his vest, and swings his scales over his shoulders. Thus equipped, he makes his way merrily through the city streets, calling his merchandise.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. WRITE US for full information.

Jordan & Davis Company
NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advises dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

These awards have been made under the following :—"Arts and Crafts" ; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation" ; and "Building Trades" ; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realise that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $600?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 20 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE TOBACCO-CHEWING EVIL

Continuance of the Practice Has Material Effect in Putting the Face of Man Off the Natural Shape.

Writing on "Chins and Character," Dr. Louis Robinson says:—Tobacco-chewing, a loathsome habit which happily appears to be going out of fashion among civilised people, has been productive of a cast of countenance which will remain historic for all time. "Uncle Sam" will probably be for ever portrayed as an individual "lean of flank and lank of jaw," as Oliver Wendell Holmes verbally depicts him in his humorous apotheosis. Those familiar with the portraits of the great soldiers of the American Civil War can hardly fail to have been struck by the curious family likeness which runs through their dour determined visages. It is scarcely too much to say that this military type is practically extinct in America now. Almost to a man, these long-faced sallow heroes were tobacco-chewers, as were also many of the prominent statesmen of the same period. It was, however, by no means exclusively an American custom. Most people of middle age can remember among sailors and working men of Great Britain, men with long angular-jaws and wrinkled sallow cheeks resembling those of that extinct ruminant, the "typical Yankee" of caricature.

An Upright Thief

A Prince once said to Rabbi Gamaliel: "Your God is a thief; he surprised Adam in his sleep, and stole a rib from him."

The Rabbi's daughter overheard this speech, and whispered a word or two in her father's ear, asking permission to answer this singular opinion herself. He gave his consent.

The girl stepped forward, and feigning terror and dismay, threw her arms aloft in supplication, and cried out, "My liege, my liege, justice — revenge!"

"What has happened?" 'asked the Prince.

"A wicked theft has taken place," she replied. "A robber has crept secretly into our house, carried away a silver goblet and left a golden one in its stead."

"What an upright thief!" exclaimed the Prince. "Would that such robberies were of more frequent occurrence!"

"Behold, then, sire, the kind of a thief that the Creator was; he stole a rib from Adam, and gave him a beautiful wife instead."

"Well said!" avowed the Prince.

Railroad and Safety

The claim upon which Sir Edward Watkin never ceased to insist, that an English railway train was the "safest place in the world," is largely borne out by the annual returns of the Board of Trade in respect of the number of accidents that occur to passengers and railway servants. For instance, in the ten years ending 1909 only one passenger was killed on the average in every 72,000,000 journeys, and one injured in every 2,000,000 journeys! But even these figures — the only ones officially available — do not show the full extent of the security reached upon the railways of the United Kingdom, inasmuch as in the returns no account is taken of the journeys made by season-ticket holders.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 60,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

VOL XXXIV NO 241 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

NEW MINISTER WILL CONSULT THE MILITIA

COL. SAM. HUGHES TO SUMMON ALL INTERESTED IN VOLUNTEERS TO A CONFERENCE.

Corps at Universities—Flag to be Kept Flying Over the Department Buildings at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—Col. the Hon. Sam. Hughes, Minister of Militia and Defence, has sent out invitations to all the brigadier-generals of the volunteer force, the heads of colleges, and representatives of the cadet corps and of the Boy Scouts, and prominent militia men to come to Ottawa shortly before the opening session. The gentlemen thus invited will form an Advisory Board, which will supplement, but in no way supersede, the Militia Council.

It is deemed advisable to form regiments in the various universities and also to encourage drilling and similar military exercises in the schools throughout the Dominion.

An effort will be made to provide a plan by which armouries for individual companies can be erected and maintained at small expense.

The problem of providing rifle ranges throughout the country will also be under consideration, and representatives of the D.R.A. and of the provincial rifle associations will be included in the advisory board.

The Union Jack will be kept flying every day in the year over the building where the Militia Department is located.

HERBERT MARRIAGE TO COME BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT

Montreal, Oct. 17.—It was announced at the Superior Court this morning that the now famous Hebert marriage case, brought to issue by the Ne Temere decree, is inscribed for trial and argument this month. The date of the hearing is not yet fixed, and it is quite possible that in view of the very large number of cases on the roll, the trial will be postponed until some time next month. The pleading of the case is now settled and examination shows that this case if carried to the Privy Council, will the Province had answered the case. mean a decisive establishment of the law regarding solemnization of the marriage in this Province, and, incidentally, a decision as to the rights of any religious body to make rules regarding marriage, which have the effect of law.

Mr. G. V. Cousins is solicitor for Mrs. Hebert, and was asked this morning as to the likelihood of an appeal to the Privy Council replied that it would be time enough to consider that matter after the courts of

GERMAN BLUEJACKETS ARE FIGHTING A CHINESE MOB

Berlin, Oct. 17.—Advices received at the Foreign Office from Hankow today report that a German force of bluejackets, reinforced by German local residents, have been landed at Hankow and are now engaged in fighting in the streets with a Chinese mob.

The official reports states that detachments were landed from the German cruiser Leipsic and the German gunboats Tiger and Vaterland.

Members of the German colony volunteered to support the marines.

Hankow, China, Oct. 17.—The Imperial Government began aggressive preparations for the recapture of Hankow and Wu-Chang to-day. The first train load of troops from the north arrived on the scene and camped in business-like fashion north of Hankow. Several thousand more soldiers are on the way and are expected to arrive before sundown. A detachment of the Wu-Chang garrison which retired from that city when the rebels entered, crossed the river Yang-Tse above the city and marched rapidly inland, probably to effect a junction with the troops from the north.

Earlier in the day the Imperial naval force in the river was augmented by the arrival of one of the navy's modern gunboats, which carried Admiral Sah Chen Ping, who immediately took command of the situation.

His first move was to assure the Foreign Consuls that the Foreign concessions would not be endangered by any bombardment which he might undertake. His purpose, it was believed, was to begin shelling the rebel defences around Wu-Chang at once.

COL. ROOSEVELT TALKS OF OTIS

Col. Roosevelt in a recent issue of the Outlook discusses the McNamara case and characterizes Harrison Grey Otis, whose Times building was blown up and whose charge against the McNamara's Unionists declare to be a conspiracy as "a consistent enemy of every movement for social and economical betterment, just as he has shown himself the consistent enemy of the men in California who have dared resolutely to stand against corruption and in favor of honesty."

Further, he says, "The attitude of General Otis in his paper affords a curious instance of the anarchy of soul which comes to the man who in conscientious fashion defies property at the expense of human rights, no less surely than it comes to the man who in the name of human rights wars upon all men of property good or bad."

In conclusion Colonel Roosevelt says:

"Mr. Gompers and those associated with him are taking the lead in a great movement which may be made, and I believe will be made, a movement for immeasurable good. My desire is to co-operate with them and help them in every way, and I very earnestly hope that they will steadily so conduct themselves, as to make it not merely the duty, but the privilege of all decent citizens thus to co-operate with them."

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

CENSUS A DISAPPOINTMENT ONTARIO LOSES 2 OR 3 SEATS

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 17.—The census figures which have been submitted to the new Minister of Agriculture by Chief Census Officer Blue, and which will probably be made public to-night or to-morrow, will come as a decided disappointment to the people of Canada.

Not only will the entire population of the Dominion fall short of the estimate of 8,000,000, but it will be found that none of the Provinces has grown as much as was expected.

Quebec will be found to have not more than 1,900,000 population and consequently the unit of population for representation will be slightly less than 30,000. On this basis the Maritime Provinces will lose two members and Ontario, which lags behind Quebec, will lose two or three.

But the chief disappointment will come to the West. Instead of the 20 or 25 new members which it expected it will not get more than 15 or 16.

ONE HUNDRED SEARCH FOR A DEMENTED MAN

Walkerton, Oct. 17.—Rodolpn Misch an employe of the Seeling Manufacturing Co., has at different times lately shown evidence of insanity. On Tuesday night of last week he left his home. He has not been seen since. It is believed he is in a big swamp near the town. Searching parties have been daily looking for him. Yesterday there must have been at least one hundred men in the party, but no trace of him has, as yet, been seen, and it is feared he may have died from exposure.

BIG TEMPERANCE FIGHT IN IRELAND

Movement Has Been Started in Belfast to Destroy the "Demon Rum."

MAY GROW BEETROOT

Increase in Price of Sugar May Result in New Irish Industry—The County Could Easily Produce Almost a World's Supply of Beet Sugar.

DUBLIN, Oct. 17.—The Irish race are fond of dances and other amusements, but at the same time they are also workers. The trouble has been to find work for the Irish people to do. The great increase in the price of sugar, and the agitation in favor of the establishment of the beet sugar industry in Great Britain has aroused much interest in the country. It is not, perhaps, generally known that, as far back as 1852, there was a large beet-sugar factory at Mountmellick, erected at a cost of $50,000, exclusive of machinery, and giving employment to 160 laborers. In addition this industry afforded occupation for a large number of agricultural laborers engaged in the cultivation of sugar-beet in the district. An article in the illustrated London News of April 17, 1852, states that "the superior quality of the root produced in Ireland appears admirably adapted to the growth of beet." The factory we are told, "requires 300 tons of beetroot per week, which will soon exhaust all the produce of the neighborhood. As the average produce is put down at 20 tons per acre, one can realize how much land there must have been under beet in the district. The yield is said to have been ten tons per acre more than on the continent, and the price three shillings higher. The maximum strength in saccharine matter of the continental beet was 7 per cent. raw, while the trials of the Irish beet gave a half per cent. more. The cost of manufacturing the sugar from the root on the continent was then an average of $45 per ton, at Mountmellick the cost was only $37.50 per ton. With such a flattering prospect before it one might have expected to find the Mountmellick factory, which was started with a capital of $600,000, still a flourishing concern, but, unfortunately, owing to one cause or another, it was not a success and has long since closed its doors.

To Promote Better Feeling.

With the object of promoting a better understanding amongst the Irish people of all creeds and classes a suggestion has been made that a week's fair" should be held at some central spot in Ireland, say the Hill of Uisnagh, midway between Athlone and Mullingar, at which Irish home-made exhibits would be on view. It is pointed out that the wares could be set out in cheaply erected stalls. Anglo-Irish plays might be produced in a temporary theater, and athletic events take place under the joint rules of the Gaelic Athletic association and the Irish Amateur Athletic Association

A Temperance Movement.

If Ireland does not become a thoroughly temperate country, in the use of alcoholic drinks at least it will not be the fault of Belfast. It was here that the temperance movement started and swept over the country with remarkable success. Now another temperance movement has started at Belfast which it is hoped will have an even greater success in fighting the "demon rum." It is a "National forward movement in temperance," to commemorate the coronation year, and was considered at a meeting of the Irish Temperance league, Rev. Dr. M'Ilveen presiding. It is proposed to increase the membership of the juvenile temperance societies, and the queen has become patron of the "million-more" scheme. The scheme was approved and recommended to the churches and temperance organizations. It was agreed that the united committee, representing the Protestant churches of Belfast, be asked to issue a joint appeal to the churches invoking their sympathy and their active support in the effort.

LAY OF THE OLD MINISTERS

HON. R. W. SCOTT AND SIR RICHARD—"Governments Come, and Governments Go, But O You Senate."

Deep-Rooted Suspicion That Violet Smith Was the Victim of Foul Play

DILZON PORT WAS NO BED OF ROSES FOR A SCHOOL TEACH ROSES FOR SCHOOL TEACHER—24 OTHERS HAD HELD POSITION IN SUCCESSION.

The School Inspector Tells of Last Visit—Miss Smith was Dressed in Black and He Thought She Looked Melancholy—Would Have Secured a Better School for Her.

Parry Sound, Oct. 17.—Searching operations for Violet Smith, the missing teacher were resumed at Dillon Port this morning by an enlarged force of men who are now raking the woods immediately to the rear of tthe school. In this there is a stretch of ten to fifteen miles of uninhabited forest, save for an occasional lumber camp, whose men have long since, however, been asked to look out for the missing girl.

The longer the mystery remains unsolved, the greater the variety of theory one hears as to what may have happened. There is no denying the fact that a very deep-rooted suspicion exists in the minds of many people not only in Parry Sound, but in Dillon Port that either abduction or a tragedy has been committed. There is little or no evidence to support the theory that while in a demented condition she wandered off and got lost. No person at Dillon Port believes that. According to those who were with her on Sunday night, she was far from being demented. Samuel Scriver, who had her out for a drive, says she was cheerful and happy. Jean Ramsay, who says she retired to bed about midnight, saw nothing despondent in the girl's manner. It is therefore not reasonable to suppose that between midnight and 7.30 a.m. she would become suddenly demented and wander off.

The unfortunate girl's sisters are very much disturbed over the disappearance of the trimming from Violet's hat. According to Mrs. Ramsay Miss Smith removed it on Sunday and wore the lace as a covering for her head. The sisters say this would be a strange proceeding for Violet.

THE HAT WAS CRUSHED.

The hat shape was found on her bed and so badly crushed was it, that it looked as if some one had lain on it all night. The trimming however has not yet been found. Mr. Ramsay however, states that it was hanging under Miss Smith's coat in the kitchen and that when Miss Birdie Smith was packing un her sister's clothes, and removed the coat from the nail, the hat trimming dropped to the floor Later, his daughter Jean, noticing it had taken it up stairs and had laid it on her (Jeanie's) open trunk. When she went up some time afterwards it had been removed and she thought Miss Birdie Smith had taken it. Miss Smith says not, however.

NE TEMERE OUTRAGES

The most important resolution passed at the Methodist Ecumenical Conference in Toronto, was the following on the Ne Temere Decree, which was adopted by a standing vote:

"This Conference assembled at Toronto, and representing the interests of world-wide Methodism, enters its emphatic protest against the Ne Temere decree recently issued by the Church of Rome. While holding that the fullest religious liberty should be accorded to men of all creeds, the conference repudiates the idea that any church decree should have the power to override the civil law, and especially on such a subject as that of marriage, on which the welfare of any community depends. The conference is further of the opinion that the promulgation of the Ne Temere decree is an outrage upon the elementary rights of citizenship, and, therefore, calls upon the members of the various Methodist churches represented in this ecumenical conference to take every step to prevent both the proclamation and acceptance of this decree in the countries from whence they came.

"The conference is strongly of the opinion that a marriage ceremony performed by any person properly authorized to do so by state should be valid irrespective of religious affinities of the parties concerned."

GERMAN CATHOLICS NOW START BI-LINGUAL SYSTEM

Regina, Sask., Oct. 17.—The German-speaking Catholic Society held a special meeting in St. Mary's Hall last evening to discuss the advisability of taking steps to have the bilingual system introduced in the schools of the Province.

Father Bour, who came to Regina recently from Winnipeg, was one of the principal speakers. He advised the gathering to move cautiously, as the system had not been an entire success in Manitoba.

The outcome of the discussion was that it was decided to institute the bi-lingual system in St. Mary's School of this city, where 300 of the 375 pupils are Germans. For the time being Father Bour has undertaken to instruct each class for one hour a day, until a proper teacher can be secured.

It is understood that similar steps will be taken in other districts of the Province where there is a preponderance of students of German nationality.

Earache, Toothache

To Cure the Pain in Ten Seconds and Get Instant Relief, Nothing Equals

NERVILINE

Fifty years ago Nerviline was used from coast to coast and in thousands of houses this trusty liniment served the entire family, cured all their minor ills and kept the doctor's bill small. To-day Nerviline still holds first rank in Canada among pain-relieving remedies—scarcely a home you can find that doesn't use it.

From Port Hope, Ont., Mr. W. T. Greenaway, of the Guide newspaper staff, writes:

TESTIMONIAL NO. 4398

'For twenty years we have used Nerviline in our home and not for the world would we be without it. As a remedy for all pain, earache, toothache, cramps, headache and disordered stomach, I know of no preparation so useful and quick to relieve as Nerviline."

Let every mother give Nerviline a trial; it's good for children, good for old folks—you can rub it on as a liniment or take it internally.

Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse anything but Nerviline. Large size bottles 50c, or sample size, 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Is your husband cross? An irritable, fault finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach trouble by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. For sale by all dealers.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorised by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the property, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as Well as the Subsequent Payments:

No. of Shares.	Amount of First Call.	Half-yearly Payments.
1	$ 25.00	$ 9.00

300	34,500.00

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

ERNEST WILMOT McCREADY

Ernest Wilmot McCready was born in Ottawa, November 30, 1868. His father, J. E. B. McCready was then Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Globe, and was in the press gallery for many years, president of it for two terms.

E. W. McCready was educated at the public schools in Ottawa, and in New Brunswick, and at the University of New Brunswick, having been graduated there B.A. 1888 and M.A. 1891. Deciding to follow in the footsteps of McCready senior, he served a brief term in the ranks of those who provide the public with their daily budget of happenings, rapidly passing to the more important if more prosaic, position of City Editor of the St. John Daily Telegraph. Here again the stay of Mr. McCready was of brief duration, and in 1892 he moved southward to undertake the important duties of special writer for the Boston Post. But the wander-lust seems to have been in the blood, for soon his name was on the roll of those who were doing big things for the New York Herald, and as reporter and special writer he continued until the outbreak of Spanish American War. The young Canadian seemed to those in authority to be eminently suited for the fighting line, and he formed one of the Herald's corps of war correspondents. Mr. McCready acted with the Cent throughout the war, wrote the Herald's splendid account of the naval battle at Santiago, where, it will be remembered the Spanish fleet was destroyed, to his live pen falling the honor of inscribing the first extended report of that event published in New York.

After filling the position of resident correspondent for the Herald at Havana, during part of the Cuban revolution in 1897, passing through the lively doings of that somewhat strenuous time, safe in wind and limb, Mr. McCready headed back to the less exciting surroundings of Journalistic life in Canada, and in 1902 he took over the reins of managing editorship for the Telegraph of St. John. In 1910 there came a well-deserved promotion to the responsible dual position of president and manager of the Telegraph and Times Publishing Companies.

Mr. McCready is a Protestant, (a Baptist), his Clubs are the Union, St. John, St. John Golf; Arnold Lake Fishing Club and he is Director of the Canadian Press Ltd., and of the Eastern Press Association. In 1898 he married Miss Frances Annabel of Cameron, New York, and has one son, who, it is alleged, has already a liking for pencils that are double-pointed.

T. W. CROTHERS

Mr. Crothers only entered parliament in 1903, as representative of East Elgin, and for a young member has done some capital work in the interests of the country generally. A man of stern integrity, he has kept keen eye on the spending departments of the Government, and sleight-of-hand work was scarcely possible while the Elgin man was awake. Mr. Crothers is credited by expert judges of the class to own a tongue with more acidity to it than even that of George E. Foster, when the duty of exposing wrong was to be done. Northport claims him as a birthchild and he practices law at St. Thomas, Ont.

T. W. CROTHERS, An M.P. watchful of expenditure

SIR W. M. AITKEN, Canadian Millionaire; British M.P.

One of the features in the Mother of Parliaments recently was the maiden speech of Sir W. M. Aitken, the young Canadian millionaire, who, at the last election, captured Ashton-under-Lyne for the Unionist party. The romance of commerce has played a big part in Sir Max's thirty-two years of life. He was "discovered" politically by Mr. Bonar Law. "Why not stand for Parliament?" said his friend. Sir Max Aitken turned the idea over in his mind very quickly. He was not a politician in the ordinary sense of the word; but was heart and soul an Empire man. He was not a practised speaker, but he had something to say. Rather late in the day he started his campaign and just talked in a friendly, conversational, way upon the Imperial matters which were near his heart and which he thoroughly understood. He won. At Westminster he is a little bit shy. He does not eagerly embrace chances for self-advertisement.

Bells from the Pope.

The Campanile of St. Mark is nearly finished. The four gilded lions which Napoleon had brought to Paris, and which have been since taken back to Venice, are in their place, and the workmen are now beginning to pull down the scaffolding around the monument. The spire, however, has yet to be built, but it is hoped that in a few months it will be possible to place on the top of it the great gilded angel which is to dominate the Square of St. Mark. The official inauguration of the Campanile will take place next April. The present Pope, as Patriarch of Venice, was present at the commencement of the rebuilding, and as his heart always goes out to his beloved Venice, he presented a fine set of bells to the tower.

To Keep Youthful

"It is well known that within recent years the men have become extensive patrons of beauty specialists and masseurs. Not only the fastidious, but men generally who have a care for personal appearance. This has also led to the employment by many of means calculated to enhance or preserve physical attractiveness, especially by those who abhor "beauty parlors."

Of these, perhaps the most widely used is ordinary mercolized wax — which explain the mystery of the silver-haired gentleman with the boyish face. The mercolized wax, is applied after shaving, the same as cold cream, only not rubbed in. This gradually absorbs the dead and half-dead cuticle in tiny particles, revealing the fresher, healthier-hued skin beneath. To secure best results many apply the wax at night, washing it off in the morning. Women not only encourage husbands in this, but use the treatment themselves.

Gordon's Cigar-Case

Major-General Sir John Maxwell has received from an Italian, who has just come from Khartoum, General Gordon's cigar-case. The case is a plain brown leather one, and has evidently seen much service, although it is in good condition. As the outer portion is pulled back the name "C. E. Gordon" in black ink is seen. When Sir John Maxwell received the case there were two cigars in it.

Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $3. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 2c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with tea fields which make them very beautiful."

Miss Daisy Dobbin, who has been with a patient at the Jackson Sanatorium, Dansville, N. Y., for the past six months, is home for a month's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Dobbin.

THE BIRTHDAY OF THE EARTH

A Trifle of Seven Hundred Million Years is Latest Calculation of World's Age and Canada Holds the Proof.

Many are the estimates that have been made as to the age of this earth of ours, and each new estimate pushes back its birthday still further into the mists of eternity. The latest calculation is made by Mr. R. J. Strutt, an English physicist, by a method that he considers precise.

Studying the properties of helium has enabled him to calculate the amount of this element that certain rocks and minerals have contained since the day they were formed. Analysing samples of sircon from the volcanic regions of Europe, Africa, and America, Mr. Strutt finds that the basaltic rocks of Auvergne, which are of the tertiary period, are only 6,270,000 years old; that the syenites of Norway are more than 54,000,000 years old, and that the diamondiferous blue clay of Kimberley, in South Africa, has the respectable age of 320,000,000 years.

But the record for old age is held by the archaic Laurentian rocks of the backbone of Canada, which were formed at least 620,000,000 years ago from this Mr. Strutt figures that [illegible] cannot be less than about [illegible] years old.

HAPPINESS IS FOUND

In helping others.
In friendly letters.
In pleasant words.
In little courtesies.

In the companionship of books.
In doing one's best regardless of reward.

Some Apt Proverbs.

Instead of "More haste, less speed," the Japanese say, "If in a hurry, go around."

While we say, "Accidents will happen in the best regulated families," the Japanese say, "Even a monkey will sometimes fall from a tree."

The proverb about edged tools and cut fingers the people of the flowery land vary to, "If one plays with tigers, look out for the claws."

Where we say "Out of evil good may come," they have it, "The lotus springs from the mud."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Not Your Own Face

"My boy," said a wise father who knew how to play and be a "chum" with his twelve-year-old lad, "my boy, you do not own your own face." The boy looked puzzled. He had come to the breakfast table with a frowning, clouded countenance, and had started moodily to eat his food. Everybody felt the shadow of his ill spirits, evident in his looks. His father's unexpected words brought him back to life, and he looked up with a half-guilty expression, but did not understand what was meant. "You do not own your face," his father repeated. "Do not forget that it belongs to other people. They, not you, have to look at it. You have no right to compel them to look at a sour, gloomy and crabbed face."

Shoe Shops of Japan.

Writing about the shops of Japan a visitor to that country says that the typical shoe store makes a strange impression on the foreign visitor. "All the footwear of the little brown men are here in view. The funny wooden clogs and straw sandals are indeed a fanciful exhibition. They line the benches the floors, the shelves. They hang from above, and seemingly are everywhere, allowing the seller just about enough room to squat on his mat. The newcomer is at once startled at the immense quantity of this simple footwear and the many places where it is sold, but he soon finds a solution to his query when he hears that a Japanese man annually makes away with from eight to ten pairs."

WOODLOT INSPECTION BY GOVERNMENT.

Increasing difficulty is being found in obtaining an adequate supply of hardwood lumber for the industries of Canada. The hardwood tracts of the eastern provinces for a long time have not been able to meet the demand, and in 1910, 60 per cent. of the hardwood used in Canada was imported from the United States. The United States, although with a much larger supply of hardwood on hand is also seeing that the annual consumption far exceeds the annual growth and that the virgin supply is being rapidly reduced. By practical demonstration it has been proven, that waste land if planted in young hardwoods, will prove a profitable investment at the end of twenty-five years or more, and will improve the productiveness of the surrounding farm land In the eastern provinces of Canada, and in Ontario, particularly, are large tracts of such land, covered at present with an unprofitable tree growth, which through being sandy, rocky, or low lying, cannot be treated as agricultural lands. The Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior is taking a practical interest in the farmer's woodlots of Ontario, in an effort to make otherwise useless land supply hardwood lumber to an easer market, with profitable returns to the wood lot owner. Parties interested in this matter should correspond with the Department at Ottawa, which is already giving practical assistance on important tracts. Foresters will be supplied by the Department to look over tracts of timbered land, estimate the quantity of timber, advise as to what species to encourage or plant according to the locality and general conditions, and suggest a general working plan. Such scientific knowledge, the result of former investigations, will be of great benefit to private owners and should be sought after at once.

ALGONQUIN NATIONAL PARK.

The high altitude of the Algonquin National Park of Ontario, is one of the attractions and has much to do with the benefit derived from a visit to it. The elevation above sea level at Algonquin Park Station, the objective point on the railway, is 1700 feet. There is tonic quality to the air which must be experienced to be understood. With prevailing winds from the north and the west, the air is purified by its journey over millions of square miles of forest land, much of which is pine and balsam. The "Highland Inn" offers exceptionally good accommodation to visitors and any season of the year is a good time to visit this territory. The Inn is open all the year round. Handsome publication and all information free on application to A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, G. T. Ry., Toronto, Ont.

WESTERN PROGRESS

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

A Linen Shower.

Miss Celia Crough, of Smith, was the recipient of a linen shower from her girl friends on Saturday night. A delightful evening was spent by the young people.

The boy's appetite is often the source of amazement. If you would have such an appetite take Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only create a healthy appetite, but strengthen stomach and enable it to do its work naturally. For sale by all dealers.

Ladies' Aid Meeting.

A special meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George street Methodist church will be held this evening.

Case Adjourned Until To-morrow.

The case which was to come up in the County Court yesterday in connection with the Children's Aid Society, was adjourned until to-morrow at 10 a.m.

Police Court.

City Treasurer Adams officiated at the Police Court yesterday morning, in the absence of Police Magistrate Dumble. George Edwards, an outsider was charged with being drunk. He pleaded guilty but was allowed to go on the promise that he would get out of the city immediately.

Funeral Notice.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Ellen Rogers, who passed away on Sunday last, will take place from the family residence, Murray street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, at 9 o'clock, this morning, proceeding from thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

Well Pleased With The West.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. R. E. McKee, of 405 Walton street, returned home after a three months' trip to the West. He is quite enthusiastic over the outlook, and regards the West as the land of great opportunities and of greater possibilities.

A Painful Injury.

While working in the Canadian General, Garnet Ableson, an employee, yesterday morning had the misfortune to have his hands and arms painfully burned. He was taken to the Nicholls Hospital in Comstock's ambulance and his injuries dressed by Dr. Young, and is now doing nicely.

Mark Hambourg's Recital.

Mark Hambourg's Recital last night brought together an appreciative audience. His interpretation of the great masters proved him to be a pianist of rare ability. The audience was not as large as the merits of the artist demanded, probably due to the rather meagre way in which his coming was advertised.

Rev. Mr. Rollins' Lecture.

Rev. James Rollins, the popular pastor of St. Andrew's Church, delivered an address last night in the Lecture Room of the Church, on the subject of "A Prince of the Sea." The lecture was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. A very enjoyable musical programme was also presented.

C.P.R. Grain Route.

The construction of the new C.P.R. grain route is rapidly progressing. The contractors are hustling the work and hope to have it completed by the end of the year. The Company is making a good job of it, the roadbed being as near level as it is possible to make it, so that large trains may be hauled with the least possible cost.

Will Keep Their Men Employed.

—The Bell Telephone Company will employ their regular summer force during the winter in cable-laying, so as to accommodate their ever-increasing list of subscribers. Cables will be laid in the suburbs of the city, which will of course, have the effect of doing away with unsightly poles. Surely this example might well be followed by the other companies having pole rights on the streets.

Hon. Mr. Stratton's Horses.

The public generally will regret to learn that Mr. Stratton has decided to dispose of his horses. They will be disposed of by public auction on Wednesday next, in Toronto. These magnificent animals were known to horsemen and others not only in Ontario and Quebec, but also across the border, where they won many valuable prizes. The closing of Mr. Stratton's stables will be a distinct loss to Peterborough.

Funeral of the Late Richard Milburn.

The funeral of the late Richard Milburn, who was accidently drowned last week, took place to-day at 3 o'clock to Little Lake cemetery.

The cortege leaving the house at 2.30, was headed by the Sons of England, to which the deceased man belonged.

Although rain was falling heavily, there were many friends and fellow-workmen of the deceased present and a fair number of the Sons of England, under President Runnett, were also present and acted as pall-bearers. An impressive service was held in the house previous to proceeding to the cemetery, and the last rites were conducted at the graveside by Rep. F. J. Sawers, of St. Luke's church.

An Important Conference.

There will be an important conference held in the local Y.M.C.A. on Friday evening, October 20th, when the Physical Directors of the Y. M. C. A's. of Ottawa, Kingston, Belleville, Port Hope, Oshawa, Orillia, Midland, Collingwood and Peterborough, will meet to discuss their work Dr. Brown, Jr., of the International Committee, New York, will be present to address the Conference. Similar gatherings of the physical directors will be held at Toronto and in Western Ontario.

Burned His Coat.

A well known citizen while passing up Water street yesterday, was seen to leave a streak of smoke behind him as he passed along the street. A passing friend called his attention to it, when it was found that his pipe which he had put in his overcoat pocket, had set the garment on fire. The citizen quickly removed the coat, just as it burst into flames. The coat was utterly destroyed.

The Case Dismissed.

County Magistrate Edmison yesterday dismissed the charge against Fred L. Payne, of enticing a ward of the Catholic Emigration Society away from his foster home. After hearing the evidence the Magistrate thought it insufficient and had the case dismissed. Mr. R. Ruddy acted for the defendant, while Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the complainant.

Will Avoid Peterborough.

Lindsay Post: In connection with the proposed improvements on the G. T.R. line between Port Hope and Millbrook and running through Bethany, will be considerably improved. The grain trains will then take this route to the front instead of passing through Peterborough. There is absolutely no truth in the rumors that the train crews would be removed to Belleville when the proposed improvements are made.

West Ends For Toronto.

The West End Rugby team will go to Toronto on Saturday to play the return game in the junior O.R.F.U. series with the Toronto Central Y. M.C.A. team. The local team is confident of making a better showing than they did here on Saturday. Naturally a little disappointed, the players are not disheartened and will endeavour to pull out a victory on Saturday. With that end in view, they are practicing every night.

Not Our Own Frank Fairen.

The report that "Frank Fairen" had gone to the bottom of the Scugog river, gave some of the original Frank Fairen's friends here somewhat of a shock yesterday. One son of Frin told a Times man that he thought it rather queer, as he knew Frank was a good swimmer and was long enough in the legs to touch the bottom anywhere in that stream. Frank no doubt regrets the accident which has overtaken the vessel which is named after him. But his sorrow no doubt will be assuaged by the knowledge that only great men have steamboats and things called after them, and that he is now paying the penalty of his greatness.

A Clever Student.

The many friends in Peterboroogh of Mr. Lawrence Uglow, M.A., B.SC. of Queen's University, Kingston, will be pleased to learn that he has been awarded the president's gold medal and first prize by the Canadian Mining Institute for a competative essay open to students of Canadian Universities and embodying students' research work on any scientific problems. Mr. Uglow's subject was the origin of a newly discovered nickel deposit in the Porcupine camp. Two years ago the Canadian Mining Institute prizes were won by another graduate of Queen's School of Mining. The Times heartily congratulates "Larry" on his success.

OBITUARY

Mr. John Ryan.

There passed away at his late residence, 138 Rubidge street, at one o'clock yesterday morning, an old and highly esteemed citizen in the person of Mr. John Ryan, aged 70 years. The late Mr. Ryan was born in Otonabee, and became a resident of Peterborough about 30 years ago, following the occupation as grain buyer. He was widely known and greatly respected throughout the county and district. Latterly he worked for the Sturgeon Falls Pulp Co.

Deceased has been for a number of years a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

Those left to mourn his demise are his wife, one son, Robert, of Peterborough, and one daughter, Mrs. D. B. Mullen, Edmonton, Alta; also three sisters, Mrs. A. P. Morgan, city; Mrs. W. Mann, Smith; Mrs. Kimble, Kansas; one half-sister, Mrs. Dr. Morrison, city, and one half brother, Mr. Thos. Barrie.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. G. W. Henderson will officiate.

Mr. Alexander Grieve.

On Monday there passed peacefully away at the family residence, 47 Dennistoun avenue, an old and respected resident, in the person of Mr. Alexander Grieve, aged 70 years. The deceased had been a resident of Peterborough for about 20 years, having previous to that been engaged in farming in Smith township. He was a man of many good and noble qualities, and was widely known and highly esteemed. Seven months ago he lost his wife, who had been his faithful and loving companion for many years. He had been in poor health for some time, so that his demise was, therefore, not entirely unexpected.

Mr. Grieve was a consistent member of St. Paul's church.

A niece, Miss Sadie Walton, has been a member of the Grieve family for some time. There are no children surviving. With the niece, three sisters are left to mourn his loss, Mrs. Ludgate, Boissevain, Man., Mrs. Cowan, Orangeville; and Mrs. Melrose, Guelph.

The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon, service at the house at 2.30. Interment will take place at Little Lake cemetery.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Mattie B. Robertson, B. A., has returned from Fenelon Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hamilton, of Galt, are the guests of Mrs. Goodfellow, London street.

Miss Pearl Haskill of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

Mrs. John Stiner has returned after a visit with her sister, Mrs. C. Haus, Schenectady, N.Y.

Mrs. W. Gordon Hall will receive at her home, 495 Gilmour street, tomorrow, from 4 to 6 p.m., and afterwards on the second Tuesday of each month.

Mr. Homer Levoie, the engineer on the Belleville train, returned to-day from New York, where the funeral of his nephew took place. The deceased was killed on the Illinois Central Ry. near Chicago.

Mr. Ed. Renton, after an absence in the west of seven years, has returned to Peterborough on a visit. His many friends in this city will be pleased to learn that he is doing well, having made considerable money in real estate.

Rev. Prof. Scott, of Queen's University, Kingston, passed through the city yesterday from Fenelon Falls, on his way home. At the cataract village he occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church morning and evening on Sunday last.

The many friends of Mr. Harry Elsom, of Millbrook, who suffered a fracture of his right leg almost a year ago, will be pleased to learn that after asuccessful operation, performed recently by Drs. Turner, Millbrook, and Halliday, Peterborough, the injured member has successfully healed.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

MR. STRATTON IS WRONG.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I noticed in a recent issue of The Examiner an article entitled "Mr. Stratton States His Position in Relation to Provincial Politics," in which he is reported to gave given the reasons for the recent defeat of the Liberal party. Now, Sir, I am a Liberal, and always have been. I did not vote against my party because I loved the Tories, but for other reasons. Mr. Stratton does his friends as well as himself, an injustice when he attributes the deflection of the party to other reasons. I can tell him a few of the causes which led to the overthrow of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his party, among st which I might mention:

1. The people did not forget the action of Sir Wilfrid in tendering the "homage" of the people of Canada to the Papal dignatories who came to Canada in connection with the Eucharistic congress.

2. They did not forget the insults which were gratuitously heaped upon those of the Protestant faith by Father Vaughan.

3. They did not forget that when the western provinces were being formed Rome, through a special obligate at Ottawa, (sent for that purpose) the Confessional schools were saddled on the provinces. It was an open secret that Rome was consulted in regard to framing the constitutions of these provinces, and the government submitted to Rome's dictation.

4. They did not forget Sir Wilfrid's extraordinary attitude at the Imperial Conference in London a short time ago.

5. They did not forget the action of Sir Wilfrid in trying to force through Parliament a treaty with the neighboring republic that stood for disintegration of the British Empire.

6. They did not forget the ne temere decree, in which the children of Protestants are characterized as bastards, and his government refused to give relief.

These are only a few of the real causes of the defeat of our party. I could mention other local reasons. Mr. Stratton blames Protestants for standing together, but has nothing to say against our friends the Romanists for doing the same thing. Look at Ennismore, for instance: 189 votes for Strattan and 16 for his opponent. Only one Roman Catholic was man enough to sign Mr. Burnham's nomination papers, and this gentleman probably, was the only one that voted for him.

In conclusion let me suggest to Mr. Stratton that it would perhaps be better for all concerned if he adopted another tact, and placed the blame where it properly belongs.

An Old Liberal.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I think, Sir, the Bell Telephone Company is deserving of unstinted praise for its policy of placing its wires underground, and thus doing away with poles on the streets. Surely our Council can do something in regard to the removal of the poles from the streets in the business section. The telegraph company appears to be the greatest offender.

I hope the press will take the matter up without delay.

Civis.

THE RIGHT MAN.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see The Times suggests Mr. G. N. Gordon as a candidate for the Ontario Legislature. Now, Sir, I would have preferred that Mr. Stratton would stand, because of his long experience in the field of politics. But as he will not do so, I think Mr. Gordon is the next best man. He is clean, and has everything in his favor. Mr. Gordon has a brilliant future before him in the political arena, should he decide to become a politician. He is a capital speaker, and would be able to see that Peterborough got all she is entitled to from the Legislature. I do not know whether or not Mr. Gordon would consent to accept the nomination, but if he does I am sure he would be heartily supported. If he should not there are others to select from, but none to my mind and to the minds I believe of a large majority of the electors, so acceptable as Mr. Gordon

COLD IN THE HEAD

What's the sense in sneezing and Sniffling, dosing with purgatives, or bothering with atomizers?

Catarrhozone

A convenient inhaler treatment is the proper remedy to cure quickly and pleasantly.

Sensible people long ago abandoned the idea of "working off" a cold by means of laxatives and purgatives for the simple reason that the cure is as bad as the disease itself.

To cure a cold in about ten minutes' time use Catarrhozone. It is aromatic, delightful to inhale, clean and very simple to use.

Catarrhozone is a vegetable antiseptic, and perfectly safe and harmless. Even children and infants can use it. The vapor is inhaled at the mouth, and after passing through the respiratory organs is exhaled slowly through the nostrils.

Catarrhozone never disappoints, it stops sneezing, coughing and running at the eyes, by a few inhalations. In flammation, congestion and all irritation disappear under the influence of Catarrhozone more quickly than can be told.

C. B. College, of Clarence Street, London, says:—"I had a continuous cold in the head for years, and never used anything with such quick results as I derived from five minutes' use of Catarrhozone. I am delighted to find a remedy that cures colds in a few minutes. Catarrhozone cures every time."

To carry a Catarrhozone Inhaler in the pocket means you won't have colds, catarrh or any lung or throat trouble. It keeps these diseases away and is warranted to protect you against all the ills of winter. Complete outfit, with Hard Rubber Pocket Inhaler costs $1.00. Small size, 25 cents. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Prop.

Court of Revision

Notice is hereby given that a sitting of the Court of Revision of the City of Peterborough, will be held in the City Council Chamber, on the evening of Wednesday, the first day of November, 1911, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of hearing appeals respecting the assessment roll of the said city, made in the year 1911, for the year 1912.

Dated the 16th day of October, 1911.

S. A. ARMSTRONG,
Clerk.

Social Postponed.

The pie social that was to have been held at the George street Methodist church last evening, under the auspices of the Epworth League, was postponed on account of the inclemency of the weather. It will be held next Monday evening, October 23rd, at 8 o'clock.

BASKETBALL.

The basketball season has opened again, the activities in this direction showing themselves in a league, in which four teams will compete. The teams are as follows:

Athletics—C. Arnott, H. Knapman, C. Stewart, K. Brown, W. Fair.
Giants—C. Brown, A. Horsefield, S. Routley, H. Stewart, R. Anderson, M. Powell.
Hungry Five—G. Matthews, H Long F. Moran, H. Armstrong, R. Stratton.
White Sox—W. Heaslip, O. Cavanah, M. Sucee, O. Moore. W. Adams.

The first game of the league, which promises to be aswift one, will be played when the Giants will tackle the White Sox, and the Hungry Five will meet the Athletics, Saturday next.

Mr. T. O'Connell of Rochester, N.Y., is home on a visit, after an absence of 50 years.

ENNISMORE AND FRANK HILL.

Messrs. F. Kennedy and J. Mahoney, were the guests of Miss B. Flynn on Sunday last.

Miss Alice Crough has returned home after visiting friends in Peterboro.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. T. Hickey, who has been in St. Josephs Hospital for some time is recovering.

Miss Laura Doran is spending her holidays under the parental roof.

Mr. D. Sullivan and family are moving to the city in a few weeks.

One of Ennismore's most highly respected residents passed away yesterday in the person of Miss Lizzie Collins. She is survived by a sorrowing mother and two brothers who reside at home.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Martin's Church last Tuesday when Miss Mary Sullivan, eldest daughter of Michael Sullivan, became the bride of Mr. P. Anglesey, son of Mr. R. Anglesey, Young's Point. Mr. and Mrs. Anglesey will reside at Young's Point.

Mr. Frank Crough spent Sunday the guest of Mr. Edward Hickey.

THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour.

(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

Love laughs at others than locksmiths! He mocks the plans of sober business.

The Great Trust Co. said: "Go!"

The girl pleaded: "Stay."

The Great Trust Co.'s command imposed months of exile in the shadows of the big woods. The girl asked only for a few hours before that exile was begun.

The Great Trust Co. was impersonal and curt; a corporation with tentacles so far-flung that, though the soul of it was hot where its mighty schemers wrought in secret, its extremities, that did its will in execution, were cold and callous.

But the girl was not impersonal. Tears were in her eyes, though her lips pouted when he strove against her urgings. And she was so cozy and small that he could have hidden her in his arms where she stood on the station platform — and with difficulty kept himself from doing so.

And, when her hands crept into his, he forgot the huge, cold, impersonal corporation, let the train go on without him, went home with her in that everlasting partnership of two — and lost twenty-four hours. And what twenty-four lost hours meant in the affairs of the men of the north country he discovered after he had left the girl.

Harry George had some sort of excuse for not realising what penalties this delay on his part incurred, for he had been waiting three weeks for the Great Trust Co. to decide on his application. But a young forester cannot be insistent.

The brain and heart of the Great Trust Co. are in Montreal. Granite and mystery surround. The mystery has many names. Its agents in the far St. John country know it as the Great Trust Co. It is said that, under other names to shield its clutching fingers, it reaches to grasp the water powers and to hold for its own the great forests of the nation.

When George answered its summons, he went up into the towering building on St. James street and found no mystery. He was directed to the one whose name he had given as a passport at the gate that closed the avenue of rubber matting. Beyond the door marked "Superintendent of Field Work," he expected to find — well, the Great Trust Co. personified in some degree, in flesh and blood. The listless little man who waved him to a chair with a hand that held a cigarette did not seem qualified to dictate for the baronies of forest and mountain and lake and river.

"Mr. George," he began, and then picked languidly among the papers on his desk. The packet that he secured and flicked idly, as he talked, contained the forester's letters and credentials.

"Mr. George!" He snapped away the cigarette butt. "This Great Trust country! Have you been there?"

"No, sir."

"That will not make much difference in your efficiency as far as we are concerned." He tapped some pencil jottings on the back of George's indorsements. "I have ordered two of our explorers to meet you at Norray Junction; that's on the main line through to St. John. I have written their names here — Smart and Niles. They'll take you on to Corran-che. That's your jumping-off place. Branch line and logging railroad. You'll outfit there at our company store."

The young man took his papers from the hand that extended them.

"You will please understand, Mr. George that as a practical forester you are cooperating with our explorers. Merely cooperating, I will say. They know more about present commercial values of standing timber than you do." It was plainly not to soften this blunt appraisal that he added: "They're old-fashioned woodsmen, the kind that can go through a stand of timber on the jog trot and estimate better with the eye in one day than a professional forester can with his calipers in a month."

George felt sundden anger, the dictum was so listlessly decisive. He bent his tongue between his teeth, however.

"We've got men enough to tell us what timber is worth, standing. You are something of an experiment with us. We want you to go through with those men on the fly, and report your opinion as to the future; it isn't sawmill business with us, you understand. We could throw away a twenty-five-thousand-dollar sawmill a few years from now and not feel it. But a million-dollar pulp mill is a different proposition. That anchors us. We want your opinion of prospects, of needs in the conservation line, of plans for replenishing — what to take at present, and what to leave. It's scout work, you understand. Legs and eyes. You seem to have good legs!"

It was the first time the little man had shown that he noticed the personality of this new servant of the Great Trust Co.

George flushed and got upon his feet. The reference to the personal seemed to indicate that the superintendent had finished his business talk.

"Then I am not to stop for actual plotting and measurements, sir?"

"Mr. George, we have a million or so acres bought, and more than a million under consideration. The word 'stop' doesn't belong with your job. We are hiring only a few pairs of eyes instead of an army of caliper chaps. The caliper fellow follows you when you have reported. Will you kindly pay very strict attention to these last words of mine? They're the important part of your instructions."

George, towering with his six feet of sturdy manhood over the little man who squinted at him, bowed.

"You are going into a queer place — the Great Trust country — where there happen to be strange conditions just at present. You are not to interest yourself in those conditions, or to waste time up there inquiring into them. You are to get into the woods as quietly as possible. You are to stay there. The fewer people who know just why you are there, the better. Keep your eyes on trees instead of human beings. Otherwise, you won't be of any value to us." He had pushed a button, and the boy had appeared. "Call at the treasurer's office on your way out. The boy will show you. Your expenses will be advanced. You can reach Norray Junction to-morrow night, if you start to-day. Our men have orders to meet you there."

George started that day. His celerity in getting out of Montreal would have interested even the listless little man of the Great Trust Co. From the telegraph office nearest to the big building, he sent two messages; the little man would have been pleased to know that he put business first — he ordered his trunk from his boarding house in Westmount, directing that it be put on the train that was to take him through that city. Then, he wrote a second message, lingering over it as though trying to soften its brutal abruptness.

"Good news, bad news. Am passing through Toronto on international to-day. The big folks have taken me. Can you come to station for a word?"

It was addressed to the girl.

Then, he raced to the Grand Trunk station, wholesome example for all young men — a faithful servant, who had heard, and who obeyed. Outwardly an example; inwardly, he realized and confessed to himself that the wings of haste were plumed principally for Toronto. And yet it was his firm determination to rush on. He told her so — confessed it to her in the first jumble of speech after he had greeted her on the station platform.

"But where — where does this new work take you, dearest?" she asked, her upraised eyes brimming.

"North, under the big trees."

"A week — a fortnight?"

"Months," he owned, trying to smile.

"Months — months? And you dancing along on your way like this with only a pat and a good-by for poor little me? Harry George, you get your coat and your bag, and come with me and ask my pardon."

"Mary, they have told me to go. I must——"

"And I tell you you must stay. There is a to-morrow for your baleful old business. Months — and you ready to run away and deny to me a few poor little minutes — till to-morrow! Why, Harry George, can you stand there and look at me and repeat that you meant it?"

"But, men are waiting. And, Mary ——"

"I am waiting I am here."

"It was then that she put her hands into his and pleaded. She did not listen to him. He had never found her willing to listen to the serious things of lifelife. Life had not worn its solemn visage when it fronted her winsome daintiness. She had always laughed life and seriousness, and the matter-of-fact that takes care for the morrow, out of their doldrums. He had wished sometimes — chiding himself for his New England prosiness — that she would listen a bit more patiently to his grave plans for their future, instead of insisting on playing butterfly among the flowers of their love. But Mary Laroche, transplanted from the South! He had always sighed, kept his counsel, surrendered his hands to hers, and allowed her to lead him.

"Come," she cried, "obey, you big boy who would play truant! One cigar you shall smoke after dinner with père. And then all for me, to tell me of the big woods and how you shall make the great fortune with which we shall live happy ever after. I will listen, this time. I will sit very close, maybe on your knee, and listen; and, if your story is pleasing, you shall have, perhaps, the reward."

There were no tears in her eyes, now. She had been a bit shocked and frightened at his astonishing attempt to break through her soft fetters. But now she was sure of him. She lifted his big hand to her lips as earnest of the promised reward.

More listless, more impersonal, now, seemed the little man back in the big office; the man who had been making him wait three weeks, and now sent him away like a rocket. Nearer, dearer, more delicious than ever before seemed this little girl, pressing close to him, regardless of envious passers-by, careless of the grins of porters. To the nearest of these she turned, still clinging to her captive.

"Bring his coat and bag from the car," she commanded. "At once. Hurry!" And she reached up both hands, standing on tiptoes, and put her pink fingers over his lips. "You shall not go," she panted, "until you have left me love enough to last till you come back again!" And so he forgot the listless man, forgot the appointment at Norray Junction, and went with her.

He remembered all of them in the

CANNIBALS OF NEW GUINEA

Another Scientific Expedition Will Shortly Visit British New Guinea to Study Habits and Customs of Natives.

Mr. D. Jenness, of Balliol College, England, is about to leave on a scientific expedition in British New Guinea. The undertaking, which has been organised by the University, and the cost of which is being borne by private subscribers, will involve at least twelve months' work. The objects are chiefly anthropological. From New Zealand Mr. Jenness will proceed to the extreme south-easterly corner of British New Guinea, to which region work will be confined. The headquarters will be on Goodenough Island, the most northerly part of the D'Entrecasteaux Archipelago. There it is intended to study the habits and customs, the arts and religion of the inhabitants, who are thought to be an intermixture of the Melanesian and Papuan peoples. The district selected has been specially chosen, as although it is the most accessible portion of Papua for such an expedition it remains absolutely untouched. There is one mission station on the coast, and occasionally the Government official lands, but the interior has never been explored. It is known that cannibalism exists among the natives.

ROCKS RUN RED WITH BLOOD

Brown Assyrian Sweeps Down Annually on Pacific Haunt of Primeval Nature, and Slaughters the Mutton Bird in Millions.

There are some virgin spaces in the world yet. There is Stewart Island, for example, in the South Pacific south of New Zealand. Although only fifteen miles from the mainland its rocky promontories and stupendous headlands are still the haunt of primeval nature. Only the boom of the southern surf and the cry of the wheeling sea birds That is all for eleven months of the year. In the twelfth a portion of that virgin solitude is ruthlessly disturbed. The quiet coves and shelly beaches of the island become a shambles running with innocent blood while man, the master butcher, conducts an orgy of slaughter.

For Stewart Island and the group of rocky land specks that surround it are the home of that marvellous migrant, the sooty or short tailed petrel, a brownish black bird about the size of an English wood pigeon, popularly known throughout Australasia as the mutton bird, because of a faint resemblance between its cooked flesh and mutton.

The mutton bird is a migrant, but the Sewart Island group is its breeding home, and thither it comes every season to lay its eggs, hatch its young and remain till the young birds are able to fly away to the north with the parent birds, those which do not fall victims to the organized savagery of the brown barbarans.

So wonderfully is the homing instinct developed in the mutton bird that each pair of birds rear their young in the same nest year after year. Identical markings on young birds reared in the same hole during successive seasons have proved this remarkable fact.

The female birds all lay on or about the same day and at the same time. Some of the mutton bird catchers actually assert that all the birds lay exactly on the same day, but such unanimity seems hardly possible.

The islands known as mutton bird islands are claimed by different Maori families who during April and the early part of May go and live upon these small tempest swept dots of earth rocks in the great Southern Pacific. The brown Assyrian sweeps down on the mutton bird fold at nighttime, lighting himself thereto with unconscious irony by the flare of a torch dipped in mutton bird oil. The butchery of the young birds is a pitiful sight.

Evolution of the Nursing Bottle.

The original nursing bottle was a cow's horn, to the small end of which were sewn two pieces of leather, as a finger of a glove, and the infant drew its nourishment, between the stitches. Fifteenth century mothers used to nurse their babies for close upon three years, a duration still customary among the Japanese and Greenlanders. In the time of the Stuarts it had declined to between eighteen months and two years. In the time of the Georges it fell to one year, and now the average is reckoned as eight months. During the Hanoverian period the practice of feeding babies artificially became somewhat common. Cow's milk was not then considered just the food for a baby deprived of its mother's milk, and the substance called "pap" was introduced throug. the cow's horn. "Pap" was a mixture of crust soaked water and sugar. A baby that thrived on it was usually one of rare constitution.

One Truthful Fisher

His eyes gleamed with triumph as he strode into the presence of his wife.

"You talk about luck," he exclaimed; "just look at these fish, Maria. Just look at them!"

After gaping at them for a few moments she said—

"I suppose they weigh about two pounds each, don't they?"

"I will be truthful with you," he said, as he gently handled his booty. "I have had them weighed, and they average only one pound and a quarter each."

While his wife eyed him in astonishment, he continued—

"You just ought to have seen the three that got off my hook."

"Were they big four-pounders?"

"Guess again, Maria."

"Were they six-pounders, the kind that are so often hooked and never caught?"

"You're wrong, my dear; you're wrong again. Guess once more."

"Surely they didn't weigh about eight or ten pounds apiece?"

"You are anything but a good guesser," he replied. "I tell you what it is, Maria. I may not be much of an adept when it comes to angling, but when it comes to telling the truth, I'm at home there. Those fish that got off my hook were not large at all. They were about the size of sardines."

THE PROBLEM OF GROWING OLD

Some of the More Apparent Causes that Account for Changed Appearances in the Later Years of Life.

The growing old of an organism is not merely the result of the lapse of so much time; it is the inevitable outcome of a progressive failure of its vital activities. A man of 30 or 90 years old may be only as old physiologically as a man of 50 or 60, whereas a man of 40 or 50 may be, as to his tissues, as old as another but more vigorous man of 60 or 70 years. Every living organism, vegetable or animal, must go through the stages of growth, prime and decay; this sequence is inherent in the constitution and mode of action of protoplasm. We have the seed, the seedling, the young tree, the full grown specimen, the decayed oak, and, finally, the lifeless, hollow form. The living organism is like a projectile fired from a gun — it ascends, it reaches its highest point, and it inevitably descends to earth again.

Growing old is a progressive diminution in functional capacity which, on the whole, will not be recovered from. In old age the heart beats more feebly (but not more slowly), and it is more easily depressed by fatigue and cold and more easily overcome by the rise of its internal pressure. Less nourishment, too, is absorbed, fat not usually being stored in the body. The skin, in particular, receiving less blood, shrinks and withers; its hair-follicles produce less or no pigment, and the hairs in consequence grow grey or white. Not that grey hair by itself necessarily indicates senility; it may indicate no more than an early displayed and usually hereditary tendency to diminished formation of melanin, the colouring matter of skin and hair. The powers of assimilating food having diminished, the appetite tends to fail in old age. But if no surplus food is taken, there can be no laying down of fat, and so the lean figure is produced — "The sixth age shifts into the lean and slippered pantaloon.... His youthful hose well saved, a world too wide for his shrunk shanks."

JACK TAR AND HIS SUNDAY

What Was Once a Picturesque Institution Aboard British Men-o'-War is Today a Fruitful Source of Irritation.

The question of the observance of Sunday in the Navy appears to have been engaging attention both in Britain and in America. In the British service a brisk discussion has been going on in regard to the oppressive routine now carried out every Sunday, which is chiefly the outcome of the cleaning necessary to make the vessel as smart as possible for the captain's weekly inspection. In the United States the Secretary of the Navy has issued orders for a more strict observance of the Sabbath and for the abolition of captains' inspection on Sundays. With the British reverence for ancient institutions it is hardly likely that a similar step will be taken in our own naval service. For years past it has been customary for the captain to inspect the ship's company on Sundays, and to make a tour of the vessel, examining every department. In preparation for this elaborate ordeal the men have to spend a lot of time in cleaning and polishing the ship's fittings and interior, although such work has already been performed once on the previous day. In past times, when ships were not so continuously employed in war training both by day and night as they are now, the captain's Sunday rounds were a picturesque institution, but they appear to have become a fruitful source of irritation to officers and men alike, as the present controversy afloat and in service newspapers shows.

A Great Postage Waste

Thirty-four thousand dollars in postage stamps is wasted every month by the people of the United States.

This is shown by the report of Superintendent Young, of the dead letter office in the Postoffice Department. Mr Young says that 1,000,000 post cards and 1,200,000 letters are received at the dead letter office every month. Exclusive of the cost of the souvenir postals, the 1-cent stamps used to carry them represent an investment of $10,000. No effort is made to return the postal cards. They are destroyed as soon as received. Of the letters, about 40 per cent are returned to the writer. Those remaining are destroyed.

At the present time dead letters weighing more than half a ton are on their way from Denver, Col. Many of the letters undoubtedly contain money and valuables. When the owners of articles of worth cannot be found, the goods are sold at public auction.

Chicago's Latest

Chicago is planning to reduce its fire waste by annually designating one day to be known as Fire Prevention Day. It was first proposed to select October 9, the date of the great Chicago fire, but a movable date seems advisable. This would enable the schools to take part, and would prevent the undesirable event of the date falling on Sunday or Monday. The date would be devoted to exhibits and instruction in fire prevention.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at

Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 20 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Dr. Mrs. ADAM SHORTT

This lady, who prior to her marriage with Dr. Adam Shortt, was Miss Elizabeth Smith of Hamilton, Ont., is one of Canada's very busy women, having quite a long list of self-imposed duties to cover in connection with the different branches of work that appeal specially the fair sex, in Ottawa and elsewhere in the Dominion, having indeed earned no small share of distinction in a number of the outstanding departments of women's work in her pre-nuptial days. Since her marriage Mrs. Shortt has taken a very deep interest in all forms of philanthropy, especially that pertaining to the public health. She is at present convenor of the Public Health Committee of the National Council of Women, and is on a similar committee, of which Lady Aberdeen is convenor, in the International Council. She is also keenly interested in the Anti-Tuberculosis Crusade. She is an active member of the Y.W.C.A. having held the office of president in the Kingston branch for several years, during her residence in that city. Mrs. Shortt it was who first wrote to Queen's University to ask for separate classes for women and was the first regularly matriculated woman student to enter the University. In 1884 she graduated in medicine, one of the first three women to do so, and besides her degree from Queen's she holds a diploma from the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, so that she was able to practice medicine, which she did for two years in Hamilton. In Ottawa, Mrs. Shortt holds the office of vice-president of the Women's Canadian Club, vice-president of the Council of Women, and belongs as well to the Women's Historical Society and to the Mothers' Union.

Mrs. Shortt was born at Kingston, and her husband, who for a number of years was Professor of Political Economy at Queen's University is now Commissioner of the Civil Service at Ottawa.

Dr. Mrs. ADAM SHORTT, A Canadian Woman of Distinction

Have as little as possible to do with people you cannot trust; when on marshy ground tread lightly, and get over it as rapidly as you can.

If you sit down and allow your mind to dwell on the evil characteristics in your neighbors, you willfully bring yourself to their level, and are associating from choice with the worst that you can find in them instead of dwelling with and assisting the good you may also find, and with less trouble.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 60,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Electric Fixtures at First Cost.

We call the attention of the public to the advertisement of the Electrical Wiring, Fixture and Supply Company, 261 College street, Toronto, which is to be found in another column. Those who contemplate changing their fixtures, as well as those who have electric wiring to do, should communicate with the company. By doing so they will procure fixtures at first cost—wholesale to all. Peterborough references as to the high quality of their fixtures given if desired.

It is not the quantity of food taken but the amount digested and assimilated that gives strength and vitality to the system. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets invigorate the stomach and liver and enable them to perform their functions naturally. For sale by all dealers.

DELIVERY OF THE TIMES.

Subscribers to The Times are asked to immediately report to the office every case of irregular or late delivery of their paper.

Hearty co-operation in this regard is appreciated because in no other way may such errors be remedied.

It is the determination of The Times to provide a prompt and regular delivery to its subscribers and the latter by reporting ALL complaints can do much to guarantee a perfect service.

Real Estate, Mining and Industrial Investments

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realise that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Couldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 30 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Present Allotment of 25,000 Shares at 30c Going Fast

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

Rebels and Imperial Troops in Battle Waships Rained Shells on Batteries

REBELS FORCED THE GOVERNMENT TROOPS FROM THEIR POSITION, BUT LATER RETREATED ON THEIR AMMUNITION RUNING OUT.

2,000 MEN ON EACH SIDE

Correspondents Were Fired Upon—Chinese Warships Shelled Position of the Rebels in Wu Chang.

Hankow, Oct. 18.—The first battle since the arrival of the Imperial troops from the north was fought today on the north bank of the Han River, just west of this city.

Rebels Forced to Retreat.

It was decisive. The revolutionists temporarily drove the Imperial troops back from their position, but in doing so they exhausted the rifle ammunition and were compelled to retire to their base at Wu Chang.

The revolutionists, with infantry and artillery attacked the Government troops which were reinforced from the Chinese warships in the river and supported by the guns of the fleet.

British Vice-Admiral in Command.

Under command of Vice-Admiral Sir Alfred L. Winsloe, commander of the British Eastern fleet, who because of his seniority has been given the direction of the men engaged in the protection of the foreign concessions, a joint force from the foreign warships landed and drew up a line of defence.

About 2,000 revolutionists were pitted against an equal number of loyal soldiers and it was a fair fight. Early reports that the rebels outnumbered the enemy 5 to 1 were incorrect.

TELLS OF CURES MADE BY DODDS KIDNEY PILLS

Thos. Griffin, of Peace River Landing Tells How He Got Rid of His Rheumatism — Honestly Earned Popularity.

Cold Springs, Peace River Landing, Alta., Oct. 18.—(Special)—Just why Dodd's Kidney Pills retain their wonderful popularity is easily shown by a trip across the prairies. Every town, village and post-office has at least one man or woman who is ready to tell of pains relieved and health restored by the great Canadian Kidney Remedy. Let Thos. Griffin of this place add his statement to the hosts already published.

"When I came to this part of the country," says Mr. Griffin. "I was troubled with a bad back and Rheumatism in my shoulders and hips. I sent for six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they gave me relief at once. I also recommended them to my eldest son who was confined to his bed from Rheumatism.

"Now I know that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine for Rheumatism and the Kidneys. I recommend them to every person I hear complaining of not feeling well."

Dodd's Kidney Pills made their popularity by curing sick Kidneys. They keep their popularity by keeping on curing sick kidneys.

ITALIANS LOSE 100 IN BATTLE

London, Oct. 18.—A despatch to The Chronicle from Constantinople, says:

"The Italians are reported to have suffered a serious reverse outside Tripoli. Reconnoitering, they advanced to reform their base and came in contact with the Turks, who gave battle and forced the Italians to retreat hurriedly. They left 100 dead on the field."

WHY NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS ARE NEEDED

The following is a summary of the reasons given by the Board of Education for erecting new school buildings in East and West City, instead of enlarging the old structures. The reasons are concrete ones that should commend themselves to all right thinking ratepayers.

EAST CITY SCHOOL.

1. Building—
   (1) Two buildings—neither can be enlarged and repaired.
   (a) Foundation of main building defective and walls cracked—kept together with rods.
   (2) No system of ventilation.
   (3) Lighting defective—no cloak room.
   (4) Wood furnace—pipes running through the rooms.
2. No modern conveniences, and no play rooms.
3. Yard too small for games.
4. Accomodation—
   (a) Building fully taxed for accomodation at present.
   (b) Seven rooms at present used.
   (c) At present rate of increase, an eight room will be needed next midsummer.

Therefore to make provision for future growth, a twelve roomed school is necessary.

The Education Department has recently notified all City Public School Inspectors, to report to the Department before next June regarding City school buildings, under the following headings:—

(1) Water closets, (2) Water supply, (3) School grounds, (4) School buildings, (5) Class rooms, (6) Halls, (7) Cap rooms, (8) Teachers' rooms, (9) Desks, (10) Blackboards, (11) Lighting, (12) Heating.

(NOTE—It must be borne in mind that in order to enjoy the departmental grants for school purposes, conditions must come up to twentieth century requirements. And unless the sanitary conditions and accomodation provided for these two schools are not augmented and improved this city stands to come short of departmental financial aid in support of East and West City schools.)

WEST WARD SCHOOL.

1. Building—
   (1) This building is not worth enlarging, as the rooms are too small and the hall is very narrow.
   (2) The lighting is defective.
   (3) The ventilation system is very poor.
   (4) There are no cloak rooms.
2. No modern conveniences.
3. Yard quite unfit for any games, as it is very small.
4. Accomodation—
   (1) The building is overcrowded and the South Central is also overcrowded. To relieve these two schools, two extra rooms will have to be opened in the near future.
   (2) If Manual Training and Domestic Science Classes were introduced into the South Central, fully NINE rooms would be required in the new building.

To accomodate the West Ward pupils and relieve the South Ceatral School and to make provision for Manual Training and Domestic Science Classes, there will be need for NINE rooms as soon as the building is opened.

A twelve roomed building would leave room for further growth of the City.

TRIED TO BE WEDDED ON A DEER LICENSE

Quincy, Mass., Oct. 18.—Aaron Sigelman and Miss Julia Bernstein had joined hands and were about to be pronounced man and wife last night when the clergyman glanced over the license. Then he noticed for the first time that the license permitted Sigelman to hunt deer, but said nothing regarding marriage.

The irate couple immediately departed for the headquarters of the City Clerk in Boston, where the license had been procured. The clerk explained by telephone to the clergyman that Sigelman had gone to the desk where hunting licenses were issued and had not mentioned marriage.

NOTED OUTLAW BREAKS JAIL

Milledgeville, Ga., Oct. 18.—Wm. Miner and two other prisoners at the State Farm here overpowered one of the guards yesterday and escaped. A posse with dogs is on the trail. Miner with Tom Moore, serving a life sentence for murder, and John Watts in for twenty years, for murder, gagged the guard, and with his revolver took to the woods.

Miner was the leader of the gang, which on February 18th last held up and robbed a Southern railway train at Gainesville, Ga. He was sentenced to 20 years. He was wanted in Washington State and British Columbia for train hold-ups and escaped from the penitentiary at New Westminster, B.C., where he had been sentenced for robbing a C.P.R. train.

AT LAST IT LOOKS AS THOUGH WE MAY HAVE NEW CITY HALL

City Trust Commissioners' Surplus

In hand from Midland Railway Mortgage	$15,000
Yet unpaid on this mortgage	20,000
To come from C.P.R. re sale of water front lots	10,000
	$45,000

Of the above $5000 has been voted for improvements to Police Station; $1,000 for public lavatory; $1,000 for Ashburnham lot, rear of old town hall. The remainder is available for park and new City Hall purposes.

The City Fathers met last night. There were present Mayor Morrow and Aldermen Kernaghan, Anderson, Morgan, Graham, Buller, Metheral, Edgar, Duncan.

Messrs. W. H. Moore and Jas. Kendry, City Trust Commissioners, were present to discuss the Council's demand upon them for about $25,000 they wished to expend in public utilities. The City Fathers had understood that the Commissioners had $35,000 available for such purposes, and decided to secure at once a site for a new City Hall, together with a park for South City insisted upon by Ald. Buller and Ald. Duncan, and a breathing spot in East City engineered by Ald. Morgan and Anderson.

The site for the new City Hall decided upon as the best available and within a reasonable price, is the Birdsall property, at the south west corner of Water and Brock streets, where is now situated Mr. George Fitzgerald's carriage factory. The lot is 192 feet by 65 feet and at present rents for $600 a year, the tenant paying the taxes. The city has an option upon it which expires on the 20th inst.

The park lot for South City is three acres of the Henry Best property, which added to the King Edward grounds would make a play ground of six acres in extent. The city has also an option on this.

The East City scoop is that lot at rear of the old town hall—78 by 65½ feet—upon which some old shacks now being repaired by Mr. O'Connell stands, and which shacks Ald. Morgan and Alderman Anderson characterize as an eyesore, the quicker removed the better for the good name of East City. The proposition is that the city pay $1,000 for these shacks, tear them down, add the land to the adjoining old drill shed property, and give East City citizens a breathing spot in which to dream of better donations to come in the park line.

Ald. Morgan explained that whilst the city had no deed yet from the government for the old drill shed site (originally given the militia for drill shed purposes) Mr. Burnham, M.P., had assured him that Mr. M.P., had assured him that Mr. Stratton's verbal assertion that the city should receive such deed will be carried out to the letter.

After considerable discussion, a by-law embodying the foregoing propositions was unanimously adopted and the Commissioners present are going to interview their colleagues as to acquiescing in the matter, and consider ways and means of financing it.

WHERE THE MONEY WILL COME FROM.

Mr. W. H. Moore took exception to the assumption that the Commissioners had $35,000 available for municipal utilities.

The Mayor—"You told me the other day you had $35,000 available."

Mr. Moore—"I said we had a surplus of $35,000. But part of it is in mortgages not yet matured."

Mr. Moore here went into details as to this surplus, and pointed out that the Commissioners had $15,000 paid up on the Midland Railway mortgage, leaving $20,000 or $22,000 roughly speaking, not yet matured. Out of this $15,000 actually in hand, we have, he said, to pay $1,000 for the public lavatory, under the market building, $1,000 for the Ashburnham property here asked for, together with $5,000 for improvements at the Police Station. This would not leave enough to pay for the Henry Best property and the new City Hall site, and Mr. Moore asserted that the Commissioners would not use their sinking fund for such purposes.

His Worship here pointed out that there is $10,000 coming from the C.P.R. for the Water front property which could also be applied to the projects in hand.

Mr. Moore—"They need not pay that for two years."

City Solicitor—"They would be willing to pay it right away."

The Mayor—"Would there be any objection Mr. Moore, to the Commissioners borrowing their shortage from the bank? You have good security."

Mr. Moore—"That's no part of our statutory duties. We have no authority to take such a course."

Mr. Kendry—"The only thing to do is to purchase as far as funds will permit."

The Mayor here pointed out that the C.P.R. are willing to pay the $10,000 for the city front property as soon as a deed is given them. The city at the time of purchase were unwilling to give the deed until assured that the new line would come through Peterborough. Of course there seems no doubt now, and the deed can be forwarded the company, when the purchase price will follow at once. In the meantime the company is paying interest on the $10,000.

Mr. Moore here offered that the Commissioners might hold the Birdsall property as an investment for their sinking fund. That is to say buy it and hold it as security until the city furnishes whatever balance of purchase price remaining above the funds already in hand is met from the C.P.R's $10,000 or otherwise.

After considerable further discussion, the by-law providing for the purchase of the properties above mentioned was amended to read that the City Trust Commissioners hold the Birdsall property until full payment of same is provided for by the Council, and that the $10,000 from the C.P.R. be paid to their account, to be applied to the purchase of the Birdsall property.

The by-law then carried.

Messrs. Moore and Kendry will submit the demand to a full meeting of the City Trust Commissioners for action.

CITY COUNCIL GRANTS SCHOOL BOARD $85,000 FOR NEW SCHOOLS IN EAST AND WEST CITY

WILL NOT SUBMIT BY-LAW TO THE PEOPLE.

Have Exercised Power Vested in Them Under the Municipal Act—Adequate School Accomodation Must be Provided—Rapid Increase in School Attendance in All the Wards.

A large deputation from the School Board waited upon the City Fathers last night and requested that $85,000 be furnished to provide adequate school accomodation in East and West City, where the buildings are in a dilapitated condition, and too small in structure, to say nothing of want of proper ventilation and approved sanitary conditions.

Chairman John Crane presented the case in a clear and concise manner, reviewing the policy of the Board as to additional school accomodation, which on the several occasions when monetary demands had been made upon the public they had perhaps been criticized as extravagant. Results, however, had shown that their only fault had lain in not going far enough. The Collegiate Institute is now pretty well taxed to its limit, and will in the near future have to be enlarged, whilst the 12 rooms at the King Edward school are now in commission. The South Central school is congested and cannot be relieved at present either by the King Edward or West Ward schools. The Board has spent considerable money in remodelling the central buildings which now are in keeping with the newer structures in offering modern facilities for prosecuting the work of education. "I know," Mr. Crane concluded, "that we have made considerable demands upon the public of late years, which however, are fully justified in the face of Peterborough's rapidly increasing population. And this duty is thrust upon the school Board in making educational provision for the community, present and future.

Dr. Morrison, the indefatigable chairman of the committee in charge of this work, gave a clear and lucid detailed report of conditions in East and West and South Central school districts, in the course of which he explained that the attainable results from enlarging the old buildings would not warrant the expenditure thereon. The West Ward building is now a four room one and the East Ward structure a seven room one, both well taxed to their capacity. It is proposed that both the new buildings shall contain 12 rooms finished, and that they will open with nine rooms in commission. For East City the Board is expropriating three acres of Armour estate, and in the West have an option on three acres on a hill at the corner of Weller street and the boundary, as school sites. No other appropriate sites are available. In reviewing the growth in school attendance the past five years, the doctor ventured to say that two years hence, the King Edward school will be overcrowded and the South Central still congested unless a 12 roomed school is erected in West City; and at the present rate of progress the latter twelve rooms will be taxed in five years time. It is proposed, he said, to redistribute the school areas in South Central, South and West Wards. Two rooms will be required at the South Central school for Domestic Science and Manual Training which will eliminate two classes that must be provided for in King Edward and West Ward schools. This means that fully nine or ten rooms will be required in West City from the date of the new buildings opening. With the new territory to be served by the new West Ward school, situated at the boundary, third form scholars will have no further to go than now in their present enforced attendance at the Central school—owing to congestion in their own districts.

In illustration of the school congestion in the South Central district, Dr. Morrison offered that only this week a mother asked that her two little ones be permitted to attend the South Central School the King Edward being too far for them. This request could not be granted, and the youngsters are receiving no schooling.

Mr. W. H. Hill added to his colleague's report that in East City, where there are but seven rooms available, eight will be needed by next midsummer. Mr. Hill here gave a summary of the conditions of the buildings in East and West City as published under another heading.

The statute was here read showing that if the Council did not at the Board's request, pass a by-law providing the money for school purposes asked, the school board could insist that a by-law be submitted to the ratepayers.

The City Fathers were a unit in recognizing that these schools must be erected, and that East and West City had not received as fair consideration in this connection as had other Wards.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Edgar,—That a by-law be prepared to borrow $85,000 for school purposes in East and West City.—Carried unanimously.

ANOTHER SIDING.

T. Kinnear & Co. applied for the city's permission that a C.P.R. siding be laid across Dalhousie street into their premises, in order to facilitate their rapidly increasing business.

Ald. Metheral moved, seconded by Ald. Kernaghan,—That this request be granted on the usual conditions to safeguard the city's interests.—Carried.

The Chicklet Gum Co. will be notified to remove from the city property the excavation material from their building dumped there, as its presence causes the flooding of Westcott street.

Problem of the Recovery of Waste Lands Solved

PROF. FERNOW'S REPORT

In a Letter to Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., He Gives Results of His Trip to the Northern Township—A Matter That Should Early Engage the Attention of All Concerned.

Prof. Fernow, the eminent forestry expert, who completed a 200-mile trip through the northern portion of Peterborough County a few days ago, writes Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P., as follows:

Toronto, 17th October, 1911

J. H. Burnham, M.P.,
Peterboro, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I take pleasure in following out your suggestion to give you in writing my impressions and opinions regarding the important problems which your riding offers in the way of inaugurating a policy of recovering the extensive waste lands to be found in the northern townships.

Allow me at the outset to thank you for the welcome opportunity you have afforded me of becoming acquainted with these problems in such a comprehensive manner as our 200-mile ride through the country under competent guidance permitted

Forest Fires Were Wasteful.

The first impression that would strike any observant person in traveling over this country is the utter lack of rational management of the original timberlands which has given rise to these waste areas. For, the creation of these wastes, produced entirely by the inconsiderate use of the axe and carelessness in permitting fires repeatedly to run over the slashed areas, could have been avoided without foregoing any of the advantages which have been derived from the timber by lumbermen or government from their exploitation. I mean, all the timber could have been cut and yet the producing power of the land not be reduced. Where there are now hundreds of square miles of valueless brushlands and naked rock desert there could have been left a valuable forest, by this time nearly ready again for a new harvest, the basis of a thriving lumber industry.

Harvey and Galway Townships.

This part of the country, the townships of Harvey and Galway, is located on Laurentian rock. This statement is significant for it pictures at once to the initiated the soil conditions, which are typical not only for your county but for a large part of Northern Ontario and Quebec, so that the problems represented in your county are also the problems for thousands of square miles, East, North and West of you. It means a meagre and thin soil overlying the rock, with only here and there pockets of larger and better soil accumulations where farming is practicable. If there is such a thing as "absolute forest soils," this is the place to look for them. Practically, at least 75 per cent. of the country under consideration is fit solely for timber growing. Abandoned farms and others that ought to be abandoned, testify to the correctness of the diagnosis that this is for the most part not farming country. Trees can grow in fissures between the rocks, where tillage is precluded and grasslands are apt to dry out.

Area Robbed of Its Value.

This was originally a forest country, all over more or less of the same type, a mixed forest of hardwoods with pine, hemlock and spruce: the hardwoods prevailing on the better, loamier soils, the conifers on the poorer, sandier soils. Practic-

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as well as the Subsequent Payments:

No. of Shares.	Amount of First Call.	Half-yearly Payments.

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

APPLICATION FOR CAPITAL TO

I ..... hereby apply for ..... shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each of the Capital Stock of the Canada National Fire Insurance Company at the price of One Hundred and Fifteen Dollars ($115) per share, being at a premium of fifteen (15) per cent.; and I covenant and agree with the said Company to pay for the said shares as follows: Twenty-five dollars per share on application, which shall include the premium of fifteen dollars per share, and the balance in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of nine dollars per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of said shares.

I further agree to accept said shares when they are allotted to me, and I do hereby request that my name be duly registered on the books of the Company as the holder of such shares.

Applications for stock will be filed in the order received, and on approval of same by the Board of Directors a Stock Certificate will be issued and mailed forthwith.

The holder of these shares will be paid the dividends that may be declared on the same from time to time by the Board of Directors. Dividends shall be declared and apportioned in proportion to the amount paid into the Company on the par value of the shares.

Calls on shares may be paid prior to due dates, and when all of such calls have been paid a fully-paid certificate will be issued to the holder of these shares.

These shares are transferable only on the books of the Company by the owner in person or by attorney on surrender of the Certificate of Stock properly endorsed. Transfers shall not be valid unless approved by the Board of Directors.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

WERE I A BOY AGAIN

In some papers of the late Doctor Harper of the University of Chicago was found a memorandum which read like this:

"If I were a boy again, I would read every book that I could reach. I would strive to find from good books how good men lived.

"If I were a boy again I would cultivate new patience with the faults of others, and study my own with greater care. I would strive for humility.

"If I were a boy again I would more and more cultivate the company of those older, whose graces of person and mind would help me on in my work. I would always seek good company.

"If I were a boy again I would

"If I were a boy again I would I would make it a mental companion. The Bible is a necessity for every boy.

"If I were a boy again I would study the life and character of our Saviour persistently, that I might become more and more unto him."

Child Laborers.

Italy has no child labor laws, and young merchants throng the streets. The cherry vender, often scarcely in his teens, carries his luscious fruits in baskets, tucks his measure into his vest, and swings his scales over his shoulders. Thus equipped, he makes his way merrily through the city streets, calling his merchandise.

CANNIBALS OF NEW GUINEA

Another Scientific Expedition Will Shortly Visit British New Guinea to Study Habits and Customs of Natives.

Mr. D. Jenness, of Balliol College, England, is about to leave on a scientific expedition in British New Guinea. The undertaking, which has been organised by the University, and the cost of which is being borne by private subscribers, will involve at least twelve months' work. The objects are chiefly anthropological. From New Zealand Mr. Jenness will proceed to the extreme south-easterly corner of British New Guinea, to which region work will be confined. The headquarters will be on Goodenough Island, the most northerly part of the D'Entrecasteaux Archipelago. There it is intended to study the habits and customs, the arts and religion of the inhabitants, who are thought to be an intermixture of the Melanesian and Papuan peoples. The district selected has been specially chosen, as although it is the most accessible portion of Papua for such an expedition it remains absolutely untouched. There is one mission station on the coast, and occasionally the Government official lands, but the interior has never been explored. It is known that cannibalism exists among the natives.

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 2c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

Not Your Own Face

"My boy," said a wise father who knew how to play and be a "chum" with his twelve-year-old lad, "my boy, you do not own your own face." The boy looked puzzled. He had come to the breakfast table with a frowning, clouded countenance, and had started moodily to eat his food. Everybody felt the shadow of his ill spirits, evident in his looks. His father's unexpected words brought him back to life, and he looked up with a half-guilty expression, but did not understand what was meant. "You do not own your face," his father repeated. "Do not forget that it belongs to other people. They, not you, have to look at it. You have no right to compel them to look at a sour, gloomy and crabbed face."

Shoe Shops of Japan.

Writing about the shops of Japan a visitor to that country says that the typical shoe store makes a strange impression on the foreign visitor. "All the footwear of the little brown men are here in view. The funny wooden clogs and straw sandals are indeed a fanciful exhibition. They line the benches the floors, the shelves. They hang from above, and seemingly are everywhere, allowing the seller just about enough room to squat on his mat. The newcomer is at once startled at the immense quantity of this simple footwear and the many places where it is sold, but he soon finds a solution to his query when he hears that a Japanese man annually makes away with from eight to ten pairs."

THESE COME OF OLD FAMILIES

Residents of Britain Today Who Can Reliably Trace Their Genealogy Back to the Twelfth Century.

There is, of course, a good deal of truth suggested by the familiar and oft-quoted couplet—

When Adam delved and Eve span,
Who was then the gentleman?

But, like a great many other truisms, the suggested answer to the question is only a half-truth; for, though it goes without saying that we could no doubt trace ourselves back to a common stock, the fact remains that most people cannot get very far back into their family history. It speaks, therefore, very strongly for the stability of a family, and for the capacity of its members to hold their own in the ups and downs of the centuries, when a genealogy can be traced far back into the early days of our history.

Perhaps the most interesting lineage, as it is certainly one of the most ancient in England today, is that of the family of Wake, of Courteen Hall, Northampton. This is one of the oldest now existing in the male line in England, being directly traceable to the celebrated Hereward the Wake, son of Leofric, Earl of Mercia, and Lady Godiva of Coventry fame. It is not remarkable that in the family which boasts "the last of the English" as its founder, the name of Hereward, Herewald, or Herwald should be of frequent occurrence, and a Herewald Wake nobly sustained the honour of the name during the Indian Mutiny when, although a civilian, he held the Puckah House at Arrah against the Sepoys. A daughter of this house was mother of Joan (the Fair Maid of Kent), the wife of Edward the Black Prince; and Sir John Wake, with characteristic loyalty to a failing cause, mortgaged his estate to raise a troop of horse for Charles I.

Another very long pedigree is that of the Cornish family of Salusbury, Trelawny. The name is taken from Trelawne, in Cornwall, which one Eduni, an ancestor of the present family, possessed in the reign of Edward the Confessor. To this family belonged the Right Reverend Sir Jonathan Trelawny, Bishop of Bristol, who was one of the seven bishops committed to the Tower by James II.

The family of Scott of Ancrum, in Roxburghshire, boast an antique and singularly romantic history. "Uchredus, filius Scote" was witness to the foundation of Holyrood Abbey in 1124, and it was to this house that there belonged the famous wizard, Michael Scott, mentioned in the "Lay of the Last Minstrel," and also, as is probably less generally known, in Dante's "Inferno."

Few people can claim a more distinguished origin than the house of Perrott of Plumstead in Kent, said to be of ancient British descent. The founder of this family, the British Edwal, Lord of Penfro, married a grand-daughter of Alfred the Great, and the son of the marriage first took the name "de Perot" from his castle in Armorica. A later Perrott was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland in the reign of Elizabeth, and the family took a vigorous part on the Royalist side during the Civil War.

Cleopatra's Needle.

The London County Council have erected a scaffold round Cleopatra's Needle, and cleansing operations are in progress. The monolith had its last rub down some fifteen years ago. It is to be feared that the London atmosphere is beginning to tell upon the sharpness of the hieroglyphic inscriptions, and nobody has yet completely solved the problem of preserving stone or even granite surfaces against sulphuric acid deposits. The County Council's chemist has been giving attention to the matter, and he has advised the use of paraffin wax as a protective coating. The monument will therefore be scrubbed all over with water and the paraffin wax will be afterwards applied. The column, which was placed on the Embankment thirty-three years ago, is about 67 feet high.

BRIEF BUT INSTRUCTIVE

Never trust a friend in business.

Whatever is good for humanity comes from ambition and the struggle for life.

It has been said that there are three sexes: Men, women, and educated women.

You can achieve no laurels in any career if you will not scorn delights and live laborious days.

The real joys of life are found in the simple things which rich and poor alike have within their reach.

Idleness and ignorance amongst women, with the frivolity and waste they cause, are dangers to the community.

True patriotism begins not with Empire, but with home and school and suburbs and city, working outward.

The cleverest man imaginable, with the utmost possible knowledge, is a perfect nuisance if he is not "straight."

There can be no more demoralising idea than to suppose that the honours of life are all dispensed by the goddess of luck.

We are sent into the world to be supremely happy, and, if we do not achieve this, we make a hopeless muddle of things.

Train Versus Elephant

Among the remarkable photographs published in the last official report of the Federated Malay States Railways were two, showing the wreck of a passenger train and the wild elephant which caused it. The animal, apparently frightened by the noise of the approaching train, started to cross the track, and was struck by the engine. The force of the impact was sufficient to throw the engine and tender from the track. The elephant was almost instantly killed by the force of the blow and thrown into a ditch.

REFORESTRY

all the whole area is robbed of its values, fires have repeatedly swept over the slash denuding the soil of its vegetable mould, and rainwaters have washed away the unprotected soil, in many places creating real rock deserts. A growth of almost useless aspen and birch has established itself where the fire has not run thropgh for a number of years, and a small crop of pine or spruce or other conifers has come in by natural seeding, wherever the cutting of old timber of the kind had not been too close and seed trees had been left—not by design, but by accident. There is still the possibility of reclaiming most of this area, but the story of the Sibylline books may repeat itself: each year's delay means a decrease of the chance of recovery.

The problem is what to do with these vast unproductive areas, which left to themselves and to nature will not in generations produce values, and are apt to deteriorate further.

The first fact to be recognized is that no private interest can be expected to attend to the recuperation of these areas, for it will take more than a generation to bring them into productive condition. It is therefore, only the municipality, county, Province or Dominion that can be expected to occupy itself with the solution of the problem.

Financial considerations will probably deter municipalities and county to undertake the recovery of these lands. The province has already recognized its duty with regard to waste lands in the agricultural part of the province, and has in a small, I may say half-hearted way began to plant up abandoned farm areas; but as thousands of square miles of similar country are the property of the Province, the progress of their recovery will no doubt remain slow.

Dominion Should Act.

The particular area, under consideration, however, offers special reasons for interest by the Dominion; for, the Dominion has already spent some 7 or 8 million dollars in conserving and developing the remarkable water resources of this section by a series of well located and excellently constructed dams at the outflow of the many large lakes characteristic of this region. This undertaking of water conservation is one of prime importance and begun with unusual efficiency. While originally this development of water storage was designed to furnish feeders for the Trent Canal, with the development of power transmission by electric current—and before the completion of the canal which alone will give it any permanent value as a means of transportation,—the influence of this water storage on the development of water powers is by all odds the present most important function of the same.

Will Conserve Water.

Now, it is evident that anything which affects the efficiency and permanence of this work on which such large outlays have been made, should be under the control of the Dominion. The surface conditions of these practically abandoned areas which form the watersheds of the lakes that have been turned into storage basins are unquestionably of the greatest importance in the maintenance of the water supply, for, whatever may be said of the influence of forests on other climatic phenomena, the influence of surface cover, especially on the waterflow under the conditions of soil and rock of these watersheds, is undeniable.

For this reason, all water companies in the United States try to control their watersheds and in some cases which I could cite, spend even money on reforestation.

Moreover, besides this most cogent reason for Dominion interest in these problems, a demonstration of the possibilities of recovery and management of such waste land would furnish an excellent example to the provinces to engage in similar work of conservation.

It would be futile at this stage for me to go into detail as to the methods of recovery, or to expand on generalities.

Such matters cannot be discussed to advantage in general terms. Details are needed to discover what use may be made of a property, and how it could be managed most profitably.

It is, therefore, proper before advising as to details of procedure to ascertain the details of condition.

The areas involved should be looked over by expert foresters and described, the description laid down on maps—a forest reconnaissance similar, but in greater detail, to that which I have made for the Province of Nova Scotia.

Some Portions Beyond Recovery.

It will then be found, that some of these areas are absolute wastes which are beyond recovery, others which may be left to future consideration, others again which by the judicious use of the axe may be brought into better condition at once; some of them now contain material that could be made useful if by smart management a market may be found, and would assist in maintenance account; others again may be planted, or else merely protected against fire. In other words, by careful management, utilizing every means, including fishing and hunting privileges, summer tourist traffic, etc., as well as forestry products, from the start the expense of this reclamation work may be kept to a minimum.

If our Conservation Commission, of which I have the honor to be a member, is to do more than collate existing information, here would be an opportunity for effective, original, investigating and educational work, by directing such a forest reconnaissance perhaps in co-operation with the Dominion Forestry Branch.

In conclusion allow me to congratulate you on your conception of seeing your parliamentary mission in this problem of the recovery of waste lands. It is a matter in which the mere politician can hardly take an interest, for it is all work for a distant future. It is a problem of true statesmanship, which sees into the future and plans for the prosperity of coming generations.

Sincerely yours,

B. E. FERNOW.

T. C. HOLT, LTD. OF VANCOUVER

Splendid Investments Offered by This Well Known Firm.

The Times would call special attention of investors to the advertisement of the T. C. Holt, Limited, of North Vancouver, one of the most substantial and prosperous brokers and real estate firms on the Pacific Coast. Capitalists in the east are now looking to the west for safe and profitable investments, and there is probably no spot on the continent where more money has been made faster than in Vancouver real estate. North Vancouver is rapidly forging ahead, and those who are able to get in now will be sure to reap a golden harvest.

T. C. Holt, Limited, recommend the following investments to their clients :

1st—While they last, 100 Shares in the T. C. Holt Ltd. at $100 per Share. 25 per cent. on application and 10 per cent. per month until fully paid up. This Company being strictly under Government supervision is not allowed to sell their shares for less than par. We consider these shares a good and safe investment, as they will bring the investor a dividend of from 10 to 20 per cent. per year or more. Only a limited number left.

2nd—Investments in Real Estate. Remember, Mr. Investor, inside property in North Vancouver, is as yet cheaper than property in Point Grey, Fairview, South Vancouver, or Grand View, on the outskirts of Vancouver. 5 years ago an investor North Vancouver, far $10,000, to-day bought a corner on Lonsdale Avenue the same piece of property is worth $100,000.00. We can buy for our clients to-day property for investment from $1000 to $50,000.00 and over and can almost guarantee a profit of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. in a couple of years.

3rd—Investments in Mortgages and Agreements of Sale which represent a very safe and sure investment and bring in from 8 to 10 per cent. per year. Nearly every day some party calls in our office and invests his money in Mortgages or Agreements of Sale. They say they prefer absolute safety for their money with a good rate of interest, rather than no interest with a hope of increase in selling value.

Progress is the dominant note in the City of Vancouver to-day, and where progress is, where wealth accumulates, there will realty values advance, and this is inevitable in Vancouver.

Address all communications to T. C. Holt Limited, North Vancouver, B. C.

Apples Grown in Kitsumkalum Valley.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have procured samples of apples grown in the Kitsumkalum Valley, ninety miles east of Prince Rupert. These apples are of different varieties, beautiful in their coloring, and the flavor is in every respect up to the perfect brands grown in Ontario, and entirely unlike the inferior flavored fruit grown under irrigation in the more southerly regions and in practically all of the Pacific Coast States

The specimens came from the orchard of Mr. D. Stewart, who has about fifteen acres under cultivation, and they represent the first grown on the operated line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

In the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers, with other areas along the Skeena River, there should be approximately 300,000 acres of ideal fruit lands placed under cultivation in comparatively few years, and much of this land can be procured by pre-emption in 160 acre lots, the only charge being $1.00 per acre in addition to the residence requirements of the law. It is confidently predicted that this territory will become the centre of a new and greater fruit district in British Columbia.

At Prince Rupert this summer strawberries grown along the Skeena River and in the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers came into market for the first time in considerable quantities, and the fruit is reported to be superior to anything grown on this continent, being extremely high colored, and as sweet and fine a flavor as wild strawberries their size was remarkable, running as large as a good size crab apple or a small snow apple.

There will no doubt be a class of settlers in this section of the country who are looking for and will get tremendous returns for their labor at comparatively small expense.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows : The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.30, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

SLOWLY DYING

THOUSANDS ARE SLOWLY DYING FROM CATARRH, BUT DON'T KNOW THEIR DANGER.

A Case in Point

Mr. Ulric Berault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Sweetsburg, Quebec, inherited Catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up.

"Every organ of my body seemed affected and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone, and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

"Catarrhozone pleased me and the doctor so well that I used it continually, and took Ferrozone Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered, and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhozone could work such a miracle.

"Every one in town knows I was just about dead with Catarrh, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhozone can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhozone."

(Signed) Ulric Berault."

Catarrhozone beyond question is the proper remedy for catarrhal and bronchial troubles. The medicated air goes all through the air passages of the head, throat and lungs. It kills the germs, heals the sore spots, allays irritation and keeps the breath pure.

Complete outfit, sufficient for two months' treatment, price $1.00 ; trial size 25c. Druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

AN EPISODE IN ITALY

"It isn't' you who decide what you are going to do in Italy," said the woman.

"It's the cabby.

"I thought I was going to leave Naples that morning. In fact, I had my valises with me as I stood at the door while the porter whistled for a cab, seven of which rushedout of the shimmering sunlight around the corner at me. A handsome young cabby grabbed the valises, put them in the cab, helped me in, and started off.

"'I want to go to the station,' I told him as we went along, 'I'm going home.'

"He slowed up, rested his left hand on the back of the seat, turned half way 'around ,and said smilingly in French:

"'You want to go to Pompeii?'

"'No!' I cried. 'I want to go to the station. I am starting for home, for America, for home!'

"'I'll take you to Pompeii,' he offered graciously, 'for 8 lire.'

"I braced myself for the conflict.

"'I want to go home,' I declared. If I went to Pompeii, I wouldn't go over that old road anyway. I'd go by train. That's the same road you take to Vesuvius. I was over it the day before yesterday. It is full of beggars and ruts.'

"My driver paid not the slightest attention. Instead he pointed proudly to a passing cabby.

"'That's my brother,' he grinned, adding softly, 'I'll take you to Pompeii for 7 lire.'

"'A handsome fellow ,'I said, 'and if you paid me 7 lire I wouldn't go to Pompeii to-day. I'm going home.'

"He drove awhile, then turned and smiled at me again.

"'This road takes you to the station,' he said, 'and to Pompeii, too. I'll take you to Pompeii for 6 lire. A whole long day, a handsome driver, a fine carriage, and all to yourself for 6 lire,' he summed up, flashing a triumphant face full upon me.

"'If you gave me the cab and the harness and the horse thrown in,' I wailed, 'I wouldn't go. You couldn't pay me to go, I know that old road. Besides, I want to start for home. Amerike! Home!'

"He drove and drove. I got absorbed in the things we passed. In the doorways, back of which was invariably the single room of the family, the one large bed, the three chairs at the foot of it ,the table, and in the rear the altar, before which burned the little lamp to the Blessed Virgin, and in her humble worshippers, who lived, it seemed, on the door steps, there being only one room inside.

"There played the children, the little ragged girls of 5 and 6 holding the bambino done up in swaddling clothes, tossing it between them as they would toss an overgrown doll, and the boys were ragged yet, if that were possible. There were the dogs, cats, the chickens, and now and then a proud turkey, ignominiously tied, far from barnyards and its kind, by a string to a post.

"I didn't know which I pitied most, the babies in training for cripples swaddled so, their tiny limbs so unnaturally bound, the unwashed cats and dogs, or the turkeys in chains.

"I recalled my destination with a start.

"'Where are we?' I demanded to know.

"'The station is about a mile back yonder,' my handsome driver said stolidly, 'and you'll be too late for your train. I'm taking you to Pompeii now for 5 lire.'

"I could have wept, but what was the use? I was now too late for my train

"'Anyway,' I petitioned, 'you'll rescue me from the beggars. Won't you? When you get to them drive fast.'

"To my amazement he complied. We sped past the man with the withered arm, the cripple tangled up with the donkey, and passed another cab. The driver flung a bright look at me.

"'Do you see that man?' he asked.

"'Yes,' I answered.

"'Well, he's my brother,' gloated he.

He seemed to have an oversupply of brothers, but he endeavored to compensate for bringing me out of my way for five lire by showing me the sights.

"He pointed out all the pictures of the saints by the roadside, the crucifixes on the walls, the Holy Virgins at the corners of the lead-colored houses, until at last the wide sweep of level country where the dust and ashes of the buried city were began to show.

"Arrived there, a babbling guide hurried me through with the velocity of a whirlwind, showed me broken columns, old fountains, Madusa heads with the faces worn away by hands long since ashes, the buried dog, its mouth in the attitude of barking, prints of chariot wheels, gray walls through the apertures of which the smoky peak of the mountain that had done all the harm glowed purple, and hurried me out again through the gate to my cab.

"My cabby stood there smiling, a man beside him who was even handsomer than he.

"'My brother,' said he.

"I smiled and bowed, and we started over the long gray road of the poor to Naples.

"The sight saddened me. I wished I had started for America, for home! As we bumped over the terrible slags of the Naples streets my resentment grew. It was not lessened by the behavior of my guide. Three times more he had pointed out brothers. Now he leaned over to me, smiled, and pointed out another before we drove up to my door.

"Some acquaintances ran out, amazed at seeing me.

"'I thought,' they cried, 'that your started for home this morning.'

"'I thought so, too,' said I, 'but my cabby thought differently.'"

McCarthy was boasting of the prominence of his family in bygone ages. "But there were no McCarthy's in Noah's ark," said O'Brien. "No," said McCarthy, "our family were very exclusive in those days and had yachts of their own."

Court of Revision

Notice is hereby given that a sitting of the Court of Revision of the City of Peterborough, will be held in the City Council Chamber, on the evening of Wednesday, the first day of November, 1911, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of hearing appeals respecting the assessment roll of the said city, made in the year 1911, for the year 1912.

THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour.

night, after he had left her That the woodsman would wait for him, he felt sure. He hoped they would wait without bothering the little man in the big office with inquiries over the wire. His Canadian conscientiousness told him that for a young man bent upon success his beginning for the Great Trust Co. was not one calculated to bring him congratulatory messages from headquarters.

To get those thoughts out of his head, he hurried his breakfast and hastened to the girl. They walked together in the fresh air of the August morning.

"I forget much that you told me last night of the work of the forester," said Mary. "But if I remember I do not like that work. You should have told me more 'bout it when you were studying in the college here."

"But you never would listen to me. If I talked about anything else than loving you," he complained.

"It would have been a waste of time to talk about anything except love," she returned, with a smile that cleared his face. "But if I had known that forestry was a work that would take you into the woods for months when you ought to be here with me, where a girl's lover should be, I certainly should have made you study something else. A girl must not be deserted. There's only a little while to be gay in, you big boy of mine, and a girl that's engaged must have eyes only for her own beau."

"Of course," he blurted, realising that he was selfish and jealous at the same time.

"'Of course!' she mimicked. "Why should every big beau think that he must lock up the girl like a canary and carry away the key while he dances up and down the lands?"

"I'm not dancing," returned George gloomily. "I'm going away to make good for both our sakes. I ask you to wait and be patient — only that."

"And sit on the perch in my cage and chirp a lonesome little song!" She smiled brightly as she looked up at him, but there was bitterness in her tone, and something else that stirred vague uneasiness. He had hoped that his lady would pin her colors upon his breast and send him out to conflict with a heroine's faith and courage.

"You do not seem to realise that I am doing it all for you — that I am sacrificing so much in leaving you."

"I understand, now, what you wanted me to do yesterday when you came dashing along, trying to run away from me. You wanted me to cry 'Hurrah! I'm glad you are going away from me for long months. I want to be alone. I want you to go into those great woods and suffer and be in danger. I want you to do all that—and do not stop with me for one little hour out of all the long months. Hurry away!' Now, if I had said it, how would you have liked that, Beau Tortoise, with the hard shell?"

He admitted that he would not have liked it, but the admission rather added to his general discontent. It was only when he bade her good-by, that day, took his leave of her in the sanctity of the woodbine bower which their affection had consecrated, that the old faith and understanding seemed to spring into line again between them. For she wept bitterly once more the clinging, dependent little sprite whose impracticability and selfish whims had bewitched his Puritan senses. And he was again the protecting genius, loving her the more passionately the more dependent she became.

For most of his journey North, memory of that sweet abandon of her will and her loyalty to him beat him brave and shut those outer doubts out of his mind. Even her lack of perfect sympathy with his ambitions seemed a precious part of her winsome nature. And by dint of glorification of her weakness he stamped the life out of that little serpent of doubt that had hissed a hint that she might be selfish in asking him to stay — might, later be beguiled into solacing herself for his absence.

II

At Norray Junction, next day, he stepped down out of his Pullman and out of his dreams. He stopped thinking exclusively about Mary Laroche, and began to think pretty diligently about the Great Trust Company.

He had a vague idea that certain woods' gentlemen, named Smart and Niles, would be waiting eagerly and humbly at the car steps. Norray Junction had a station building, a tank on stilts, and coal sheds. Across the platform was a train, plainly ready for upcountry. He saw his trunk banged to the platform from the mainline train, and slammed into the baggage car across the platform! It had been checked through. Therefore, his course was made plain to him. But no inquiring Niles or Smart stood beckoning within range of his vision.

The smoking car, he could see, was filled with men wearing blanket coats and plaid jackets, uniforms of woodsmen. In the door of the car a burly man had braced himself, occasionally thrusting back with fist or moccasined foot men who lurched up the aisle and tried to squirm out past him.

The brakeman, waiting for the conductor's word, stood by the steps looking on with a grin.

"Another grateful for the Great Trust," said the brakeman, as George reached him. "Shipped pickled as usual?"

Sudden hope sprang in George.

"That big man — is his name Niles or Smart?"

"Nope—Kyle' 'Big Bill,' they call him Great driver for the G. T. Hurroshes in the new crews."

The forester mounted the car steps. Here at least was a Great Trust Co. man. Kyle's great arms and sturdy legs barred the door with effective triangles. His head reached to the lintel, and a grizzled mustache, that ran down his cheeks and thrust out like horns from his jaws, seemed to bar in the upper part of the door.

He did not make way for George.

"There's a smoking place for drummers in the combination car, back," he advised the young man. "You don't want to get in here. They'll be fighting before they've gone ten miles."

The giant was bluffly good-natured.

"I'm a Great Trust Co. man, myself," George hastened to inform him. "Forestry department. I'm looking for Mr. Niles or Mr. Smart."

"Don't hurt your eyesight — you'll strain it if you try to look to where they've gone."

He stopped to kick another persistent inebriate back into the smoky interior of the car.

"But they were to meet me here—they were to wait for me here," insisted George.

"Civ Niles and Lynch Smart don't wait, not when they get started for the woods," stated the big man. "Where were you yesterday?"

"I was — was detained," stammered the young man.

"Bad for you. I saw them just before they took the train to come out here to the junction. Told me they'd been sentenced to load themselves down with a tree-college dude. They follered their part of orders. And, to tell the truth young feller, I reckon they was glad of the excuse to give you the slip. If you've slipped up on your part of orders, you can't blame t'other fellers."

"But they could have waited," George muttered. "It was only twenty four hours."

"You couldn't expect them to roost twenty-four hours on that waterin' tank or this station platform. And they ain't the kind of chaps to go back for fresh starts." He looked George up and down. "Better give it up, hadn't you? It's a big country, north, to find men in when they're tryin' to keep away from you."

"Is that the kind of feelings the employees of the Great Trust have for each other?"

"Well," drawled Kyle, "Civ and Lunch ain't exactly the kind that will grab up a city tenderfoot and hug him hard — not reel hard!".

"I'll go into this car, if you'll let me pass," said George curtly.

"Better ride with the drummers, or the dames, back there!" Kyle was not rude; he was patronising. "Lately, the Great Trust Co. is hirin' g'rillas, mostly — I mean for the gashin'-fiddling job, and I'm takin' in forty ringtailed ones this trip."

"Gashing fiddling!" repeated the forester.

"Why, cross-cut sawyers, man! Say, you are a tenderfoot, ain't ye?"

After that, and with that humorously tolerant grin beaming on him, George would have gone into a den of tigers rather than back into the protected peace of the rear coaches. Somehow, he felt that his future reputation up that way rested on a little display of independence at that moment.

The conductor had signaled a start, and Big Bill stepped back into the car, George at his heels.

The boss strode the length of the "Set down, you arrub-bahoolies!" he bawled. No one raised hand against him. The men only rubbed their smarting cheeks and simpered after him. Some held bottles toward him placatingly. But he refused roughly. "Drink your own boolah juice. Get it all into you, and get over it and ready for work!"

He met the conductor in the centre of the car, and passed to him a little package of mileage books.

"Tear out for Bill Kyle and forty!" He looked over his shoulder, and saw George. "Make it forty-one. You might as well ride on a company ticket," he broke in, when the forester demurred. "The Great Trust Co. pays for its men, and its' got more money than you or I have."

That business transacted, he tossed a man across the aisle in order to established himself alone in a seat, filled his pipe, and proceeded to solace himself with tobacco. George found a place beside a man whom he noticed now for the first time, deciding that he was the only individual in sight beside whom that ride would be endurable.

"Set in, mister," invited this person cordially. "I've been afraid one of them ring-tailers would tumble in here — and if there's anything worse than the sound of wind in a knothole it's a drunken man talkin' to you."

He was an elderly man, and his fuzzy silk hat and sun-faded, worsted suit made him a unique figure in that mob of woodsmen.

"If gents can get together in a bunch like this," he remarked, as George crowded in beside him, "gents better do it. Have a segar?"

But, before he could produce a questionable weed, George had courteously rescued himself by explaining his preference for his brier pipe.

"I smoke a pipe myself, mostly," agreed the elderly man, "but when I'm wearing my plug hat and, as you might say, attendin' to official duty, a segar seems to be more genteel. I'm on official duty, now I'll make

BORN AFTER MOTHER'S BURIAL

Gruesome Experience of Woman, Who, Rescued from Death by Covetous Grave-Digger, Lived to Add to Family Birth Roll.

To be buried alive is a fate of which many persons have a nervous dread, which is by no means as fanciful as it appears. Very many cases have occurred in which a temporary suspension of animation has led to a living man or woman being actually fastened down into a coffin and even buried.

Most gruesome was the experience of the mother of Ebenezer Erskine, an Englishman, who was buried two years before her son was born! During an illness Mrs. Erskine was subject to fainting fits, and from one of these she was believed to have passed away. After the usual interval arrangements were made for her interment; and the village undertaker, who also served the community as sexton, measured her for coffin. The "deceased" was duly buried, and there, but for the cupidity of the grave-digger-undertaker, her story would have ended. But a ring which had been buried on the poor lady's hand had attracted his greed, and after the funeral this worthy opened the grave by night and began to saw off the finger bearing the ring. A ringing scream from the supposed corpse almost scared the thief out of his wits, but his humanity overcoming his fear, he roused the parson's family, and the buried lady was restored to health at the expense of a finger.

A similar experience was that of the mother of the famous General Lee, whose sorrowing relatives calmly looked on while she was buried alive! She related that she was fully aware of all the incidents of the funeral, but only mustered strength to make a rattling noise on the coffin lid when the cloda of earth began to descend heavily upon it. The sound attracted the sexton's notice, and he hastily broke open the coffin, in time to save her from suffocation.

FROM PULPIT TO BUSHRANGER

Recent Death Recalls the Remarkable Career in Australia of Man Who Played Double Part of Parson and Daring Robber.

One of the most remarkable criminals of our time is recalled by the death in Melbourne of Mrs. Marian Bowen. She was the widow of a senior constable killed in the attack on "Captain Moonlight" and his gang of bushranging desperadoes. "Captain Moonlight" was originally the Rev. Andrew George Scott, the Church of England clergyman on the Egerton goldfield. He broke into a bank at Egerton and robbed it so scientifically that for some time nobody suspected him. It was only when he resigned his charge and was reported to be spending money lavishly in Sydney that the police took action. He was convicted and sentenced to ten years' hard labour. Scott made a daring escape from jail and was at liberty for a few weeks. After his recapture he became the ringleader of a series of prison revolts. On his release he turned his notoriety to profit by going on a lecturing tour. A fluent speaker, and attired in evening dress, he drew large audiences. Suddenly he vanished from the platform, and was next heard of as "Captain Moonlight," emulating Ned Kelly as the head of a band of bushrangers. He was captured and executed in Sydney. The governor expressed a wish to see so interesting a criminal. "Tell His Excellency," was Scott's reply, "that I have no desire to encourage morbid curiosity."

Gathering Them In

The territorial possessions of the United States are just a little larger than they were a week or two ago. Quietly, unostentatiously, and with the simplest of ceremonies another island lying near the California coast, little known even to American citizens was added to the domain of the country.

The island was annexed by Commander W. A Moffett, United States navy and inspector of the Eighteenth lighthouse district, during his last inspection trip. Commander Moffett performed all the legal requirements of taking possession of the little island, which is designated on the sailing charts as Bishop Rock, in the name of the United States. The Navy Department was immediately notified.

The island is a small one. Its sole denizens are herds of seals and sea lions. It is close to Cortez bank, about 110 miles from Point Loma. It is south of the east and west line which divides the United States and Mexico, but the Mexican government never has claimed it.

Long Delayed in Delivery

A letter written in December, 1660, to a prominent member of the Body of Friends in Durham, Eng., has just been found in the Public Record Office, having been undelivered. A copy of the letter has been forwarded to the descendants in the eighth generation of those for whom it was intended. The letter is addressed: "For My Loving friend Richard Hickson, a butcher in Durham to be delivered to William Bywaters, Durham, paid 9d."

Highest on Earth

The Loa Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagusta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

NEVER USES SLANG

I know a well-bred little boy who never says, "it's ain't";
He never says, "Don't want to", or
"You've got to", or "You shant";
He never says, "I'll tell mama"! or
calls his playmates "mean".
A lad more careful of his speech I'm sure was never seen.
He's never ungrammatical—he never
mentions "aint";
A single word of slang from him
would make his mother faint.
And now I'll tell you why it is (lest
this should seem absurd);
He's now exactly six months old, and
cannot speak a word!

EARLY SAMPLES OF FOOTWEAR

Moses Wisely Wore Shoes at the Burning Bush but in the Further Back Feet Were Covered for Other Reasons.

It cannot be stated with certainty how, when or where, the wearing of shoes began. It can only be surmised that some contemporary of the stone age, finding his way beset with stones or strewn with thorns, thought to fasten about his feet the raw hide of the animal he had slain, and that then was born the germ of utility that through the centuries has evolved into the modern shoe.

The earliest shoes worn in the northern part of Europe were undoubtedly shaped like the moccasin of the American Indian, and were made of raw hide with the hair outside. They covered the whole foot and partly enclosed the ankle, sheaf which they were fastened with thongs that laced through slits in the hide. Such were the shoes worn by the ancient Germans and the Celts of Brittany.

In sunnier regions the first foot apparel was probably a sandal of straw, palm, wood or hide fastened to the foot by a thong passing between the big and the next toes and laced about the ankle. Sandals of this kind are not unlike those of the old Hebrews, the ancient Egyptians and the Assyrians and Persians.

The earliest mention of shoes in the Scriptures is in the 14th Chapter of Genesis, (about 1913 B. C.), where Abram tells the King of Sodom he "will not take from a thread even to a shoe latchet," lest the King claim he made Abram rich. Again (about 1491 B. C.), where Moses is commanded to remove his shoes before the burning bush, for the ground upon which he stood was holy. The shoes that the traveler sees at the doors of Mosques and Eastern temples point back to this act of early reverence, as well as does the custom of removing the shoes in the presence of Eastern potentates.

No Chinese Typewriters

Typewriters are now made for use in nearly a hundred different languages, and they are sold all over the world; but there is still one great nation which, for a very simple reason, has no typewriter that write its tongue. That nation is China.

The English alphabet has twenty-six letters, the Russian thirty-six. The typewriter produced for the Russina market is the largest made; but no typewriter could be made that would begin to be big enough for the Chinese language, which has no alphabet, but is represented by sign characters, of which there are about fifty thousand. Of the great number of words found in the English language only a small proportion are used for the ordinary purposes of speech, and the same is true of the characters used in the Chinese language; but the number of Chinese characters commonly employed is still far greater than could be put on any typewriter. So this nation of 400,000,000 people has no typewriter in its own tongue.

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought It was a Crack.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant, and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.

The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.

"See here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes sir," replied the man, "there it is."

"Ah, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

Sons of the King.

The Prince of Wales, much to his disappointment, it is said, is not destined for a naval career. He may spend only six months on the 'Hindustan,' and after that enter a cavalry regiment.

The future of the King's next son, Prince Albert, has been engaging the King's attention lately, and it is understood that he will eventually become a midshipman. In his case the navy will furnish him with a career. Prince Henry, the third son, is not fitted for the strenuous life of a sailor and he may, after spending some years at Eton, be gazetted to a cavalry regiment.

WORTH REMEMBERING

Those who boast they never did any harm are generally those who never did any good.

It is not always wise to judge another by their tongue or coat, for true worth lies where neither ear nor eye can penetrate.

Jordan & Davis Company
NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

Our Canadian Rockies.

Trunk Pacific Railway from Mr. Armountain climber and topographer, who is at present in the Canadian Rockies making observations for the purpose of mapping out the district, he says:

"We have a great amount of splendid material for publication and a collection of photographs that cannot be surpassed. We have just completed what is very nearly a 100 mile circuit around Mt. Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies. The peaks and valleys, lakes and waterfalls on all sides of it, and the glaciers are very fine. The region is immense, and there is work for years to come, exploring, mapping and depicting. There is a fine bunch of high peaks and large snowfields and glaciers southwest of Tete Jaune Cache. There are also great peaks on the Athabaska and Fraser headwaters, tributary to your line. The most showy part of Mt. Robson is the Robson Pass and Glacier, and Berg Lake."

If you are troubled with chronic constipation, the mild and gentle effect of Chamberlain's Tablets makes them especially suited to your case. For sale by all dealers.

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $600?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 80 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Present Allotment of 25,000 Shares at 30c Going Fast

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

Tear out and send to-day.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Dr. Mrs. ADAM SHORTT

This lady, who prior to her marriage with Dr. Adam Shortt, was Miss Elizabeth Smith of Hamilton, Ont., is one of Canada's very busy women, having quite a long list of self-imposed duties to cover in connection with the different branches of work that appeal specially the fair sex, in Ottawa and elsewhere in the Dominion, having indeed earned no small share of distinction in a number of the outstanding departments of women's work in her pre-nuptial days. Since her marriage Mrs. Shortt has taken a very deep interest in all forms of philanthropy, especially that pertaining to the public health. She is at present convenor of the Public Health Committee of the National Council of Women, and is on a similar committee, of which Lady Aberdeen is convenor, in the International Council. She is also keenly interested in the Anti-Tuberculosis Crusade. She is an active member of the Y.W.C.A. having held the office of president in the Kingston branch for several years, during her residence in that city. Mrs. Shortt it was who first wrote to Queen's University to ask for separate classes for women and was the first regularly matriculated woman student to enter the University. In 1884 she graduated in medicine, one of the first three women to do so, and besides her degree from Queen's she holds a diploma from the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, so that she was able to practice medicine, which she did for two years in Hamilton. In Ottawa, Mrs. Shortt holds the office of vice-president of the Women's Canadian Club, vice-president of the Council of Women, and belongs as well to the Women's Historical Society and to the Mothers' Union.

Mrs. Shortt was born at Kingston, and her husband, who for a number of years was Professor of Political Economy at Queen's University is now Commissioner of the Civil Service at Ottawa.

Dr. Mrs. ADAM SHORTT,
A Canadian Woman of Distinction

Have as little as possible to do with people you cannot trust; when on marshy ground tread lightly, and get over it as rapidly as you can.

If you sit down and allow your mind to dwell on the evil characteristics in your neighbors, you wilfully bring yourself to their level, and are associating from choice with the worst that you can find in them instead of dwelling with and assisting the good you may also find, and with less trouble.

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Turcot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 60,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

CANADIAN PACIFIC IMPROVEMENTS.

New compartment cars. Commencing Wednesday night from Montreal, 10.45 p.m. trains, and from North Toronto Thursday night, this week, 10 p.m., Peterboro' 12.10 a.m., splendid new compartment cars, with observation end, will be run every night in the week. The very latest improvements in sleeping car designs have been observed in the construction of these cars, every comfort, elegantly equipped, electric lighted. Reservations for compartments should be made early. These cars run between Montreal and North Toronto only. W. McIlroy, Agent.

Not Our Own Frank Fairen.

The report that "Frank Fairen" had gone to the bottom of the Seugog river, gave some of the original Frank Fairen's friends here somewhat of a shock yesterday. One son of Erin told a Times man that he thought it rather queer, as he knew Frank was a good swimmer and was long enough in the legs to touch the bottom anywhere in that stream. Frank no doubt regrets the accident which has overtaken the vessel which is named after him. But his sorrow no doubt will be assuaged by the knowledge that only great men have steamboats and things called after them, and that he is now paying the penalty of his greatness.

WIND ON THE STOMACH

A Well-Known Westerner Tells of Suffering, Misery and Pain That He Cured With "Nerviline."

"A few weeks ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit that was not quite ripe. It first brought on a fit of indigestion, but unfortunately it developed into hiccoughs, accompanied by nausea and cramps. I was dreadfully ill for two days—my head ached and throbbed; I belched gas continually, and I was unable to sleep at night. A neighbor happened in to see me and urged me to try Nerviline. Well, I wouldn't have believed that any preparation could help so quickly. I took NERVILINE STRENGTHENS WEAK STOMACHS half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in hot sweetened water, and my stomach felt better at once. I used Nerviline several times, and was completely restored."

The above is from a letter written by G. E. Braun, a well-known stockman and farmer near Lethbridge, Alta. Mr. Braun's favorably opinion of the high merit of Nerviline is shared by thousands of Canadians who have proved Nerviline is simply a marvel for cramps, diarrhoea, flatulence, nausea and stomach disorders. Safe to use, guaranteed to cure—you can make no mistake in keeping Nerviline for your family remedy. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Thimble Party.

A thimble party will be held at the Children's Shelter this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. All ladies interested are requested to attend.

After the Truants.

Six children, ranging from 8 to 14 years, will appear in the Police court charged with truancy. Truant officer Cochrane is determined to put a stop to it.

The Chimes Were Rung.

The People's Chimes were rung last night at ten o'clock in honour of the marriage in Vancouver of the daughter of Mr. C. E. Reid, governor of Cobourg gaol, whose parents were the first married in St. John's church. Mr. Reid was also a kind contributor to the chimes' fund.

Mr. R. J. Soden Bereaved.

Word was received here yesterday that Mrs. H. C. Soden, mother of Mr. R. J. Soden of this city, has passed away at her home in Midland, after about a week's illness from pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Soden were at her bedside and are remaining in Midland until after the funeral. They will have the sympathy of their many Peterborough friends in their bereavement.

Choose from the Bunch.

A well known Liberal told The Times yesterday that the candidate for the Legislature would assuredly be one of the following Liberals:

G. N. GORDON.
R. R. HALL.
J. E. L. GOODWILL.

All are well known and anyone would pretty nearly be acceptable to the party.

New Information Laid.

A new information in the case of Francis Wood vs. Wm. Payne, of Dummer, was laid yesterday. It appears that Wood who is about 16 years of age, was living with a farmer out near Warsaw, and Payne is charged with inducing him to leave his foster home and occupation. Mr. Payne pleaded not guilty, the defence taking exception to the charge, and the Magistrate dismissed that information, with the result that a new information had to be laid, and the case will be tried again in three weeks.

Big Force of Men.

Mr. W. J. Kearns, the well known contractor, returned yesterday from Killarney, Manitoulin district. Mr. Kearns is still hiring men for the lumber camps on the North Shore. He has already sent in over 1600 men to these camps. Wages runs from $28 to $35 per month, of course with board.

Work Progressing Satisfactorily.

The sewer work in the South End is proceeding nicely. Mr. Wade, the capable contractor, is making a good job of it. He has had a difficult task to perform, and it will be pleasing to learn that he has got over the worst. What Mr. Wade does not know about sewer construction and similar work, evidently is not worth knowing.

The Frank Fairen Floating.

The barge "Frank Fairen," is again on top of the water, after its short sojourn on the bottom of the Scugog river. There does not appear to have been any reason why the scow should have gone to the bottom unless it was because it may have decided that its job was gone on account of the change of government!

Reception at St. John's.

A reception was tendered Archdeacon Renison, of Moose Factory, Hudson's Bay, last night in St. John's school house. Archdeacon Renison is a noted figure in the missionary world, as well as an expert on the nature, possibilities and best methods of dealing with Indians. His speech at the General Synod, calling for more scientific treatment by the Dominion Government was considered one of the most striking messages heard at the Synod. His headquarters are at Moose Factory, on the Hudson Bay, where he is greatly beloved by the Indians, for whom he has done much. His address last night was very interesting and was followed by a social reception.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

OBITUARY

Mary A. Thrall.

There passed away at the family residence, 507 Rubidge street, Tuesday evening, Mary Ann, daughter of the late Mr. H. P. Thrall, aged 20 years. The deceased young lady was born in Marmora, where she resided until her removal to Peterborough, three years ago. On account of her loveable and kindly disposition she was very popular with all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

Miss Thrall is survived by a sorrowing mother and three sisters, Christina, Francis and Lily.

The remains will be sent to-day to Marmora, where interment will take place.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Mary M[illegible]st City, is visiting friends in Otonabee.

Miss Wilhelmina Gumpricht has returned to Peterborough after a three months' visit in the Canadian Northwest.

Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, will receive at 495 Gilmour street on Thursday afternoon, October 19th, from 4 to 6 and after that date the second Tuesday in every month.

The many friends of Rev. Father Phelan, parish priest of Lakefield will regret to learn that he is in poor health, and in order to recuperate has been advised to go south for the winter. Rev. John O'Brien, of St. Peter's Cathedral staff, will take Father Phelan's place during his absence.

Mr. W. F. Johnston, of the law firm of Dumble & Johnston, has returned from an extended trip to the British Isles, where he spent some months. His many friends will be pleased to learn that his health has been greatly improved thereby.

Dr. MacNaughton, of Hamilton and Mrs. MacNaughton spent a few days with the Doctor's sister, Mrs. Learmonth, Stewart street, on their return home from holidays, which they spent in Washington, D.C., Philadelphia and Virginia.

WEDDING BELLS

Tulley—King.

At St. Paul's Manse yesterday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, Mr. Valentine Tully of Emily Township, was united in marriage to Miss Violet Ivins of this city. The young couple were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Tully left for Western points on their honeymoon.

Withers—Wright.

On Saturday afternoon a quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's Manse, when Mr. Herbert G. Withers and Miss Lillie Wright, both of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. James Rollins, pastor of St. Andrew's church. The happy couple were attended by Miss Edith Theobald and Mr. Walter W. Withers. Mr. and Mrs. Withers will reside at 617 Bethune street.

KNOX OR PHELAN?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see that Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., is claiming a slice of the patronage, and I think he is entitled to it. There is just now a vacancy in the Inland Revenue office. This job was formerly held by Mr. Rudkins, a Roman Catholic. Mr. Phelan, I am told defied the church by signing Mr. Burnham's nomination paper. He is the only Roman Catholic name on th[illegible]r, the other Roman Catholic Conservatives having been warned by a priest not to sign it. If this is true, then I think it would be a nice thing for Mr. Sexsmith to give way and appoint Mr. Phelan.

Equal Rights.

MOVING PICTURE CENSORSHIP.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It is really too bad that the government does not take some action to prevent films of a decidedly improper character coming into Canada. This week there were exhibited at the Royal Theatre scenes of the war with England in which British soldiers are made to look and act the part of cowards and poltroons, while the American troops are given the opposite role.

No one blames Mr. Pappas. He has to take what the "circuit" or whatever they call the monopilists in these pictures, send him. The government should interfere and put a stop to it, and in this connection, I hope that our popular member, Mr. Burnham, will take it up with this object in view.

A Patriotic Canadian.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S PROTEST.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I desire to protest very strongly in your columns, against a picture the Royal showed on Tuesday night. It is a film depicting the taking of a fort held by the British, by the Americans during the War of Independence. This picture, I say emphatically, is an insult to the British army and to the Britishers here and is in the very worst possible taste. Britishers who have seen the picture have expressed to me their indignation, and why the management of the Royal should exhibit such a picture, which anyone with any sense of decency, should easily know would offend us Britishers, is certainly beyond me. Pictures could be shown of how the Canadians licked the cute Yankees, when they attempted to invade this country. I wonder if the Americans would take it lying down. Both nations have long ago got over and forgotten the bitterness engendered during the civil war and all such pictures as that shown, on the grounds of common decency and respect. I warn the management of the Royal, they shall certainly hear of it, if they show any pictures of a like character again. We Britishers will not stand for it.

Yours respectfully,

Percival G. S. Webb.

Reforestry.

Our esteemed contemporary the Bobcaygeon Independent has the following regarding reforestry:

Prof. Fernow, Professor of Forestry in Toronto University, forestry adviser of the government and late expert employed by the U. S. Government in its extensive reforesting schemes, will arrive in Peterborough to-day, Friday, proceed to the northern part of the county of Peterborough to investigate the possibilities for reforestry there. The northern part of Peterborough county has been cleared of its timber and is becoming stunted second growth useless for all purposes or a waste or arid land. In ten years the land will become useless and tenantless and unable to hold the rainfall. This means that it will become a desert. It means also the failure of all schemes of conservation of water for power. Mr. Burnham, M. P. has for years been interested in this phase of a most serious problem and has invited Dr. Fernow to accompany him and Superintendent McClelland on a prospecting tour with a view to a report to the government and the adoption of some plan of immediate reforesting.

RUGBY.

THE West End Rugby team had a good practice last night, the following members appearing in uniform: Craig, Kirn, Corkery, Copping, Denison, Johnson, Hall, Ecclestone, Bears Thompson, Cannift, Turner, Hogan, Dawson, Gilbert Langley, Webb and Leahy.

Dr. McPherson took command and put the boys through some new movements. The Toronto game promises to be a fast one, so that our boys must be in good condition in order to put up a winning battle.

P.C.I. In Action.

The classy P.C.I. fourteen had a workout yesterday afternoon at the Riverside Park. Judging by the form the boys displayed, under the leadership of H. Eastwood, captain, they would give the local O.R.F.U. men a tussle for their money. It is understood that the two teams mentioned will soon clash, and it would be no great surprise to see the tables turned on the West Enders.

Two other teams, the second and third are being formed in the P.C.I. The second team which will likely be soon pitted against a T.C.S. aggregation will consist of the following players: S. Matthews, F. Moran, M. Carlisle, H. Armstrong, C. Brown A. Horsefield, H. Knapman, and Huycke and Long, who also play on the first team. The third team is not yet made up.

Thanksgiving Day Road Races.

Already a good number of entries have been received for the road races to be held on Thanksgiving Day. In the senior race a good fight is expected, between Smith, Smoke and Lean. The junior competitors have been restricted to boys over fourteen years of age. This will lessen the number of entries, but will make the race faster. The entries so far are as follows:

SENIOR—Harold Smith, Y.M.C.A.; J. Worthley, Ennismore; J. E. Lean, Cambourne, Ont.

JUNIOR—P. L. Crowley, T. McAuliffe, R. Brady, L. Board, J. McMahon.

FOOTBALL.

A meeting of All Saints' Football Club will be held to-night at 8 p.m. in the church hall, of All Saints' church. Every member of the club is asked to be present as the management has a lot of business to put before them.

The selection committee is asked to attend to pick the team for Saturday's game with Park St.

"Tommy" Moffatt, secretary.

GOLF.

There will be another competition of mixed fours for members of the Golf Club, commencing Saturday, at 1.45 o'clock.

FOUGHT A DUEL.

Rudalstadt, Germany, Oct. 17.—Hans Von Necker, a school boy, sixteen years old, was shot dead to-day in a duel with a classmate of about his own age.

The boys were rivals in a love affair, which culminated in a challenge and prompt acceptance, while both the boys and the girl were engaged in a dancing lesson. The weapons were pistols.

Navigation.

While it has been the custom with most steamship lines to discontinue their Quebec and Montreal sailings about November 15th each year and transfer their steamers to the winter ports, the White Star Line has just announced that their crack triple-screw steamer "Laurentic" will make an extra sailing to the St. Lawrence in November to accommodate the pre-Christmas traffic.

The "Laurentic" will sail from Montreal and Quebec November 22nd and will be the last of the big liners out of the river.

WESTERN PROGRESS

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES — WHY?

The increasingly long evenings of Autumn give greater opportunity for Sewing, Writing, Reading, Study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt, accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

WHOLE YANG TSE VALLEY IS IN HANDS OF REBELS

ALL WERE SLAUGHTERED IN THREE CITIES REGARDLESS OF AGE OR OF SEX.

Rebels Issue Appeal—All Enemies of the Revolutionary Movement Must Die, Says Proclamation Issued by Leader.

Shanghai, Oct. 19—Accounts of the revolutionary attack on Wu Chang, as given by the refugees to-day, emphasize particularly the massacre of the Manchus in that city. In the slaughter neither age nor sex was regarded, and it is doubtful, the refugees say, whether a single representative of the Manchu race was left alive there. Similar slaughter of the Manchus followed in Hankow and at Han Yang, when those cities fell.

Copies of the Central China Post which arrived on the Belgravia describe the early progress of the revolutionary movement. An editorial article comments at length on the manner in which the revolution was conducted.

"The movement commands the admiration of all parties," says the editor. "The leaders displayed secrecy, promptitude and thoroughness"

REFORESTRY

Mr. and Mrs. Burdon, the former being delegated by Cambridge University, England, to visit this country in the interest of Reforestry arrived in the city on Wednesday, and yesterday left on an automobile trip through the northern portion of the County, going as far as Algonquin Park. Prof. Fernow, whose comprehensive letter appeared in yesterday's Times, was anxious to have Mr. Burdon visit the locality which he went over last week, and Was successful in having him do so. He will therefore, take back to England with him a report which will show the vast possibilities that exist in regard to reforestry in this portion of His Majesty's domain.

THE NEW GRAIN ROUTE MOVING

The Last Rail Laid Between Victoria Harbor and Bethany

SOON BE IN OPERATION

Estimated that Two Months More Will Be Required For Ballasting —Some Splendid New Bridges Along the Line.

OR some months past a large force of men have been at work on the new Canadian Pacific Railway grain route, the last rail of which from Victoria Harbor to Bethany was laid yesterday morning. Word to that effect was received at the local headquarters of the C.P.R. this afternoon, and as soon as the balasting has been completed the line will be ready for regular traffic. This should not take more than a couple of months at the most, as the greater part of the balasting is already finished. What balasting that will have to be done before the line is ready for traffic is in the vicinity of Lindsay and Bethany. At Lindsay where the biggest bridge of the line is being finished the builders have a big staff of men at work and it is expected to be completed in a very short time. There are several other bridges on the line, but the only one of importance is where the line crosses from Lake Simcoe to Lake Couchiching. Here there is a 160 foot span swing bridge.

An Important Line.

The completion of this line by the Canadian Pacific is of singular importance, it will have to play an important part in the transportation of the grain crops of the West to Montreal and the East. The grain at present is brought from Fort William and Port Arthur either all the way by the Great Lakes via Owen Sound and Toronto. When this new line is operated a new alternate route will be offered, the grain can be forwarded from the head of the lakes by the steamer to Victoria Harbor on the Georgian Bay, the western terminus of the line, and from there by rail to Montreal.

New Route Has Many Advantages.

The advantages of the new route are manifold. First of all it will cut down the time consumed in shipping the grain from the head of the lakes by many hours. Compared with the Owen Sound-Toronto route it means a saving in haul of nearly one hundred miles and it is obviously much shorter than the all water route.

No Grades.

Another advantage is that it is a line with practically no grades, a feature that will tend to make the running of trains much easier. Outside of its usefulness as a grain line the new branch will have considerable value as passenger line. It will allow the C.P.R. to tap a country which they have not heretofore entered and it will give good transportation facilities to a large farming populace. The new line starts from the docks at Victoria Harbor, and crosses the Toronto-Sudbury line of the C.P.R. 13 miles out, at Bethany. 14 miles west of Peterborough it forms a junction with the main Toronto-Montreal line of the C.P.R. The Toronto Construction Company have had the work of building the road. It is 88 miles from Victoria Harbor to Bethany, and 85 pound rails have been laid.

In connection with the new line the C.P.R. have spent huge sums of money in equipping Victoria Harbor as the western terminus of the line. Two wharves 3,800 feet long and 60 feet wide have been built on either side of the Harbor and these are separated by a waterway 600 feet wide giving ample room for the berthing of a dozen large lake boats at the same time. There has also been built a large storage elevator, a boiler house two 1,000 feet freight and flour sheds boarding houses, cottages, etc. The elevator is one of the largest in Canada it has a storage capacity at present of two million bushels of grain but it is so construct that it can in future be enlarged to a capacity of ten million bushels.

THE LECTURE POSTPONED

The Rev. Jas. Rollins will deliver his lecture entitled "A Prince of the Sea," in St. Andrew's church this evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Dickson Hall will sing and Mr. Herbert C. Kinnear, the talented organist, will render organ solos.

SPORTS

RUGBY.

The third P.C.I. rugby team met an aggregation from the public schools yesterday afternoon at Riverside Park and defeated them 25—0. The Collegiate fourteen played a fast game and showed good form in every thing except their signals. Individually the school boys played well, but their team work was behind the mark.

The West End fourteen held another practice last night, and showed their usual form. Rathburn, the quarterback of the McGill intercollegiate fourteen was on hand and promises to make a good one for the locals. He will likely play in Toronto on Saturday.

FOOTBALL.

A game that promises to furnish some interesting dope for football fans will be played to-morrow afternoon between All Saints' and Park street. In the event of Park street winning, this will tie All Saints' Park street and St. James' for the finals.

HOCKEY.

It is the intention of the local Bell Telephone employees to enter a team in the city league this winter, should any such league be arranged. Should there be no city league formed, the bello boys will enter in the mercantile league, if it is again organized.

THEY MET A MAN ON THE ROAD

SCRIVER TELLS OF STRANGE EXPERIENCE ON HIS RECENT DRIVE WITH VIOLET SMITH.

MAN FOLLOWED THE RIG

Boy is Inclined to Believe That This Strange Being May Have Been Connected With the Abduction or Murder.

Dillon Port, Oct. 19.—Sam. Scriver's story of the last drive but one he took with Miss Smith, the missing school teacher, contains a curious statement. It was Wednesday night, four days before the girl went away. A fearful storm was raging, the rain pelting down mercilessly, so that none of the settlers dared to leave their houses. The night was inky dark and thunder could be heard threatening in the distance. Suddenly a knock came to the door of the Ramsay house. The latch was lifted and Sam. Scriver entered.

STRANGELY MELANCHOLY.

"I have come to take Miss Smith for a drive," he said. The girl was strangely melancholy. She hesitated for some minutes, then Sam. went out the door and partly closing it beckoned to her to come. She hurried upstairs, dressed for the journey and took her place in the carriage. Upon their return, very late, no mention of any unusual incident was made, but several days later, when the girl had gone, Sam. told his friends that on the Wednesday night of his drive, just as their carriage was crossing a most desolate section of swamp road, the figure of a strange man suddenly loomed out of the darkness and with shining eyes, lit up by the glare of the lamp, gazed intently into the girl's face, then slipped behind the rig and followed it for about five hundred yards.

THE YOUNG MAN'S BELIEF.

The boy is inclined to believe that this strange being may have been connected with the abduction or murder. The entrance of the stranger into the story parallels closely a point of evidence in the famous Kinrade case.

the fact that most infectious diseases such as whooping cough, diptheria and scarlet fever are contracted when the child has a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will quickly cure a cold and greatly lessen the danger of contracting these diseases. This remedy is famous for its cures of colds. It contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given to a child with implicit confidence. For sale by all dealers.

NE TEMERE DECREE

Evangelical Alliance Sending Out Thousands of Pamphlets on the Subject.

"Is Rome prepared by setting the hierarchy against the people of Canada to introduce all the revolutionary woes and disturbances which she has from time to time brought into France, Spain, Italy, Portugal and South America by her unsuccessful efforts to maintain her inquisition and dominion in such countries against the sovereign will of the people?"

This is only one of the questions which the Evangelical alliance addresses to the Roman Catholic Church in their pamphlet of fourteen book pages, ten thousand of which are being run off the press in Toronto for distribution throughout Canada.

It sets forth the Ne Temere decree and the objections thereto, a vast amount of research having been made in the older European countries. The Alliance says: "In no wise do we wish to arouse religious animosities or create discord, unless these are the outcome of an honest purpose in attaining what is right and true."

Petitions to the parliament of Canada for a uniform marriage law is enclosed for signature, with the statement that "all men or women over 16 years may be invited to sign."

The Alliance asks: "Can Canada be compelled to submit to the direction of Rome in a matter of such vital importance to it as the validity of marriages?"

HEROES WHO SUCCUMBED.
LARS O. RISVOLD, Aylesbury, Sas.
WM. H. SHAW, Medicine Hat.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 19.—Five Canadians figure in the awards made by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission which met here to-day.

Forty-seven bronze and twelve silver medals were awarded at the fall meeting of the Commission. Besides cash awards of $53,036, pensions amounting to $315 a month were left to survivors of men who had risked their lives to save others. Thirteen of the heroes paid with their lives their devotion to humanity.

William Laird, aged 68 years, a farm hand, who on January 9, 1911, at Bobcaygeon, Ont., rescued Vera M. and attempted to rescue E. Theron Anderson, aged three and five years respectively, from the burning home, was awarded a bronze medal and $500 to reimburse him for pecuniary loss sustained and other worthy purposes.

MR. JOHN SAWERS FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED

Messrs. Jas. Carey and Frank Sanderson, who became alarmed at the non-appearance of Mr. John Sawers, who resided at the corner of Aylmer and London streets, entered his home yesterday morning and were shocked to find him dead. He apparently had retired as usual, probably on Monday night, and passed away quietly during the night. Coroner Dr. Greer was notified, but did not think an inquest necessary. On Monday he was around town as usual, and called at the office of Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., to transact some legal business and promised to return the following day. This was the last seen of him alive.

The late Mr. Sawers was well-known in the city and country. He was 67 years of age. He carried on a grocery business in Lindsay for some years, subsequently removing to Lakefield, where he continued in the same line. He was active in municipal matters, having served several terms in the Council. His father the late Augustus Sawers, was Mayor of Peterborough, when the late King Edward visited here as Prince of Wales, in the year 1860.

The late Mr. Sawers is survived by an invalid widow, who is in the hospital, and one grandchild, Mr. Harold Sanderson, of Smith Township. His brothers are Messrs. Augustus Sawers of Brock street, city; C. W. Sawers, barrister, of Vancouver; and Frederick H. Sawers, of Rochester, N.Y. One sister is Mrs. W. H. Moore of this city.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been decided, but interment will probably take place on Saturday afternoon.

CENSUS FIGURES ARE ABSURD SAYS A WINNIPEG PAPER

Winnipeg, Oct. 19.—The Telegram says to-day editorially. "The only encouraging feature of the census figures is the strong probability that they are all wrong. They can only be assumed to be correct on the supposition that the immigration returns have been outrageously padded.

Canada is credited with a total increase in population of 1,711,544 in ten years. In that same period, according to the Dominion Government immigration records, we have received 1,700,000 people from British and foreign lands.

SMALL NATURAL INCREASES.

If these figures are correct they show that Canada's natural increase in population in the past ten years has only been ten thousand, which is a manifest absurdity.

BOY HUNTER KILLS PLAYMATE

Fredericton, N.B., Oct. 19.—At Penniac a settlement on the Nashwaak river, four miles from the city, late yesterday afternoon, Howard Christie a 14-year-old boy, was shot and almost instantly killed by a young playmate.

ALD. BROWN IS BACK FROM WEST

After an Absence of Eleven Weeks, Spent Mostly in Regina

HE LIKES THE COUNTRY

Mr. Brown is Accompanied by Mr. Joseph Ingram—They Built a House in Regina—Country Prosperity—Wonderful Developmeant of Regina, Which is Typical of the Whole Country.

VERY individual who visits the great Canadian West almost without exception, returns full of enthusiasm regarding the country. Its developments, especially during the past few years, is simply wonderful. Villages have sprung up everywhere, and are developing into towns and cities at a rate that fairly takes one's breath away. The influx of emigrants, particularly from Ontario and the older Provinces as well as the United States is enormous. The census returns give the figures, which speak for themselves.

Ald. Brown, who returned on Wednesday from a trip to the West, dropped into The Times office, and gave some of his impressions of this great land of promise. Mr. Brown left Peterborough on August 3rd and went direct to Regina, where he spent ten weeks.

Regina's Great Growth.

Regina is one of the rapidly growing young cities of the West. It has an assessed value of $27,000,000, being an increase of $7,000,000 in one year. The city spent $260,000 on pavement alone so far this year, and has an appropriation of $343,000, which will be expended if satisfactory weather conditions prevail. While at Regina, Mr. Brown purchased a couple of building lots, on one of which he erected a frame house, which will rent for $50 per month, should it not be disposed of.

Many Peterborough Men.

There are many Petrborough men to be found in Regina, all of whom are doing well. Amongst those who Mr. Brown met are the following:—Mr. T. Savigny, Mr. Frazer (manager Mutual Life), Richard Martin (supt. water works), Mr. Johnston, formerly with Mr. Ruth of this city, Mr. Wilson Blewett, formerly with the Peterborough Hardware Co., and others. "Dick" Martin, as his old Peterborough friends call him, has a fine position with the city, and is drawing a good salary—much above what he got here.

Single Tax City.

Regina has adopted a single tax system in part, dwelling houses being taxed only 45 per cent. of their value while all land is assessed at its full value. This has the effect of retarding undue speculation in city property.

The West Growing.

Ald. Brown has unbounded faith in the West. He believes it will develop into a great country, where the people will command almost unlimited wealth. The wheat crop this year is perhaps a little under the average, but on the whole it is enormous.

The Milk System.

Mr. Brown had some experience in regard to the bottle system of milk delivery. He says that one of the main arguments used by those who prefer that system is that the milk is never disturbed. That is, it is not poured from one vessel to another. This is not the case. A customer perhaps may not need a quart, and the milk vendor has no smaller package so he at once "splits" a quart or a pint, as the case may be.

Mr. Brown was not surprised at the result of the elections. He had figured out that the Prairie Provinces would divide about even, and was not disappointed. The East, he felt sure would go Conservative, in view of the issues at stake.

Auction Sale of Lots

The auction sale of building lots at the Parkdale subdivision, by the Eastern Improvement Co., represented by A. Brown & Co., local real estate agents, which took place on the grounds yesterday was a great success.

There were twenty-seven lots sold, prices were from $65 to $160, according to location.

The sale will be continued to-day and to-morrow. Handsome presents were given away to those who held lucky numbers. This will be repeated on the remaining days of sale.

Last night Messrs. Brown & Co's Real Estate office was a scene of great activity when prospective purchasers and others were seeking information regarding the great auction sale of these building lots. Many of those who purchased yesterday were also present and were delighted with the bargains they had obtained.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the peoperty, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $290,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

APPLICATION FOR CAPITAL TO

I ..... hereby apply for ..... shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each of the Capital Stock of the Canada National Fire Insurance Company at the price of One Hundred and Fifteen Dollars ($115) per share, being at a premium of fifteen (15) per cent.; and I covenant and agree with the said Company to pay for the said shares as follows: Twenty-five dollars per share on application, which shall include the premium of fifteen dollars per share, and the balance in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of nine dollars per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of said shares.

I further agree to accept said shares when they are allotted to me, and I do hereby request that my name be duly registered on the books of the Company as the holder of such shares.

Applications for stock will be filed in the order received, and on approval of same by the Board of Directors a Stock Certificate will be issued and mailed forthwith.

The holder of these shares will be paid the dividends that may be declared on the same from time to time by the Board of Directors. Dividends shall be declared and apportioned in proportion to the amount paid into the Company on the par value of the shares.

Calls on shares may be paid prior to due dates, and when all of such calls have been paid a fully-paid certificate will be issued to the holder of these shares.

These shares are transferable only on the books of the Company by the owner in person or by attorney on surrender of the Certificate of Stock properly endorsed. Transfers shall not be valid unless approved by the Board of Directors.

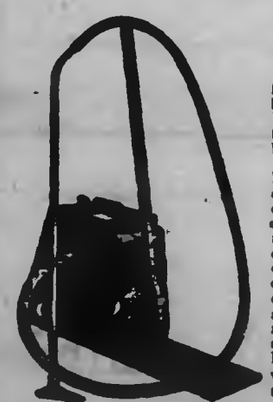
KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER



You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

WERE I A BOY AGAIN

In some papers of the late Doctor Harper of the University of Chicago was found a memorandum which read like this.

"If I were a boy again, I would read every book that I could reach. I would strive to find from good books how good men lived.

"If I were a boy again I would cultivate new patience with the faults of others, and study my own with greater care. I would strive for humility.

"If I were a boy again I would more and more cultivate the company of those older, whose graces of person and mind would help me on in my work. I would always seek good company.

"If I were a boy again I would

"If I were a boy again I would I would make it a mental companion. The Bible is a necessity for every boy.

"If I were a boy again I would study the life and character of our Saviour persistently, that I might become more and more unto him."

Child Laborers.

Italy has no child labor laws, and young merchants throng the streets. The cherry vender, often scarcely in her teens, carries his luscious fruits in baskets, tucks his measure into his vest, and swings his scales over his shoulders. Thus equipped, he makes his way merrily through the city streets, calling his merchandise.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Touch and Go.

Willie—Papa, what is the meaning of the expression "touch and go?"

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

TO STOP HAT LIFTING.

To put a stop to hat-lifting as a form of salutation a league has been formed at Zurich which seeks to introduce the military form of salute. The league states that the uncovering of heads is the cause of many colds affecting mainly the older men. In Germany, Austria, and German Switzerland it is the custom for a man to hold his hat in his hand until the lady asks him to "cover" himself. A nod is generally sufficient, but some wait for a formal request.

A Grand Waterfall.

Sir T. Crossley Rayner, Attorney-General of British Guiana, is one of the few white men who have ever seen Kaieteur Falls, which he declares the most beautiful and impressive in the world. "Kaieteur Falls are far inland in British Guiana," he told his interviewers on shipboard, "so far inland, in fact, that they are about 300 miles from civilisation. They are 629 feet in height and about 400 feet wide."

"Bill" Should Know

Sir William Lyne, a pioneer of female suffrage in Australia, in addressing British voteless ladies in the London Pavilion, referred to the fantastic prophecies that have been falsified in the Commonwealth. One of them was that the enfranchised women would especially favor some good-looking candidates. They have really sent "some very men" into the Commonwealth parliament. Sir William should know. He is himself known in Australia as "Plain Bill."

THE TOBACCO-CHEWING EVIL

Continuance of the Practice Has Material Effect in Putting the Face of Man Off the Natural Shape.

Writing on "China and Character," Dr Louis Robinson says:—Tobacco-chewing, a loathsome habit which happily appears to be going out of fashion among civilised people, has been productive of a cast of countenance which will remain historic for all time. "Uncle Sam" will probably be for ever portrayed as "an individual lean of flank and lank of jaw," as Oliver Wendell Holmes verbally depicts him in his humorous apotheosis. Those familiar with the portraits of the great soldiers of the American Civil War can hardly fail to have been struck by the curious family likeness which runs through their dour determined visages. It is scarcely too much to say that this military type is practically extinct in America now. Almost to a man, these long-faced sallow heroes were tobacco-chewers, as were also many of the prominent statesmen of the same period. It was, however, by no means exclusively an American custom. Most people of middle age can remember among sailors and working men of Great Britain, men with long angular jaws and wrinkled sallow cheeks resembling those of that extinct ruminant, the "typical Yankee" of caricature.

An Upright Thief

A Prince once said to Rabbi Gamaliel: "Your God is a thief; he surprised Adam in his sleep, and stole a rib from him."

The Rabbi's daughter overheard this speech, and whispered a word or two in her father's ear, asking permission to answer this singular opinion herself. He gave his consent.

The girl stepped forward, and feigning terror and dismay, threw her arms aloft in supplication, and cried out, "My liege, my liege, justice — revenge!"

"What has happened?" asked the Prince.

"A wicked theft has taken place," she replied. "A robber has crept secretly into our house, carried away a silver goblet and left a golden one in its stead."

"What an upright thief!" exclaimed the Prince. "Would that such robberies were of more frequent occurrence!"

"Behold, then, sire, the kind of a thief that the Creator was; he stole a rib from Adam, and gave him a beautiful wife instead."

"Well said!" avowed the Prince.

Railroad and Safety

The claim upon which Sir Edward Watkin never ceased to insist, that an English railway train was the safest place in the world," is largely borne out by the annual returns of the Board of Trade in respect of the number of accidents that occur to passengers and railway servants. For instance, in the ten years ending 1909 only one passenger was killed on the average in every 72,000,000 journeys, and one injured in every 2,000,000 journeys! But even these figures — the only ones officially available — do not show the full extent of the security reached upon the railways of the United Kingdom, inasmuch as in the returns no account is taken of the journeys made by season-ticket holders.

Clothes to Float You.

A remarkable demonstration was given the other day in the Spree, near Berlin, of a new fabric designed to make clothing so buoyant that it will keep its wearer afloat in the water The composition of the invention which brings about this result is a well-guarded secret. To don a garment lined with it is to become unsinkable On the occasion in mention infantrymen, in full marching kit, clad in uniforms lined with the material, which rendered the clothing neither heavier nor thicker than usual, threw themselves into the water, and not only did not sink, but were able to "march" in the water and to fire. At the same time coffee was served to a party in the water, waiter and guests being clad in the special fabric.

EARLY SAMPLES OF FOOTWEAR

Moses Wisely Wore Shoes at the Burning Bush but in the Further Back Feet Were Covered for Other Reasons.

It cannot be stated with certainty how, when or where, the wearing of shoes began. It can only be surmised that some contemporary of the stone age, finding his way beset with sharp or strewn with thorns, thought to fasten about his feet the raw hide of the animal he had slain, and that then was born the germ of fashion that through the centuries has developed into the modern shoe.

The earliest shoes worn in the northern part of Europe were undoubtedly shaped like the moccasin of the American Indian, and were made of raw hide with the hair outside. They covered the whole foot and partly enclosed the ankle, over which they were fastened with thongs that laced through slits in the hide. Such were the shoes worn by the ancient Germans and the Celts of Brittany.

In sunnier regions the first foot apparel was probably a sandal of raw, palm, wood or hide fastened to the foot by a thong passing between the big and the next toes and tied about the ankle. Sandals of this kind are not unlike those of the old Hebrews, the ancient Egyptians, and the Assyrians and Persians.

The earliest mention of shoes in the Scriptures is in the 14th Chapter of Genesis, (about 1913 B. C.), where Abram tells the King of Sodom he will not take from a thread even to a shoe latchet," lest the King claim he made Abram rich. Again (about 1491 B. C.), where Moses is commanded to remove his shoes before the burning bush, for the ground upon which he stood was holy. The shoes that the traveler sees at the doors of Mosques and Eastern temples point back to this act of early reverence, as well as does the custom of removing the shoes in the presence of Eastern potentates.

No Chinese Typewriters

Typewriters are now made for use in nearly a hundred different languages, and they are sold all over the world; but there is still one great nation which, for a very simple reason, has no typewriter that write its tongue. That nation is China.

The English alphabet has twenty-six letters, the Russian thirty-six. The typewriter produced for the Russian market is the largest made; but no typewriter could be made that would begin to be big enough for the Chinese language, which has no alphabet, but is represented by sign characters, of which there are about fifty thousand. Of the great number of words found in the English language only a small proportion are used for the ordinary purposes of speech, and the same is true of the characters used in the Chinese language; but the number of Chinese characters commonly employed is still far greater than could be put on any typewriter. So this nation of 400,000,000 people has no typewriter in its own tongue.

A Thought for To-day

As in that which is above Nature, so in Nature itself: he that breaks one physical law is guilty of all. The whole universe, as it were, takes up arms against him, and all Nature, with her numberless and unseen powers is ready to average herself upon him, and on his children after him, he knows not when nor where. He, on the other hand, who obeys the law of Nature with his whole heart and mind, will find all things working together to him for good. He is helped and befriended alike by the sun above his head and the dust beneath his feet: because he is obeying the will and mind of Him who made sun, and dust, and all things: and who has given them a law which cannot be broken. — Kingsley.

Thought it was a Crack.

A corpulent gentleman with a large appetite entered a mean-looking restaurant, and ordered a chop, and waited twenty minutes. Then the waiter reappeared with a plate on which rested a dab of mashed potatoes, a bit of meat burnt almost to a cinder, out of which emerged a long, thin piece of bone.

The waiter set it down before the starving gentleman and hurried off.

"See here," called the customer, "I ordered a chop."

"Yes sir," replied the man, "there it is."

"Ah, so it is," mused the hungry man, readjusting his spectacles. "I thought it was a crack in the plate."

THE VOICE OF CONSCIENCE

"What is conscience?" asked a Sunday School teacher. Several of his children answered, some one thing and some another, until a timid little child spoke out: "It is Jesus whispering in our hearts." We all know that there is something in our breasts that approves when we do right and chides when we do wrong. This voice is no respector of persons, but speaks with kingly authority to all.

Sons of the King.

The Prince of Wales, much to his disappointment, it is said, is not destined for a naval career. He may spend only six months on the 'Hindustan, and after that enter a cavalry regiment.

The future of the King's next son, Prince Albert, has been engaging the King's attention lately, and it is understood that he will eventually become a midshipman. In his case the navy will furnish him with a career. Prince Henry, the third son, is not fitted for the strenuous life of a sailor and he may, after spending some years at Eton, be gazetted to a cavalry regiment.

COL. HUGHES' INVESTIGATION.

As a rule—at least such is Canada's belief—the Canadian Militia is well trained and efficient, says the Ottawa Journal. But there is a general suspicion — one which recent events have done much to justify—that the Militia would be of still greater efficiency if it were freed from certain entangling red tape, which in the course of years has surrounded the operations of the headquarters staff.

The incident at Quebec where the guard of honor appointed to welcome the Duke and Duchess of Connaught arrived on the run ten minutes late, the Duke having been detained that time, is an incident more in keeping with opera bouffe than with the practical operations of a modern country's defense force. The cause of the delay is said to have been the complained-of red tape. Some high officer wanted to make an inspection after an inspection had already been made, and so kept the guard late.

The incident occurred under the eyes of Col. Hughes, the new Minister of Militia, although before he had taken active command of the department. His determination to investigate the circumstances surrounding the belated arrival of the troops is one that will be generally applauded. The matter, while not serious in one sense, in another is, for it has been telegraphed all over the world, to the detriment of the Canadian Militia. The belated arrival of the soldiers on the run was even photographed, in order to lend a moment's amusement to American magazine readers. From the view point of the reputation of the Canadian Militia, the incident assumes a rather more serious complexion; a fine body of men is undeservedly reflected upon for the fault of one.

Col. Hughes is a practical soldier. His investigation will in all probability go straight to the heart of the trouble. If it results in checking future tendency to red tape, it will have done a service disproportionate to the seriousness of the incident which incited the investigation.

IS MISS SMITH A PRISONER ON A LONELY ISLAND?

Dillon Port, Oct. 18.—The searchers for Violet Smith are organizing an expedition by rowboat and power launches to explore the unhabited islands that dot the coast of Georgian Bay.

This is the one last hope of finding the missing school teacher. Convinced beyond a doubt that she has been abducted and taken to one of these innumerable islands a few miles distant from Dillon Port, the entire district is preparing this morning to launch every available craft and go in search of her.

Intense interest prevails, the new development of the case sending the district into a pandemonium of excitement.

Crown Attorney Haight, Constable Madigan and other officers are now directing operations which resemble in many respects the wildest adventure of fiction.

A FLEET OF BOATS.

The fleet of small boats will take the sea under command of the Crown Attorney and his officers and every island will be visited during the next few days and their dense woods penetrated in the full belief that Violet Smith is held prisoner by some mysterious person. Yesterday the band of searchers made little progress owing to the heavy rain.

ISLAND DOTTED SHORE.

The islands along the coast are almost without exception uninhabited until ten miles beyond Dillon Port is reached. One very large island lies close in shore, while scores of others are scattered here and there with in an hour's row of the Ramsay home. Among these waste places, where human beings have seldom or never ventured, the expedition will make its way, scouring every foot of underbrush or forest. The collection of evidence about the district has brought out some strange allegations.

For years "The Gateway to the Cariboo" has been through Ashcroft, where freight and passenger traffic has had to be hauled by waggon and stage.

With the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific this condition will be entirely changed next spring when the probabilities are that a steamer service will be operated between Tete Jaune Cache, that will be the end of steel at the time and Fort George during the construction of the line between these two points. Ashcroft will lose its Northern trade with startling suddenness. By the same token Edmonton will replace Vancouver at the same time as the supply point for British Columbia's Central Interior. Freight will be carried west from Edmonton by rail to the Cache, and barged down river to Fort George, Quesnel and Soda Creek much more cheaply than it can be waggoned from Ashcroft to Soda Creek, a distance of 167 long miles. It is a simple matter of economics.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

T. C. HOLT, LTD. OF VANCOUVER

Splendid Investments Offered by This Well Known Firm.

The Times would call special attention of investors to the advertisement of the T. C. Holt, Limited, of North Vancouver, one of the most substantial and prosperous brokers and real estate firms on the Pacific Coast. Capitalists in the east are now looking to the west for safe and profitable investments, and there is probably no spot on the continent where more money has been made faster than in Vancouver real estate. North Vancouver is rapidly forging ahead, and those who are able to get in now will be sure to reap a golden harvest.

T. C. Holt, Limited, recommend the following investments to their clients :

1st—While they last, 100 Shares in the T. C. Holt Ltd. at $100 per Share. 25 per cent. on application and 10 per cent. per month until fully paid up. This Company being strictly under Government supervision is not allowed to sell their shares for less than par. We consider these shares a good and safe investment, as they will bring the investor a dividend of from 10 to 20 per cent. per year or more. Only a limited number left.

2nd—Investments in Real Estate. Remember, Mr. Investor, inside property in North Vancouver, is as yet cheaper than property in Point Grey, Fairview, South Vancouver, or Grand View, on the outskirts of Vancouver. 5 years ago an investor North Vancouver, far $10,000, to-day bought a corner on Lonsdale Avenue the same piece of property is worth $100,000.00. We can buy for our clients to-day property for investment from $1000 to $50,000.00 and over and can almost guarantee a profit of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. in a couple of years.

3rd—Investments in Mortgages and Agreements of Sale which represent a very safe and sure investment and bring in from 8 to 10 per cent. per year. Nearly every day some party calls in our office and invests his money in Mortgages or Agreements of Sale. They say they prefer absolute safety for their money with a good rate of interest, rather than no interest with a hope of increase in selling value.

Progress is the dominant note in the City of Vancouver to-day, and where progress is, where wealth accumulates, there will realty values advance, and this is inevitable in Vancouver.

LUNG TROUBLE

PROMPTLY RELIEVED AND PERMANENTLY CURED BY INHALING CATARRHOZONE.

Mrs. Bliss Brown of Tenecape, N. S., was cured by Catarrhozone of lung trouble and catarrh after hundreds of other remedies failed.

If your lungs are weak ; if there is consumption in your family ; if Colds, Catarrh and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhozone. It is especially adapted for these diseases, and cures every time.

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures, but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but, after resorting without benefit to poultices and numerous other remedies, she tried Catarrhozone.

"I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown, "five minutes every hour, and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold or catarrh can exist if Catarrhozone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone. By means of the Inhaler the local symptoms such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Ferrozone tablets, which are taken after each meal, purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons and build up and strengthen the system.

This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhozone.

Complete outfit costs $1 ; small size, 25c. At druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Apples Grown in Kitsumkalum Valley.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have procured samples of apples grown in the Kitsumkalum Valley, ninety miles east of Prince Rupert. These apples are of different varieties, beautiful in their coloring, and the flavor is in every respect up to the perfect brands grown in Ontario, and entirely unlike the inferior flavored fruit grown under irrigation in the more southerly regions and in practically all of the Pacific Coast States.

The specimens came from the orchard of Mr. D. Stewart, who has about fifteen acres under cultivation, and they represent the first grown on the operated line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

In the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers, with other areas along the Skeena River, there should be approximately 300,000 acres of ideal fruit lands placed under cultivation in comparatively few years, and much of this land can be procured by pre-emption in 160 acre lots, the only charge being $1.00 per acre in addition to the residence requirements of the law. It is confidently predicted that this territory will become the centre of a new and greater fruit district in British Columbia.

At Prince Rupert this summer strawberries grown along the Skeena River and in the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers came into market for the first time in considerable quantities, and the fruit is reported to be superior to anything grown on this continent, being extremely high colored, and as sweet and fine a flavor as wild strawberries their size was remarkable, running as large as a good size crab apple or a small snow apple.

There will no doubt be a glass of settlers in this section of the country who are looking for and will get tremendous returns for their labor at comparatively small expense.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows : The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.20, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

THE REAL WOMAN.

A Story of a Bridge Party

There was nearly a score of women in Mrs. Empet's parlors that afternoon. The tables were up and everybody was anxious to begin the game. But there was needed just one more guest to make the requisite number and she was late. She had never been asked before and Mrs. Empet was dubious about it.

The women were all as gorgeous as could be. All the time they were talking their eyes wandered over each other's toilettes or to the prizes, which rested in plain sight upon a table in the next room.

Several women wanted the claret set, and were resolved to use all means, fair or foul, to get it. It was no sin to cheat ; everybody did it, and it lent zest to the game, as long as one wasn't found out. Between the prizes and the refreshments one was sure to be interested if not actually diverted. It was to be hoped Mrs. Empet would have something new to eat. Everybody was tired of teas and cakes.

At that moment the door bell rang and there was a general start. Conversations were cut ruthlessly in two. Then Laura St. John said: Mrs. Files —at last!

Whereupon everybody sat up and looked animated, for they had exhausted all available sources of entertainment, and the newcomer was sure to create a diversion. She entered immediately — a large, smiling woman in a catawba satin gown, with an enormous diamond sunburst glowing like an electric light bulb right on the front of it. They were so intent in looking at her that for a moment they did not notice that another woman was coming in behind her and half obscured by her — a little, slight woman in a perfectly plain cloth gown with an edge of white at the throat and no jewellery showing save a thread of wedding ring on her left hand. She had nice gray hair, smoothly parted and coiled ; her complexion was her own and her gentle gray eyes gazed with frank friendliness at the astonished company. She was no older than several of those who were trying so hard to keep young, and mellow she did not look any older. She only made them look tawdry and cheap and unnatural.

Mrs. Empet, although she had not expected her, made the best of her coming. She took her round and introduced her. None of them had ever seen her before; she was a cousin of Augusta Files and she lived in the country and did not get into town very often. She had come just as Mrs. Files was ready to start for her bridge party and she either had to stay at home herself or bring her. Her name was Mrs. Thayer and it was easy to see that she was unused to fashionable gatherings. A spot of delicate red came out on either cheek and she fluttered a little shyly, holding out her hand to each lady as she met her.

"I don't play bridge,' she exclaimed, "or any card game bigger than cassion, and I always get beaten at that. Cards weren't played so much in my young day. Now, you mustn't let me put you out . I'll just sit and look on and do a bit of tatting. I shall enjoy myself splendid. It will all be new to me, you see."

So that was the way they arranged it. They took their place at the tables and Mrs. Empet drew a big chair to the top of the room for Mrs. Thayer, where she could see all the company and all the company could see her. It had to be half filled with cushions to accommodate her small figure. She sat upright, smiling pleasantly about her as her hands plied the tatting shuttle — a remarkable contrast to the overdressed, made-up women at the card tables. And somehow not she but they became conscious of this contrast. There was a subtle influence in her genuine simplicity. They felt guiltily the weight of their false hair; their faces flushed under their rouge, and they tried furtively to dab it away with their handkerchiefs. Above the edges of their cards they looked at each other with curiously clearer vision and then away at the one real woman of them all who sat there doing tatting. And slowly it was revealed to them that bridge was but a poor substitute for the things that should have engaged their attention. They saw themselves for the cotton roses they were, while she was the real rose ripening to a graceful fall. It was as if Mrs. Thayer had roused them to better aims and longings.

Nobody cheated at cards that afternoon. It seemed immaterial how the prizes went. There was a tie between Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Sherrod when it came to the claret set, and with one accord these ladies voted to give it to Mrs. Thayer. Everybody clapped their hands at that. So Mrs. Stout made a little presentation speech and the set went to Mrs. Thayer, who got up holding tight to her tatting shuttle and tried with all her might to say something more than just thank you.

Then the maid brought in the refreshments which consisted merely of cake and sherbet, but somehow nobody was disappointed.

They had all gathered about Mrs. Thayer, and she was telling them about her grandchildren and how she was in a hurry to get this tatting done for little Jennie's petticoat. And so they were led to talk about their own grandchildren and children. From that the talk drifted to their young days and how they had worn hoopskirts and white stockings — things they had never before admitted even to themselves.

The clock was striking 6 before they ever thought of going home, and even then they were loath to leave Mrs Thayer. They all kissed her good by, and said they were glad they had met her and it was the pleasantest bridge party they had ever had just on account of her being there.

Go Without Her

If you should ask your girl to go
To Portland, or some other where,
And she refuses, don't you know,
Then do not go — into despair.
But go wherever you've a mind,
And leave her to her own sweet will
There's pleasure in the world, you'll find,
If every charmer's voice were still myself known to you. I'm Governor Harriss, of Corran-cache."

He glanced sideways at George to note how the young man took the announcement. His seatmate seem'd to be puzzled rather than impressed.

"'Governor,' I will say is an honorary title, that the boys along the river have given me, and at the same time it ain't so cussed honorary as a lot of titles be. What I mean to say is, some honorary titles mean that a man ain't got any power. But I have. I'm plantation assessor, constable, road commissioner, and justice of the peace, and quorum. Could have other offices, but don't want 'em. So the boys have put all titles into one and call me 'governor.' And I've took it, and I use it. I've got a lot of power up our way, and I ain't bein' called out of my same a mite when I'm referred to as "Governor' Harriss."

There was a challenge to this stranger in his tone. It was plain that other strangers had deprecated or ridiculated.

"It's pleasant to stand well enough among your neighbors to be called governor," agreed George, so frankly that he disarmed Mr. Harriss's hair-trigger suspicion. "And I'm glad to know you, for I'm headed for Corran-cache, myself. And, by the way, that's a queer name for a town! I only heard it two days ago, when I was hired by the Great Trust Co."

Governor Harriss removed his cigar, and slowly faced around in his seat.

"Do you mean to tell me that you come from any place so far away that you never heard of Cornelius Corran, the duke of the Great Toban country, and the founder of the village of Corran-cache?"

"I'll not lie about my ignorance, sir; I never did."

Harriss replaced his cigar, and faced the front. "I ain't goin' to make comments, for I never believe in bein' disagreeable when words don't do a subject any justice. But if you never heard that such a man as Cornelius Corran ever lived, it may be that you never heard the news that Cornelius Corran has just died."

"It is news to me."

"Then, it probably didn't occur to you to be surprised to see me on official business wearing my plug hat —didn't occur to you that I might not be anything but an ordinary salve peddler traveling upcountry, hey?"

"I'll be honest. I didn't think anything about it, or what you might be."

Governor Harriss puffed at his cigar, squinting his eyes at vacancy. "That shows how little a man can judge by his own inside feelin's what kind of an impression he's makin' on the world in general. But I'm pretty blunt, young man. I'm goin' to say to you that I believe you ain't been mixin' in very thick with the general public lately, not to know any more about the world's news than you do You've either just come out of some college, or else you've been settin' in some back yard courtin' a girl!"

George was glad that his seatmate aisle, cuffing to right and left.

"A college feller thinks he knows too much to pay any attention to what the worlds doin'; and the feller in love don't think about anything. And here Duke Cornelius, of the Great Toban, lays dead in his house at Corran-cache, leaving for heiress a daughter that is the handsomest girl in all the north country, leavin' half a million acres of timberland and all the men from St. Francis to St. Agathe to mourn him; leavin' five thousand dollars in hands of a committee, to be spent in one day in celebratin' his funeral, and the crowds now comin' from every village and loggin' camp two brass bands ordered, and me down to the city to get 'em!

"That's my official business, young man — to get them bands and an orator and a thousand-dollar coffin that's ahead of us, now — the coffin, I mean — out in the baggage car! All that happenin' and you settin' here beside Governor Harriss, comin' back from his official business, and not knowin' him from a corn doctor, or understandin' his business! My stars! That shows that this world needs something more than wireless telegraphin' to get news circulated!"

He sat for some time and dragged at his cigar, and gazed out of the window.

George was glad that the tumult in the car, recently stilled by Kyle's passage, broke out now afresh. A fight started up just behind them, and men rushed that way. An apology for his ignorance could not have been heard, and he could not think of a suitable one. Governor Harriss took off his plug hat, and guarded it on his knees.

"I never had it touched, yet; but you never know what a drunk is goin' to do when he's too far gone to recognise dignity."

Big Bill came up through the car, knocking men to right and left, battering down the innocent and the guilty, until he burst through the press and clutched the two who were battling. He tore them apart, cracked their heads together, left one, and dragged the other to the opposite end of the car.

"It's goin' to keep Bill Kyle pretty busy if he cal'lates on stopping every fight that's due in this section for the next three days," observed Governor Harriss critically. "Funeral committee reckons on spendin' at least three thousand on licker — and, seein' that it's been smuggled over from the States, you get more run in the dollar.

The other two thousand will be spent on the barbecue All outdoor cookin' for this feed! They got the fires to goin' before I came away."

He mentioned these details with a satisfied relish that jarred on George, considering the reason for the amazing demonstration.

"This strikes me as being a queer funeral you're talking about, if you'll pardon me for saying so. It sounds like a celebration of some sort."

"It is a celebration," stated Mr. Harriss calmly. "Celebration is called for by the will. That was Cornelius Corran's idea — to have his friends enjoy themselves."

He produced another cigar.

"Even these segars come out of the appropriation. Boxes open everywhere in the village; help yourself. That's why I offered you one," he added naively. "'Eat, drink, smoke, and whoop it up,' was the motto of Cornelius Corran, and he says, 'I want the boys all to remember me as that kind of a feller. I want 'em to look back and say that the last thing old Cornelius ever done was to give 'em the time of their lives.' And he's doin' it."

The old man eyed his silent companion slyly from the corner of his eye. "You don't think that's the right kind of a funeral to have, do ye, city feller?" he demanded.

"No, I don't!" blurted George. "It seems rather heathenish to me. Your Corran must have been a——"

"You'd better not pass comments on Cornelius, not at this time, in this section," broke in Governor Harriss briskly, but calmly. "You're a stranger and young, and I'm advising' you for your own good. Nobody ever ain't been in the habit of criticising the duke of the Toban. Nobody criticised how he got hold of most half a million acres, nor whether his titles would stand law, nor how he handled his men when they didn't toe the scratch, nor how he spent money when he was spendin', nor how he hung on to it when he had a 'close' fit. And he's windin' things up in a blaze of light that will flicker 'round his memory for a long time to come. Young man, I reckon it'll settle into a steady halo for him, so far as the old chaps up this way go; as for the young ones — he's Clare Corran's father, and you'll know what that means when you see her."

Then Mr. Harriss smoked in silence for a while, letting that suggestion sink in.

III

George did not feel any consuming curiosity as to what this girl of the north country might be. He imagined he knew what the daughter of such a father must be. The idea of the riotous obsequies that Cornelius Corran had provided for in his will appealed did not look at him just then.

to his appreciation of the bizarre— youth has that appreciation. But Harry George came from good, old Pilgrim stock, and jesting with death and its mysterious sanctity shocked him while it interested. Mr. Harriss had something still more shocking in reserve.

"You'll have a chance to get a good look at her, like every one else that's at the funeral. She's goin' to lead the parade. The will orders a parade instead of a funeral procession that's made up of just hacks and mourners. Cornelius didn't want any hacks and mourners. Ain't any hacks up our way, for that matter. Two bands, says he in his will, decorations, and the coffin set into a bateau on wheels, and all wrapped stem to stern in the Canadian and Irish flags. And she's goin' to lead! That's in the will. She'll lead, ridin' on horseback — on that big, black hoss of her'n."

That last detail was too much for the young man who had passed his life among the conventions.

"Mr. Harriss,' he said reproachfully, 'I believe you are one of these Canadian jokers who go around making up yarns to fool people. I don't believe there ever was any Cornelius Corran, or that there's going to be any funeral."

"You and me don't want trouble, but there'll be some between us if you undertake to call me a liar," stated Mr. Harriss, with dignity.

"But no girl would do such a thing at that, even if her father's will did order her to," cried the young man. "It's impossible. It's shameful!"

"Meanin' that Clare Corran would do anything that wasnt right and proper?" inquired Governor Harriss a baleful light in his eyes.

"Doing a think like that wouldn't be proper."

And then and there, Harry George received a lesson in what it meant in the north country to doubt Clare Corran of Corran-cache, her beauty, her wit, her knowledge of all matters in heaven or on earth, her right to reign as queen of hearts from St. Francis to St. Agathe.

Governor Harriss had been nursing his hat on his knees. He replaced it on his head. Thus, he crowned himself with his dignity, assumed his rightful position as official spokesman of the territory in which he ruled.

"In that dude-rid, henpecked, milk-and-water locality that you've come from," he snarled, "maybe it ain't thought proper to love a father, all through his life and obey him, and then love and obey him after he's dead and leaves you on your honor. Mebbe them wobble-necked women-geese down there think they're mournin' when they load a lot of crape on the outside and sing 'Hail Columby' inside while the minister's prayin'. 'Tain't what is outside that mourns — it's what is inside. And Clare Corran mourns so for her father that

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

THE PETERBOROUGH CHEESE BOARD MET

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held yesterday forenoon. At the opening of the meeting, Mr. Jones, a prominent Liverpool cheese buyer, made a few brief remarks.

"It is eleven years since I first attended a Cheese Board meeting in Canada," he said. "Since that time you have made rapid strides in the manufacture of cheese, both from a quality and quantity standpoint. Your cheese has given good satisfaction wherever sold. I congratulate you on the good prices you have received during the past season. While I do not think it will be duplicated next year, I think myself, personally, the price will hold good for the rest of the remaining year. We fell about 28 p.c. short of the quantity of cheese which we ordinarily produce, and this state of affairs has resulted in the opening of a wider channel for the Canadian product.

Mr. Watkins opened the bidding at 13 1-2. This was raised by Mr. Cook to 13 13-16c., at which figure he purchased Keene, Shearer, Central Smith, Selwyn, Villiers, Westwood, Maple Leaf, Myrtle, Young's Point, Lang. At the same figure, Mr. Kerr secured Warsaw, East Emily, Trewern and Fleetwood.

The balance of the Board, with the exception of Warminster, Indian River, North Dummer, which remained unsold, went to Mr. Kerr at 13 7-8c

The following factories were boarded:

Regarding the question of procuring an expert to address the annual meeting, it was pointed out that the services of Mr. Barr could not be secured. The chairman inferred that he would be able to secure Mr. Ward, whose services he recommended to the Board. The matter was left in the hands of Mr. Gillespie.

The Board adjourned for two weeks

The annual Norwood Fair which was held on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 10th and 11th, proved a great success for all concerned. Many species of fancy work, drawing, painting, writing, vegetables and fruits were on exhibition. The horses entered for both the ladies and gentlemen's races were in fine condition. Numerous booths were on the grounds and were largely patronized, especially by the youngsters, who wanted the pulled taffy. There were snakes, alligators, parrots, etc., in large tents. The only drawback, it seems, was the absence of the merry-go-round.

A serious accident occurred to some people of Havelock. Their horses were frightened by a passing auto and quickly turned a corner, upsetting the vehicle and its occupants; also its contents. No one was seriously injured, but one woman was a little hurt about the face.

Miss Beatrice Lamb of Norwood, spent Sunday in Cordova.

THE CROSS-COUNTRY RUN.

In olden times before introduction of steamers and trains into the country the mode of travelling was on horse back or walking. Their only way of sending messages were to have them carried by some trusty person. This messenger would likely have to go quickly and so got used to running by the shortest route, which would likely be across the country. Thus there has been handed down what is known as a "Cross-Country Run."

The proposal that the boys in the Fourth classes should have one was accepted and Friday, Oct. 3rd, was the day set for it. It was a clear day such as would be suitable for their race. The entries numbered twenty-five, although only fourteen ran and thirteen finished. Master Wm. Copp was the hero of the day coming in a good distance ahead of the others.

The course was to go from the school crossing, up around old Havelock school, down the road and around the house of Mrs. Weese and home again, about a mile and a half. Some, in their anxiety to win, went around the school twice. Some of the girls who were interested, walked up to old Havelock to watch the boys come up. Many were the obstacles which they encountered and numerous were the tumbles and bumps over logs, etc. But all except one, persevered. They won as follows:—1st, Wm. Copp; 2nd, H. Green, 3rd, J. Trudeau; 4th, B. M. Nicholl; 5th, S. Brinkman; 7th, J. O'Brien; 7th, R. O'Brien; 8th, I. Foley; 9th, G. Buchanan; 10th, E. Stillman; 11th, C. Trudeau; 12th, D. Innis. They started about a quarter past four and the first one came in at half past, thus making the run in about fifteen minutes. A prize will be held of the winners by Mr. H. T. Andrews, who started the boys on their race. The cross-country run will be an annual event in connection with the Boys' Athletic Association.

APSLEY.

Mr. Stephen Scott of Chandos who had been ailing for the past few months, died Sunday morning, the 15th, aged 76. Mr. Scott had been a resident of Chandos for over 50 years and his many friends will learn with regret of his death. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, one daughter Mrs. Peter Windsor, three sons William and Robert at home, and James of Alberta. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood. Mr. Scott was in receipt of a liberal pension from the U. S. government, having served in the American Civil War, and it was there, no doubt, he contracted the disease that finally caused his death. The funeral will take place Tuesday from the family residence. Interment in the Apsley cemetery.

Messrs. Thompson & Davidson of the Peterborough Lumber Co., passed through Apsley on their way to the camps in their auto. It speaks well for our roads that an auto can get through to lumber camps without any breaks.

Real Estate, Mining and Industrial Investments

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realise that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 80 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Dr. Mrs. ADAM SHORTT

This lady, who prior to her marriage with Dr. Adam Shortt, was Miss Elizabeth Smith of Hamilton, Ont., is one of Canada's very busy women, having quite a long list of self-imposed duties to cover in connection with the different branches of work that appeal specially the fair sex, in Ottawa and elsewhere in the Dominion, having indeed earned no small share of distinction in a number of the outstanding departments of women's work in her pre-nuptial days Since her marriage Mrs. Shortt has taken a very deep interest in all forms of philanthropy, especially that pertaining to the public health. She is at present convenor of the Public Health Committee of the National Council of Women, and is on a similar committee, of which Lady Aberdeen is convenor, in the International Council. She is also keenly interested in the Anti-Tuberculosis Crusade. She is an active member of the Y.W.C.A. having held the office of president in the Kingston branch for several years, during her residence in that city. Mrs. Shortt it was who first wrote to Queen's University to ask for separate classes for women and was the first regularly matriculated woman student to enter the University. In 1884 she graduated in medicine, one of the first three women to do so, and besides her degree from Queen's she holds a diploma from the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, so that she was able to practice medicine, which she did for two years in Hamilton. In Ottawa, Mrs. Shortt holds the office of vice-president of the Women's Canadian Club, vice-president of the Council of Women, and belongs as well to the Women's Historical Society and to the Mothers' Union.

Mrs. Shortt was born at Kingston, and her husband, who for a number of years was Professor of Political Economy at Queen's University is now Commissioner of the Civil Service at Ottawa.

Dr. Mrs. ADAM SHORTT, A Canadian Woman of Distinction

Have as little as possible to do with people you cannot trust; when on marshy ground tread lightly, and get over it as rapidly as you can.

If you sit down and allow your mind to dwell on the evil characteristics in your neighbors, you wilfully bring yourself to their level, and are associating from choice with the worst that you can find in them instead of dealing with and assisting the good you may also find, and with less trouble

The Grand Trunk Railway System has in course of construction at the Taroot Works of Canada Car and Foundry Co., 1000 steel underframe box cars, delivery will be commenced about October 1st., and the whole consignment will be completed this year. These cars are of 60,000 lbs. capacity, and incorporate all latest improvements in car construction.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

Horses Leg Swelled

Animal Was Too ... and Lame to Work—Quickly Cured by Nerviline.

"I have had a long experience in treating horses, and I can safely say that I know of no liniment for strains sprains, and swelling that is so useful around the stable as Nerviline." Thus writes Mr. Joshua E. Murchison, from his home, Crofts Hill P. O. I had a fine young mare that wrenched her right fore leg, NERVILINE IS A TRUSTY LINIMENT and from the shoulder down she was stiff, sore and swollen. I applied Nerviline and it worked like a charm; in fact, that mare was in shape to work a day after I used Nerviline.

"We have used Nerviline on our farm for twenty-five years and never found it wanting. For man or beast it is a wonderful liniment."

We have received nearly five thousand letters recommending Nerviline as a general household liniment, as an all-round cure for aches and pains. One million bottles used each year. Try it yourself. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. All dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

St. George's Society Social.

A social evening will be given by the members of St. George's Society at the S.O.E. Hall to-night, at which a good programme of vocal and instrumental music will be presented.

Partridge Plentiful.

Messrs. J. F. Moore and E. Mason returned yesterday from the north, where they spent a couple of days partridge shooting. They secured 28 birds, which wasn't bad, considering they did not have a trained dog with them.

Don't waste your money buying strengthening plasters. Chamberlain's Liniment is cheaper and better. Dampen a piece of flannel with it and bind it over the affected parts and it will relieve the pain and soreness. For sale by all dealers.

Counterfeit Coins.

Counterfeit U. S. half dollars are said to be in circulation in Ontario, bearing date of 1903, and The Times therefore, warns the public to look out for them. The counterfeits are excellently executed, and the only way in which they can be detected is by their light weight and not having a true ring when dropped. The Times was shown one yesterday and the imitation is perfect.

No. 3 Troop.

The boys of the Third Troop of Boy Scouts will take notice that there will be a meeting at 7.30 sharp at the Armouries to-night. Don't forget the troop fund. It is not necessary to wear uniforms. There will also be a practice of the Third Troop Bugle Band. C. Richardson, Asst.-Scoutmaster.

Laid at Rest.

The remains of the late Mr. Alexander Grieve was consigned to their last resting place yesterday afternoon, interment taking place in the Little Lake cemetery. The funeral was largely attended, the deceased being held in high esteem by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

The pall-bearers were: Mr. Alexander Davidson, Jas. Middleton, Jno. Hall, Walter Young, Thomas Walton and John Simpson. Among the out-of-town visitors were the following: Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Melrose, Guelph; Mr. John Grieve, Guelph; Mr. Walter Young, Montreal; Mr. Thos. Walton, Dundalk; Mrs. George Fraser, Dundalk; Mrs. Harry Routhe, Cobourg; Miss May McGibbon, Port Hope; Mr. John Grieve, Newcastle; Mr. William Galbraith, Lindsay; Mrs. Lorne Giddy, Port Hope.

Home From the Convention.

Messrs. W. McIlroy, city ticket agent of the C.P.R. and Mr. B. A. Rose, of the G.T.R., have returned from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., where they have been attending the convention of the Canadian Passenger and Ticket Agents' Association. As will be seen from the new title of the Association (it was formerly known as the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association), the sphere of the body has been widened so as to include the Assistant General Passenger Agents, etc., as well as the ticket agents. The people of Sault Ste Marie entertained the railway men royally. They were taken on a visit of inspection through the large steel works at the Soo and for a trip up the river and through the great locks, with lunch served on board. An enjoyable smoker on the first night was followed by a successful dance on the second, and everything possible was done for the entertainment of the visitors who numbered one hundred and fifty. Mr. McIlroy was again elected to the executive of the Association. The next place of meeting will be decided by the executive.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

OBITUARY

Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald.

There passed away on Wednesday last an old and highly respected citizen in the person of Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, aged 78 years. The deceased was a native of this country, having been born in Smith Township on October 29th, 1833. In 1863 he married Agnes Hall, who died in 1872. In 1881 he married Mrs. Oliver, of Newmarket, who survives him. Most of his life was devoted to farming, in Smith, where he was held in the very highest esteem, having been honored with the position of Deputy Reeve of the Township for twenty-four years. Upon his retirement from the farm, some years ago, took up residence in Peterborough, where he has since lived. He was for some years associated with the Peter Hamilton Co., as their general agent. For the past twelve years, however, he had lived a retired life, in good part devoted to the pursuit of his favorite pasttime—hunting and fishing. In politics Mr. Fitzgerald was a Liberal, and in religion a Presbyterian, having been a member of the congregration of St. Andrew's church.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. E. M. Elliott, city, Mrs. W. L. KoKee, Marysville, Kas., and Mrs. Rev. R. B. Bayfus of Saskatchewan, and one son, Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald city. One sister also mourns his demise in the person of Mrs. J. E. Sanderson, of Chicago, and five brothers John S., of Lakefield, William S., of Buffalo, Samuel, Chatham, Robert, city, and James of South Carolina. Mr. Fitzgerald had also two other brothers who are some years deceased. They were Gideon, the eldest, and Tobias, formerly a well known citizen of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 to-morrow (Friday) afternoon, from the family residence, 460 Charlotte street, to the Little Lake cemetery. The Rev. Jas. Rollins will officiate.

Mr. Joseph Glass.

Peterborough lost another old and respected resident yesterday morning, when Mr. Joseph Glass, of 487 Parnell street, passed away, after a painful illness of nine months, aged 69 years.

Mr. Glass was born in the United States, and fought through the civil war. He came to Peterborough 25 years ago and worked for some time at the moulding trade, after which he was employed at the Carpet Factory. Mr. Glass was possessed of a kindly disposition, which endeared him to a large circle of friends, who extended to the relatives their sincere sympathy.

He is survived by a sorrowing wife four daughters, Mrs. Doughty, of Rochester, N.Y., Mrs. Wharton, of Toronto, Mrs. Smart, Toronto, and Mrs. Lowes of Peterborough, and three sons, John of Erie, George of Dakota, and Joseph, of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon at the Little Lake cemetery.

Mrs. Mabel H. Robertson.

There passed away on Wednesday evening, at the home of her father, Mr. J. J. Heron, Cavan, Mabel H., widow of the late W. H. Robertson, of South Monaghan, after an illness of about one year. The deceased was 34 years of age and was born in Centreville, South Monaghan. About 10 years ago she was married to Mr. W. H. Robertson who predeceased her some four years since.

She leaves to mourn her demise two little daughters, nine and seven years of age. Her parents also survive her as well as two brothers, Bruce Heron, of Frobisher, Sask. and Lloyd, at home, and one sister, Mrs. Lindsay Vance of Frobisher.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her father, Mr. J. J. Heron, one mile west of Springville, to the Centreville Presbyterian cemetery, South Monaghan this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Ex-Alderman Harry Phelan leaves for Belleville this morning on a business trip.

Miss Kate Carveth of Millbrook is the guest of Miss Poole at Mr. H. C. Winch's, Crescent street.

Mrs. John Comstock entertained on Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Miss Dollie Comstock's guest, Miss Grace Campbell, of Chatham.

The Vancouver Saturday Sunset says: "The Rev. H. R. Trumpour, M.A., B.D., and Mrs. Trumpour, are the guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. M. H. Jackson, of Twelfth avenue, Mr. Trumpour has recently arrived here from Peterborough, Ont., and will be on the staff of Latimer College, of this city."

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have noticed with pleasure the Times' efforts for pure milk. I hope the agitation will be kept up until people can be sure of getting the best of milk, but, while they want (and should have) pure milk, many do not want to pay the price that pure milk is worth under present conditions. No doubt in some instances those who sell milk feel compelled to water their milk. Of course, this is wrong, but do not forget that conditions are wrong also. The people are largely to blame for conditions.

Very many people spend their money very foolishly in various ways, but when it comes to spending their money for good, pure milk they complain of the price. Cows should not only be healthy, but well fed and properly cared for, and perfect cleanliness in milking and handling the milk observed. This all requires time, labor and great expense. The milkman who waters his milk is no worse than the grocery man who colors his white vinegar with black molasses and sells it for pure cider vinegar. What do you think of a merchant who teaches his clerk to lie to customers and requires him to tell the truth to him (the merchant) and discharges him when he does not?

It might be well to draw the line between compulsion and inclination in many instances. Let us have co-operation and a square deal all around for good, pure, healthy milk, delivered in well-scalded milk cans, and not in the disease-breeding bottles.

C. Warex.

THE ONTARIO ELECTIONS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see by The Times that the Liberals propose to put up a big effort in order to try and capture West Peterborough for the Liberals at the approaching Provincial elections. It appears, from what I can gather, that Mr. Peck, the Conservative candidate, does not propose to take a firm stand in regard to bi-lingualism. If so, he may as well quit at once, for he cannot be elected. What I mean by this is that if the Liberal will take a stand against the teaching of any other language than English in the public schools of the Province, and Mr. Peck will not do so, his chances will be nil. So that bi-lingualism will be the issue in the contest.

Conservative.

MUNICIPAL COAL YARD.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A good deal is being said just now about the price of coal, and I do not think the newspapers are doing their full duty in this regard. If it is true that coal is cheaper in such places as Omemee, Lakefield, Millbrook and Lindsay, then there is a good-sized darkey on the fence.

A municipal coal and wood yard would be a good thing if only to "burst" the combine.

A Working Man.

Reply—So far as The Times is concerned, we are not aware that coal is higher in Peterborough than elsewhere. However, we will make enquiries and advise our readers of the result later on.

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see that Peterbprough is not the only small city in Canada where government by commission may be tried. I see by your valuable paper that the Council of Stratford took the first definite step in that direction, when they adopted a resolution to appoint a committee to consider and report upon the advisability of vesting in one Board of Commissioners the jurisdiction at present exercised by the City Council, Water Commissioners, Light and Heat Commission, Police Commission and Park Commission, with a view to submitting the recommendation of the committee appointed to a vote of the ratepayers at the municipal elections in January.

This should encourage Ald. Edgar to persevere in his efforts to secure similar action by our Council.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Hileox on Thursday afternoon. During the afternoon Miss Hincheliff of Peterboro rendered a few splendid vocal selections. After lunch the meeting closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

A mission was held at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church this week by Rev. Father Reynolds of New York. Rev. Father Whebbs of Campbellford, was also present. A large number assembled each morning and evening and the sermons were highly appreciated by all. A vestry has been erected and proved a great improvement to the Church.

We are very sorry to hear that Mr. John O'Brien lost one of his horses last Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Bullied spent Saturday and Sunday in Apsley.

Miss Ettie Fletcher, who has been visiting her parents for some time, has returned to Toronto.

A number of boys from the camp, were home this week to attend the mission.

Mrs. Wells of Coe Hill, was the guest of her sister Mrs. Kelly the past week.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell a son, on Tuesday last.

ENNISMORE AND FRANK HILL.

Messrs. F. Kennedy and J. Mahoney, were the guests of Miss B. Flynn on Sunday last.

Miss Alice Crough has returned home after visiting friends in Peterboro.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. T. Hickey, who has been in St. Josephs Hospital for some time is recovering.

Miss Laura Doran is spending her holidays under the parental roof.

Mr. D. Sullivan and family are moving to the city in a few weeks.

One of Ennismore's most highly respected residents passed away yesterday in the person of Miss Lizzie Collins. She is survived by a sorrowing mother and two brothers who reside at home.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Martin's Church last Tuesday when Miss Mary Sullivan, eldest daughter of Michael Sullivan, became the bride of Mr. P. Anglesey, son of Mr. R. Anglesey, Young's Point. Mr. and Mrs. Anglesey will reside at Young's Point.

Mr. Frank Crough spent Sunday the guest of Mr. Edward Hickey.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

A. A. Smith is President of the Telephony Club.

The Telephony Club met on Wednesday evening, as announced in the District Superintendent's office, and held their opening meeting of the season. Mr. G. O. Cameron acted as chairman and called for the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President—A. A. Smith.
Vice-Pres.—J. C. Guardhouse.
Sec'y-Treas.—J. P. Collins.
Librarian—F. K. Springer.
Chairman—F. W. Doan.

An open and informal discussion took place after the appointment of the officers, and telephone plant accounting, which proved of interest to all present.

Mr. C. Leslie, of Toronto, district plant superintendent, was present.

in place of coffee is a step in the right direction.

KNOWS NOW
Doctor Was Fooled by His Own Case for a Time.

It's easy to understand how ordinary people get fooled by tea and coffee when doctors themselves sometimes forget the facts.

A physician speaks of his own experience:

"I had used tea and coffee for years and really did not exactly believe it was injuring me, although I had palpitation of the heart every day.

"Finally, one day, a severe and almost fatal attack of heart trouble frightened me and I gave up both tea and coffee, using Postum instead, and since that time I have had absolutely no heart palpitation except on one or two occasions when I tried coffee, which caused severe irritation and proved to me that I must let it alone.

"When we began using Postum it seemed weak—that was because we did not make it according to directions—but now we put a little bit of butter in the pot when boiling and allow the Postum to boil full 15 minutes which gives it the proper rich flavor and the deep brown color.

"I have advised a great many of my friends and patients to leave off tea and coffee and drink Postum, in fact I daily give this advice." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Many thousands of physicians use Postum in place of tea and coffee in their own homes and prescribe it to patients. "There's a reason."

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES — WHY?

The increasingly long evenings of Autumn give greater opportunity for Sewing, Writing, Reading, Study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. MR.R.R.HALL BECOMES THE LIBERAL STANDARD BEARER

Will Contest West Peterborough for a Seat in the Ontario Legislature

The Liberals of West Peterborough met in convention on Saturday afternoon for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the riding at the forthcoming elections for the Ontario Legislature in the Liberal interests. There was not a large attendance, less than one hundred persons being present.

Mr. J. J. Hartley, president of the West Riding Liberal Association, occupied the chair and briefly stated the object of the meeting. He was sure that with united action and with a good aggressive candidate the West Riding could be handsomely won for the Liberal party.

On motion of Mr. G. A. Gillespie, city, seconded by Mr. Thos. Graham Reeve of Smith Township, Mr. R. R. Hall was unanimously nominated and in a brief address accepted the candidature.

Short addresses were also delivered by Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. G. N. Gordon, who spoke hopefully of the prospects of redeeming the riding.

We understand that Mr. R. R. Hall will shortly issue an address in which he will define his attitude on the issues that are likely to enter into the contest.

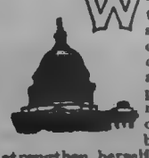
FRANCE IS FOR A STRONG PEACE

If She Has to Go to War It Is Believed She Can Acquit Herself

HER POSITION SUMMED UP

Colonel French Believes That She Could Defeat Germany in Event of War—Country is in First-Class Position to Fight the Mailed Fist of the German Emperor.

London, October 22.



WHATEVER may be the result of the present unrest in Europe, France is confident that she will be able to play her part with credit, and not only protect her own possessions, but be in a position to strengthen herself when the final settlement comes. No European country, not even Britain, is in a better position financially to meet the enormous expense entailed by modern war. The French army is in better shape and more effective than it has been at any time since the Napoleonic era, and her navy is being brought up to a point where it will be able to meet the modern test. With all this France is for peace. She will do all she can do honorably to restore peace and prevent any further outbreak, but she will do whatever she does with the full conviction that she is prepared for war if it must come.

France's Superiority.

From the strategical point of view, he continues, "even if we admit the most unfavorable conditions for ourselves, we shall have the superiority over our antagonist. From the moral point of view, a few energetic measures at the beginning of the mobilization will suffice to restore to the army the prowess which has made of the French the first soldiers in the world."

In Case of German Invasion.

Ten days after hostilities had commenced with Germany, for instance, France would be invaded by nearly a million troops, and this before the faintest help could be had from her allies. Her frontier would have to be defended foot by foot, including Nancy, which certain military authorities would temporarily abandon to the enemy. France would oppose twenty army corps to the twenty-three Germans, and the three great fortresses—Verdun, Toul and Epinal—would be completely garrisoned, each with a force superior in number to any army corps, and this without prejudice to other important strongholds.

Confident of Strength.

After enumerating various reasons for his belief that the French would be victorious, Colonel Boucher exclaims confidently: "We have six successive chances of repelling our adversary, and not a single one of being beaten. Now, how about Russia? Her forces would be concentrated and ready for action on the twenty-fifth day, so the Germans, who would have sent all their army corps to the west, would, on the twentieth day, have to protect some of their Polish frontier if they would not see their territory overrun. Taking into account the possibility of war with Austria and Roumania, as well as Germany, Russia originally thought of despatching her army corps individually to the frontier with a view to prompt action. Of late, however, this plan has been modified, and her twenty-seven army corps will be formed into five armies, ready to assume the offensive between the eighteenth and twenty-fifth day. Thus the Vilna army, with its four army corps, will be able to enter eastern Prussia on or about the twentieth day. The Warsaw army, with its five army corps, will arrive on the frontier in the direction of Berlin on the thirteenth day, and will be followed at an interval of four or five days by the St. Petersburg army, consisting of four army corps. Thus, by the thirty-fifth day Germany will have been invaded by thirteen army corps, or, indeed, by twenty at least, if Austria has held aloof.

Russia Not Much Help at Start.

As will have been perceived, Russia will not be of any help at the outset, and France will have to bear the whole brunt of the attack single-handed. But from the twentieth day Russia will intervene, and Germany will be confronted by a foe on the east as well as on the west. Then France will assume the offensive, with, as Colonel Boucher predicts, certain success. The possibility of Italy joining in the war is not foreseen by the writer, who holds the general opinion that she will remain neutral. At any rate, the protection of the southeastern frontier will be left to the Alpine battalions, reinforced by reserve and territorial troops and this arrangement will free the fourteenth and fifteenth army corps for service on the Moselle. As for the Pyrenneean frontier, it will also be guarded by reservists and territorials. Although he is so sanguine the author does not blink the fact that checks may occur at the start, but he shows how the defence can be continued in spite of some reverses, which, as he argues, can have no effect on the final result.

THE CENTRAL Y.M.C.A. WON

Scarboro Beach, Oct. 21.—Central Y.M.C.A. of Toronto defeated Peterboro in the Junior O.R.F.U. game by the score of 16 to 10. Referee—Burkhart; Umpire—Humphrey.

It is of interest to our local sports to know that Ottawa College won from Varsity in a rugby match, by a score of 10—8. It will be remembered that three local boys, Coughlin, Heffernan and Sheahy, are playing with the Ottawa College fourteen.

Basketball.

The opening games of the junior Collegiate Basketball League were played on Saturday, when the White Sox won from the Giants by a score of 20—7, and the Hungry Five won from the Athletics by a score of 14—8. Next Saturday the White Sox and Athletics, and the Giants and Hungary Five will clash.

MR. J. W. LEONARD CHOSEN

Premier Borden has made a splendid choice in the selection of Mr. J. W. Leonard, assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for the position of Chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission. We venture to say that there is no man in Canada better fitted for the responsible duties of the office. Mr. Leonard began his railway career in Petetborough, and by his wonderful administrative ability has worked himself up until he is practically at the top. He has long been regarded as one of the best railway men on the American continent. The country will now have the benefit of his services, which will be of inestimable value at the present time when the age of the greatest railway development is on.

SHOT FROM H.M.S. COLOSSUS STRUCK PRINCE'S WARSHIP

New York, Oct. 21.—A London cable to the World this morning says: News has leaked out of a sensational incident which occurred off Portsmouth on Tuesday, when the battleship Hindustan, on which the Prince of Wales is serving, was struck by a shot from her sister ship Collosius while engaged in target practice.

The Hindustan was stationed near the target to note the effect of the firing, when during a slight mist a six-pounder shell from the Collosius plunged aboard on her after deq. Being plugged, the shell was harmless after falling, but narrowly missed a seamon, who was the only person on that part of the deck. The Prince was below at the time.

MISSIONARIES ARE FLEEING ON ADVICE OF REVOLUTIONARIES

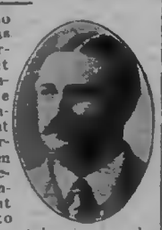
Pekin, Oct. 21.—The French Consul at Yun-Nan received a letter signed "War Minister of Revolutionists," recommending that foreigners leave the country while yet there was time. In consequence the missionaries have been warned by couriers and are preparing to leave. A Mahammedan rebellion is reported imminent in Kan-Snu, the most northwestern Province of China, the scene of the Mohammedan revolt of 1858-75.

The belief is strong here that a serious defeat of the Government forces as seems probable from to-night's despatch from Hankow, would have such an effect upon the country generally that it would fall right into the hands of the revolutionists.

FLAGSHIP SUNK OR CAPTURED

J. H. BURNHAM, M.P., IN THE NORTH COUNTRY

Forestry Question One of Vital Importance, Says Contemporary.



The Minden Echo says: Minden was honored on Saturday last by a visit from J. H. Burnham, Esq., the newly elected member of parliament for West Peterborough, who had been invited by Mr. McClellan, superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal, to accompany him on a trip viewing the waterways and power conditions developed by the Trent Valley Canal waters in this district. On this prospecting tour they were accompanied by Prof. B. E. Fernow, Dean of Faculty of Forestry and member of the Commission of Conservation, who is interested in the forestry conservation problems.

It is a well known fact that large tracts of land are being practically depleted of its timber, becoming little better than awaste of stunted second growth. This means a failure of all schemes of conservation of water for power. The two problems are, therefore, of vital importance to the great plans for water conservation for power and navigation.

The object of the trip was to acquaint Mr. Burnham with what has been done and what is needed to complete this great waterway. The value of the Gull River, as the height-of-land feeder for the Trent Valley Canal system, cannot be over estimated.

of muscular rheumatism in his shoulder. A friend advised him to go to Hot Springs. That meant an expense of $150.00 or more. He sought for a quicker and cheaper way to cure it and found it in Chamberlain's Liniment. Three days after the first application of this liniment he was well. For sale by all dealers.

PEKIN RECEIVES GRAVE NEWS FROM THE SCENE OF CONFLICT.

Pekin, China, Oct. 21.—There is no doubt that more serious news than that of the defeat of the Government troops by the revolutionists at Hankow Wednesday has been received at Pekin, but not published.

There are persistent rumors that Admiral Sah Chen-Ping's flagship was sunk or captured.

It is reported that the rebels are now holding Hwang Chow at the nearest point of the Yangtse-Kiang River, and that they are also in possession of I-Chang and the railway near Kwang-ahui.

DIPLOMATS MEET.

The result of Wednesday's fighting has caused a general feeling at the Foreign Legations that the situation is now critical. The diplomats met yesterday and considered China's foreign financial obligations. The Government has requested a postponement of the payment of the Boxer indemnity instalments and is eagerly seeking a new loan.

A belated telegram from Chang-Sha, capital of Hu-Nan Province, under date of last Wednesday, states that the fall of the city is imminent. The rebels are reported to have posted heavy artillery in a strong position in the hills north of Canton.

100 MEN FACE CERTAIN DEATH

Rome, Oct. 21.—Penned helplessly in a burning sulphur mine at Trabonella, Sicily, one hundred men are today facing an awful death.

Any attempt at rescue is hopeless, although several gallant efforts have been made, but were abandoned after two of the rescuers were burned to death.

UNCLE SAM—Willie, those decoys had the Wrong kind of "Bills."

STUDENTS GIVE WARNING, AND AS A RESULT THE WILDEZT EXCITEMENT PREVAILS.

Tientsin, The Port, is Also Threatened—Rebels are Apparently in Possession of the Whole Yangtse-Kiang Valley.

Pekin, Oct. 21.—A circumstantial story that an outbreak is planned to take place here to-morrow has created the wildest excitement. The American Ministers in the Province of Chi Li have been warned by the students that Pekin will be attacked. Considerable importance is attached to this warning, as the American missionaries in Wu Chang were similarly notified before the uprising in that city.

Every possible precaution is being taken to safeguard the legations. Military guards are on duty, and supplies of provisions have been laid in.

Tientsin, the port of Pekin, is also threatened. A telegram from there says that there is every indication that trouble is brewing.

The rebels are now in possession of Hwangchow, and have seized I-Chang and the railway near Kwang-Kiang.

Apparently the whole Yangtse-Kiang valley down to Shanghai is in their hands, and news of the fall of the port is expected at any moment.

Five British and four Japanese torpeda boats have been rushed to Shanghai in anticipation of an outbreak.

Chang-Sa, the capital of Hu-Nan, is generally believed to have fallen, but all communication with the interior is lost.

VICEROY AND MINISTRY FALL OUT.

Pekin, Oct. 21.—Yuan Shi-Kai, the newly appointed viceroy of the Province of Hu-Peh and Hu-Nan, and Yin, Tchang, the Minister of War, are at loggerheads. The former is dissatisfied with the preparations made by the Minister of War, whom he characterizes as "boastful and incapable." It is understood here that Yuan Shi-Kai is now considering whether he will take supreme command of the army along the Yang-Tse Riveri or concentrate his efforts on the recapture of Fu-Chang.

A UNIQUE SURGICAL OPERATION

Engineers, archaeologists and Niagara Falls tourists alike will feel a common interest in the proposal of Senex Smith, of Washington, D.C., to have a unique surgical operation on the "great green heart," of the Horseshoe Falls. This heart is really an ugly V-shaped crotch, already 20 feet deep, on the brink of the "horseshoe." It is estimated that 5,000,000 cubic feet of water, or one-third of the water constituting the Falls, pours through the heart every minute with such tremendous force that the cavity is gradually deepening diverting the water from the other parts of the Falls.

It is proposed to patch up the heart with steel and concrete, and by constructing a steel coping along the brink of the horseshoe. With the heart plugged up the water will be more evenly distributed over the entire surface of the American and Canadian Falls. The steel coping or ledge for the water to pass over will prevent any further wearing away of the edge of the Falls. At present the edge is being eaten away at the rate of about six inches every year.

"Let the State of New York and the Province of Ontario build large sluice-ways around the Falls, their combined capacity great enough to accommodate all the water running over the Falls," says Mr. Smith in the Scientific American. "By diverting the water to them, the edge of the Falls can be built up of concrete and trimmed off to a uniform level, so that one-third of the water would at all times keep the falls falling. If thought necessary the coping could be made of vanadium steel, so as to insure against any wearing away of the bed and spoiling it.

ADMISSION 5c and 10c.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM, M.P., TO GIVE UP HIS SEAT

On Saturday Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., wired that he was at the disposal of Premier Borden in order that a seat be provided for Hon. T. W. White, Minister of Finance. Should the offer be accepted, Mr. Burnham's resignation will at once follow. It is needless to say that this action on the part of Mr. Burnham will greatly popularize him in the estimation not only of his friends in Peterborough, but also throughout the whole country.

It is not, however, at all likely that Mr. Burnham's offer will be accepted, for two reasons, viz., First, that he is by far too valuable a man to let go, and second, that West Peterborough would not be a safe constituency to re-open, especially for a non-resident. For these reasons Mr. Burnham will probably remain West Peterborough's representative in the House of Commons at Ottawa, when his great abilities as a public speaker and as a patriotic citizen will assuredly be recognized in the near future.

AN EFFIGY OF MINISTER WHO IS CHARGED WITH MURDER HANGED IN CHURCHYARD

Hyannis, Mass., Oct. 21.—An effigy of Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson hung to-day from the limb of a tall elm tree in the yard of the Baptist church of which the clergyman, accused of the murder of Miss Avis Linnell, of this town, was formerly pastor. The effigy had been hung some time during the night, after the regular Friday evening prayer meeting at the Baptist church had ended.

The figure was fully dressed, and pinned to the coat was a large placard, bearing the inscription: "The Rev. Richeson." Nailed to the foot of the tree was a board on which was painted these words: "Guilty—read Luke 17-2.

This scriptural reference is: "It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck and he be cast into the sea than that he should offend one of these little ones."

The presence of the effigy was reported to the deacons of the Baptist church early in the day. The deacons held a conference, and finally decided to allow the effigy to remain on the tree. It was the sentiment of the deacons that if the effigy represented the feelings of the people of Hyannis it might be a good idea to allow it to remain hanging in the churchyard as a warning to the youth of the town, and leave its removal to the town authorities. The effigy was finally cut down by J. S. Nickerson, whose home is directly opposite the church. Mr. Nickerson is not a Baptist, and has no friendship for Mr. Richeson, but he did object to such a gruesome object hanging opposite his residence.

TO MAKE A STATEMENT.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 21.—The stubborn silence which has sealed the lips of the Rev. C. V. T. Richeson since he fled to the home of his affianced bride, the day after Avis Linnell was killed, will be broken to-morrow. According to the Rev. Dr. C. Croff, who will occupy the Immanuel Baptist church pulpit, while Richeson sits in his cell, the accused divine this afternoon is preparing a formal statement to be read to-morrow morning from the pulpit by Dr. Croff.

A DISSERTION ON LOVE.

Liberty, Ky., Oct. 21.—An examination of the 1905 volume of "The Student," a periodical published at the William Jewell college here, today disclosed the fact that the Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, while a student at the college, contributed a long treatise on the relation of love and poison, under the title "Love's Tragedy." While article was primarily a discussion of "Romeo and Juliet," the embryo minister dwelt particularly on the scene where Juliet, in despair, drinks the supposedly deadly poison, and found under its influence Romeo, whose death—also by the deadly cup—follows soon after.

THE COST OF LIVING IS SOARING IN ENGLAND

London, Oct. 21.—Winter prospects in most parts of Europe point to hard weather and soaring prices for food stuffs. But in England there is the compensating outlook of trade prosperity. Some even assert a boom has set in.

Though the strike inflicted a heavy loss on the country, the wage earners came out with benefits and most industries are now enjoying full activity. The result is seen in the pressure at the savings banks, where a steady advance in deposits from the thrifty people is reported by the officials.

Another sure sign of prosperity is the matrimonial mart. When the strike fever gripped the country, hundreds of marriages were postponed, but now the early fall has brought greater industrial peace and a rush to parson and registrar. All round, work is reported to be more plentiful than for several years, and storekeepers are laying in full stocks in the anticipation of a banner season.

The most cautious prognosticators are the Hebrews, who fear the revival of labor unrest and the continuance of the ruinous cost of living that is driving housewives of the continent to distraction and ripping even those of free trade England. Special measures are being taken to provide for necessitous Jews in the East End of London, while from Ber-

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the property, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE :

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as Well as the Subsequent Payments :

No. of Shares.	Amount of First Call.	Half-yearly Payments.

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

To Keep Youthful

"It is well known that within recent years the men have become extensive patrons of beauty specialists and masseurs. Not only the fastidious, but men generally who have a care for personal appearance. This has also led to the employment by many of means calculated to enhance or preserve physical attractiveness, especially by those who abhor "beauty parlors."

Of these, perhaps the most widely used is ordinary mercolised wax — which explain the mystery of the silver-haired gentleman with the youth face. The mercolised wax, is applied after shaving, the same as cold cream, only not rubbed in. This gradually absorbs the dead and half-dead cuticle .a tiny particles, revealing the fresher, healthier-hued skin beneath. To secure best results many apply the wax at night, washing it off in the morning. Women not only encourage husbands in this, but use the treatment themselves.

Gordon's Cigar-Case.

Major-General Sir John Maxwell has received from an Italian, who has just come from Khartoum, General Gordon's cigar-case. The case is a plain brown leather one, and has evidently seen much service, although it is in good condition. As the outer portion is pulled back the name "C. E. Gordon" in black ink is seen. When Sir John Maxwell received the case there were two cigars in it.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

A Political Prayer.

During a campaign which he conducted in the Maritime Provinces, the late Hon. A. G. Blair saw how strongly the party idea in politics takes hold

Mr. Blair stopped overnight at the house of a Baptist minister.

"We'll have a word of prayer before retiring," said the minister, who thereupon offered a prayer that was both long and prosy.

When Mr. Blair had almost gone to sleep on his knees, the minister started praying concerning the elections. He called down anthemas on the Conservatives for their corrupt practices. Then he made a naive appeal to heaven for condemnation of the Opposition, and asked pardon for the Liberals if they should find it necessary to "fight the devil with fire."

Employs Only One-Legged Men.

Loss of a leg is essential to a job with a Chicago firm. All but two of its 102 employes in the factory and in the branch offices wear one or two artificial lower limbs, and the employes leave their work to show the newly fitted patients how well they can walk, run, and jump with the artificial article. Makers doubt if there ever was such a thing as a "cork leg" — in which cork entered in any considerable extent into the making of the limb. Some of them claim that the name was derived from one Cork who made artificial legs early in the last century in New York. In the present day they are manufactured from English willow, covered with a thin parchment of enamel, or of wood and leather.

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when grounds in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge as 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large homegoing exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Pitshurh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

TO STOP HAT LIFTING.

To put a stop to hat-lifting as a form of salutation a league has been formed at Zurich which seeks to introduce the military form of salute. The league states that the uncovering of heads is the cause of many colds affecting mainly the older men. In Germany, Austria, and German Switzerland it is the custom for a man to hold his hat in his hand until the lady asks him to "cover" himself. A nod is generally sufficient, but some wait for a formal request.

A Grand Waterfall.

Sir T. Crossley Rayner, Attorney-General of British Guiana, is one of the few white men who have ever seen Kaieteur Falls, which he declares the most beautiful and impressive in the world. "Kaieteur Falls are far inland in British Guiana," he told his interviewers on shipboard, "so far inland, in fact, that they are about 200 miles from civilisation. They are 429 feet in height and about 400 feet wide."

"Bill" Should Know

Sir William Lyne, a pioneer of female suffrage in Australia, in addressing British workless ladies in the London Pavilion, referred to the fantastic prophecies that have been fallified in the Commonwealth. One of them was that the enfranchised woman would especially favor some good-looking candidates. They have really sent "some ugly men" into the Commonwealth parliament. Sir William should know. He is himself known in Australia as "Plain Bill."

THE PROBLEM OF GROWING OLD

Some of the More Apparent Causes that Account for Changed Appearances in the Later Years of Life.

The growing old of an organism is not merely the result of the lapse of so much time; it is the inevitable outcome of a progressive failure of its vital activities. A man of 80 or 90 years old may be only as old physiologically as a man of 50 or 60, whereas a man of 60 or 50 may be, as to his tissues, as old as another but more vigorous man of 60 or 70 years. Every living organism, vegetable or animal, must go through the stages of growth, prime and decay; this sequence is inherent in the constitution and mode of action of protoplasm. We have the seed, the seedling, the young tree, the full grown specimen, the decayed oak, and finally, the lifeless, sapless, hollow form. The living organism is like a projectile fired from a gun — it ascends, it reaches its highest point, and it inevitably descends to earth again.

Growing old is a progressive diminution in functional capacity which, on the whole, will not be recovered from. In old age the heart beats more feebly (but not more slowly), and it is more easily depressed by fatigue and cold and more easily overcome by the rise of its internal pressure. Less nourishment, too, is absorbed, fat not usually being stored in the body. The skin, in particular, receiving less blood, shrinks and withers; its hair-follicles produce less or no pigment, and the hairs in consequence grow grey or white. Not that grey hair by itself necessarily indicates senility; it may indicate no more than an early displayed and usually hereditary tendency to diminished formation of melanin, the colouring matter of skin and hair. The powers of assimilating food having diminished, the appetite tends to fail in old age. But if no surplus food is taken, there can be no laying down of fat, and so the lean figure is produced — "The sixth age shifts into the lean and slippered pantaloon... His youthful hose well saved, a world too wide for his shrunk shanks."

JACK TAR AND HIS SUNDAY

What Was Once a Picturesque Institution Aboard British Men-o'-War is Today a Fruitful Source of Irritation.

The question of the observance of Sunday in the Navy appears to have been engaging attention both in Britain and in America. In the British service a brisk discussion has been going on in regard to the oppressive routine now carried out every Sunday, which is chiefly the outcome of the cleaning necessary to make the vessel as smart as possible for the captain's weekly inspection. In the United States the Secretary of the Navy has issued orders for a more strict observance of the Sabbath and for the abolition of captains' inspection on Sundays. With the British reverence for ancient institutions it is hardly likely that a similar step will be taken in our own naval service. For years past it has been customary for the captain to inspect the ship's company on Sundays, and to make a tour of the vessel, examining every department. In preparation for this elaborate ordeal the men have to spend a lot of time in cleaning and polishing the ship's fittings and interior, although such work has already been performed once on the previous day. In past times, when ships were not so continuously employed in war training both by day and night as they are now, the captain's Sunday rounds were a picturesque institution, but they appear to have become a fruitful source of irritation to officers and men alike, as the present controversy afloat and a service newspapers shows.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

R. L. BORDEN

The history-in-a-nut-shell of Canada's new Premier is worth placing before the public at the present time, when the press of the country is conning its attention more to the happenings of recent days, and to forecasting with more or less foundation the probabilities of his immediate future.

Born on June 26 1854 at Grand Pré, the son of Andrew Borden and Eunice Laird, the future premier had his early education at Acadia Villa Academy, Horton; was subsequently professor in Glenwood Institute, on return to Nova Scotia he studied law and in 1878 was admitted to the bar,

ROBERT LAIRD BORDEN
Canada's New Premier

became head of the law firm of Borden, Ritchie and Chisholm, Halifax, and was for ten years president of the N. S. Barristers' Society; created Q. C. 1900; Hon. L.L.D. (Queen's) 1903; Hon. L.L.D. (St Francois-Xavier (1905); elected to the H. of C. for Halifax 1896 and 1900; unsuccessful candidate for Halifax 1904; elected by acclamation for Carleton, Ont., 1905, in place of Edward Kidd retired; re-elected by large majority at general election and also elected for Halifax; chosen leader of Conservative party in H. of C. 1901. Is a member of the Church of England, and as recreation has been known to fill in some idle moments at golf, cricket and fish chasing.

"ANDY" BRODER, of Dundas

Mr. Andrew Broder first saw the light of day at Franklin Centre, Que., on 18 April 1845, and was educated at Malone, N.B., and Huntingdon Academy, Que., subsequently transferring to the Dundas district where he has since continued to coax a fairly comfortable living from the land, being, indeed, recognised as one of the particularly intelligent members of that section of humanity which sticks by the original working programme of Father Adam of ancient and historic fame. With a natural business aptitude, full of the humor that never gives offence, sporting a delightful Irish brogue, and with that fondness for politics which is accredited to every second member of Erin's big family, Mr. Broder is one of the really popular men in his district, and indeed over many miles both near and far.

For a time he acted as Collector of Customs at Morrisburg, Ont., but resigned in 1878 to take a seat in the Commons where he has been noted as a speaker with few equals, quiet, but incisive in style with wonderfully appealing perorations. Mr. Broder is married and has three sons and one daughter.

As portraying one phase of a preeminently "straight" sample of the human family, — not too often met with — the story is worth re-telling of how Mr. Broder, on one occasion, set himself a very stiff task in order that only a clean name could be associated with his family. Some of Mr. Broder's relatives died and left debts. These debts preyed upon the mind of Andrew in his young days. "The name of Broder will be clean," he said to himself. "These debts will be paid." He sacrified everything to that end, the hard-earned pence which he managed to save brought down the debt but slowly. He could have made success for himself had the money which he paid away been utilized as capital with which to further his own progress, but Andrew put away the temptation from him, and in due time was able to point to a clean family slate.

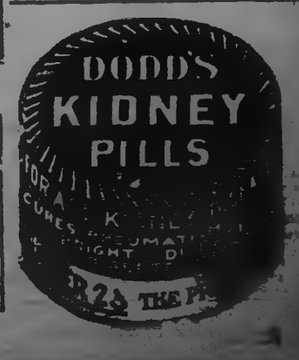
TALKING WITH GOD

Do you know that whenever we wish, we may talk with God? Prayer is simply another word for "talking with God," and whenever we pray to our loving, heavenly Father we are talking with God. Little children may come to Him to thank Him for His love and kindness; to ask Him to forgive them when they have done wrong; or to help them try to do right. And God will always hear and answer.

A temper always fault-finding, if not mastered in its youth, will cling to you like ivy round a tree, so root it out if you do not want a life of misery.

Better to Die Young

A man was engaged to play in a drama once, and after the first rehearsal the stage manager said—"I'm sorry to change your part a little, instead of having you killed in the first act I think it would be better if it was done in the first act. I'd like you to be killed in the first scene."



The Morning Times

RACE RELIGION AND BILINGUALISM

The most dangerous factors in Canadian life to-day are religion and race, or rather creeds and race, says our valued contemporary the Kingston Standard. There is a solid French element in the East, almost entirely Roman Catholic; Ontario is largely Protestant; the West is filling up with people of all religions and races—Jews, Doukhobors, Waldensians, Hindus and all sorts and conditions of men. It should be the aim of the Canadian statesmen—if we have any—to weld these different races into a homogeneous Canadian people with common aims, aspirations and ideals, developing in them a genuine love for Canada and its institutions.

Recently we called attention to the fact that an effort was being made to bring out a colony of Waldensians, Italian Protestants, and settle them en bloc in the West. To this we raised strong objection for the reason that we do not want divisions along racial or religious lines. More recently we have heard of a proposal to settle some thirty thousand Roman Catholics in one section of the country, this story coming from Chicago, where it is said an option has been obtained on four million acres of land in the North West for the Catholic Colonization Company. We can scarcely believe that this is true. If it is, then we have to protest just as strongly against this proposal as against the one which has for its object the segregating of these Italian Protestants, the Waldensians. No Canadian Government should listen to either of the proposals, because the results would be dangerous to Canada as a nation.

There is, too, another matter which must be grappled with, and that is bi-linguahism or multi-lingualism in Ontario.

BORN OF KINDNESS

"Beauty," says Shakespeare, "lives with kindness." Lovelier than any grace of form or tint, nobler than the keen glance of discerning intellect, is the beauty which is born of kindness We have seen how it transfigures warm and rugged faces through the loveliness which dwells within. There is no beautifier of the face like a eautiful spirit. A kind man is like usic passing down the street, the oudiest day is brightened by his resence, we take heart of hope conerning the human world. Kindness estores to men the Divine image and ikeness

It is the work of heaven to make people happy, and whoever may be left outside such workers are of that kingdom. Nor are such opportunities scarce — they are in the daily path of all of us. An encouraging word to a servant in the house; a little genial intercourse with a workman in the road; a seat surrendered in the street car to tottering age, or to a woman with or without a baby; a word of thanks to a preacher who may feel that his message has been powerless; something outside his fee to a hard worked doctor who has rendered such a good service — these may be little things, but, they are often as rain on the mown grass." —R. P. Downes.

TRUTHS IN BRIEF

Instead of bringing more happiness to a man, much money is apt to drive away the little he already has.

Morality, which once depended upon hard and external standards, is growing to be an attitude of the spirit.

One hearty laugh together will bring enemies into closer communion of heart than hours spent on both sides in inward wrestling with the mental demon of uncharitable feeling.

Order is the sanity of the mind, the health of the body, the peace of the city, the security of the country. As the beams of a house, so is order to all things.

THOUGHTS FOR A WEEK

Monday

The truly generous is the truly wise; And he who loves not others lives unblest.

Tuesday

All service ranks the same with God There is no last nor first.

Wednesday

All habits grow by degrees.
As brooks make rivers, and rivers run to seas.

Thursday

For every evil under the sun
There's a remedy or there's none
If there's a remedy, try to find it,
If there's not, try not to mind it

Friday

A lantern in the hand is worth a dozen stars.
Be a lantern, then, with all you might.

Saturday

Think before you speak, think before whom you speak,
Think why you speak, think what you speak.

Sunday

Talents differ; all is well and wisely put;
If I cannot carry forests on my back
Neither can you crack a nut

BERTONETTES

If a man does not seek wisdom wisdom will not seek him.

Devotion with little prayer is better than much prayer without devotion.

He who seeks a brother without a fault will have to remain without one.

THE MOLSON'S BANK

Fifty-Sixth Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders Held Yesterday

The 56th annual general meeting of the Shareholders of The Molsons Bank was held at their banking house, 200 St. James street, Montreal, at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, October 16th.

The President, Mr. William Molson Macpherson, took the chair, and there were also present Messrs. E. K. Greene, H. Markland Molson, Henri Jonas, David McNicoll, A. G. Watson, W. M. Ramsay, Charles E. Sprague, Kenneth Molson, A. D. Fraser, W. R. Miller, J. W. Molson, H. W. Evans, G. Durnford, H. C. Brewer, C. Archibald and C. B. Gordon.

In opening the proceedings the President called upon Mr. A. D. Durnford to act as secretary, who read the notice calling the meeting, which was done.

Directors' Report.

The President then called upon the General Manager, Mr. James Elliot to read the Annual Report, as follows:

Gentlemen,—At this the 56th Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Molsons Bank your Directors beg to submit their Report and Statement of its position as on 30th September, 1911.

Business has been good and fairly remunerative. The profits of the year amount to $712,539.82. After paying the increased dividend of 11 per cent., taxes, expenditures on Branch Buildings, and usual subscription to the Pension Fund, there was added from Profit and Loss Account $200,000 to Reserve Fund, raising it to $4,600,000, and leaving still at Profit and Loss a balance of $119,306.12.

The Bank's general business, deposits and loans, all show satisfactory growth with good prospects of continuance.

Since last meeting branches have been opened at Dashwood, Teeswater and Petrolia, Ontario; also in Montreal, on St. Lawrence Boulevard, and at Cote St. Paul.

Handsome and substantial buildings have been erected for accommodation of our Branches at Edmonton, Alta., and Maisonneuve, Que., and suitable ones at Lachine, Knowlton, and Ste. Therese, Que. To provide in part for their cost, $100,000 has been charged to Branch Premises Account, making it $700,000.

To accommodate the public and afford room for transaction of our increasing business, we have found it necessary to undertake considerable alterations and additions to our St. James street main building. These are now well under way.

Mr. J. P. Cleghorn, who has worthily served you as Director for sixteen years past, having resigned on account of failing health, the vacancy thus caused had been filled by the appointment of Mr. David McNicoll, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whose wide acquaintance with the business of the whole country will doubtless be of much value to the Bank.

All branches of the Bank have been carefully inspected during the year, and with pleasure we again report that the officers of the Bank everywhere have performed their duties with efficiency and zeal.

Directors Re-Elected.

It was then moved by Mr. E. K. Greene, seconded by Mr. William R. Miller, that one ballot be cast for the election of Directors for the ensuing year, which was adopted, when the Scrutineers presented their report, as follows:

Montreal, October 16, 1911.

To the General Manager, The Molsons Bank:

Sir,—We have the honor to report that at the annual meeting of the Shareholders of The Molsons Bank, held this day, the following gentlemen were re-elected to the Board of Directors: Messrs. G. E. Drummond S. H. Ewing, Charles B. Gordon, H. Markland Molson, William Molson Macpherson, David McNicoll, and W. M. Ramsay.

(Sgd.) GEORGE DURNFORD,
(Sgd.) CHARLES SPRAGGE,
Scrutineers.

The meeting then adjourned.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board of Directors, Mr. W. Molson Macpherson was re-elected President for the ensuing year, with Mr. S. H. Ewing, as Vice-President.

MONEY NO OBJECT

WHEN PEOPLE ARE SEEKING HEALTH OR RELIEF FROM ANY DISEASE THE PRICE NEVER COUNTS.

It is a fact that not less than a million is spent every year by people seeking a satisfactory cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Probably the best and most highly recommended preparation is Catarrhozone which treats the local symptoms very effectually by means of medicated air supplied through a convenient hard rubber inhaler. The poisons in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone Tablets, which are taken after each meal. They promote appetite, aid digestion, and make the blood rich and pure, so that it will nourish all parts of the body.

This combined local and constitutional treatment in catarrhal diseases has met with wonderful success and can be relied upon to cure every time. The inhaler stops sneezing, coughing, droppings in the throat, and brings quick relief and cure to all the disagreeable symptoms of catarrh.

The following testimonials from well-known Canadians furnish abundant proof what Catarrhozone accomplishes in stubborn cases.

Mrs. James Tweedie, of Jay Bridge says: "For years my daughter doctored unsuccessfully for Catarrh. She had droppings in the throat, hawkings, nausea, and could not sleep at night. The first day's use of Catarrhozone benefitted and ultimately cured my daughter so that Catarrh has never returned. I can recommend Catarrhozone as a grand remedy for Catarrh."

Thousands of strong letters could be given like the above if necessary, but all that is required to prove the merit of Catarrhozone is a trial. It is sure as death to cure and if it fails your money will be refunded. Catarrhozone cured lots of cases worse than yours and can do it again.

Complete outfit costs $1.00. Small size 25c. Sold by druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Apples Grown in Kitsumkalum Valley.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have procured samples of apples grown in the Kitsumkalum Valley, ninety miles east of Prince Rupert. These apples are of different varieties, beautiful in their coloring, and the flavor is in every respect up to the perfect brands grown in Ontario, and entirely unlike the inferior flavored fruit grown under irrigation in the more southerly regions and in practically all of the Pacific Coast States.

The specimens came from the orchard of Mr. D. Stewart, who has about fifteen acres under cultivation, and they represent the first grown on the operated line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

In the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers, with other areas along the Skeena River, there should be approximately 300,000 acres of ideal fruit lands placed under cultivation in comparatively few years, and much of this land can be procured by pre-emption in 160 acre lots, the only charge being $1.00 per acre in addition to the residence requirements of the law. It is confidently predicted that this territory will become the centre of a new and greater fruit district in British Columbia.

At Prince Rupert this summer strawberries grown along the Skeena River and in the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers came into market for the first time in considerable quantities, and the fruit is reported to be superior to anything grown on this continent, being extremely high colored, and as sweet and fine a flavor as wild strawberries their size was remarkable, running as large as a good size crab apple or a small snow apple.

There will no doubt be a class of settlers in this section of the country who are looking for and will get tremendous returns for their labor at comparatively small expense.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows: The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.20, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

T. C. HOLT, LTD. OF VANCOUVER

Splendid Investments Offered by This Well Known Firm.

The Times would call special attention of investors to the advertisement of the T. C. Holt, Limited, of North Vancouver, one of the most substantial and prosperous brokers and real estate firms on the Pacific Coast. Capitalists in the east are now looking to the west for safe and profitable investments, and there is probably no spot on the continent where more money has been made faster than in Vancouver real estate. North Vancouver is rapidly forging ahead, and those who are able to get in now will be sure to reap a golden harvest.

T. C. Holt, Limited, recommend the following investments to their clients:

1st—While they last, 10¢ shares in the T. C. Holt Ltd. at $100 per Share. 25 per cent. on application and 10 per cent. per month until fully paid up. This Company being strictly under Government supervision is not allowed to sell their shares for less than par. We consider these shares a good and safe investment, as they will bring the investor a dividend of from 10 to 20 per cent. per year or more. Only a limited number left.

2nd—Investments in Real Estate. Remember, Mr. Investor, inside property in North Vancouver, is as yet cheaper than property in Point Grey, Fairview, South Vancouver, or Grand View, on the outskirts of Vancouver. 5 years ago an investor North Vancouver, far $10,000, to-day bought a corner on Lonsdale Avenue the same piece of property is worth $100,000.00. We can buy for our clients to-day property for investment from $1000 to $50,000.00 and over and can almost guarantee a profit of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. in a couple of years.

3rd—Investments in Mortgages and Agreements of Sale which represent a very safe and sure investment and bring in from 8 to 10 per cent. per year. Nearly every day some party calls in our office and invests his money in Mortgages or Agreements of Sale. They say they prefer absolute safety for their money with a good rate of interest, rather than no interest with a hope of increase in selling value.

THE MAN WHO BEAT BIG BEN

Like a forest fire, the news swept the camp. Big Ben, the mighty, champion sawyer of the world, had been done up, beaten to a lay-down, whipped, humbled — and by an Indian. Wonders would never cease. The loggers swore when they heard the news, but there was one satisfaction back of it all. There would be a fight worth going miles to see.

And that night, in camp, the gaunt it was hurled. Big Ben, striding upon a silent conqueror, knotted his huge fists and glowered down upon him. "You——" he said wickedly. "I'll make your head break your back." The Indian stared back stolidly.

"Mebbyse."

"When will you fight?"

"Sunday good 'nuff day for me."

The white man turned away with a growl. This was Friday night, and the time mentioned was not unreasonably distant. He rolled himself in his blankets, grumbling like an angry bear; but the Indian, slipping quietly from the room, stood long in the biting air without, his face again turned toward the North. And as he looked and listened there came through the starlight night a long, faint, quavering howl, and at its first note he started as though stung. With a quick leap, he reached the bunk house, and, snatching his snowshoes from the peg where they hung against the logs, thrust his feet into the straps, and went slipping away among the dark woods, along his almost obliterated trail of three days before.

Kenny, a hostler, coming from the stable, saw him as he vanished in the forest, and hurried with the news to the long building.

"The Injun has "puckacheed," skipped out, dead scart to fight," he said disgustedly. And Big Ben, hearing the words, sat up in his bunk, and roared with disappointment and rage. Down the steep hillside that led to the lake, the runaway shuffled and slid, the razor-edged air of the night cutting keenly through flannels and buckskin. At the edge of the frozen surface he stopped and swept it with his black eyes, but it lay like a spotless sheet, and he hurried on. Ahead of him was a low peninsula of tangled, snow-buried brush beans, and as he rounded its point he gave a guttural cry, for a quarter of a mile ahead of him a black mass lay upon the snow, while slinking upon it from the shadow of the near-by forest was the gaunt form of one of the great gray runners of the North woods.

"Puckacheel" cried the man, from a distance of four yards. The wolf's lip curled.

"Get out," repeated the Indian, more harshly, his knife suddenly gleaming in the moonlight. Slowly, ominously, the brute got upon all fours; and with ears flattened and legs held stiffly, paced around the man at a distance of six feet. The latter, seeing his great size, his gauntness, and the famine in his eyes, crouched and pivoted in his tracks, with his blade held low. Three times the beast made the circle complete, and three times the man turned round and round about, and never for an instant did the red eyes of the one or black eyes of the other fail to meet, point to point. Then the Indian rushed.

With a catlike leap, a snarl, and a snap of his teeth, the wolf was far to one side, while the assailant, tripping unluckily, fell floundering through the crust, from the violence of the wasted knife sweep. And, before he could clear the smother from his eyes, the filletlike teeth of the starving one had sunk into his right wrist, and at the first crunch of the iron jaws the knife fell from the helpless hand. But the man, twisting like a worm, buried the sinewy fingers of his free hand in the shaggy throat above him, and floundered to his knees.

Not many men have strangled a timber wolf that stood three feet high at the shoulder with their naked hand; but, for that matter, only one man ever bore the brunt of Big Ben's giant strength, and came off victorious. The Indian killed his enemy with the strength that the protecting spirit of lovers gave him; choked him until the slathering jaws fell apart, and the glowing eyes grew dull as dead ashes. Then, bleeding and dizzy, he arose.

"Live," he whispered, as he painfully swung the motionless form of the woman across his broad shoulders. "Live, and I will always work and hunt for you. And may Mo-no-ko lend me his strength once more for the trail is long, and my strength runs away like the waters of a river." And nearly double beneath his burden, he shambled across the bosom of the lake, floundered up the ridge, reeled along the summit, and fell prostrate upon the floor of the bunk house.

Slowly the sleep-benumbed camp roused itself, and stared through heavy eyelids at the senseless woman and grasping man, with the red ice thick upon his sleeve. Then one by one, they crept from their bunks and bent over the motionless pair. "This is said, but muscle-knotted arms lifted them tenderly in a bunk, and rough hands chafed the ivory wrists of the girl until she sat up, gazed wonderingly about; and then with a cry, threw herself upon the still breathing form by her side.

"It is the wish of Mo-no-ko that we part no more," said he, as his head bowed over hers. "Your tongue was rash, and my patience short, but you are my squaw and our trails shall run side by side. One tepee is enough for both of us, and the wolf skin shall cover us when we are old."

Big Ben slowly got upon his feet, and glared at his companions. "That Injun is the best man in the woods, and I want to hear some one say different," he said threateningly. "He's the one man that's got me beat, and any two will saw those others out of their hides yet. Shake hands, partner."

girls like that most of all. She knows what spirit is. She's all tuned up herself like a fiddle in the front parlor. But if you marry her, you'll have to beat Blinn Wiggin to the sortin' boom. Ever hear of Blinn and hi[illegible] Jep?"

Course, I have never heard of them — and, in addition to that, Mr Kyle, I don't care to hear about them W[illegible] dont' you tell me where I can fin[illegible] Niles and Smart, if you've got to talk?"

"'Cause I can't keep you mad that way, and you're more interestin' when you're mad," confessed the boss. "Why don't you cuss? I give you fair I'd like to pick up a line of fresh cit cussin'. My line of talk has gon stale with my crews. I need a new stock."

But the forester maintained wrathful silence. He would have gon back to the other car, but he realize that this retreat would have flattere Mr. Kyle.

"This Blinn Wiggin that you'll b gettin' up against when you mak your play for Queen Clare, is a good-looker, too. But I'll tell you, son," he added critically, "it'll be a fair race between you, handicaps abou even. He's known her, boy and man — kid and queen, all his life. And she knows him — but she may know too much about him. Just one quiet hellion with girls — and, on the other hand, women fall for just that sort. And yet she may be the kind that would rather come up the home stretch with something in the shafts that the crowd didn't have quite so much of a line on. On the other ——"

"I don't want to have any trouble with you, Mr. Kyle," advised the forester balefully.

"You're with the majority, there— not many people do! On the other hand, I say, Jepson Wiggin has been manager for Cornelius for a good many years, and Cornelius has left him sole trustee of the estate. And you've got to admit, son, that he's a bad man in the judge's stand, where outside ringers are concerned. I'd have to think twice on this before I'd place my money. I reckon I'll watch you for a few days. I can tell something from the way you score down under the wire at Corrancache."

George, as angry as a well-bred young man can well be, muttered something about punching out the eye that dared to get busy with his business.

Mr. Kyle chuckled appreciatively.

"Never had this ride up shortened any more by innocent and profitable talk in my life — and I've been luggin' in men for twenty years! You'll have to excuse me, now. I've got these Fijis to unload. All off at the next station!"

He went through the car, shouting, cuffing, and shaking.

It had been a long ride, and night had come on. Most of the convivial crew had long before fallen asleep. Those who were so far gone in stupor that a shake did not stir them. Mr. Kyle lugged down the aisle to the door to be unloaded when the train stopped. He handled them as a stevedore would handle bags of grain When the station was reached, he tossed them off into the arms of the other men, and kicked their duffel bags out after them.

The little hamlet was Skiticock, so they told George. It was the junction where the logging railroad to Corrancache tapped the country's main railroad artery. The logging railroad operated only in the daytime. Incoming crews were lodged free at the Great Trust Co.'s boarding house, Kyle informed the forester. He followed the boss there, swarms of hungry mosquitoes chasing him.

"Forty goats for the ram pasture!" Kyle notified the keeper of the boarding house. He was shoving men before him in at the door. "Me'n a caliper chap for a room."

George got a look into "the ram pasture" when he passed down the corridor. It was a bare room, with field beds on the floor. Some of the men were lugged there and thrown upon the beds to sleep it off. Most of them were sufficiently awake to eat supper in the dining room, with its tin dishes, its bare benches and tables covered with oil-cloth. George managed to eat there, too. And he was careful to get a seat as far away from Bill Kyle as possible. That gentleman was getting on to his nerves. That Mr. Kyle went promptly to sleep when they retired together in the one room available in the house, and snored continuously and kept him awake did not seriously trouble George. Mr. Kyle's coffee-grinder noises were preferable to his line of conversation.

In the morning, they were away early over the rough road, in a rough train, and with their rough crew.

There was one battered car for passengers. It had benches without backs. It played "snap-the-whip" at the end of a train made up of log carriers — skeleton cars, loosely shackled.

George had hard work to edge himself into the car. It was packed to the doors. There had been important new arrivals on the train that passed through Skiticock in the early hours of the morning. These were the two bands of music that Governor Harriss had ordered. Their gay uniforms constrasted strangely with the rough clothes of the woodsmen. Governor Harriss marshaled them pompously, man whom he introduced as 'Squire Burlow, orator of this solemn occasion, gents." Lastly, the master of ceremonies had careful eye out for a huge box that was set across one end of the car. He consented finally to allow men to sit on it, but impressed on all that Cornelius Corran's thousand-dollar coffin was inside that box and must be respected accordingly.

Toward a trunk that had been loaded on board the car, Governor Harriss did not display as much respect. He ordered it to be taken off.

"I'm running this occasion, and we need all the room," he said. "And who in the name of the wall-eyed Horace is it that's carryin' a trunk into the woods, anyway? Trunks don't belong in the woods."

"That's my trunk," stated George. "And I want it taken along to-day." He was thinking of the precipitate Niles and Smart, and realized that if he managed to catch up with them at Corran-cache they would not be inclined to wait another day for the trunk that contained his woods' equipment. He had a wordy battle with the governor, and prevailed only because the men who sat on the trunk had anchored it, and did not want to give up their seats.

When the train started away, scores of men were straddling the spreaders of the log cars at the risk of their necks. Another score clung to the roof of the passenger car.

There seemed to be a general hankering for music in the crowd, and men pleaded with the bands until they were hoarse. But the men with the instruments could not lift their elbows. Then, the little group on Cornelius Corran's coffin decided to try their voices in old Dobeery's "Come All Ye." It was familiar enough, so that all joined the third time it was sung, and it furnished melody for most of the trip, except for the intervals when the choristers refreshed themselves from their bottles.

George had those words dinned into his ears so many times that he could never forget them:

Oh-h-, come all ye bean-fed larrigan lads
And listen unto me.
I'll sing a song to the tune we played
With a cross-cut on a tree.
When we whooped along, a hundred strong,
With a hotfoot down the middle;
A-dancin' wide and a-kickin' high
To the tune o' the gashin' fiddle.
Slivers, and sawdust, and swagon stew,
Rip-fa-duddy, we're Corran's crew!

"You see, son," growled Kyle, in George's ear, "they ain't forgettin' old Cornelius in this country. I can see that you're a pretty good pussy-foot, and know how to keep your mouth shut as well, but you've got to play smoother than the big bosses up Montreal way realize, if you're goin' to get away with any of the plunder that Cornelius left behind."

It was a persisteney in an insulting belief that stirred George, sick with sleeplessness, and harried by the din of voices in that stifling pen, to curse him soulfully.

"You'll do for what they want of you, I reckon," indorsed Mr. Kyle cordially, after listening. "I can see that you're hidin' quite a lot of brimstone under a pretty smooth shell."

The forester plunged into the press, and forced his way apart from his tormentor; and the men whose feet he trod upon, swore behind his stalwart back.

It was respite after agony when that sluggish serpent of a train wormed its way out of the woods and jangled down into the broad, river valley where Corran-cache huddled in its clearing. He burst out of the car among the early ones, struggling as one struggles to come to the surface of the water.

He narrowly missed being flattened by his own trunk. First of the baggage, as though it contaminated the car, it came out of the side door like a projectile. It was plain that the man who threw it had the full strength of his convictions that trunks did not belong in the woods. It struck on one corner, and its seams started with protesting squeal.

"Got a school ma'am on board?" demanded the station agent of the crowd that came flocking out of the car door, each man with his stuffed mealsack on his shoulder. The agent was patting the tunk. In his sudden little panic of embarrassment, the forester hurried up the platform toward the station. It was relief to get away from those grinning faces. He would claim his despised trunk when they had scattered. The agent up ended it, jounced it along on its corners in a few emphatic revolutions, and then started to drag it. A sprinkling trail of some black substance that issued from a broken corner marked its course.

One citzen who had early noticed that trunk to scoff at it was among the last to leave the car, his legs not being of the surest, that day. He espied the trunk departing. Then, his eyes followed back along that black trail that ended at his feet. He picked up a pinch, eyed it, smelled at it. Being still in doubt, but mumbling certain suspicions, he scratched a match and dropped it upon a considerable deposit of the black stuff that the trunk had shed at its impact on the platform.

The experimenter's suspicions were confirmed.

The black stuff "flashed" with a vicious hiss, and fire ran along the

BORN AFTER MOTHER'S BURIAL

Gruesome Experience of Woman, Who, Rescued from Death by Covetous Grave-Digger, Lived to Add to Family Birth Roll.

To be buried alive is a fate of which many persons have a nervous dread, which is by no means as fanciful as it appears. Very many cases have occurred in which a temporary suspension of animation has led to a living man or woman being actually fastened down into a coffin and even buried.

Most gruesome was the experience of the mother of Ebenezer Erskine, an Englishman, who was buried two years before her son was born! During an illness Mrs. Erskine was subject to fainting fits, and from one of these she was believed to have passed away. After the usual interval arrangements were made for her interment; and the village undertaker, who also served the community as sexton, measured her for coffin. The "deceased" was duly buried, and there, but for the cupidity of the grave-digger-undertaker, her story would have ended. But a ring which had been buried on the poor lady's hand had attracted his greed, and after the funeral this worthy opened the grave by night and began to saw off the finger bearing the ring. A ringing scream from the supposed corpse almost scared the thief out of his wits but his humanity overcoming his fear, he roused the parson's family, and the buried lady was restored to health at the expense of a finger.

A similar experience was that of the mother of the famous General Lee, whose sorrowing relatives calmly looked on while she was buried alive! She related that she was fully aware of all the incidents of the funeral, but only mustered strength to make a rattling noise on the coffin lid when the clods of earth began to descend heavily upon it. The sound attracted the sexton's notice, and he hastily broke open the coffin, in time to save her from suffocation.

FROM PULPIT TO BUSHRANGER

Recent Death Recalls the Remarkable Career in Australia of Man Who Played Double Part of Parson and Daring Robber.

One of the most remarkable criminals of our time is recalled by the death in Melbourne of Mrs. Marian Bowen. She was the widow of a senior constable killed in the attack on "Captain Moonlight" and his gang of bushranging desperadoes. "Captain Moonlight" was originally the Rev. Andrew George Scott, the Church of England clergyman on the Egerton goldfield. He broke into a bank at Egerton and robbed it so scientifically that for some time nobody suspected him. It was only when he resigned his charge and was reported to be spending money lavishly in Sydney that the police took action. He was convicted and sentenced to ten years' hard labour. Scott made a daring escape from jail and was at liberty for a few weeks. After his recapture he became the ringleader of a series of prison revolts. On his release he turned his notoriety to profit by going on a lecturing tour. A fluent speaker, and attired in evening dress, he drew large audiences. Suddenly he vanished from the platform, and was next heard of as "Captain Moonlight," emulating Ned Kelly as the head of a band of bushrangers. He was captured and executed in Sydney. The governor expressed a wish to see so interesting a criminal. "Tell His Excellency," was Scott's reply, "that I have no desire to encourage morbid curiosity."

Gathering Them In

The territorial possessions of the United States are just a little larger than they were a week or two ago. Quietly, unostentatiously, and with the simplest of ceremonies another island lying near the California coast, little known even to American citizens was added to the domain of the country.

The island was annexed by Commander W. A. Moffett, United States navy and inspector of the Eighteenth lighthouse district, during his last inspection trip Commander Moffett performed all the legal requirements of taking possession of the little island, which is designated on the sailing charts as Bishop Rock, in the name of the United States. The Navy Department was immediately notified.

The island is a small one. Its sole denizens are herds of seals and sea lions. It is close to Cortez bank, about 110 miles from Point Loma. It is south of the east and west line which divides the United States and Mexico, but the Mexican government never has claimed it.

Long Delayed in Delivery

A letter written in December, 1660, to a prominent member of the Body of Friends in Durham, Eng., has just been found in the Public Record Office, having been undelivered. A copy of the letter has been forwarded to the descendants in the eighth generation of those for whom it was intended. The letter is addressed: "For My Loving friend Richard Hickson, a butcher in Durham to be delivered to William Bywaters, Durham, paid 9d."

Highest on Earth

The Lon Bridge in the China Andes is the highest bridge in the world. This wonderful construction is four hundred feet high, eight hundred feet long, and stands ten thousand feet above sea-level. It crosses a great ravine some three hundred miles from Antofagasta, on the railway running from that port into Bolivia. This line is also of interest from the fact that it is the highest railway in the world, climbing at one point up to over sixteen thousand six hundred feet above sea-level.

Home From the Convention.

Messrs. W. McIlroy, city ticket agent of the C.P.R. and Mr. B. A. Rose, of the G.T.R., have returned from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., where they have been attending the convention of the Canadian Passenger and Ticket Agents' Association. As will be seen from the new title of the Association (it was formerly known as the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association), the sphere of the body has been widened so as to include the Assistant General Passenger Agents, etc., as well as the ticket agents. The people of Sault Ste Marie entertained the railway men royally. They were taken on a visit of inspection through the large steel works at the Soo and for a trip up the river and through the great locks, with lunch served on board. An enjoyable smoker on the first night was followed by a successful dance on the second, and everything possible was done for the entertainment of the visitors who numbered one hundred and fifty. Mr. McIlroy was again elected to the executive of the Association. The next place of meeting will be decided by the executive.

WHY MALACHI NOLAN STEPPED DOWN.

As Alderman Malachi Nolan sat and smoked and sipped, he thought again of Limerick — the breath of spring blows the fragrance of the hawthorn, white upon the bongs; he hears the song of the mavis; he is walking homeward along the birch path through the bog, and up the green lo-een, and there before him is the little cottage, its thatch held down by sticks and stones, a long ash pole propping up its crumbling gable; there in the mud shed with the thills of the old cart sticking out of it, the donkey is standing by, as of yore, and up the road is Jane Little Annie in her bare feet a-driving the cows to the byre; and then he sees his mother sitting in the low doorway — all at once he catches the first whiff of the peat smoke, and, with the strange spell that odors work upon the memory, it makes him a boy again; again he is sheltered on a rainy day in the mud shed, playing shoot-marbles with Andy Corrigan and Jerry O'Brien; again he is in the little chapel with the leaky roof; he sees all the boys and girls — Mary Cassidy among them — standing on the bare clay floor; he brings his bit of stone to kneel on during mass he even runs out for a piece of slate to give to Mary, who lays it in the puddle at her feet and spreads her handkerchief over it before she kneels. And when the mass is over, he will take little Nora — little Nora?

He placed his hand to his forehead in confusion, and then in a gasp it all comes over him — Mary is old, Andy and Jerry are old, little Annie is old, and he is old — they are all gone away. He bowed his head.

And yet Nora yearned to go. Should he turn the ward over to Brennan and take her this spring? He could run for the legislature when he came back in the fall; a senator would be elected by the next General Assembly, and the graft would be very good then.

The compromise attracted Malachi, for at once it acquitted him of indecision, a quality of statesmanship he hated, and kept for him the life of power that had become as the very breath of his nostrils.

The long day was done, and Malachi, in shirt-sleeves and stockinged feet, sat in his big plush rocking-chair, his legs stretched out before him, taking his ease at his own hearth. When he had come home at midnight, Nora, who always sat up for him, had insisted upon brewing him a cup of tea, under the impression, common to a certain class of women, that it has great medicinal qualities. Malachi had sipped it obediently, though he had not cared for it after all the mineral waters he had drunk that day, and had enjoyed far more than the tea the freckled Irish face of his daughter, as he gravely goggled at her over the rim of the saucer into which he had poured the beverage to cool it.

"Nora, child, do ye sing now — p'hat was that? — it wint hummin' t'rough me head th' day. Well, well, well, let me see, now — hum-m-m-m — it goes something like——"

And he hummed a quavering old tune:

"I saw the Shannon's purple flood Flow by the Irish town."

"But it's forbidden in the lease after ten o'clock," the girl protested, leafing over her music. "What if the landlord——"

"It's time enough to sassy good marnin' to th' divil, Nora, whin ye meet 'im."

Nora fixed herself on the stool fingered the keys, finding a soft minor chord. The old man closed his eyes, slid farther down in his plush chair, and, just as he was prepared to flaten, she suddenly stopped in the provoking way amateur musicians cultivate, to say:

"But, father, that's such an old song, wouldn't you rather I'd sing the Intermezzo from 'Cavalleria'?".

Malachi opened his eyes with a start and sat bolt upright.

"Naw," he said, "none o' thim fur'n op'res — p'hat's the use of yer goin' to th' convint all those years?" But his voice quickly softened. "Do ye go on now, Nora, darlin', there's a good gur-rl."

And so she sang, and the alderman sank in his chair, with his big arms in their shirt-sleeves thrown over his head, closed his eyes again, stretched out his stockinged feet. The smoke from his cigar ascended to the chandelier, and now and then, when he remembered the words of a line, he hummed them behind closed lips, in unison with his daughter. When the song was done Nora whirled around, clasped her hands in a schoolgirl's ecstasy, and said:

"Oh, father, that song makes me homesick — homesick for a place I never saw. You won't run again, will you, father, will you? And we'll go to Ireland in the spring, won't we? Tell me in the spring?"

A pain struck through Malachi Nolan's heart, a pain that was made only more poignant when, with her American fear of the sentimental, Nora joked:

"I must see our ancestral cabin."

Malachi could not open his eyes. For once he was afraid. He did not move for a long time. But at last he sighed and set his jaw, and said:

"Well Nora — if ye sassy so — in the spring."

And that was why Malachi Nolan stepped down.

Trying Suggestion on the Mare.

Twice as the bus slowly wended its way up the steep Cumberland Gap the door at the rear opened and slammed. At first, those inside paid little heed; but at the third time they demanded to know why they should be disturbed in this fashion.

'Whist, cautioned the driver, 'doan't spake so loud; she'll overhear us.'

'Who?'

'The mare. Spake low! Shure O'm desavin' th' crayture? Every toime she 'ears th' door close she thinks wan o' yez is gettin' down ter walk up th' hill, an' that sort a' raises her aperrits.'

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. WRITE US for full information.

Jordan & Davis Company

NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

Out Canadian Rockies.

Trunk Pacific Railway from Mr. Armountain climber and topographer, who is at present in the Canadian Rockies making observations for the purpose of mapping out the district, he says:

"We have a great amount of splendid material for publication and a collection of photographs that cannot be surpassed. We have just completed what is very nearly a 100 mile circuit around Mt. Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies. The peaks and valleys, lakes and waterfalls on all sides of it, and the glaciers are very fine. The region is immense, and there is work for years to come, exploring, mapping and depicting. There is a fine bunch of high peaks and large snowfields and glaciers southwest of Tete Jaune Cache. There are also great peaks up the Athabaska and Fraser headwaters, tributary to your line. The most showy part of Mt. Robson is the Robson Pass and Glacier, and Berg Lake."

Real Estate, Mining and Industrial Investments

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$23.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property in the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

Birdcages and Disease.

Bedsteads and birdcages are among the sources of plumbism — the deadly lead poison disease — according to a report by Dr. Robert Edginton in the current "British Medical Journal". "In putting together chandeliers and gas-fittings white lead is used in the joints," he says, "and it is the custom of the workmen to test the joints by sucking the air out of the tubes, so that in this case the lead is probably conveyed directly into the stomach." The process which figures highest (with seventeen cases in a list of eighty-four instances of plumbism) is the painting of motor-car and coach bodies, safes, and stoves, whose glossy enamel-like surface exacts a heavy toll from the workers owing to the lead dust inhaled during the repeated sand-paperings involved in securing a perfectly smooth surface. House painters come next, and on the same level as regards frequency of poisoning are the girls who smooth down the paint of bedsteads and birdcages with their hands to get an enamel-like surface. Cases of lead poisoning among tinners and kettle makers are ascribed to the mixture of lead and tin used for the inside surface of kettles and saucepans.

Touch and Go.

Willie—Papa, what is the meaning of the expression "touch and go?"

Papa—It's very simple, my son. It means extreme speed, and refers to the professional borrowers who make a touch and get away so fast you seldom see them again.

THE CRIMINAL AMONG PLANTS

Thugs of the Vegetable World that Have No Honest Ways, and Live by Strangling Their Brethern.

There are plants of bad character, which are the thugs of the vegetable world, for they live by means of strangling their victims, and have no honest way of gaining their own livelihood. The Broomrape family are all of evil repute, for they throttle the roots of the vetches, of furze, clovers, and other leguminous plants, robbing them of the rich nitrogen which they have collected from the air for their own roots, and seizing this private store for themselves. What could be more like the actions of human thieves? The Tooth-worts which infest the roots of nut-bushes, elms, and other trees are like unto them; and both are singularly wanting in beauty, being clothed in dirty-brown tints, as a rule, and having no green leaves. Even one of the Persicarias (Black Bindweed) has taken to evil courses, for it climbs on the stems of other plants, and strangles them in so doing; and these evil-doers by no means exhaust the list of the criminals of the vegetable world. We can, however, scarcely blame the rootstock of a grafted rose for starving the graft, and throwing up its own suckers; such a proceeding is but too common amongst ourselves, for selfishness is almost universal.

Had a Prejudice.

Captain Hardress Lloyd, the English polo player, was talking about international marriages. "Really, you know," he said, "it isn't true that all the titled husbands of American girls are scoundrels. I sometimes think that you Americans, especially those of you who hail from Chicago, are too hard on our poor marquises and earls. A Chicagoian, I understand, was being shown through a New York picture gallery by his nephew. He paused before a striking portrait. 'That, Uncle Cochon,' the nephew explained, 'is a portrait of Napoleon Bonaparte, the man the Duke of Wellington got the best of.' The uncle frowned and said angrily, 'Damn them, can't a nobleman — how much did he lose, Jim?'"

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES, but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

"Nerviline" Cures Rheumatism

And Here Is the Proof—A Solemn Statement From a Four-years' Cripple, Who Says "Nerviline" Did It.

"If I had lived through my sufferings another year it would have been a miracle." This is the opening sentence of the declaration made by Mr. J. Eccles Squires, member of one of the best-known families for twenty miles round Sydney. "My hands were drawn out of shape, even my fingers were gnarled and crooked—my lameness, stiffness and inability to get about all showed the havoc Rheumatism made with my health. The blessing of it all is that CURED I have heard of Nerviline, 4 1-2 and now I am able to tell YEARS and advise others now they may get well, too. My system was so weakened that I had to build up with a good tonic, so I took Ferrozone at meals. But I never stopped rubbing on Nerviline—it had a magic influence on my stiff, painful joints, and bottle after bottle was rubbed on the painful parts. Nerviline cured me. I am well to day—have been well for 4½ years."

You also can cure rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints to do so use Nerviline. Don't let your druggist substitute. Get Nerviline only. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. Sold everywhere or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Had Good Luck.

Messrs. R. Jackson, the genial proprietor of the Crown Hotel, and Mr J. M. Brooks spent a few days at Mr. Jackson's summer home, Eel Creek, Stoney Lake, last week, and were successful in securing a considerable quantity of partridges, which are very plentiful this year. They also had some good luck salmon fishing. One party caught three salmon last week, the lot weighing 81½ lbs.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Mr. Joseph Glass took place Saturday afternoon from the late residence, Parnell street to Little Lake cemetery. The funeral was attended by the members of the International Moulders' Union No. 191, of which the deceased was a member, and also by a large body of citizens.

A Wheel Came Off.

While on the way to market on Saturday morning, the rear wheel came off a farmer's wagon on Charlotte street and some of the produce with which the wagon was loaded, was scattered over the street. A nut was secured from a neighboring blacksmith shop and the wheel replaced, also the contents of the wagon.

Painful Accident.

Mr. John McCarney met with a painful accident on Friday while working in the foundry of Adam Hall & Sons. While carrying a ladle of molten metal he tripped and fell, causing the metal to be thrown over his shoulders and neck which were seriously burned and scorched. Dr. Frederick attended him and he is resting as easily as could be expected but it will be some time before he is able to be around again.

Union Meeting.

A union meeting of the Young People's Societies in the city will be held in St. Andrew's church this evening, when Mr. Karl Lehmann, the Interstate Field Secretary of Christian Endeavor, will be the speaker. The most flattering praises have been showered on Mr. Lehmann in other cities and he has frequently been spoken of as "Consecrated Dynamite." The young people of the city should not miss the opportunity to hear one of the finest speakers engaged in this work.

Boats Laid Up.

Lakefield News: The boats of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company are being laid up for the season and overhauling operations are now in progress. The Empress has been treated to a coat of paint and some repairs have been made. The same treatment is to be accorded the Stoney Lake, and a new boiler and engine may be installed in Islanda. This season has been a busy one for the company.

Giant "Olympic" Soon to Resume.

The Montreal offices of the White Star line have just received cable advices that the repairs to the mammoth "Olympic," the largest steamer in the world, which was rammed by the British Cruiser "Hawke" in September, are progressing satisfactorily and it has been definitely determined that the steamer will resume regular sailings leaving Southampton Nov. 29th and New York December 9th.

While the steamer is undergoing repairs the passenger accommodation has been increased by the addition of a large number of suites, and when the vessel is turned over again by the builders she will be even more complete in every detail than when she made her maiden voyage in June last.

A Boy Injured.

While crossing the street on Saturday last at the corner of George and King streets, a young lad named Stanley Laing was knocked down by a horse and rig. He received a slight gash on the forehead, otherwise the lad was unhurt.

Two Jews Arrested.

On Saturday morning two Jews, named Harry and Louis Stocan, were arrested by the local police on receipt of a telegram from Belleville. The two men are charged with defrauding their creditors. The parties will be taken to Belleville to-day for trial.

Shot a Bear.

While hunting on the Burleigh shore of Stoney Lake a few days ago, Mr. Lennox and party shot a large black bear. It was a very large animal, and was sleek and fat. It is said that bears, both the black and the brown species, are very numerous in the north this season.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Sawyers took place on Saturday afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery. The floral tributes were very beautiful. The Rev. Robt. Pogue officiated, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Sawers. The pall bearers were Messrs. W. J. Greene, Jos. Stewart, Robert Mulligan, Thomas Lang, H. Sherwood and Dr. Morrow.

Mr. Bert Gillespie Honored.

On Friday evening a number of the personal friends of Mr. Bert Gillespie 168 Hunter street, met at his home and presented him with an address, accompanied by a beautiful fountain pen, on the occasion of his early departure for Edmonton, where he will reside hereafter. The address was signed by W. J. Gamble, A. G. Hagerman, T. A. Record, H. W. Coon, T. A. Kerr, A. H. Gamble, J. E. Middleton, Stan. Taylor, W. Patterson. At the conclusion of the address a social evening was spent.

Ketchecum Club Back.

The members of the Ketchecum Fishing and Hunting Club returned to town on Saturday night, after a two weeks' outing at Ketchecum Lake. They had amost enjoyable time, the weather being perfect. Trout fishing was not as good as usual, on account of the warm weather, but partridge were plentiful. The original party numbered 17, but several of them returned home earlier, amongst whom were Messrs. W. T. C. Boyd, Bobcaygeon; J. G. Edwards, Lindsay; E. A. Peck and others. Those who remained until the break up of the camp on Saturday were: Captain H. C. Winch, and Messrs. R. J. Munro, Robert Stuart, J. F. Belcher, R. Dobie, H. Nesbitt and T. H. Hooper (chef). All hands voted the outing one of the most enjoyable they ever experienced. Under Captain Harry Winch, it could not be otherwise.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Dr. and Mrs. McWilliams, Keene, were in the city on Saturday.

Mrs. R. J. Todd is the guest of her mother, Glenwilliam, Ont.

Miss Nellie Wood has returned home from Clifton Springs.

Miss Agnes Sisson, 308 Pearl avenue, who has been visiting in South Monaghan, has returned home.

Mrs. John Jeffries, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Madill, Aylmer street.

Rev. J. A. Rix, of Orangeville, is in the city, and occupied the pulpit of All Saints' church yesterday.

Mrs. Robert Cruikshanks, Sherbrooke street, has returned home after visiting friends in Alnwick.

Mr. Wm. Hincheliffe, we regret to learn, is confined to his home through serious illness.

Mrs. Ernest Green, Toronto, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meldrum, Macdonnell street.

At the annual Baptist convention, held in Montreal last week, Dr. Scott of this city, was elected first vice-president.

The many friends of Mrs. Geo. W. Fitzgerald, London street, will regret to learn that she is seriously ill with congestion of the lungs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meldrum returned on Saturday from Stoney Lake where they spent a few delightful days at their cottage, salmon fishing.

Mrs. Bert Courtney and children, Rhea and Crystal, of Omemee, are visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. V. A. Jones, 114 Stewart street.

Mrs. John Wood, Belmont avenue, and Miss Annie Wood, who have made an extended trip to the West, returned home on Saturday in company with Mr. and Mrs. Roland Wood and Master Jack, of Fernie, B.C.

The friends of Mr. Archie Seymour, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Seymour, and brother of Mr. Charlie Seymour, accountant in the office of the Light and Power Co., will be sorry to learn of his serious illness at his home in Oshawa.

A NOTABLE RECORD

Mr. T. W. Robinson Completes Half a Century of Sunday School Work.

Mr. T. W. Robinson yesterday completed fifty consecutive years of unbroken work in connection with the George street Methodist Sunday School. The event was marked by congratulatory addresses in the afternoon during the Sunday school hours, by Rev. Mr. Couch, the pastor, and others, which was largely attended. Mr. Robinson's achievement is personally a notable one. There are no doubt many who have put in half a century of Sunday School work, but it is rare to find a man who has remained in the one school for that length of time.

During the meeting, Mr. Robinson gave a history of the Sunday school from the time he entered it, a young lad, until the present. He referred to the development and progress of the school under the various superintendents, from the time of the late Robinson Rutherford up to the present. Mr. Robinson first entered as a pupil subsequently becoming teacher, librarian, superintendent and finally Superintendent of the Home Department, a position which he has filled for ten years and which he still occupies.

We are sure that not only those connected with the Sunday school and church, but also the people of the city generally, will join in tendering Mr. Robinson their hearty congratulations and earnest wishes for many years of useful service yet to come.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

AND WHY NOT JEWS?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The question of teaching the French language in the schools of Ontario, has become an issue at the approaching Provincial elections. Apropos of this I notice that the Jews of Toronto want to have bi-lingualism introduced into the Toronto public schools. This shows the absurdity of the whole system. As a prominent editor puts it, the Irish might just as well want the Celtic language taught, they have a better right to it than have the French or the Jews to have their languages used in the public schools, because there are more Irish in Ontario than there are either French or Jews. Then the Italians will come along and demand the teaching of Italian. And if we permit French to be used as the language of any of our schools, how can we in justice forbid these others to hope for similar privileges?

The people must get down to business and grapple with this bi-lingual bogey. It must be met and settled before we shall have peace in Ontario.

Veritas.

CARELESS PEDESTRIANS CAUSE TROUBLE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Why do people waiting for street cars not stand on the sidewalk instead of blocking the street so that automobiles cannot pass without danger of an accident? Any automobile driver is willing when necessary to stop and wait while passengers are actually boarding a street car. It is beyond conception, however, why a group of people who are waiting for a street car that is not even in sight insist upon standing in the street instead of on the sidewalk. This is prevalent all over the city, and is a habit that is growing worse.

I have driven an automobile many thousand miles and from personal observation am able to state that the percentage of pedestrians who look to see where they are going before they step off a sidewalk into the street is so small as to be hardly worth mentioning. As a leading business man remarked to me a few days ago, "If automobile drivers were 1 per cent. as careless as pedestrians accidents would be increased one-thousand fold."

OBITUARY

Mr. Thos. B. Menzies.

The many friends of Mrs. R. S. Davidson and Mrs. K. G. Loch, will regret to learn of the death of their brother, Mr. Thomas Blair Menzies, which took place on Thursday, Oct. 19th, at Kingfisher, Oklahoma. Mr. Menzies was apparently in the best of health and his sudden death will come as a great shock to his many friends. Mr. Menzies was in his 36th year and was the eldest son of the late Thomas Menzies of Peterborough. The funeral will be held from the home of his sister, Mrs. George H. Laing, Kingfisher, Oklahoma.

Walter H. Johnson.

The sudden death of Walter Hayes Johnson, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson, will come as a great shock to his many friends. His death occurred on Friday evening after only one week's illness. The deceased was born in Montreal, but only moved to this city two years ago from Young's Point. He was a student at the Collegiate Institute, and a member of St. Paul's Church. He was a bright boy, with splendid character, and one who had an immense influence for good among his playmates. Yesterday morning in St. Paul's Church, Rev. Mr. Pogue referred to him as the most ideal boy he had ever known. The sympathy of the whole community will be extended to his grief-stricken parents.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 166 Hunter street, East City, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

HOT STUFF FROM THE CATHOLIC REGISTER

The Boston Pilot believes that another know-nothing campaign is about due in the United States. Let it come. The A. P. A. was instrumental in sending many earnest Protestants into the Church. And the half-dead-and-alive Catholics will not be any the worse for a little shaking up all along the line.

Despite their pseudo-Oecumenical trappings, our Methodist friends cannot get together without taking an occasional slap at the Catholic Church, whose methods they are trying to imitate. The Old Church in her time has seen a good many of these pretensious religious movements come and go across the world's stage and one more or less does not ruffle her serenity. Methodism, we will admit, has been a pretty lively little heresy; but unless all signs fail it is now headed for the graveyard to which an inexorable fate ultimately consigns all these man-made creeds. Over one thousand Protestant sects, born of Luther's rebellion, have already disappeared, and Methodism's turn, in the natural order of things cannot be very far off.

And there were some who arose in the Methodist gathering and protested against the old abuse of the Church. A good omen truly!

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES — WHY?

The increasingly long evenings of Autumn give greater opportunity for Sewing, Writing, Reading, Study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt, accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Another Mine Horror

Bodies of Two Miners Blown Out of the Mouth of the Shaft at Harrisburg

Harrisburg, Ill., Oct. 23.—Nine men were killed, ten gravely wounded, were carried up by rescuers, and fifteen more were imprisoned by a cave-in, as a result of the explosion of a keg of powder, which ignited black damp to-day in Ogara Mine No. 9, a mile south of here.

About 400 men were employed in the mine No. 9. The accident is said to have happened in a remote part of the mine in which only twenty-one men were employed. It was said that all the other employees, hearing the noise of the explosion, escaped to the surface.

POTASH FIND OF ENORMOUS VALUE

Eastern Ontario Said to Have Bountiful Supply

ALSO IN THIS DISTRICT

Immense Deposits Said to Exist—Will Prove Great Boon to Farmers—German Syndicate Will Exploit Districts — Peterborough County May Be Included.

discovery of enormous value has been made by geologists in Ontario, according to a report cabled from Berlin, Germany, to the effect that extensive finds of potash had been made at Goderich and in the region around Lakes St. Clair and Huron. This area has a great salt industry. Last year the output was 84,071 tons, valued at close upon half a million dollars. Many inquiries have been made regarding the deposit of potash supposed to have been found in connection with salt wells at or near Goderich.

During the negotiations between the United States potash buyers and the German Potash Trusts a rumor was circulated of extensive finds of potash in the area named. At that time the opinion was expressed in Berlin that the report had been circulated in order to affect the negotiations. The German Potash Trusts sent a corps of geologists to Canada to investigate. The reports of these corps have been received in Berlin and are sufficiently encouraging to justify the formation of a syndicate. Advance reports of a rich potash tract are encouraging and the Germans are prepared to exploit the field to the fullest possible extent.

A Boon to Agriculture.

The annual report of the Ontario Bureau of Mines received in Peterborough, on Saturday, contains an elaborate statistical review in the course of which, under the heading of "the Pursuit of Potash," this subject is discussed and it is stated :—

"There is no doubt that the discovery of potash salts in quantity would be a boon to the agricultural interests of Ontario, and indeed of the Dominion at large. Wood ashes, which in the early days of settlement when the forest was being cleared away and burned were plentiful, and were largely made use of for the extraction of potash salts, are now no longer to be had in quantity, and our agriculturists are dependent for potash upon foreign sources of supply, which means Germany."

Found in Eastern Ontario.

The report goes on to say :—"A bountiful supply of potash is contained in the feldspar deposits at Verona and elsewhere on the line of the Kingston and Pembroke railway, this material containing as much as 13 or 14 per cent. of potash. The difficulty is that no feasible method has yet been discovered for converting the contained potash into soluble form. It has been stated that finely pulverized feldspar when applied directly to the ground will part with potash, though slowly, and thus act as a fertilizer. With the view of ascertaining the value of ground feldspar, a quantity from the deposits of the Kingston Feldspar and Mining Company has been forwarded to the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, where experiments will be conducted by the authorities of that institution."

May Include Peterborough.

While the report says nothing regarding Peterborough County, nevertheless the investigation may also include this district. The geological formation is similar to the other localities where potash is found. Let us hope that we are on the eve of a great mineral development.

YEAR 1911 WILL LIVE IN EMPIRE'S HISTORY

London, Oct. 23.—Speaking at the Glasgow Conservative Club, Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Unionist leader, referred to Canada's decision on the question of reciprocity, which he regarded as Imperial importance.

"Are you certain," he asked, "that the event is not one whereon depended the future of the Empire as well as its influence and position among the nations of the world?" He ventured to prophesy that 1911 would be enumerated among the greater anniversaries of the Empire, and that generations to come would regard the Canadian elections as an event which settled for all time the future course of the Empire.

"We now must live up to our high ideal," he added, "showing ourselves worthy of the trust our children placed in us."

MAIN ARMY OF GOVERNMENT IS REPORTED ROUTED IN CHINA

ACCORDING TO CABLE RECEIVED BY A PAPER AT SAN FRANCISCO.

Rebels are Entrenching Everywhere and Mounting Artillery on Hills —Four Provinces are Lost.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 23.—The Chinese Free Press received the following cable yesterday from Shanghai :

"Shanghai, Oct. 22 (7 a.m.).—There was a big engagement yesterday between the revolutionary forces and the Imperial army. Fifteen thousand revolutionists attacked the army of General Yin-Tchang, in a mountain pass at Kwang-Sui, in the mountain range between Ho pei and Honan, where General Yin had made his headquarters. The Imperial army was defeated with great slaughter. The army retreated for twenty miles north. All stores, artillery, guns, and ammunition which the General had stored there were left behind and captured by the revolutionists. It was a great victory for the commander-in-chief Li Ying Huen, who led the rebel army.

LOYALISTS HAD 20,000 MEN.

"The rebels occupied the Sha Gat district, and now control every mountain pass."

An early despatch from Pekin read as follows :

General Yin Tchang, the War Minister, who is in the neighborhood of Sin Yang Chua, of Honan Province, has completed the mobilization of 20,000 men.

The Provinces of Honan and Hupeh are divided by a high range of hills, through which the only pass for many miles is traversed by the railway. It is reported that this pass is held by the rebels, who have posted many guns. They are supposed to have cut off 3,000 Imperial troops, who are fleeing northward from Hankow.

AN INTOLERABLE AFFRONT

The attitude of the heirarchy in connection with the ne temere decree is rapidly becoming intolerable. At the Baptist Convention in Montreal Rev. A. E. St. James detailed the difficulties he had encountered in building up a church and Sunday school in the east end of Montreal. The priests went round to all of his congregation who had French names, and such of them as had been sprinkled in their churches, but had been converted and married by Mr. St. James were assured they were not legally married at all. This is equivalent to stigmatizing them as adulterers and their children as bastards. This condition cannot be permitted to continue.

1,500 CANADIAN GIRLS VANISHED LAST YEAR

Sherbrooke, Oct. 23. The Seventeenth Convention of the Dominion W.C.T.U. opened in Plymouth Hall this morning. About 80 delegates from all over Canada were present.

Last night Mrs. A. A. Gordon, Superintendent of the Evangelistic Department, made the convention address in Plymouth Church. Mrs. Gordon in a stirring address dealth with the cigarette habit. She appealed for the co-operation of every man and woman in an effort to do away with this curse as well as with liquor and white slave traffic. Mrs. Gordon stated that in the Dominion of Canada last year, 1500 girls disappeared from sight, having fallen victims to the white slave traffic. In the city of Chicago she boast was openly made that the brightest and best victims were Canadian girls.

This evening's meeting will be held in the art hall with the Dominion President in the chair. Addresses of welcome will be given by the Sherbrooke W.C.T.U. Mrs. S. A. Jones, President.

BRITISH FARMERS TO BE BROUGHT OUT FOR CANADA

DUKE OF SUTHERLAND, BACK AGAIN IN TORONTO, TELLS OF WHAT HE PLANNED.

Will Loan Them Money—He Has Secured a Tract of 2,500 Acres in Southern Alberta on the C.P.R. Line.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—To train farmers of England and Scotland that they may be in a position to take up land in the northwest with full knowledge of local conditions, is the plan of the Duke of Sutherland, who has returned to Toronto from a visit to his large holdings in the Northwest.

A tract of land, comprising 2,500 acres has been secured in southern Alberta, near Clyde, on the C.P.R. This land has been divided into 12 farms, and is ready for occupancy. A manager is already in charge. Picked farmers from the Duke's estate in Scotland will be placed on each of these farms next spring, with the view of eventually becoming proprietors. In anticipation of a large settlement in the vicinity of the Canadian Northern is already extending its line to the place.

The second part of the immigration scheme is represented by 1,500 acres of land near Edmonton, to which his Grace proposes to send laborers from Scotland. Farm laborers to start with, these men will be trained as farmers, capable of starting out in a few years for themselves. The wages they receive will probably be double what is paid in Scotland, and it is hoped that in time they will select homesteads for themselves, and have sufficient from their savings to start well.

Ten years will be allowed for the repayment of money loaned for the purchase of the farms in the Clyde district, interest at 6 per cent. being charged, but if payment is made within five years the interest rate will be only 4 per cent.

The Duke expects to interest a number of prominent Canadians in the undertaking, and will spend the next two or three days in interviewing financiers. From these he expects to get not only promise of money to broaden and extend the scheme, but also influence to induce the co-operation of the Provincial Governments.

WILL THEY CALL ON WOMEN TO FILL THE M'NAMARA JURY?

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23.—That women may be drafted to complete the jury which is to pass upon the guilt or innocense of James B. McNamara is one of the interesting possibilities incident to the recent victory of women suffrage in the State of California.

Clarence S. Darrow, senior counsel for the defence yesterday said: "That the matter is by no means a joke. There is no legal or constitutional reason, so far as I can see, which would bar that contingency."

JACK CANUCK—Now Sammy! As we have decided to use our own natural products for industrial purposes you can locate as many manufacturing establishments here as you wish to.

FRIENDS OF RICHESON LAY THE BLAME ON ANOTHER

Boston, Mass., Oct. 23.—That some one else intimate with Avis Linnell and not Rev. Clarence V. Richeson, gave the girl the drug that killed her, will be one of the chief points for the defence when the Methodist preacher is placed on trial, was vouched for today by one of the closest personal friends of Moses Grant Edmands, father of Richeson's fiancee.

According to the same friend, the Edmands family will also attempt to set up an alibi for Richeson and it is declared Miss Edmands herself is ready to take the stand and swear that the pastor was with her all day on the Saturday Miss Linnell was given the poison.

In addition, it is declared, Edmands will produce in court a bottle of cyanide of potassium, said to have been found in Richeson's room. This will be submitted it is said to Druggist Wm. Hahn, and he will be asked if it does not contain the exact amount of cyanide he gave Richeson, when the latter asked for poison "to kill a dog."

Richeson composed and calm as ever, slept well last night in the Charles street jail. He awakened early and called for the morning papers. He read every line printed about the Linnell case, but made absolutely no comment.

INSISTS ON PRISON FARE.

Richeson insists on living as the other prisoners in the jail live. He was told he might have his food sent in to him, but declared he was content to eat the prison fare.

Richeson talks freely with the jailers on all matters except the Linnell murder. On this subject he is mum. He persistently refuses to see reporters or police officials.

Abandoning their efforts to secure a statement from Richeson, the police to-day began a search of every hotel and restaurant in Boston, in an effort to discover where Richeson and Miss Linnell spent their time together.

The statement coming from one of the closest friends of Moses Grant Edmands, that the defence will seek to lay Miss Linnell's death at the door of a former suitor, came as a distinct surprise. Up to date there had never been mentioned any man other than Dr. Richeson in whom Miss Linnell had shown even a passing interest. The Edmands family, it is declared, claims to be in possession of information that this other man was responsible for Miss Linnell's condition, and that he either gave her the drug to kill her, or that she took it with suicidal intent when she learned that her disgrace must soon become public.

To beard out this contention, the defence, in the hands of Attorney Dunbar, a son of James R. Dunbar, Edmand's personal attorney, is said to have in his possession a bottle of cyanide of potassium, found in Richeson's rooms.

It is not denied that Richeson's rooms were searched by private detectives before the police searched them last Friday. These private detectives Dunbar admits, were in his employ, and he has assumed full responsibility for their acts. They took away from Richeson's rooms a suit case full of stuff. It is said they found the bottle of drug said to have been sold to Richeson by Hahn. This bottle, the defence claims, contains exactly the amount of cyanide that Richeson secured from Hahn. It will be set up that Richeson really did want to kill a dog, but that he never used any of the poison, and that it was not from this supply that Miss Linnell secured the drug that killed her.

Deputy Superintendent Watts said definitely to-day that he has information of a direct character that Richeson dined with Miss Linnell on the afternoon of the day on which the girl took the fatal dose. This information, Deputy Watts, said, came from a young woman, who is not a member of the Young Women's Christian Association household. She met Miss Linnell on the street late Saturday afternoon.

"Miss Linnell told me," said Deputy Watts informant, "that she had just dined with Richeson and that she was going home, as she was suffering from a headache."

The cafe in which the couple had dined is also known to the police and the employes there are said to have verified the statement of the young woman as to visits made by the Cambridge pastor and the Conservatory of Music pupil.

Italians Lost Over 800

Turks Defeated a Force of 8,000 and Captured Large Quantities of Ammuniton

Berlin, Oct. 23.—Special despatches from Constantinople say that the Turkish Ministry of the Interior has received news that the Turks and Arabs have defeated 8,000 Italians near Barka. The Italians lost 800 and the Turks 115 men. The Italians left large quantities of arms and ammunition on the field. The Berlin news paper print the despatches doubtingly.

TEN THOUSAND FROM BRITAIN

Salvation Army Will Bring a Vast Number to Canada

MANY DOMESTICS COMING

Army Has Already Sent Out Over 60,000—Ten Thousand will Come This Year and Vastly Increased Numbers Next Year.

FOR some years the Salvation Army has carried on a great immigration work, and its field of activity in this direction is sure to be greatly increased during next year. The increase of 2000 in Peterborough's population is due, in a great measure, to the British born who are coming out under the auspices of the Army. The class of emigrants are, as a rule, good. Take, for example, those who compose the splendid band of the Salvation Army in Peterborough. These men are a credit to any community, and will make the best kind of citizens.

Col. David Lamb, director of the Army's emigration department in London, who is now in Ottawa, said to a press representative :

"The Salvation Army this year is bringing ten thousand people into Canada. Of those we have brought in this year about 300 are from Northern Europe, Scandinavians and Dutch, and the rest are from the British Isles. At the present time women and children and unmarried women are being brought in at the rate of one hundred a week, and this will keep up until Nov. 1st.

"Economic conditions in the West give rise to a big demand for labor of all kinds," continued Col. Lamb. "Take the situation as regards female domestics. The census in the Old Country showed that there are now one million and a quarter more single women adults in excess of the male population. This year we are bringing in 1,200 single women for domestics.

"In one district in the West I found that, at the end of two years, thirty per cent. of the single women immigrants were married, and several of them were in turn asking for maids for themselves. These girls are brought over in car-load lots, and we try to make the trip as much like a picnic or outing as possible, so that they reach their destinations in good spirits.

"In the past seven years, during which I have been director of the Army's emigration department, we have sent to Canada over 60,000 people, and we are rather pleased that as yet not one per cent. have proven failures. There is also in this fact a tribute to the natural advantages and economic conditions in Canada."

It is not hard to get people to come to Canada, according to Col. Lamb. "Canada is easily first with the emigrating public," he says.

Col. Lamb who has been for 25 years an officer of the Salvation Army, is a Scotchman. He is a Fellow of the Colonial Institute, a member of the Essex County Educational committee, a member of the local board of Guardians in his home, and is widely recognized as one of the world's leading experts in immigration matters. He sails on Saturday from Montreal by the Empress of Britain.

HARD ON HIS FRIENDS.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Hon. Mr. Stratton is hard on his friends and also nurting himself. In an interview given The Examiner the other day he said : "If the P. P. A.—or those who were talking Protestantism, in season and out of season, are satisfied with the victory they won, as represented in the new cabinet, I must say they were very easily satisfied now, or were not very much in earnest in the beginning. Those good Orangemen of Peterborough, who were opposing me on the ground that Laurier was a Frenchman and a Catholic see now where they have landed themselves — with more Catholics and Frenchmen, and bad ones at that, in the Borden Cabinet."

In the first place there is no such organization as the P.P.A. in Peterborough that I am aware of. When we Protestants—Liberals and Conservatives alike—found that our Roman Catholic fellow citizens were banded together to fight for special privileges political and municipal, Protestants were obliged, in self protection, to do the same, and a Protestant Federation was formed. But, with this difference : Protestants want no special privileges. All they seek is equal rights. They have no quarrel with a Roman Catholic because he is of that faith : but they do object to priestly interference in political and municipal matters, in which they are also concerned. If Roman Catholic priests would only keep out of it there would be no occasion for any Protestant organization whatever. The time has gone by when Protestants will submit to dictation from priest or preacher. Mr. Stratton has many warm personal friends amongst the Protestants of Peterborough, and in making statements such as the above, he is doing both himself and them an injustice.

MEAT INSPECTION.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I think it is time that some proper system of meat inspection be adopted by our City Council. It is only by chance that meat unfit for use is discovered. It is imperative that our food supply be clean and wholesome if we are to develop healthy men and women, and keep out epidemics.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industtial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE :

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as Well as the Subsequent Payments :

200	23,000.00
300	34,500.00

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $1,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of this growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.

The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

A Great Postage Waste

Thirty-four thousand letters in postage stamps [illegible] by the people of [illegible]

This is shown by the report of Superintendent [illegible] of the dead letter office in the Postoffice Department. Mr. Young says that 1,000 post cards and 1,200 letters are received at the dead letter office every month. Exclusive of the cost of the souvenir postals, the 1-cent stamps used to carry them represent an investment of $10,000. No effort is made to return the postal cards. They are destroyed as soon as received. Of the letters, about 40 per cent are returned to the writer. Those remaining are destroyed.

At the present time dead letters weighing more than half a ton are on their way from Denver, Col. Many of the letters undoubtedly contain money and valuables. When the owners of articles of worth cannot be found, the goods are sold at public auction.

Chicago's Latest

Chicago is planning to reduce its fire waste by annually designating one day to be known as Fire Prevention Day. It was first proposed to select October 9, the date of the great Chicago fire, but a movable date seems advisable. This would enable the schools to take part, and would prevent the undesirable result of the date falling on Sunday or Monday. The date would be devoted to addresses and instruction in fire prevention.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Puns in the Bible.

It has been pointed out that the pun is one of the commonest forms of humour in the East. The Old Testament writers, especially the prophets, are true Orientals in this respect, for they use this ornament of speech most effectively."

Amos, the desert prophet, the first of the writing prophets, uses puns more successfully than any of the prophets. Unfortunately in our translations the play of words is lost to us, and we fail to see the delicate shade of meaning or the mocking or scornful irony of many a phrase. A most notable pun of this prophet is that of the vision of summer fruit—"And he said Amos, what seest thou? And I said a basket of summer fruit. Then said the Lord unto me—The end is come upon my people Israel." (Amos viii. 2.)

"In this verse the translation fails to bring out the play upon the words 'summer fruit' and 'end,' consequently the point is lost to us. The Hebrew word for 'summer fruit' is kaits, and the word for 'end' ketz. The parable is made far more expressive by the pun and much more liable to stick in people's memories. Just read the verse, substituting the original words. 'And he said What seest thou? And I said a basket of kaits. Then said the Lord unto me. The ketz is come upon my people Israel' — and we at once see how eight and sound must have combined to arrest the attention and impress the mind of the unthinking Israelite. The beauty of this punning parable lies in the fact that 'the symbol' and the word expressing it coincide.'"

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 22c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Mrs. Ernest Green, Toronto, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meldrum, Macdonnell street.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meldrum returned on Saturday from Stoney Lake where they spent a few delightful days at their cottage, salmon fishing.

CANNIBALS OF NEW GUINEA

Another Scientific Expedition Will Shortly Visit British New Guinea to Study Habits and Customs of Natives.

Mr. D. Jenness, of Balliol College, England, is about to leave on a scientific expedition in British New Guinea. The undertaking, which has been organised by the University, and the cost of which is being borne by private subscribers, will involve at least twelve months' work. The objects are chiefly anthropological. From New Zealand Mr. Jenness will proceed to the extreme south-easterly corner of British New Guinea, to which region work will be confined. The headquarters will be on Goodenough Island, the most northerly part of the D'Entrecasteaux Archipelago. There it is intended to study the habits and customs, the arts and religion of the inhabitants, who are thought to be an intermixture of the Melanesian and Papuan peoples. The district selected has been specially chosen, as although it is the most accessible portion of Papua for such an expedition it remains absolutely untouched. There is one mission station on the coast, and occasionally the Government official lands, but the interior has never been explored. It is known that cannibalism exists among the natives.

OUR CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

THE SHEPHERD BOY WHO SLEW GOLIATH

Once there was a shepherd boy named David. He was born in Bethlehem and while his older brothers were in the army fighting Israel's battles David stayed at home helping his father and mother and guarding the flocks.

His father asked him one day to carry food to his big brothers and his heart leaped with joy for he had never seen a battle. David was eager to help the cause of Israel but his brothers told him to run along home like a good little boy, but David refused to go home for he was anxious to see a battle for which preparations were then on foot.

The armies were separated by a ravine and every day a great big bully, an immense giant, Goliath by name, appeared on the brow of the hill and challenged the Israelites to fight him. King Saul was in despair for there wasn't a soldier in the camp of Israel who showed any inclination to accept the challenge.

David heard the war cry and he also saw that not a soldier stirred in Israel's camp to accept the challenge. "If no one else will, I'll do it," he said to the sentinels, and ran down the hillside to the brook, selected five smooth stones and put them in a bag. Then he bravely went up the hill in the presence of the two armies to meet the giant.

Goliath laughed. He was surprised to see the simple shepherd boy without spear, sword or armor, but before the Philistine could reach for his sword to make an end as he thought to the boy's impudence, David threw a stone at the giant's forehead. The stone struck the visor of his helmet and the giant dropped unconscious. David ran on and on and picking up the sword which Goliath had dropped from his nerveless hand, and before the Philistine army recovered from the shock David severed the giant's head from his ponderous body.

The Philistines, panic stricken, fled. David became a hero, but later King Saul was jealous. He hated David and tried to take his life, but David after many adventures was made king of Israel.

A THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY

Let us be kind;
The sunset tints will soon be in the west,
Too late the flowers are laid then on the quiet breast
Let us be kind.

And when the angel guides have sought and found us,
Their hands shall link the broken ties of earth that bound us
And heaven and home shall brighten all around us—
Let us be kind.

Parental Tactics.

A worried parent is sometimes obliged to do something like this:—"Pa, what is a transcendentalist?" "Have you chained up the dog, as I told you?" "Not yet, pa." "Well, do that, and when you come back I will tell you what a transcendentalist is." While Bobby was gone his astute parent dug the needed information out of a dictionary.

A man's ideal woman is simply one who believes everything he tells her.

HUDSON'S BAY AND WESTERN PROSPECTS.

Ancient Corporation's Big Increase In Profits.

Some very interesting information regarding western Canadian conditions was given by Lord Strathcona when presiding over the annual meeting of the Hudson's Bay company, held in London recently. After reviewing the excellent reports which had been in the hands of the shareholders for some time, his lordship referred to the conditions which obtain at the present time. He quoted from a cablegram received from the stores commissioner, Mr. Burbidge, at Winnipeg, which stated that the volume of sales for the first five months of the current year had increased $500,000. This is at the rate of $100,000 per month. The cable messages read by his lordship were as follows:—

From Land Commissioner

"From personal observation, which corresponds with reports from the company's surveyor and other authoritative sources, the larger acreage in crop, seeded under ideal conditions, was followed by exceptionally favorable growing weather, and with present season the crop promises to be very considerably larger than any previous harvest yield in western Canada. This will no doubt stimulate the demand for agricultural lands from prospective occupants, and have an invigorating effect on growing cities and towns in the several districts."

From Fur Trade Commissioner.

"Compared with last year the catch has declined in British Columbia, Manitoba and Keewatin. An increase has occurred in Saskatchewan, Lake Superior, Lake Huron, St. Lawrence. There is no change worthy of mention in Athabasca. No advice to hand from James Bay, Labrador, Mackenzie river, but it is very probable volume has declined owing to unfavorable winter and scarcity of periodical furs. Adequate supplies have been forwarded districts. Transport service is well organised for efficiency and economy. The prospects are encouraging."

From the Stores Commissioner.

"The volume of sale shop trade for first five months of current year shows increase of over five hundred thousand dollars. Prospects during remainder of sale shop year are excellent, the outlook for a record crop being very favorable."

CALAGARY STREET RAILWAY HAS GOOD HALF-YEAR.

The net profits from the operation of the Calgary street railway system for the first six months of the present year were almost three times as great as for the corresponding half year in 1910.

The comparative statements of the receipts, expenses and profits of the system prepared and submitted to the city commissioners by Superintendent McCauley shows a wonderful growth of the city and increasing patronage of the system.

After deducting five per cent of the gross receipts and paying a percentage of the interest and sinking fund, the net profits for the six months of the year amounted to $49,705.81. For the half year in 1910 the profits amounted to $17,061.

The total revenue for the first half of 1911 amounted to $149,437.57. After deducting the total operated expenses of $75,966.80, five per cent of the gross receipts amounting to $7,471.78 and $16,295.28 for interest and sinking fund, a net profit of $49,705.51 was left.

Spanish 5 and 10 Cent Stores

Spanish newspapers are commenting on the new system of merchandising just introduced into Spain through the opening in Madrid of two bazaars along lines corresponding to the American 5 and 10 cent store. The Madrid bazaars have been started with a stock of toys, cheap jewellery, notions, perfumery, underwear, collars and cuffs, neckties, caps, chinaware, fans, handkerchiefs, belts, brushes, purses, small hardware and other articles priced to sell at 65 centimes, an equivalent of about 12 cents American money.

The American 5 and 10 cent store idea has not been developed in Spain to any extent although the two bazaars recently established approach the system, at least in the range of articles carried, more closely than anything heretofore attempted.

Bazaars carrying articles offered within a certain price range have been operated in the larger Spanish cities for some time — Malaga has had such a store for over twenty years, prices varying from two to nine cents — but the limited variety of goods obtained and sold at these prices did not strongly attract the

E. M. MACDONALD, K.C.

Mr. Edward M. Macdonald, K.C., has been in politics for many years, and is also one of the leading lawyers of the Maritime Provinces. Born at Pictou, Nova Scotia, August 16, 1865, educated at the Academy there and at Dalhousie University with a legal career in contemplation, Mr. Macdonald began to carve out a promising career at a comparatively early stage of his life. Along towards his thirtieth year he began to exhibit evidences of an inward desire to occupy a parliamentary chair, and took the field as candidate for his native constituency. His first three attempts were, however, unsuccessful. He was beaten for the Nova Scotia Legislature in 1894, and in 1896 and 1900 was defeated in running for the House of Commons, his successful opponent on both these occasions being Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper. He secured a seat in the Legislature, however, and resigned it in 1904, when he was elected a member of the Commons. For years he has been strong and influential as a public man, and as a lawyer has formed most important connections.

The Morning Times

THE VENOM OF LOVE

By L. A. Ruffman
(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

"I can't meet you on Sunday. I'm not going to meet you any more."

Nettie leaned back among the fragrant Capebroom, jutting its golden spray through the fence, her eyes upon the ground, seeking refuge from the open avowal Sid's stupid obtuseness forced from her.

He stepped forward, his hand fell upon her shoulder turning her roughly, compelling her to face the situation.

"I'm sick of you," she whimpered. "so there!"

"There's someone else?"

He was still dragging at her, forcing her eyes to his.

"Well, what if there is?" She faced him, a small fury. "Haven't I a right to please myself?"

"If there is——" He threw her off with such violence that she rebounded from the fence, and her bonnet was tossed over her eyes.

Nettie tore her hat off. "There is! There is!" she cried.

The girl caught herself up with a gasp. Sid was looking very ugly just then. In the eyes that stabbed her there was a vicious beat, his mouth was slightly open, the under jaw rigid.

"You little beast!" he said. He held her tightly. "It's Bodio." The pressure increased, bruising her soft, slim body. "It's Bodio."

"Yes, it is," she answered, defiantly. "A Dago. A dirty Dago!" He pushed her away, his face full of disgust.

"He's lovely. I don't [illegible] what you think. I don't care what you say, he's lovely."

For over three weeks Sidney Wood saw nothing of Nettie, but he heard of her often, and always in association with Gian Bodio, the dapper, black-eyed Italian who speared oysters with amazing dexterity on the right side of Silvio Panzacchi's shop front, while Nettie Mulholland boxed sweets and bagged bananas behind her natty little counter on the left.

Sid was a commonplace youth in a commonplace world, suddenly thrust into a vortex of the emotions that make for tragedy.

One moonlight night, after following them like a blackmailer for an hour, creeping meanly from bush to bush, he saw Gian kiss Nettie good-night by the Cape-broom hedge, where he and she had so often parted. The Italian held her close in his arms, and kissed her again and again, with uncouth, noisy kisses. Suddenly Sid arose. He understood now what it all meant. He realised in a moment what the fury and the fever had prompted. Nettie must die. He would kill her.

No argument followed, no self-questioning. In his mind there were no doubts. He no longer cherished enmity towards Gian Bodio; his soul was absorbed in the killing of Nettie Mulholland.

Then he heard she was to be at the trade picnic with Gian Bodio, and that decided him. At the picnic, somewhere in the bush, before the eyes of her Dago, he would kill her.

None detected the smallest evidence of Sid's intention as they drove to the picnic. Gian Bodio sat on Nettie's left. Next her on the right, pressed very close, was Martin Sickert, big, black-haired, violet-eyed, handsome, a suburban Mephistopheles. He certainly enjoyed more of Nettie's attention than poor Bodio; yet Martin was nothing but lorryman for Sin Me, the banana king, with two guineas a week and the beer habit. Throughout the morning at Grass Creek, too, Nettie Mulholland flirted openly and impudently with Sickert, and Bodio sat with his back to a gum butt, and watched them, small and silent, no emotion in his pale face.

Nettie was conscious of Bodio, but gave no thought to Sidney, and he too was watching. It was not till after dinner, when Martin was too drunk to be companionable, that Nettie returned to the Italian. There were no reproaches. They sat together for half an hour and then went off through the trees and along the creek. Sid followed. He felt his moment at hand. Near the camp they passed from view beyond a clump of saplings. He waited, but they did not reappear.

He stole forward, crept quietly to the saplings, arose, and pushed his way through, without a sound, his hand on the weapon, his soul hot with resolution.

He stopped. They were there. Nettie lay upon the grass, Bodio knelt upon her, his knee crushing her breast, his left hand gripped about her throat. In his right hand he held a knife, from the bright blade of which the sunlight flamed. His face was close to hers, his teeth bared, and he spat Roman oaths at her with something of the tiger, something of the snake. His face was contorted with abominable malice, hers wild with the horror of death.

For one tense moment Sidney Wood gazed down upon the lovers, and then a heart-burst filled him with blind rage. He hurled himself at Bodio.

A moment later the two men were on their feet fighting. Nettie, crouched down, backing under cover of the saplings, watched them, mad with fear.

Sid was sparring and punching with bare hands. The other slashed with his knife in a blind fury. Instinctively Wood's left shot for the face with every movement of the Italian. His arms were cut. He got the knife in his breast again, and then he saw Bodio's chin as through a mist, and swung his right with all the weight and power he could put into it. The Italian collapsed on himself, and went down, limp and lifeless. Sid staggered to his knees, and then fell, face foremost, across the body of his foe.

Nettie was running towards the picnic party, white and wild, shrieking "Murder! murder!"

The men found Gian Bodio on his knees, still dazed; but Sidney Wood lay prone, bleeding from a dozen wounds.

"Take care of Nettie," he whispered. "For God's sake, take care of Nettie. The Dago will kill her!"

As they lifted him a loaded revolver fell from the right-hand pocket of his coat.

THE MOLSON'S BANK

Fifty-Sixth Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders Held Yesterday

The 56th annual general meeting of the Shareholders of The Molson's Bank was held at their banking house, 200 St. James street, Montreal, at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, October 16th.

The President, Mr. William Molson Macpherson, took the chair, and there were also present Messrs. E. K. Greene, H. Markland Molson, Henri Jonas, David McNicoll, A. G. Watson, W. M. Ramsay, Charles E. Sprague, Kenneth Molson, A. D. Fraser, W. R. Miller, J. W. Molson, H. W. Evans, G. Durnford, H. C. Brewer, C. Archibald and C. B. Gordon.

In opening the proceedings the President called upon Mr. A. D. Durnford to act as secretary, who read the notice calling the meeting, which was done.

Directors' Report.

The President then called upon the General Manager, Mr. James Elliot to read the Annual Report, as follows:

Gentlemen,—At this the 56th Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of The Molsons Bank your Directors beg to submit their Report and Statement of its position as on 30th September, 1911.

Business has been good and fairly remunerative. The profits of the year amount to $712,539.82. After paying the increased dividend of 11 per cent., taxes, expenditures on Branch Buildings, and usual subscription to the Pension Fund, there was added from Profit and Loss Account $200,000 to Reserve Fund, raising it to $4,600,000, and leaving still at Profit and Loss a balance of $119,306.12.

The Bank's general business, deposits and loans, all show satisfactory growth with good prospects of continuance.

Since last meeting branches have been opened at Dashwood, Teeswater and Petrolia, Ontario; also in Montreal, on St. Lawrence Boulevard, and at Cote St. Paul.

Handsome and substantial buildings have been erected for accommodation of our Branches at Edmonton, Alta., and Maisonneuve, Que., and suitable ones at Lachine, Knowlton, and Ste. Therese, Que. To provide in part for their cost, $100,000 has been charged to Branch Premises Account, making it $700,000.

To accommodate the public and afford room for transaction of our increasing business, we have found it necessary to undertake considerable alterations and additions to our St. James street main building. These are now well under way.

Mr. J. P. Cleghorn, who has worthily served you as Director for sixteen years past, having resigned on account of failing health, the vacancy thus caused had been filled by the appointment of Mr. David McNicoll, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whose wide acquaintance with the business of the whole country will doubtless be of much value to the Bank.

All branches of the Bank have been carefully inspected during the year, and with pleasure we again report that the officers of the Bank everywhere have performed their duties with efficiency and zeal.

Directors Re-Elected.

It was then moved by Mr. E. K. Greene, seconded by Mr. William R. Miller, that one ballot be cast for the election of Directors for the ensuing year, which was adopted, when the Scrutineers presented their report, as follows:

Montreal, October 16, 1911.

To the General Manager, The Molsons Bank:

Sir,—We have the honor to report that at the annual meeting of the Shareholders of The Molsons Bank, held this day, the following gentlemen were re-elected to the Board of Directors: Messrs. G. E. Drummond S. H. Ewing, Charles B. Gordon, H. Markland Molson, William Molson Macpherson, David McNicoll, and W. M. Ramsay.

(Sgd.) GEORGE DURNFORD,
(Sgd.) CHARLES SPRAGGE,
Scrutineers.

The meeting then adjourned.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board of Directors, Mr. W. Molson Macpherson was re-elected President for the ensuing year, with Mr. S. H. Ewing, as Vice-President.

T. C. HOLT, LTD. OF VANCOUVER

Splendid Investments Offered by This Well Known Firm.

The Times would call special attention of investors to the advertisement of the T. C. Holt, Limited, of North Vancouver, one of the most substantial and prosperous brokers and real estate firms on the Pacific Coast. Capitalists in the east are now looking to the west for safe and profitable investments, and there is probably no spot on the continent where more money has been made faster than in Vancouver real estate. North Vancouver is rapidly forging ahead, and those who are able to get in now will be sure to reap a golden harvest.

T. C. Holt, Limited, recommend the following investments to their clients:

1st—While they last, 10¢ shares in the T. C. Holt Ltd. at $100 per Share. 25 per cent. on application and 10 per cent. per month until fully paid up. This Company being strictly under Government supervision is not allowed to sell their shares for less than par. We consider these shares a good and safe investment, as they will bring the investor a dividend of from 10 to 20 per cent. per year or more. Only a limited number left.

2nd—Investments in Real Estate. Remember, Mr. Investor, inside property in North Vancouver, is as yet cheaper than property in Point Grey, Fairview, South Vancouver, or Grand View, on the outskirts of Vancouver. 5 years ago an investor North Vancouver, far $10,000, to-day bought a corner on Lonsdale Avenue the same piece of property is worth $100,000.00. We can buy for our clients to-day property for investment from $1000 to $50,000.00 and over and can almost guarantee a profit of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. in a couple of years.

3rd—Investments in Mortgages and Agreements of Sale which represent a very safe and sure investment and bring in from 8 to 10 per cent. per year. Nearly every day some party calls in our office and invests his money in Mortgages or Agreements of Sale. They say they prefer absolute safety for their money with a good rate of interest, rather than no interest with a hope of increase in selling value.

Progress is the dominant note in the City of Vancouver to-day, and where progress is, where wealth accumulates, there will realty values advance, and this is inevitable in Vancouver.

SIR JAMES WATSON

This eminent English physician is one of the greatest authorities on diseases of the respiratory organs.

In a recent address, Sir James Watson stated that the commonest of all disorders is Catarrh, and that not one person in ten thousand passes the winter without an attack of some sort.

Sir James advocates local treatment very strongly, and says that it is all nonsense trying to treat Catarrhal diseases by stomach medicines, atomizers, douches and snuffs.

Local treatment is applied most scientifically by Catarrhozone, which is inhaled into the nose, throat and lungs, and drives the disease completely out of the system.

Catarrhozone is a rational, common sense treatment; it clears the air passages, makes breathing easy, and relieves at once. Physicians prescribe Catarrhozone with gratifying results, and pronounce it a specific for Catarrh in any part of the system.

Mr. Thos. Cox, one of the most prominent citizens of Minden, Ont., says: "I want to recommend Catarrhozone. It is a nice, clean cure for Catarrh. Cured me perfectly, and is well deserving of a trial from everyone at all affected by Catarrh or throat trouble."

Mr. G. F. Fadden, of Royan, Que., writes: "In my opinion Catarrhozone is the only cure for Catarrh. I had the disease in its worst form but only got relief from Catarrhozone. It cured me quickly and permanently, and I have no fear of the Catarrh ever returning."

The foregoing brief extracts, like thousands of others that the proprietors of Catarrhozone have received, prove that the proper remedy to use is Catarrhozone. It is quite different from the ordinary Catarrh preparation, and is warranted to prove entirely satisfactory. If it fails your money will be refunded, so if not benefited you won't be out of pocket.

All druggists sell Catarrhozone. Complete outfit, hard rubber inhaler, liquid for recharging, etc., costs $1; trial size, 25 cents. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

Apples Grows in Kitsumkalum Valley.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have procured samples of apples grown in the Kitsumkalum Valley, ninety miles east of Prince Rupert. These apples are of different varieties, beautiful in their coloring, and the flavor is in every respect up to the perfect brands grown in Ontario, and entirely unlike the inferior flavored fruit grown under irrigation in the more southerly regions and in practically all of the Pacific Coast States.

The specimens came from the orchard of Mr. D. Stewart, who has about fifteen acres under cultivation, and they represent the first grown on the operated line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

In the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers, with other areas along the Skeena River, there should be approximately 300,000 acres of ideal fruit lands placed under cultivation in comparatively few years, and much of this land can be procured by pre-emption in 160 acre lots, the only charge being $1.00 per acre in addition to the residence requirements of the law. It is confidently predicted that this territory will become the centre of a new and greater fruit district in British Columbia.

At Prince Rupert this summer strawberries grown along the Skeena River and in the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers came into market for the first time in considerable quantities, and the fruit is reported to be superior to anything grown on this continent, being extremely high colored, and as sweet and fine a flavor as wild strawberries their size was remarkable, running as large as a good size crab apple or a small snow apple.

There will no doubt be a class of settlers in this section of the country who are looking for and will get tremendous returns for their labor at comparatively small expense.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows: The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.30, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

THE MAN WHO BEAT BIG BEN

Like a forest fire, the news swept the camp. Big Pen, the mighty, champion sawyer of the world, had been done up, beaten to a lay-down, whipped, humbled — and by an Indian. Wonders would never cease. The loggers swore when they heard the news, but there was one satisfaction back of it all. There would be a fight worth going miles to see.

And that night, in camp, the gauntlet was hurled. Big Ben, striding upon his silent conqueror, knotted his huge fists and glowered down upon him. "You——" he said wickedly. "I'll make your head break your back." The Indian stared back stolidly.

"Mebbyso."

"When will you fight?"

"Sunday good 'nuff day for me."

The white man turned away with a growl. This was Friday night, and the time mentioned was not unreasonably distant. He rolled himself in his blankets, grumbling like an angry bear; but the Indian, slipping quietly from the room, stood long in the biting air, without, his face again turned toward the North. And as he looked and listened there came through the starlight night a long, faint, quavering howl, and at its first note he started as though stung. With a quick leap, he reached the bunk house, and, snatching his snowshoes from the peg where they hung against the logs, thrust his feet into the straps, and went slipping away among the dark woods, along his almost obliterated trail of three days before.

Kenny, a hostler, coming from the stable, saw him as he vanished in the forest, and hurried with the news to the long building.

"The Injun has "puckacheed," skipped out, dead scart to fight," he said disgustedly. And Big Ben, hearing the words, sat up in his bunk, and roared with disappointment and rage.

Down the steep hillside that led to the lake, the runaway shuffled and slid, the razor-edged air of the night cutting keenly through flannels and deerskin. At the edge of the frozen surface he stopped and swept it with his black eyes, but it lay like a spotless sheet, and he hurried on. Ahead of him was a low peninsula of tangled, snow-buried brush heaps, and as he rounded its point he gave a guttural cry, for a quarter of a mile ahead of him a black mass lay upon the snow, while slinking upon it from the shadow of the near-by forest was the gaunt form of one of the great gray runners of the North woods.

"Puckachee!" cried the man, from a distance of four yards. The wolf's lip curled.

"Get out," repeated the Indian, more harshly, his knife suddenly gleaming in the moonlight. Slowly, ominously, the brute got upon all fours; and, with ears flattened and legs held stiffly, paced around the man at a distance of six feet. The latter, seeing his great size, his gauntness, and the famine in his eyes, crouched and pivoted in his tracks, with his blade held low. Three times the beast made the circle complete, and three times the man turned round and round about, and never for an instant did the red eyes of the one or black eyes of the other fail to meet, point to point. Then the Indian rushed.

With a catlike leap, a snarl, and a snap of his teeth, the wolf was far to one side, while the assailant, tripping unluckily, fell floundering through the crust, from the violence of the wasted knife sweep. And, before he could clear the smother from his eyes, the stilettolike teeth of the starving one had sunk into his right wrist, and at the first crunch of the iron jaws the knife fell from the helpless hand. But the man, twisting like a worm, buried the sinewy fingers of his free hand in the shaggy throat above him, and floundered to his knees.

Not many men have strangled a timber wolf that stood three feet high at the shoulder with their naked hand; but, for that matter, only one man ever bore the brunt of Big Ben's giant strength, and came off victorious. The Indian killed his enemy with the strength that the protecting spirit of lovers gave him; choked him until the slathering jaws fell apart, and the glowing eyes grew dull as dead ashes. Then, bleeding and dizzy, he arose.

"Live," he whispered, as he painfully swung the motionless form of the woman across his broad shoulders. "Live, and I will always work and hunt for you. And may Mo-no-ko lend me his strength once more, for the trail is long, and my strength runs away like the waters of a river." Bent nearly double beneath his burden, he shambled across the bosom of the lake, floundered up the ridge, reeled along the summit, and fell prostrate upon the floor of the bunk house.

Slowly the sleep-benumbed camp aroused itself, and stared through heavy eyelids at the senseless woman, and gasping man, with the red ice thick upon his sleeve. Then, one by one, they crept from their bunks and bent over the motionless pair. Little was said, but muscle-knotted arms laid them tenderly in a bunk, and rough hands chafed the icy wrists of the girl until she sat up, gazed wonderingly about; and then, with a cry, threw herself upon the still heavily breathing form by her side.

"It is the wish of Mo-no-ko that we part no more," said he, as his hand closed over hers. "Your tongue was long, and my patience short, yet you are my squaw, and our trails should run side by side. One tepee is enough for both of us, and the wolfskin shall cover us when we are old."

Big Ben slowly got upon his feet, and glared at his companion. "That Injun is the best man in the woods, and I want to hear some one say different," he said threateningly. "He's the one man that's got me beat, and we two will saw those others out of their hides yet. Shake hands, partner."

trail.

"Powder!" yelled the man who had convinced himself.

The station agent saw the chasing serpent of the blaze just in time to throw himself over the edge of the platform and duck his head. There was a breathless instant, every eye in Kyle's crew on the trunk; and then the fateful piece of baggage exploded. "Erupted" might be the better word. Never were the passenger's secrets of property so instantly opened to the world.

Following the muffled "boof!" of the explosion, the air was alive with belongings. Blazing shirts took sudden flight, and looped themselves over the telegraph wires. Clothing alighted on the log cars and smoked and smoldered. Men dodged mysterious missiles that whizzed past, and ran and recovered them finding them to be brushes and razors and toilet articles, of whose nature the simple habits of the woods had not informed the finders.

They came bringing these back to George, who stood staring at this wreck in a state of mind that combined astonishment and ferocity.

A certain tall man made the most notable capture. He had been lounging against the side of the station when the train came in. He saw a pair of hunting boots coming his way They were tied together by the lacings, and revolved about each other in their flight. The tall man stuck up one gaunt arm and picked them out of the air by the lacings. The owner was standing beside him, but the captor made no move to return the shoes.

"Sort of what the newspaper advertisements would call an openin' of gents' furnishin's," he remarked cheerily. "Spontaneous come-bust-up, scientifically speakin'. Was that your trunk?"

"It's my trunk — and it's my powder for my shells — and — and a fool with fire!" cried the young man angrily.

The rest of the mob ceased to take interest in the incident, for one of the bands had listened to entreaties, and now began to play the tune most eagerly besought: "A Hot Time in the Old Town To-night." Tramping men kicked the remains of the smoking trunk right and left; garments still hung their torches on the wires.

In the uproar, George had not heard the horse coming. He was staring up regretfully at a hunting coat just dropping into shreds. The man with the boots yanked him out of the way, and the girl went past, and almost over him as he stumbled She did not look at George. The big black that she rode crouched back when the music blared under his frothing muzzle. But she lashed him down the platform, scattering musicians and listeners. The music stopped.

"Three cheers for Queen Clare, the daughter of——" began a man, raising his hat. But she struck down his swinging hand with her crop, and her indignant cry stilled them.

"It's just as I thought, and that is why I'm here. You haven't the sense and decency even to bring my father's coffin to the house without a riot You are drunk already. You are destroying property." Her keen eye had noted the flaming garments on the wires.

But Governor Harriss had been marshaling the unloading of the huge box. He rushed to her through the press, his ancient hat in the crook of his elbow, bowing to her as to a divinity.

"I am in charge, Miss Clare, and it shall be done right and proper. I know how."

But the divinity was not calmed.

"Stop this drunken noise, then. I'll have you to understand, men, that I'm carrying out the wishes of my dear father, because I'm the one he depended on to carry them out. But I'll not have his memory insulted here, to-day — and you were doing it, just now." She addressed them as men would address men. She used the language and the tone that Bill Kyle might have used.

"It's the girl of Cornelius Corran that's talkin' there, all right," mumbled the tall man at George's side. "It's many a lesson he's given her in talkin' to men."

"I see your'e lookin' at them things," explained the governor, justifying himself and his friends. Her indignant eyes were flashing from embers of trunk to smoldering apparel on the wires. "Them ain't antics, Miss Clare. It was accident. The dude's trunk got blowed up."

He pointed to the forester, who stood apart with certain poor salvage in his hands. He did not make a heroic spectacle, thus; but her woman's eyes recognized the badge of breeding in his stalwart manhood. His eyes met hers, her big, gray Irish eyes that sparkled against the flush of her cheeks. He stepped forward, for these eyes summoned him. The spirit of command was in them. There was something regal about her, sitting there among those cringing men on her pawing horse. He instinctively recognized that quality as regal by waiting for her to speak to him — waiting just a fraction of time, and hardly realizing that he did so — but he waited.

"There is mischief abroad here, today, sir, I am afraid. Our little place is respectful toward a stranger. You will find it so, usually. Mr. Wiggin will see that your loss is made up to you."

"That will be out of the question Miss Corran."

"My father would have done so, if he were alive. I represent my father, sir. He was proud of this village. A stranger was his guest. This accident would not have happened except for the strange conditions here to-day Please see Mr. Wiggin." It was not the words, but the tone. She had addressed him as though he were a menial.

He was angry, now, as well as ashamed With the instinct of race, he realized that this upcountry girl did not understand the finer graces of conventionality. Environment and training had made of her a woman of the ancient race of the Corrans; she was speaking to him as the chatelaine, not as maiden whom chance had thrown in his company.

"Pardon me, Miss Corran, but my accident concerns me alone. I beg that you will not trouble yourself further in the affair."

He spoke stiffly, and she understood the rebuke. For the first time in her life, she realized the full force of the social code, borne in upon her by rebuke from a stranger and an equal. She had been too thoroughly isolated in her little sovereignty, and had forgotten. Shame, as vivid as his own, swept over her, and the flame in her cheeks revealed it.

"Harriss," she cried, whirling on that terror-striken vassal, "I shall hold you and every man in hearing of my voice to account for the actions of this day. If you shame my father's memory, or disgrace his daughter, you shall suffer."

She slashed the horse, and his calked hoofs rained splinters from the platform planks as he galloped away.

George started to make his way up the street in the dust that her horse left. He was in a state of mind that he, himself, recognised as distinctly savage. The tall man tagged him, swinging the shoes, and grinning amiably and significantly at all they met.

"Loadin' your own shells is interestin', but you can't always save money by doing it," volunteered the stranger, looking back with calm interest at the remnants of the trunk. What was left of it was burning.

Through the press of men who came to him, proffering objects that they had salvaged, squeezed the author of the mischief.

"It was me that done it!" he gasped. "It looked like powder, and it smelled like powder, and I lit a match to make sure. It was powder. But, I'm square, mister. I'll settle, if you'll take an order on Jap Wiggin."

George felt that he couldn't trust himself to discuss the matter. He took from the outstretched hands such articles as they had rescued. They were a few little personal conveniences that the explosion had not injured, and he stuffed them into his pockets and turned to leave. It was plain that his wardrobe was not worth gathering up. When the importunate gentleman got in his way again with an offer to settle the damages, the young man pushed roughly past, and kept on. The man who had rescued the boots followed at his heels.

In the straggle of little buildings that made up the settlement, the tavern was distinguished by its size, for Corran-cache as a "jumping-off place"had many transients.

George found no one in the big, bare, general room except some sleepy-looking loafers. In a pen in one corner, a man who was apparently postmaster as well as landlord was busy with a mail bag.

The fellow with the shoes noted that the young man bent inquiring gaze on the loafers, none of whom seemed to respond as though they were interested in the new arrival.

"Lookin' for anybody in special?" asked the tall man.

"I'm going to meet Lynch Smart and Civilian Niles here!" said George. He reached his hands for his shoes, but the tall man made no move to surrender them.

"No, you ain't goin' to meet 'em, either," he advised promptly.

"I say I am. I have an appointment with them. They are explorers, and have——"

"You can't tell me who Lunch Smart and 'Fatty' Niles are. I knowed them two when that mountain over there was only a hole in the ground. But I say you ain't goin' to meet 'em here, because they left this mornin'. Each one of 'em took plenty of otbacco and a pocket full of dried raisins for grub, so I reckon they're bound away for a long trip! Are you that forester feller that was due here last night?"

"I was delayed," stated the young man, his heart sinking. "You don't mean to tell me that those men have gone away into the woods in this fashion - - weren't willing to wait one day?"

The tall man inspected his tobacco leisurely before biting into it.

"A date is a date with them two," he said calmly. "If a man doesn't show up when he says he will, it's his own fault when he's dealin' with Lynch Smart and Civ Niles. They was off and away at six o'clock this mornin'. Bein' as they're great fellers on the hoof, it wouldn't do you much good to holler after 'em, seein' that it's most dinner time, now."

"I've got to catch those men," declared George desperately.

He realized that he had been the one at fault. He had wasted twenty-four hours on the road on an impulse of the heart. That a couple of explorers would not wait that much time for a forester of the Great Trust

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p.m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

Our Canadian Rockies.

Trunk Pacific Railway from Mr. Armountain climber and topographer, who is at present in the Canadian Rockies making observations for the purpose of mapping out the district, he says:

"We have a great amount of splendid material for publication and a collection of photographs that cannot be surpassed. We have just completed what is very nearly a 100 mile circuit around Mt. Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies. The peaks and valleys, lakes and waterfalls on all sides of it, and the glaciers are very fine. The region is immense, and there is work for years to come, exploring, mapping and depicting. There is a fine bunch of high peaks and large snowfields and glaciers southwest of Tete Jaune Cache. There are also great peaks on the Athabaska and Fraser headwaters, tributary to your line. The most showy part of Mt. Robson is the Robson Pass and Glacier, and Berg Lake."

Real Estate, Mining and Industrial Investments

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 50 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Present Allotment of 25,000 Shares at 30c Going Fast

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property in the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

ROCKS RUN RED WITH BLOOD

Brown Assyrian Sweeps Down Annually on Pacific Haunt of Primeval Nature, and Slaughters the Mutton Bird in Millions.

There are some virgin spaces in the world yet. There is Stewart Island, for example, in the South Pacific south of New Zealand. Although only fifteen miles from the mainland its rocky promontories and stupendous headlands are still the haunt of primeval nature. Only the boom of the southern surf and the cry of the wheeling sea birds. That is all for eleven months of the year. In the twelfth a portion of that virgin solitude is ruthlessly disturbed. The quiet coves and shelly beaches of the island become a shambles running with innocent blood while man, the master butcher, conducts an orgy of slaughter.

For Stewart Island and the group of rocky land specks that surround it are the home of that marvellous migrant, the sooty or short tailed petrel, a brownish black bird about the size of an English wood pigeon, popularly known throughout Australasia as the mutton bird, because of a faint resemblance between its cooked flesh and mutton.

The mutton bird is a migrant, but the Sewart Island group is its breeding home, and thither it comes every season to lay its eggs, hatch its young and remain till the young birds are able to fly away to the north with the parent birds, those which do not fall victims to the organized savagery of the brown barbarans.

So wonderfully is the homing instinct developed in the mutton bird that each pair of birds rear their young in the same nest year after year. Identical markings on young birds reared in the same hole during successive seasons have proved this remarkable fact.

The female birds all lay on or about the same day and at the same time. Some of the mutton bird catchers actually assert that all the birds lay exactly on the same day, but such unanimity seems hardly possible.

The islands known as mutton bird islands are claimed by different Maori families who during April and the early part of May go and live upon these small tempest swept dots of earth rocks in the great Southern Pacific. The brown Assyrian sweeps down on the mutton bird fold at nighttime, lighting himself thereto with unconscious irony by the flare of a torch dipped in mutton bird oil. The butchery of the young birds is a pitiful sight.

Evolution of the Nursing Bottle.

The original nursing bottle was a cow's horn, to the small end of which were sewn two pieces of leather, as a finger of a glove, and the infant drew its nourishment, between the stitches. Fifteenth century mothers used to nurse their babies for close upon three years, a duration still customary among the Japanese and Greenlanders. In the time of the Stuarts it had declined to between eighteen months and two years. In the Victorian period it fell to one year, and now [illegible] reckoned as eight months. During the Hanoverian period the practice of feeding babies artificially became somewhat common. Cow's milk was not then considered just the food for a baby deprived of its mother's milk, and the substance called "pap" was introduced through the cow's horn. "Pap" was a mixture of crust soaked water and sugar. A baby that thrived on it was usually one of rare constitution.

I do the very best thing I know — the very best I can; and I mean to keep on doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference.—Lincoln.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

Sick headache is caused by a disordered stomach. Take Chamberlain's Tablets and correct that and the headaches will disappear. For sale by all dealers.

A Dangerous Disease

Owing to its tendency to spread to all parts of the system, Catarrh should be checked in its incipient stages.

Catarrh commences generally with a slight cold, and because slight, it is often neglected. But the seed that has been sown brings forth a dangerous harvest—perhaps it is the harvest of consumption, which is the harvest of death.

Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic, antiseptic remedy that is breathed in through the mouth, and, after permeating all the respiratory organs, is slowly exhaled through the nostrils.

The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical—so prompt and efficient. Relief is instantaneous, throat and nose cleared in a few moments by the penetrating vapor from the Inhaler. Ferrozone, taken in conjunction with Catarrhozone, purifies the blood, cleanses it of all poisons, and builds up the system so that Catarrh cannot exist.

You are sure to receive lasting benefit from Catarrhozone if bothered by Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis, Asthma, and Lung Trouble, and used for Coughs and Colds in the head it has no equal.

Remember that Catarrhozone is both a local and constitutional treatment, and is warranted under all circumstances to give satisfaction. Money refunded if it fails.

Two months' treatment, consisting of a beautiful polished hard rubber Inhaler and large bottle of liquid for recharging, costs but $1; trial size, 25c. Sold by all druggists and The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Young People's Societies of the city churches met last night in St. Andrew's church, when Mr. Karl Lehmann, the Interstate Field Secretary of Christian Endeavour, gave a splendid address.

An Enjoyable Social.

The members of Sherwood Forest Camp, No. 50, held a very enjoyable social last night, at which a good literary and musical programme was rendered.

Subscribed $14.

The employees of the J. J. Turner & Sons have subscribed the sum of $14 to the Protestant Home Building Fund. It is to be hoped that this example will be followed by other industrial establishments in the city.

Taken to Belleville.

The two Jews, Harry and Louis Stooker, the particulars of whose arrest appeared in yesterday's Times, were taken to Belleville yesterday by Chief Newton, of that city. They are charged with defrauding the Canadian Express Co.

Returns Thanks.

The widow of the late Richard Milburn, who lost his life by drowning, wishes to thank Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, S.O.E., the neighbors and also the workmen of the C.G.E., for their help and sympathy during the sad bereavement.

May Not Be True.

The rumor that several members of the Fire Department have been dismissed, lacks confirmation. Chief Howard did not care to say anything when called up by The Times regarding the matter. Lieut. Crouter has stepped out in accordance with instructions of the Fire Committee. There is another fireman booked to leave after next pay day.

Another Blackhister Fined.

Another blackhister, who is a familiar figure in the police court, faced his worship yesterday morning on the usual charge. The fine of $10 was paid by his wife, who was present.

Miss Hamner At Home.

On Saturday a number of Peterborough's society belles journeyed to Frazerville, to participate in avery successful "at-home" given at the residence of Mr. Joseph Hamner. Miss Marguerite, attired in a becoming frock of green mull, made a most charming hostess. An impromptu dance completed the enjoyment of the occasion. The Peterborough guests returned home by the evening train, after a most enjoyable afternoon.

Mrs. Rollins' Class.

Mrs. Rollins will hold her regular weekly class in English Literature at the Y.W.C.A. this evening, at 8 o'clock. The subject will be Sir Walter Scott's "Old Mortality," under the leadership of Mrs. Rollins, this class must prove very interesting, and as many as possible should attend.

Matriculation Class.

The matriculation class in connection with the Y.M.C.A. met last night in the Collegiate Institute under the leadership of Mr. Firth. The time was spent in the study of physics and Algebra. All those who attend taking up this work should make a point of attending regularly.

Hip Crushed.

A painful accident occurred on Saturday to an Italian workman employed in the cement works at Drummond's Station. While engaged in coupling an engine and car, he was hit by the engine and had his hip crushed. He was brought to the city on the Belleville train and conveyed to St. Joseph's hospital, where Dr. McNulty is attending to his injuries.

Suicided.

A few days ago acase of suicide occurred at the Cobourg House of Refuge, when Humphrey Wood, an inmatetook his own life. He was missed and a search being made, he was found suspended by a rope over the piggery. He was 78 years of age and came from the township of Manvers.

Back From England.

Mr. Samuel Newhall, of the local police force, returned on Sunday afternoon from a two months' trip to the Old Country. Mr. Newhall spent most of his time in London and Liverpool where he had formerly been connected with the police department. Mr. Newhall was accompanied by his cousin, Mr. John Holmes, and both enjoyed the trip very much.

On Suspended Sentence.

The six youthful culprits who were found guilty yesterday morning of breaking into the schools in the South End, and also of stealing a watch and money from St. James' church, were let out on suspended sentence. Every two weeks they are to make awritten report to the Chief from the school teacher regarding their conduct, and regular attendance at school.

C. P. R. Survey.

Brighton Ensign: A Canadian Pacific Railway survey party of sixteen men are now engaged in the vicinity of Grafton, surveying on the lake shore line of that railway, working toward Cobourg. The route will be followed through Brighton is still an uncertainty, five or six surveys having already been made.

C.N.R. Connection With Belleville.

The new passenger station for the C.N.R. on Church street, Belleville, is progressing rapidly. The slating of the roof it is expected will be completed by the end of next week. The station is a large commodious structure, one of the best along the line, costing $22,000. It is thought that it will not be long before trains are running from Belleville westward.

The Montgomery Children.

At the County Court yesterday, the case of Ed. Montgomery, of Burleigh, was heard. Montgomery was charged with disgraceful neglect of his children and also was accused of being unfit to exercise proper guardianship over them. Mr. F. D. Kerr, appeared for the defendant, and J. E. L. Goodwill for the Children's Aid Society. Investigation revealed a very sad state of affairs, and the testimonies of the various witnesses showed the squalor and filth of the Montgomery home and also the neglected condition of the children. No definite decision was reached, and the children were again consigned to the Shelter until a satisfactory arrangement was made for their disposal.

Deafness Cannot se Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Not Our Mr. Leonard.

The statement which appeared in black type in yesterday's Times, to the effect that Mr. J. W. Leonard, of the C.P.R. had been appointed by the Dominion Government, Chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission, appears to have been a mistake. It appears that it was Mr. R. E. Leonard, of St. Catharines, who was appointed, and not Mr. J. W. Leonard, of the C.P.R. Mr. Leonard is a graduate of the Royal Military College and stands high among Canadian Engineers. He has a wide experience in railway construction and operation, having had much to do with the building of the C.P.R. short line, the New York Central and other lines. Latterly he has been best known in connection with the Coniagas Mine, and smelting industry at Thorold. The negotiations leading up to Mr. Leonard's apnointment were conducted by Hon. Frank Cochrane.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Peter Milne.

On Friday morning the death occurred at Belleville of Mr. Peter Milne, of this city. For several years Mr Milne had conducted a wood yard in Belleville, also serving as Alderman in the city council. He was 67 years of age and a Catholic in religion. He leaves to mourn his loss, a widow and four children: Peter, of Spokane, Wash.; James, of Peterborough; Lizzie, of Toronto, and Wilhelm, of Belleville.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES — WHY?

The increasingly long evenings of Autumn give greater opportunity for Sewing, Writing, Reading, Study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt, accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

WORK TO START ON THE NEW DOCK AT ONCE

Work on the new wharf which is to be built on the property recently acquired by the Government from Mr. G. W. Hatton, will start at once. The dredge is being brought down from Lindsay, and will be put to work as soon as it arrives. The wharf, which will be a very fine one, and more extensive than that at first planned, will afford employment for a large number of men throughout the fall and winter. Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., has arranged to have the work proceed with all possible despatch.

LOCAL OPTION IN 83 PLACES

Great Activity Amongst the Temperance Workers This Fall

FOUR CITIES INCLUDED

Also Thirteen Towns, Twenty Villages and Forty-Six Townships—Burleigh Township is the Only one in Peterborough County Where a Vote Will be Taken.

EIGHTY three municipalities — that is to say, four cities, thirteen towns, twenty villages and forty-six townships—have so far made arrangements for local option campaigns next January. The cities are Belleville, Chatham Fort William and Port Arthur, and the towns Aylmer, Berlin, Blenheim, Blind River, Forest, Goderich, Gravenhurst, Listowel, Mitchell, Petrolea, Ridgetown, Simcoe and Uxbridge.

The villages deciding on contests are Alvinston, Caledonia, Cannington Cayuga, Charlton, Chesterfield, Glencoe, Hagersville, Hepworth, Jarvis, Lucknow, Newbury, Port Dover, Springfield, Thetford, Watford and Wroxeter.

The township municipalities which will vote are Alnwick, Assiginac, Blandford, Brant, Bosanquet, Brock, Burleigh, Barwick, Cayuga North, Charlotteville, Dack, Dover, Drummond, Dunn, Easthope North, Easthope, Elkfrid, Elzevir, Emo, Etobicoke, Finch, Glamorgan, Grantham, Greenock, Harwich, Howard, Howland, Kaladar, Kinloss, Lavaliee, McKillop, Medora and Wood, Middleton, Mormington, Morris, Orillia, Oso, Raimham, Pelee Island, Percy, Walpole, Woodhouse and Woolwich.

The number of licenses affected totals 278, of which 71 are in the four cities, 65 in the thirteen towns, 40 in the twenty villages, and 102 in the forty-six townships.

Burleigh Will Try Again.

Burleigh and Anstruther will make another attempt to carry Local Option, it having been defeated three years ago by the narrow majority of eighteen votes. The temperance people blame the vote of those who own property on Stoney Lake for its defeat. The only hotels affected are the Darcy House at Burleigh Falls, and the Mount Julian hotel, kept by Mr. Wm. Thompson.

Peterborough City May Try.

It is said that if Belleville and the other cities above referred to carry Local Option, in January, that Peterborough will try again the following year. It all depends on how the by-laws fare in the present campaign.

FRENCH MILITARY STRENGTH GREAT

This Has Been Shown as Result of Late Unpleasantness with Germany

A VAST ARMY READY

France No Longer Will Submit to the Mailed Fist of the German Emperor.

Paris, October 24, '11

THAT France is better prepared for war than she has been since the days of the great Napoleon, is generally recognized. One effect of the recent trouble with Germany over Morocco has been to bring about the military strength of France in a manner which goes to show that whatever may have been the popular idea outside of France, this country to-day is as well prepared to meet the exigencies of a great war as any power in Europe. In fact there are experts who do not hesitate to express the opinion that the French army organization to-day is the most efficient in Europe, and that the French soldier is, man for man, the equal of any trained fighting man in Europe.

Over Four Million Soldiers.

Very noteworthy in this line was the speech delivered by M. Klotz, the minister of finance, at the unveiling of a monument at Issoudun to the soldiers of the district who died while defending their country in the war of 1870. M. Klotz showed that, while in 1872 the strength of the regular army amounted to 453,364 men, it last year attained the figure of 581,491. This, he explained, was all the more remarkable as the main object of the laws on recruiting had been to diminish the duration of active service, and the birthrate had been unsatisfactory. But the diminution of the period of service with the colors had been compensated by a better organization of the reservists. M. Klotz went on to say: "On the first day of the mobilization 800,000 reservists belonging to the last of the contingents that have served came to join the active forces, and thus to form a compact block of nearly 1,400,000 combatants, all perfectly fitted out and trained. If, apart from the importance of this force of the first line, we bear in mind that our young men between 20 and 27 years of age, who form this imposing cohort, have all the qualities of initiative, valor and endurance which are the very strength of our nation, it will be admitted that we have every reason to be reassured.

A Vast Army Ready.

"Nor is this all: 1,400,000 other reservists are summoned on the first days of the mobilization to form the regiments of reserve, which constitute what is termed the army of the second line. These reservists are armed and equipped in the same manner as those of the army in the first line, and their bearing at the different maneuvers has shown us many a time, and particularly of late years, that this army of the second line is not inferior to the first. Let us add that our defence is completed by 1,700,000 men of the territorial army, and it will be seen that France could draw upon nearly 4,500,000 combatants, 2,800,000 of whom are trained, and equipped. Experience has demonstrated in the clearest manner that a few days' training would suffice to make of them an army nearly as formidable as the first one, capable not only of guarding the land, but of seconding, if that were necessary, the efforts of our army of the first line.

"Such are our resources in men, and this army is strong, not only in number, but in discipline and training, and, above all, in the confidence at once serious and cheerful, which it has in itself."

M. Klotz went on to speak of the money which had been spent on the army. In 1872 it amounted to 479,000,000 francs, about $100,000. Last year it had risen to about $176,000,000. Since 1872, France has, in fact, spent more than 26 milliards of francs on her army. After paying a tribute to the valor of the men who have lost, or who are risking their lives in military aviation, the minister of finance concludes thus: "And by way of further encouragement allow me to unite in one and the same thought, our navy to our army. The republic has made for the navy an effort like that which it has made for our army."

SHIPWRECKED CREW WEATHERED HURON GALE IN A SMALL BOAT

HARROWING EXPERIENCES OF A CREW OF SIX IN A SIXTEEN FOOT YAWL.

Schooner Capsized—Miss McDonald, the Cook, had to be Carried on Landing Near Goderich.

Goderich, Oct. 24.—The schooner Azov, of Goderich, was wrecked off Saginaw Bay on Sunday, and Capt. McDonald, of Goderich and his crew of four men, most of them Goderich boys, were forced to take to the yawl and spend Sunday night and all day Monday in the face of a fierce gale with high seas, trying to reach this shore. They landed about ten miles from Goderich last night in a very exhausted condition, and were taken care of by farmers. The captain and part of his crew reached home late last evening. Captain McDonald owned the schooner. Captain McDonald's young daughter and two sons were also in the yawl.

A MAGAZINE WRITER BURNED TO DEATH

Los Angeles, Oct. 24. Frank Hotalling, a magazine writer of New York, was burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed a rooming house in West Seventeenth street, at which he was staying. The fire is supposed to have been started by an electric heating device in Hotalling's room. He left his room and then returned to rescue some manuscripts. Firemen found his charred body where he had fallen, overcome by the smoke.

MORE CHINESE CITIES HAVE FALLEN INTO THE HANDS OF THE REBELS

KIU-KIANG AND HANKOW, FORTIFIED TOWNS, ARE CAPTURED.

ASK FOR WARSHIPS

Government Warships Stood by While Rebels Massacred Officials.

Shanghai, Oct. 24.—Kiu-Kiang, in the Province of Kiang-Si, has fallen into the hands of the rebels. The Government House was burned, but there were no other disturbances.

The rebels also captured Hukow, a fortified town 15 miles east of Kiu-Kiang.

The fall of Kiu-Kiang and Hukow indicates the spread of the revolution east, and that further difficulties of the Government at Peking are ahead. It also interrupts communication between Shanghai and Hankow as heretofore wireless and post messages from Hankow had been telegraphed here from Kiu-Kiang.

During the day no news from Hankow was received here, though rumors continued in circulation and caused uneasiness. Thousands of refugees are arriving from Nanking, which is reported as likely to fall into the lap of the revolution in a few days.

Wu-Hu is the most western point in the direction of Hankow with which telegraphic communication is maintained.

MASSACRED OFFICIALS.

When the rebels took Kiu-Kiang and burned the Government House it is reported that a number of officials were killed, notwithstanding the presence in the river of a number of Admiral Sha Chan-Pings gunboats. The British, French, German and Japanese warships are sheltering the foreigners, Kiu-Kiang has several missionary stations.

It appears to be a question how long the revolutionary Government will be able to control the mobs in the towns along the river, but foreigners appear to regard themselves as fairly safe.

While Consul Was Wounded—The Casualties Total Four Thousand—A Panic Prevailed in City.

London, Oct. 24.—The correspondents of the London Times and other English papers have been reporting by way of Malta, that the affair at Benghazi was much more serious than the Italian censorship had permitted to be known.

BRITISH CONSUL HURT.

Malta, Oct. 24.—In letters received here from Benghazi, Tripoli, the writers estimate the casualties among the inhabitants resulting from the bombardment by the Italian fleet at 4,000.

The British Consulate was badly damaged and Consul John Francis Jones was wounded.

Several Jews, who are British subjects and had taken refuge in the British Consulate, were killed or wounded. Numerous buildings, including a Maltese church, were destroyed.

Eight Maltese were killed and ten wounded in Sadi.

Correspondents add that panic prevailed in the city.

TURKS FOUGHT HARD.

The Italian fleet under Rear-Admiral Aubrey bombarded Benghazi on Oct. 19. The Turks had refused to surrender, and with the aid of Arabs made a stubborn resistance.

MR. BURNHAM'S PATRIOTIC ACT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—That one act of Mr. Burnham in placing himself at the disposal of Premier Borden, is enough to show not only the electors of Peterborough what kind of stuff he is made of, but it also will give him prestige all over the country. When a young man, who has gained a high position after years of effort, is willing to relinquish it all and go back into private life for the sake of his country and party, he possesses qualities that are not at all general. Especially is the sacrifice great when one considers the opportunities for advancement which are thus thrown away. So that I think The Examiner is completely out of order in its remarks concerning Mr. Burnham's act, which all must agree is most patriotic.

—An Old Liberal.

EVOLUTION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It is reported that at a great platform meeting where evolution was being discussed, Prof. Huxley, who was one of the speakers, and who was one of those like the higher critics, who believed that his grandfather was a monkey, was asked the question: "Mr. Huxley, if your grandfather was a monkey what was your grandmother?" It is not reported Mr. Editor, that Prof. Huxley made it clear to his audience whether his grandmother was a monkey or a woman. Now, if the Professor's grandfather and grandmother were both monkeys, according to the unalterable law of nature that, like produces like, why the offspring from such would be monkey. Then again if the Professor's grandfather were a monkey and his grandmother a woman the offspring from such a cross would be a hybrid, and hybrids are always sterile and go into extinction. That, Mr. Editor, is where most of the monkey brand men, the "Higher Critics" (?) have already gone, and the rest are fast heading that way.

"LET MY SON DIE IF HE'S GUILTY," SAYS RICHESON

Boston, Mass., Oct. 24.—"I believe my son is innocent, but if he is guilty, he is no son of mine. The law must take its course."

Erect as a soldier, and straightening even more as he spoke, Col. Thos. Varland Richeson, of Amherst, Va., father of Rev. C. V. T. Richeson, accused of the murder of Avis Linnell, who arrived to-day from his Southern home, and declared that if his son be proven guilty he should go to the electric chair.

"But I do not believe my boy is guilty," continued the brave old man "No son of mine ever did so dastardly a thing—but—" he faltered, "if he did, I disown him."

The elder Richeson reached Boston on the federal express from Washington. He went to a hotel to rest before the ordeal of visiting his son in the Charles Street Jail. Mr. Richeson was accompanied by his personal attorney, who will assist the attorneys already engaged to look after his son's defence.

TOWN OF LINDSAY'S POPULATION IS 7,414

Lindsay, Ont., Oct. 24.—The Warder says:

"There are many disgruntled citizens in Lindsay due to the fact that they firmly believe a grave injustice has been done to Lindsay in the matter of the taking of the recent census. The census returns were published broadcast throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and only two towns in Ontario showed a decrease, namely, Lindsay and Cornwall, but imperfectly taken as it was the census does not due Lindsay justice.

"Daily The Warder has received complaints of people who were omitted by the census man, or complaints to the effect that when the census man called he failed to do his duty as laid out in the instructions to these enumerators. The work in many houses was done in a slipshod manner and The Warder feels quite safe in saying that Lindsay's population did not decrease, but increased, and that at the present time the population of this town numbers over the 7,000 mark. Even the figures of the assessors show that Lindsay has a population of 7,414, a gain in the decade, not a decrease. It would appear that in Lindsay the men enrolled as census enumerators lacked the proper qualification.

"That Lindsay should receive a black eye throughout the entire country is to be regretted, but at the same time it is gratifying to know that the town has not gone back in population, but is enjoying the steady growth that has always been with us. The growth in the past decade has been slow but sure, and the town has held its own.

"Could anyone imagine that a divergency could be possible, between the information given by our town assessors, who places the population at 7,414, and the official statement given out from Ottawa which give us credit of having a population of 6,956, in 1911?

"About three months intervened in the taking of the capats. During this time we heard of no exodus of an unusual nature from our town, we saw no more vacant houses; our mills and business places still have the same staff, and in many cases a larger staff on their pay roll, and no epidemic or plague has devastated our homes."

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience, viz., Mrs. P. H. Brogan, of Wilson, Pa., who says, "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For croup there is nothing that excels it." For sale by all dealers.

DETECTIVES BUSY BUILDING DEFENCE FOR RICHESON

PRIVATE AGENCIES ARE SECURING EVIDENCE FOR THE ACCUSED PASTOR.

To Exhume the Body—Many Difficulties Likely to Be Cleared by Report of Analysis by Medical Professor.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 24.—In preparation for the special sessions of the Suffolk Grand Jury next Thursday, when evidence in the Linnell murder case will be presented, the police and private detectives worked assiduously to-day, the former to secure additional material and substantiate the testimony of several witnesses, and the detectives to secure evidence to build up the defence of Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, of Cambridge, who is under arrest on the charge of murdering the nineteen year old Hyannis music student in this city, on the night of Oct. 14.

District Attorney Pelletier, who will take charge of the case before the Grand Jury, went over the evidence in the hands of the police officials, and Mr. Richeson's attorneys continued their work in establishing their client's case, the trial of which is expected in January.

The activity of the police in the case is matched by the alacrity of private detectives, and nothing which can be done in the interests of the accused minister is being left undone. Much financial aid will be furnished to Richeson and his trial will be fiercely contested upon every ground known to medico-legal jurisprudence. Activity of the police in an effort to locate the time and place of the delivery of the poison to Miss Linnell was continued to-day. Police officials endeavored to find out if the pastor and Avis dined together in a restaurant on Saturday, Oct. 14.

The report of the analysis of the stomach of Avis Linnell by Prof. Whitney, of the Harvard Medical School, is being eagerly awaited and it is believed that this will throw some light on the reason she lived twenty-five minutes after taking the dose of poison which ordinarily would cause death almost instantly. The quality and quantity of cyanide of Potassium compared with that purchased at Hahn's drug store is expected to have great bearing on the case.

Upon order of District Attorney Pelletier it was arranged to exhume the body of Avis to-day and have it brought from Hyannis to Boston.

It is said by the police that an extended examination may produce additional important evidence for the Government. Incidentally it will be definitely known whether the receptacle which contained the cyanide was left in the pocket of the bathrobe which was interred with the body.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

GENERAL AGENT FOR CANADA

W. E. FUDGER, ESQ.

It shall be the policy of the Company to use the UTMOST DISCRETION in the selection of desirable risks, and, at the same time, to so widely distribute its business that any danger arising from a possible conflagration at any point may be reduced to a minimum.

The investment of the Company's funds will be given the GREATEST OF CARE AND ATTENTION by the Board of Directors.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the property, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE :

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as well as the Subsequent Payments :

No. of Shares.	Amount of First Call.	Half-yearly Payments.

300	34,500.00

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who are very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the SAME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ONE SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a price less than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST :

In the year 1869 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,785,539.00, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations ; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, applications may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER
You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

A CHARACTER BUILDER

"A most potent force the world over for wholesome companionship is the Sunday-school. If that institution, aside from its spiritual aspect, means anything humanly, it lies in its manifest intention to bring those of strong moral inclinations together for a common cause of the good.

"Financiers, commercial interests, even the farmers in the fields, study the associates of those they employ Having important interests to intrust to subordinates it is necessary for them to know the habits and the company of those they trust. This is only a new proof of the old saying that the company one keeps marks his character.

"The Sunday-school lends its influence to the side of wholesome associates. It is an intellectual as well as spiritual force, building for moral character and strengthening the activity of the mind. Young and old, of wholesome, vigorous thought, are brought together in an unselfish work — a pure work for pure ends."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Wanted Much Cooking.

One of the most annoying things about swans is that they live to an extremely great age, and that it is impossible for the ordinary observer to guess what their years may be. President Grover Cleveland, it is narrated, once had an amusing experience with some swans. He had been in the South, shooting, and brought home a number of wild swans, one of which he sent to each member of his Cabinet, and to some other associates.

"All the boys," said Mr. Cleveland, "thanked me politely for having remembered them, but none of them seemed to have much to say about how they enjoyed the birds.

"Carlisle, I found, had his cooked on a night when he was dining out. Another when I asked him, said he hoped I wouldn't mind, but he had sent his home to his old mother. Thurber didn't mention his bird at all for two days. Finally, I asked him about it

"'Thurber, did you get that swan all right?'

"'Yes, sir, oh, yes. I got the swan all right, thank you,' and he bent over his desk and seemed very busy.

"'Fine bird,' I said.

"'Yes, sir, fine bird,' and he went on working.

"'Enjoy eating him, Thurber?'

"He waited a minute, and then he said, 'Well, sir, I guess they didn't cook him right at my house. They only cooked him two days — and he went on working without cracking a smile."

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Megantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with ice fields which make them very beautiful."

WAR WOLVES OF THE TURK

The Bashi-Bazouks Recruited From All Quarters of the Empire Have Wild-Beast Courage and on the War-Path are Merciless.

The Bashi-Bazouks are to the Turkish army what the Cossacks are to the Russian. The Cossacks are, however, far more civilised and immeasurably the superior of the Bashi-Bazouks in all that goes to make the soldier. Bashi-Bazouks are almost without discipline; their courage is that of the wild beast seeking its prey, and once on the war-path they are merciless. It was the Bashi-Bazouks who, by their monstrous cruelties, gave such point to the pen and tongue of Mr. Gladstone at the time of the "Bulgarian atrocities." The name itself means "hot-brained." From every quarter of the empire and its numerous suzerainties this horde of cut-throats has been gathered — from Diarbekar, from Yemen, from the far Sudan, from every nook and corner of the Caucasus, and from every imperial slum. Their motto is "Kill—kill!" to which they freely add "and rob!" Their weapons are the long lance, such as is used by the Cossack, the sabre, two or three pistols, and as many murderous looking daggers.

Dr. Mrs. ADAM SHORTT

This lady, who prior to her marriage with Dr. Adam Shortt, was Miss Elizabeth Smith of Hamilton, Ont., is one of Canada's very busy women, having quite a long list of self-imposed duties to cover in connection with the different branches of work that appeal specially the fair sex, in Ottawa and elsewhere in the Dominion, having indeed earned no small share of distinction in a number of the outstanding departments of women's work in her pre-parental days. Since her marriage Mrs. Shortt has taken a very deep interest in all forms of philanthropy, especially that pertaining to the public health. She is at present convenor of the Public Health Committee of the National Council of Women, and is on a similar committee, of which Lady Aberdeen is convenor, in the International Council. She is also keenly interested in the Anti-Tuberculosis Crusade. She is an active member of the Y.W.C.A. having held the office of president in the Kingston branch for several years, during her residence in that city. Mrs. Shortt it was who first wrote to Queen's University to ask for separate classes for women and was the first regularly matriculated woman student to enter the University. In 1884 she graduated in medicine, one of the first three women to do so, and besides her degree from Queen's she holds a diploma from the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, so that she was able to practice medicine, which she did for two years in Hamilton. In Ottawa, Mrs. Shortt holds the office of vice-president of the Women's Canadian Club, vice-president of the Council of Women, and belongs as well to the Women's Historical Society and to the Mothers' Union.

Mrs. Shortt was born at Kingston, and her husband, who for a number of years was Professor of Political Economy at Queen's University is now Commissioner of the Civil Service at Ottawa.

T. W. CROTHERS

Mr. Crothers only entered parliament in 1908, as representative of East Elgin, and for a young member

T. W. CROTHERS,
An M.P. watchful of expenditure

has done some capital work in the interests of the country generally. A man of stern integrity, he has kept keen eye on the spending departments of the Government, and sleight-of-hand work was scarcely possible while the Elgin man was awake. Mr. Crothers is credited by expert judges of the class to own a tongue with more acidity to it than even that of George E. Foster, when the duty of exposing wrong was to be done. Northport claims him as a birthchild and he practices law at St. Thomas, Ont.

Sending Forth the Word.

The new report of the British and Foreign Bible Society — the 107th — contains some impressive facts. It seems that, in whole or in part, the society has promoted the publication of the Scriptures in 432 languages. A perusal of the Historical Table of languages and Dialects suggests reflections upon the mighty devotion of workers of a past generation. There are, in fact, over ninety entries marked 'S'—some of them entire Bibles — indicating them as the work of the Serampore Mission, with which the names of Carey, Marshman, and Ward are so honorably connected. Of this number some thirteen, representing New Testaments and portions, prepared for Rajputana and other parts of India, have not been reproduced in modern times. Yet, in the fear of God and in the spirit of joyous service, these versions were made by the worthy brethren of the Mission, and by their means the Gospel message was sent forth among men and women who have long since passed away.

The Bed-Time Prayer

In pleading for greater strictness in the habit of private prayer on retiring to rest, Rev Dr. J. Douglas Adam of Brooklyn emphasized that some of the moral processes which are most powerful in moulding us take place when we have no definite consciousness of them If the last thoughts before sleep were set upon high things, those thoughts would penetrate and work themselves out in the subliminal self during the hours of unconsciousness They would weave themselves into the texture of character even while we dreamed. Hence it was of supreme consequence morally that the last thoughts at night should convey spiritual suggestion. John Keble was not familiar with modern psychology, but his lines appear to contain a vital truth:

The my last thought—How sweet to rest
For ever on my Saviour's breast!

COURAGE AND HOPE

How often do we hear the admonition: 'Keep your head above water.' The best way to fulfill the injunction is to keep the spirit above. Courage, hope, what can a man not do with these? What is he able to do without them. Courage is an elixir of life, giving power both to mind and body. It strengthens the sinews, it revivifies the spirit. It makes life, indeed, worth living

'But,' it may be asked, 'how can a person gain courage who is not "born with it"?' There are two requisites: 1. He believes that what he is doing is worth doing. 2 He must feel that of all the things in the world it is the thing that calls him. With these convictions, he is equipped with weapons that shall level every obstacle, make a path through every maze — for of these are born courage and faith.

Strength of Character

There are no circumstances so poor but that character may display itself and make itself therein. Strength of character lies not in demanding special circumstances, but in mastering and using any that may be given. Our work and daily contact with our fellows form our scene of action, and God blesses with a peculiar blessing the efforts to put to profit, not some self-selected occasion, but the actual conditions in which we find ourselves. — Canon Scot Holland, "Creed and Character."

SOWING AND REAPING

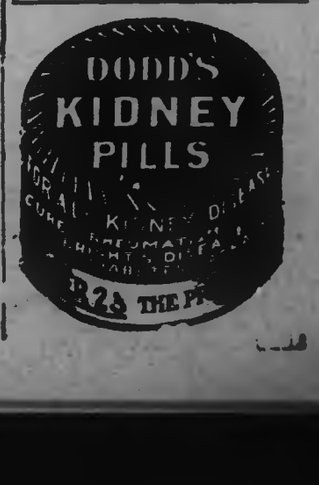
Be careful what you sow, boys!
For seed will surely grow boys;
The dew will fall, the rain will splash,
The clouds grow dark, the sunshine flash:
And he who sows good seed to-day,
Shall reap the crop to-morrow.

Be careful what you sow, boys!
The weed you plant will grow, boys!
The scattered seed from thoughtless hand,
Just gathered be by God's command;
And he who sows wild oats to-day,
Just reap wild oats to-morrow.

Then let us sow good seeds, boys!
And not the briars and weeds, boys,
The harvest time its joys shall bring,
And when we reap our hearts shall sing;
For he who sows good seed to-day,
Shall reap the crop to-morrow.

Bells from the Pope.

The Campanile of St. Mark is nearly finished. The four gilded lions which Napoleon had brought to Paris, and which have been since taken back to Venice, are in their place, and the workmen are now beginning to pull down the scaffolding around the monument. The spire, however, has yet to be built, but it is hoped that in a few months it will be possible to place on the top of it the great gilded angel which is to dominate the Square of St. Mark. The official inauguration of the Campanile will take place next April. The present Pope, as Patriarch of Venice, was present at the commencement of the rebuilding, and as his heart always went out to his beloved Venice, he presented a fine set of bells to the tower.



The Morning Times

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1911.

THE ALLEGED CENSUS

Evidence is rapidly accumulating that the recent decennial census was badly bungled, and that Canada is likely to suffer in prestige from its apparent lack of increase in population, says the Ottawa Citizen. From all over Canada reports are being received showing large discrepancies between the government returns and those of the local assessors. This is a very serious matter. In some quarters it is supposed that during the past ten years padded immigration returns have been published by the government to offset the millions of dollars expended in encouraging immigration. In other quarters there is a disposition to believe that large numbers of immigrants attracted to Canada, eventually found their way into the United States. This latter supposition is scarcely tenable in view of the immense influx of immigrants from the United States into Canada. The most likely solution is that the census was badly taken.

It will be recalled that during the time the enumerators were going about many complaints were heard as to the manner in which the work was being done. It is recalled that Hon. Mr. Fielding, in his last budget speech, voiced the expectation that the census would show seven and three-quarter millions, and his estimate was then considered too conservative. Altogether it is a most serious matter, and one which should demand investigation. The census in 1901 was also a cause of much complaint, it being alleged that while the enumeration in Quebec was most diligently carried out, the enumeration in the other provinces was not nearly so complete. As is generally understood, the population of Quebec divided by 65, being the number of constituencies in that province, forms the basis of representation for the constituencies in all the other provinces. Under the present census Quebec shows an increase of twenty per cent., while Ontario has increased only about twelve per cent., and the Maritime Provinces as a whole, have barely held their own. Of course, the provinces west of the Great Lakes show a decided increase, but nothing like what was expected.

THE FUTURE OF RECIPROCITY.

At a trade conference held in New York the other day, one of the speakers was John Barrett, director-general of the Pan-American union. Mr. Barrett had something to say of the defeat of reciprocity in Canada, declaring his belief that to no small degree the result was brought about by suspicion as to the motives of the United States in proposing this trade pact.

Mr. Barrett had in mind, of course, the annexation argument. The result of the election has convinced him that there is need of agencies and influences for spreading the word among the southern republics "that in this country there is no spirit of territorial aggrandizement; that the United States is interested rather in the independence and integrity of her sister republics," and he expresses the belief that, though rejected by Canada, the time will come when the United States will have reciprocal trade with Argentina, Chile and the others of the South American countries.

The Buffalo Courier points out that Mr. Barrett's optimism is not shared by President Taft, who has declared that "reciprocity is a dead issue." "Faith in the reciprocity route to freer trade," the Buffalo newspaper goes on to say, "has received a hard blow. When the Dingley bill was framed fourteen years ago the Republican leaders in congress averred that the duties were put high with the special view of using them in obtaining tariff concessions from other countries. It was an excuse to fool the public; no such use of them was ever made. The prospect is that from this time on interest in the reciprocity method will be fitful and feeble. The belief is growing stronger that the better way will be to reduce excessive duties on imports from all parts of the world and not to look to special bargains with this, that and the other country."

The truth is that reciprocity treaties are largely based on special privileges, a fact that will be recognized more and more as the question of taxation is studied in its actual relation to trade.

OTONABEE COUNCIL

The Otonabee Council met on the 16th of October. The committee appointed to interview the local parties interested in the road on the 10th line north of the C.P.R., which the promoters of the rifle range asked to have closed (the said local parties object to the closing of the road) recommended that no action be taken until the Dominion Government settle with the said parties.

On motion the Collector's bonds were approved and accepted. On motion $90 was appropriated to repair the road to River View Park on condition that Ward 5 granted $40. E. Devell, Commissioner.

The following accounts were passed: Jas. Bryce, shingling hall, $124; painting and repairing $39.91; J. M. Drummond, attending judge's Court of Revision, $19.54; Geo. Wall, drawing culverts, $3; Wm. Devlin, picking stones off roads 75 cents; H. Hair, cedar $21.46; M. Y. Crowley, gravel, $13.08; Wm. O'Connor, $19.40; Indian Department, $6.28; D. Kelly, $7; D. Hayes, $4; D. McCarthy, $4.90, drawing culverts, $7.50; F. Emerson, gravel 24 cents; John Dickson, $.80; John Webster, $12.30; John Thurston, $7.10; Wm. Hogan, repairing pipe at 6th line water tank, $1; A. McDonald estate, plank, $6.90; R. H. Campbell, envelopes 90 cents.

SEA SERPENT SEEN AGAIN THIS TIME IN BRITAIN

Chatham, Eng., Oct. 21—Thirty feet long, head like a cow, with green, bulging eyes, and a jointed ridge, the thickness of a man's arm running along its white back—these are the fittings and appurtenances of a bona-fide sea serpent in the description which scores of eye-witnesses give here of a monster which is troubling the waters of Chatham.

It flaunted its cow-head and ridged back within a stone's throw of the pier, and now there are buttoned and braided piermasters and Customs House officers who can give detailed and graphic descriptions of the manner in which Tom Pocock, fisherman of these parts, shot the monster just below its jointed ridge with a charge of (specially devised for the occasion) steel ball-bearing from his son's bicycle.

Tom Pocock, sun-tanned and blue-jerseyed, told the story of the encounter Friday night. "I don't think them ball-bearings did him any good" he said, "I emptied both barrels on him, and he seemed to tremble like. Then he dived down, and didn't come up again until he was further down the river.

"He's not a whale nor an overgrown porpoise, because he's white and he doesn't blow. And he has no fins. I should say he was about thirty feet long and about six feet wide in the middle. We've never seen his tail yet.

"I saw him first Thursday morning when I was out in my boat. He came up within forty rods of us. He's not a fast swimmer, but he leaves a rare wake behind him."

Mr. William Wallis, a Custom officer, and the piermaster, Mr. Shepherd have both sailed the seas, and say they never saw any fish like this monster of the Medway.

They agree that it was at least 30 feet long and had no fins, and an elderly naval man of the dockyard said that the sea serpent had hair on its back like a hog.

T. C. HOLT, LTD. OF VANCOUVER

Splendid Investments Offered by This Well Known Firm.

The Times would call special attention of investors to the advertisement of the T. C. Holt, Limited, of North Vancouver, one of the most substantial and prosperous brokers and real estate firms on the Pacific Coast. Capitalists in the east are now looking to the west for safe and profitable investments, and there is probably no spot on the continent where more money has been made faster than in Vancouver real estate. North Vancouver is rapidly forging ahead, and those who are able to get in now will be sure to reap a golden harvest.

T. C. Holt, Limited, recommend the following investments to their clients :

1st—While they last, 10¢ shares in the T. C. Holt Ltd. at $100 per Share. 25 per cent. on application and 10 per cent. per month until fully paid up. This Company being strictly under Government supervision is not allowed to sell their shares for less than par. We consider these shares a good and safe investment, as they will bring the investor a dividend of from 10 to 20 per cent. per year or more. Only a limited number left.

2nd—Investments in Real Estate. Remember, Mr. Investor, inside property in North Vancouver, is as yet cheaper than property in Point Grey, Fairview, South Vancouver, or Grand View, on the outskirts of Vancouver. 5 years ago an investor North Vancouver, far $10,000, to-day bought a corner on Lonsdale Avenue the same piece of property is worth $100,000.00. We can buy for our clients to-day property for investment from $1000 to $50,000.00 and over and can almost guarantee a profit of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. in a couple of years.

3rd—Investments in Mortgages and Agreements of Sale which represent a very safe and sure investment and bring in from 8 to 10 per cent. per year. Nearly every day some party calls in our office and invests his money in Mortgages or Agreements of Sale. They say they prefer absolute safety for their money with a good rate of interest, rather than no interest with a hope of increase in selling value.

Progress is the dominant note in the City of Vancouver to-day, and where progress is, where wealth accumulates, there will realty values advance, and this is inevitable in Vancouver.

A BOON TO STOCK-RAISERS

To Know How to Cure Colic, Distemper, Colds, Swellings, Etc. —Saves Thousands Each Year.

It is a matter of vital importance to every farmer, horse-owner and stock-raiser to know exactly what to do when one of his animals is taken suddenly sick.

The letter of Mr. Frank F. Fullerton, which we print below, gives information of inestimable value, and tells his experience in curing ailing stock during the past thirty-eight years :

"Several years ago when my horses took colic I used to give them Cayenne pepper in hot milk, but in a few cases only did it help, and because I had no proper means at hand I lost several valuable animals. Some one told me of the success Mr. Wendling, of Brockville, Ont., had in his racing stables with "Nerviline," so I laid in a supply. It wasn't very long before Nerviline saved the life of a valuable stallion of mine, which was worth at least $1,000.00. This horse was taken with colic, and would have died, had it not been for Nerviline. I have used Nerviline for reducing swellings, for taking out distemper lumps, and easing a bad cough, and always found it worked well. I recommend every man who owns horses or cattle to keep Nerviline on hand."

SAVED $1,000 BY NERVILINE

Mr. Fulerton is one of the best known residents of Stormont, and his recommendation as an experienced and practical horseman proved beyond question how valuable Nerviline really is.

Give Nerviline a trial. It's good for man or beast, internally or externally. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Apples Grown in Kitsumkalum Valley.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have procured samples of apples grown in the Kitsumkalum Valley, ninety miles east of Prince Rupert. These apples are of different varieties, beautiful in their coloring, and the flavor is in every respect up to the perfect brands grown in Ontario, and entirely unlike the inferior flavored fruit grown under irrigation in the more southerly regions and in practically all of the Pacific Coast States

The specimens came from the orchard of Mr. D. Stewart, who has about fifteen acres under cultivation, and they represent the first grown on the operated line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

In the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers, with other areas along the Skeena River, there should be approximately 300,000 acres of ideal fruit lands placed under cultivation in comparatively few years, and much of this land can be procured by pre-emption in 160 acre lots, the only charge being $1.00 per acre in addition to the residence requirements of the law. It is confidently predicted that this territory will become the centre of a new and greater fruit district in British Columbia.

At Prince Rupert this summer strawberries grown along the Skeena River and in the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers came into market for the first time in considerable quantities, and the fruit is reported to be superior to anything grown on this continent, being extremely high colored, and as sweet and fine a flavor as wild strawberries their size was remarkable, running as large as a good size crab apple or a small snow apple.

There will no doubt be a class of settlers in this section of the country who are looking for and will get tremendous returns for their labor at comparatively small expense.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows : The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.20, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

AN ATLANTIC TRAGEDY

By Bewer Jones
(Copyright by Publishers Press Ltd.)

Mabel and I had known one another since as children we had played together. The friendship of our childhood had ripened into a love that was little short of ideal, and when she was nineteen — I being her senior by four or five years — we were married. I was an orphan, and had spent many years on the Continent; her parents were wealthy, and with them she had travelled much. Thus it happened that we were both familiar with the European capitals, watering-places, and winter resorts, and determined—as we had neither of us crossed the Atlantic—to spend the winter and the following summer in the new world. So a few days after our wedding we found ourselves on board the Royal Mail steamship Arcadia, our faces turned toward the setting sun, looking forward in joyful anticipation to the novel scenes we were to witness together.

The passage began by being a rough one, but we were both excellent sailors, and enjoyed its opening days. There was only one cloud in the horizon of our happiness, and that —foolish as it may seem—was Mabel's fear of the sea.

"Eugene, pray that the ship does not go down in the night."

One night we had retired as usual, and certainly the sea was awfully rough. It took even me, hardened as I was, some time to get to sleep. I was awakened by Mabel rapping on the side of my berth and crying out—

"Eugene, Eugene! what is the matter?"

I roused myself and listened. Certainly a dull, roaring sound filled the ship—a banging and splashing which drowned the noise of the propellers. A little alarmed myself I jumped out of my berth, and telling Mabel to keep quiet, I went out into the passage.

I ran into the arms of a scared, white-faced stewart, of whom I inquired the cause of the commotion.

"The ship's sinking!" he cried. "Haven't they roused you? They're manning the boats up there on deck."

It was true. Isolated as we were in our state-room we had been forgotten. Assuming as careless an air as I could summon up on the moment, I returned to our state-room, where Mabel lay in an agony of alarm.

"Well, little woman," I said, "the curtain is rising on your long-looked for drama. The ship is going down, but there's no particular hurry and no cause whatever for alarm."

I helped her, and dressed myself, putting some papers and valuables into my pockets, and then, fastening the life-preservers round myself and her, we went up on deck. We had indeed been forgotten! The last boat was just preparing to leave the ship with the captain and some of the crew. We hailed them, and jumped in just in time.

The boat that had left the ship before us had been swamped by a wave, and its occupants were struggling in the water. Instead of pulling off at once we hovered in the dangerous vicinity of the sinking ship, trying to rescue them. All at once the deck burst up, and the ship settled. Our boat was engulfed in the water; I had only time to seize Mabel by the arms, and we found our selves struggling for our lives in the eddy.

The night was pitch dark; there was no moon, and the stars were hidden behind the masses of storm clouds. I could not see Mabel's face, but her feverish clutch on my arm reassured me, and I knew that she retained consciousness. After about ten minutes, during a lull in the wind, I said to her:—

"You see, darling, the night is warm, and we are perfectly supported. It cannot be more than three or four hours to day-light at most, and then we are bound to be picked up immediately. You feel safe with me, do you not?"

Her voice came back in the impenetrable darkness:

"Yes, Eugene, I feel safe with you; but you have tied this belt too tightly round me. It makes me feel faint. Can't you shift it a little?"

"Of course I can," I replied, and the moment she seemed to be a little calmer I proceeded to do so. She was lying on one arm, and I was busily readjusting the belt with the other, when, in the darkness, a great wave came over us, and dashed her out of my grasp. I dived instantly and caught her by the hair, just as she slipped away, and, bringing her to the surface, I held her closely in my arms. The life-belt had been washed out of my grasp, and I had to trust to my own strength, assisted by the belt that was tied round myself.

Alas! my wife had lost consciousness, and hung a dead weight in my arms. For hours and hours and hours, it seemed to me that I bore her up in the blackness of the night, imploring her to speak to me — to open the dear eyes which I could feel were tightly closed.

It was all in vain; save for the occasional beat of the heart she might have been dead.

What a night of agony! Heavens! how I prayed for morning — for one ray of light by which to see my darling's face. I thought I should go mad. My arms ached, my limbs — my whole body grew numbed and cold; sometimes I almost felt myself losing off into the sleep of death, waking with a start to cry aloud, "Mabel, Mabel, my darling, speak to me!" and nothing answered but the moaning of the storm as it died away in the distance.

At last a faint streak lit the horison, a flush tinging the edge of a cloud, made it visible in the darkness, a breeze rippled the sullen billows that rose and fell smoothly around us. The day was breaking: I shrieked aloud a prayer of thanksgiving to heaven that the night was over, and bent over the motionless, senseless body that I held in my tired arms with a renewed vigour.

Little by little the sun uprose, and the dawn came. With the first grey beam that crept across the ocean I peered into the face that had lain close to mine all night.

It was that of another woman!

While it has been the custom with most steamship lines to discontinue their Quebec and Montreal sailings about November 15th each year and transfer their steamers to the winter service, announced that their crack triple-screw steamer "Laurentic" will make an extra sailing to the St. Lawrence in November to accommodate the pre-Christmas traffic.

THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour.

Co. had not occurred to his — yes, he confessed it, now, in that moment of humiliation — to his sense of self-importance.

The loafers stared at him, mumbling certain praises regarding hustling qualities of Smart and Niles; the tall man, settling his tobacco in his cheek, looked down on him quizzically.

"Which way did they go?" demanded the forester. "I'll walk all night, if need be, but I've got to catch those men."

"If these here was some of those seven-league boots like they used to have in the old days, I'd advise you to start out." The man dangled the footgear before George's face. "But there are three trails leadin' north. They may have taken any one, or they may have struck right into the woods, spottin' timber. You can't reckon on them two any more'n you can reckon on a cross-eyed lucivee on glare ice."

The landlord had caught the drift of the conversation and come out of his pen.

"If your felt your ears burnin', last night, Mister Forester," he said, not without relish for the situation, "it was when Lunch and Civ were sayin' what they thought of college dudes. I don't mean no offense! I'm tellin' you what they said. If he listened to 'em hard, a man might get the general impression that they wasn't fussy about gettin' mixed into newfangled forestry. And then again they ain't no hands to wait other folks' motions."

"If you'd got along so as to go with 'em, they was intendin' to walk your legs off'm you," observed one of the loafers.

"What you want to do is to plaster yourself on to 'em now in spite of themselves," suggested the landlord, chuckling. "It will be a good joke on Lynch and Civ."

Although the loafers agreed to this with hilarity, the young man was unable to see anything to laugh at in the situation.

"Here's Romeo Bragg, here" — the landlord pointed to the tall man — "who is one of the best guides that ever sliced bacon. He'll help you catch 'em somewhere. Yes, sir, he'll help you catch 'em! He'll relish seein' 'em squirm when you're plastered onto 'em."

The guilelessness of the landlord's sense of humor was the climax of that day of ironical affront, but somehow George did not want to resent this jesting by angry retort. That, he reflected, would make worse his situation. Without regard to his feelings, the whole section seemed to be taking him as a joke. He realized, all of a sudden, what his new profession of forestry had to contend with in the face of the grim woods' heresy that put revenue first.

"You'll go with him, won't you, Romeo?" asked the landlord.

"He ain't asked me to," the guide grumbled.

George had no authority to hire a helper. But the need of a guide was pressing, and Mr. Bragg's eyes were honest, and his legs were long, and seemed adapted for travel through slash and blow-downs.

At the end of five minutes, negotiations were concluded.

"Where shall I set your baggage?" asked Mr. Bragg, joggling the shoes.

George took them. "I'm in a nice position to strike into the woods," he said disconsolately.

Mr. Bragg looked him over without appearing to be impressed by this destitution.

"You've got a good suit of clothes, a hat, them boots, a gun, and your calibers. That's more'n most explorers have. How was you intendin' to take that trunk — in your pocket, or have me wheel it on a wheelbarrer?"

"I didn't exactly know what the situation was, up here," confessed George. "I brought some things for comfort.

"The situation is," declared Bragg bluntly, "that dude hunters and that truck can go into the woods and loaf along with a whole grocery store a-taggin' 'em, if they're a mind to pay for havin' it toted. But a man that goes into the woods on explorin' business has got to eat wind and sleep standin' up if he expects to get anywhere and do what he's sent to do. A man that is so beholden to critter comforts that he has to cinch a lot of stuff on his back and give it a free ride, better paste on a pair of long ears to go with the rest, and get down on all fours and call himself a jackass and be done with it."

"Look here, my friend, I haven't any more time to waste on lectures. And I'm mighty tired of being played any longer as a tenderfoot. I've hired you to guide me. We'll start. I've got a pair of woods boots for outfit, anyway."

"After the funeral, I'm your man," said Mr. Bragg.

George was putting on his stout foot-gear. He stopped, and glared.

"And let those men get forty-eight hours' start? No, sir! We're out of here in half an hour."

"There are only two men in the north country that would leave this place and what's goin' on here," stated Bragg. "They're Lynch Smart and Civ Niles — and they seemed to have good reason for skippin'. As for me, I don't go till it's over."

"There are others," said the forester, lacing his shoes.

"I'd like to see you pick one up hereabouts," put in his landlord. "I reckon you don't realize what's goin'

A.

The music of a band came to their ears. It was playing a decorous tune, this time.

"I'll go alone," shouted George, but he knew that this was the threat of a fool.

"Good-by," said Bragg calmly. "I'll pass word to the crews. They'll whittle toothpicks and follow you."

"Bragg," pleaded the young man, "this is serious business for me. No matter about details. But my job depends on getting in with those men. I can't even begin my work until I find them. They have the instructions I've got to go."

"And you'll go — but this isn't runnin' after a street car. I'll take you — later. But you can't pull me nor any other man out of this village till Cornelius Corran's funeral is over, not if you hitch four tote horses onto me or them. If you think you can, go try."

Mr. Bragg lighted his pipe, and went away to join the mob that was marching to band music. Only the landlord was left in the big, lonesome office.

"If you've got a room," said George, after meditating a little while, "I think I'll go to it. I need a little rest."

"I thought you'd come to your senses," said the boniface, and led the way.

V

The sound of music woke George. He had been dreaming of his wedding. He dreamed that he was walking down the aisle away from the altar with Mary. The strains of the wedding march followed them. Then, he opened his eyes, and the rapture faded out of his soul.

The dingy walls of the little bedroom of the tavern were about him. The church, the flowers, the happy faces, the trembling touch of his bride's hand on his arm — all the dream flickered out. It seemed very dark for a moment, though the sun was glaring pitilessly in at the uncurtained window, and he realized that it was mid-afternoon. He lay for a moment, and listened. The music of a band had awakened him. It was growing louder. It was approaching. Only half awake, he stumbled to the window.

It was the funeral cortège of Cornelius Corran — and the terms of his will had been carried out.

A wangan bateau had been slung upon wheels, and in it was the ornate coffin. There were no flowers. On head and foot of the casket were coils of snubbing warp. Six tote-team horses drew this outfit, and Governor Harriss sat beside the driver, his rusty plug hat adding funereal dignity.

One of the bands marched close behind and droned the tune of "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground." George decided that Corran must have selected that tune when he made his other arrangements; it fitted the general scheme so perfectly.

But the spectacle of the girl interested him most of all. She was obeying. She was fulfilling that dreadful compact dutifully, resolutely. She sat erect on her big horse, her black velvet habit scarcely more ebon than his shining coat. The black of her robe and her hat made her face seem very pale. Harry George had never beheld a more striking picture. But what attracted him most was the courage of the girl. He had been entertaining his own opinion of a daughter who could obey such an outrageous command from a father. His own eyes pardoned her, now. He felt that he understood better.

She led the way, marshaling that unspeakable parade, and yet so wholly aloof from it in poise and demeanor that her dignity did not suffer. She was Clare Corran, carrying out the wishes of a father who had always found her loyal. And so she passed, and the young man at the window looked down on her with a new appreciation of what such loyalty meant.

She glanced up as she passed. She caught sight of him. It might have been something in his expression — some hint that he understood; it might have been memory of her patronizing treatment of this young stranger at the railroad station; but color came into her cheeks. And in that moment, as their glances met, she seemed to him not "Queen Clare," of the Great Toban, but a very forlorn little creature who ought to be cuddled in motherly arms, instead of being forced to play such a part in the pageant on that solemn day that left her an orphan.

Behind the coffin, came the rest of the rout. Men on foot, most of them staggering. All had been doing full justice to the hospitality that Cornelius Corran had flung to them from his deathbed. And, last of all, the second band closed the file, playing "Auld Lang Syne."

Thus departed Cornelius Corran to his last resting place.

George had laid aside only coat and waistcoat when he lay down for his nap. He put them on, and went below into the deserted men's room of the tavern, and woke himself thoroughly by dousing water upon his head at the sink. The westering sun had left a corner of shade on the porch, and he sat down out there in a rickety, strap-bottomed chair, and smoked his pipe. He was trying to compose himself in patience until such time as Mr. Bragg should conclude that he had exhausted the resources of the Corran funeral and should be ready to start on the trail of the eloping explorers.

Bill Kyle appeared to him. Mr. Kyle had apparently dropped out of the procession.

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. Jordan & Davis Company

NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

Our Canadian Rockies.

Trunk Pacific Railway from Mr. Armountain climber and topographer, who is at present in the Canadian Rockies making observations for the purpose of mapping out the district, he says:

"We have a great amount of splendid material for publication and a collection of photographs that cannot be surpassed. We have just completed what is very nearly a 100 mile circuit around Mt. Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies. The peaks and valleys, lakes and waterfalls on all sides of it, and the glaciers are very fine. The region is immense, and there is work for years to come, exploring, mapping and depicting. There is a fine bunch of high peaks and large snowfields and glaciers southwest of Tete Jaune Cache. There are also great peaks on the Athabaska and Fraser headwaters, tributary to your line. The most showy part of Mt. Robson is the Robson Pass and Glacier, and Berg Lake."

English-French Capital

Capital furnished for sound American, Canadian and Mexican enterprises. Mining, Industrial, Timber and Manufacturing. Steam and Electric Railroads financed. Irrigation projects promoted. Real Estate, Mining and Industrial Investments

HOW $100 GREW TO $31620

The value and importance of any enterprise must be based on the profits and dividends it can earn. In this respect the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, is without a parallel in the line of investments.

It combines the attractive factors which are needed to make the perfect investment—viz., safety, large earning capacity and low cost of the stock at the start. It is not at all uncommon for oil stocks to begin at a few cents a share and jump to hundreds of dollars a share—sometimes thousands.

	Started at	Has Sold at
Central	10 cents	$2.10
Monte Cristo	10 cents	$4.00
Lucile	10 cents	$16.00
Silver Tip	25 cents	$4.00
San Francisco and McKittrick	40 cents	$28.00
Kern River	50 cents	$8.75
Peerless	50 cents	$8.75
Puente	$10.00	$150.00
Home	$10.00	$5000.00

This list, taken from San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchange records, could be added to almost indefinitely.

Fortunes have been made from stock increases. stock is $200, YOUR YEARLY PROFIT ON AN INVESTMENT OF $300.

When we have ten wells sunk you can reasonably figure on AN ANNUAL PROFIT ON YOUR HOLDINGS OF $2000.

$2000 A YEAR. DOESN'T THIS APPEAL

Many a case could be cited similar to that of Richard Ellis, clerk in a store in Los Angeles, whose investment of $100 became worth $31,620 in a short time. There are hundreds of such cases in Los Angeles alone.

$2000.00 Profit a Year

Do you realize that stock in the Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company, Limited, at the present price of 30 cents a share is not merely the opportunity of the year—IT IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

If you have $10, $50, $100 or $500 YOU SIMPLY CAN NOT AFFORD TO PASS IT UP.

If we develop only a 1000 barrel well of 26 gravity oil, this production alone will be sufficient to enable the corporation to pay a dividend of 20 per cent. and at the same time have sufficient capital to continue the drilling of wells.

1000 shares of stock at the present price of 30c costs only $300.

20 per cent. dividend on the par value of the TO YOU? Wouldn't you like to be coming up to this office every three months and getting your dividend cheque for $500?

Remember, too, that your stock holdings in Midway Maple Leaf, if you should want to sell them should be worth $18,000 or sixty times the amount of your original investment.

Consider These Facts

The Midway Maple Leaf Oil Company is working in proven gusher territory, the richest oil zone in the world, controlling 40 acres on one-eighth royalty, with the great advantage of the option to purchase at only $1250 per acre after oil is struck, and the ground must then be worth at least $5000 per acre. This means a clean profit of $150,000 over purchase price. It has been demonstrated completely by gushers on adjoining Standard and Honolulu ground, that this portion of the Midway field is not only the richest portion of the whole district, but that it produces the highest grade of oil found in the entire vicinity, and worth 20 per cent. more per barrel at the well.

Present Allotment of 25,000 Shares at 30c Going Fast

Call at my office at once and get your order in for the amount of stock that you want. If it isn't convenient for you to call, either wire and let your remittance follow by mail, or get your remittance in by the first mail possible.

$30 cash, or $6 down and $6 a month for four months, buys 100 shares.

$60 cash, or $12 down and $12 a month for four months, buys 200 shares.

$120 cash, or $24 down and $24 a month for four months, buys 400 shares.

$480 cash, or $96 down and $96 a month for four months, buys 1600 shares.

A CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY IN VANCOUVER REALTY

Investors seeking an opportunity to secure large returns for their money will find an exceptional chance offered by Keith Park Land Co., Limited, of Vancouver, B. C. This company has placed on the market for immediate sale the choicest piece of property on the North Shore.

This tract known as Keith Park, D. L. 676, lies at the junction of the Pipe line Road, (owned by the city of Vancouver) and the Keith Road and is the Junction point for North side traffic.

The Second Narrows Bridge, which is to connect Vancouver and North Vancouver will be constructed so that Keith Park will be in the line of its northern end.

It is confidentially expected that a new town will be created at this point. Dominion, Provincial and Municipal subsidies to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars have already been secured for the bridge project and plans are now being drawn for the bridge. It is expected that actual workwill be started within the next ninety days

Keith Park presents the best chance to buy ahead of the important municipal and government projects that are planned for the North Side. It will stand the most critical investigation.

Full information and maps supplied upon request. Lots range in price from $200 upwards. Terms one-quarter cash, balance in six equal quarterly payments.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

Dr. JOHN D. REID

Born in Prescott, — where he still resides, — on New Year's Day of 1859, Dr. Reid received his advanced education at Queen's University, where he obtained the degree of M.D., and returned home a full-fledged doctor, ready for practice. But the strong desire of the people to have him in Parliament after the lamented death of his father, Mr. John Reid, who held the Grenville seat for many years, changed his whole course of life. In 1901 he went to his first House of Commons with a very substantial majority, and he has been going back every year since that time A speaker of natural ability, he has steadily improved with constant practice, and now he is regarded as one of the keenest debaters in the house, a man who has been given a lot of the important work to do, and who has done it well. The doctor is a rousing speaker, who dearly loves a fight, and at his best when hitting hard, he was capable of holding the attention of an audience as well as any man in the late House of Commons.

Dr. Reid is married. His wife was formerly Miss Ephie Labatt, of London, Ont. He has one son and one daughter. Since the demands of parliamentary life would not permit of his practising medicine, he entered business with an energy and determination that spelled success. He was for seven years manager of the Edwardsburg Starch Company, and for four years manager of the Imperial Starch Company.

He is a member of the Rideau Club and he is also well known in Toronto, being a member of the Albany Club and the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of that city.

Dr. J. D. REID, M.P.

CAN BE SAID OF THE TONGUE

"Since God made the tongue, and He never makes anything in vain, we may be sure He made it for some good purpose. What is it, then?" asked the teacher one day of her class.

"He made it that we might pray with it," answered one boy. "To sing with," said another. "To talk to people with," said a third. "To recite our lessons with," replied another.

"Yes; and I will tell you what He did not make it for. He did not make it for us to scold with, to lie with, or to swear with. He did not mean that we should say unkind or foolish, indecent or impatient words with it. Now, boys, think about these you use your tongue, if you are using it in the way God means."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE COMFORT OF INDEPENDENCE ASSURED THE B. C. FRUIT GROWER

In British Columbia Fruit Growing is synonymous with Success. The fame of the five-acre fruit farms of the Fraser Valley is spreading to every corner of this continent. Already "Fruit" suggests the Pacific Coast, soon it will direct the thoughts instinctively to British Columbia, particularly to the lower Fraser River Valley.

FLESHERTON GARDENS, which I am now selling, is the cream of this Valley land. The soil is a rich deep chocolate, humous and friable, free from weeds, stones or stumps. Good roads lead to the property and two railways are ready to carry the fruit to market. The Chilliwack line of the B. C. Electric Railway CUTS THROUGH FLESHERTON GARDENS, and the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern is only a few yards away. Over a dozen trains pass the property every day, and the traffic will increase in the immediate future.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Do you know that you can make immense profits in fruits, tubers and vegetables on the Coast? To-day last year's potatoes are selling at $70 a ton in Seattle, only a few miles from here. In Westminster and Vancouver the price is from $60 to $65 a ton. Cherries fetch 50c a pound and strawberries 25c a box. All other fruits are high in proportion. Remember these are NOT FANCY PRICES but to-day's quotations. There is no difficulty in selling the fruit, for people here have the money and don't mind the price.

IT'S EASY TO SECURE THE LAND

I have placed FLESHERTON GARDENS on the market on very easy terms, $200 cash and the balance spread over several years. You can have your pick of these five acre farms at from $150 to $350 per acre. You cannot find a better investment anywhere; no matter how rosy other prospects may be, this one leads them all.

Sign this blank, and mail it to me NOW. I can tell you a great deal more about FLESHERTON GARDANS in a personal letter. It's to your advantage to get all the information you can.

CANADIAN PACIFIC IMPROVEMENTS.

New compartment cars. Commencing Wednesday night from Montreal, 10.45 p.m. train, and from North Toronto Thursday night, this week, 10 p.m., Peterboro' 12.10 a.m., splendid new compartment cars, with observation end, will be run every night in the week. The very latest improvements in sleeping car designs have been observed in the construction of these cars, every comfort, elegantly equipped, electric lighted. Reservations for compartments should be made early. These cars run between Montreal and North Toronto only. W. McIlroy, Agent.

A Splendid Display.

In connection with the Grand Trunk Exhibit at the Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England, further advices dated September 12th have been received from London regarding the awards that were given to the Grand Trunk, and the Grand Trunk Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that these companies have received four "Grand Prix" for their splendid display, instead of two that were announced in the cable received on Sept. 1st.

Sick headache is caused by a disordered stomach. Take Chamberlain's Tablets and correct that and the headaches will disappear. For sale by all dealers.

Graveyard Coughs and Colds

CURED QUICKLY BY CATARRHOZONE.

A cough or cold this season of the year paves the way for pneumonia or consumption. The best remedy is "Catarrhozone." It eases a cough in five minutes, and colds cannot exist but a few hours where it is used. Mrs. H. L. Chenowith, residing at Glendive, Montana, was worried by a "graveyard" cough. In the following letter she tells how Catarrhozone cured her in one week:

"I had a bad cough for several months last fall that settled on my lungs. I was worried very much to think that nothing I used could shake it off, but reading in the Halifax "Presbyterian Witness" of the wonderful cures Catarrhozone was effecting, I decided to try it. The irritability and soreness was taken out of my throat in a few days, and in less than one week it entirely cured my cough.

"It is with great gratitude and pleasure that I recommend Catarrhozone. I am sure it will benefit and cure all who use it."

(Signed) Mrs. H. L. Chenowith.

The reason Catarrhozone always cures is that it goes right to the sore spot, which it heals and makes well quickly. It is antiseptic and destroys disease germs in every part of the system. For Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, nothing compares with Catarrhozone. It is very pleasant and simple to use, contains no injurious drugs, and is warranted perfectly safe to use. Catarrhozone Inhaler is suitable to use in a street car, theatre, church, any place, at any time. Complete outfit costs but $1, and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. Trial size 25c, sold by druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

GIRLS WANTED

A couple of good, steady girls wanted at The Times office to learn bookbinding. Apply at Times Bookstore.

Getting Ready for the Hunt.

Already the old hunters are becoming restive, a sure sign of the approach of the "buck fever." It is said that the woods will be full of deer hunters this year, and many are already preparing to go.

Finger Cut Off.

While working on a sawing machine, Mr. Peter Walker, of Indian River, had his finger so badly lacerated that amputation was necessary. Mr. Walker refused to be chloroformed while the surgeon was dressing the wound.

The Canadian Club.

The executive committee of the Canadian Club is preparing for an active season. Arrangements will probably be made for at least two meetings before the close of the present year to be addressed by prominent speakers.

Astronomical Society Meeting.

The meeting last night in the Collegiate Institute Hall, of the local branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, was not as largely attended as it should have been. The subject of the evening was the moon, which was illustrated with lantern views.

A Successful Banquet.

The banquet given last night by the Boys' Athletic Club of Mark street was a very enjoyable affair. The boys turned out in goodly numbers, and discussed the prospects of the season in athletics.

Irish Colleens At Home.

The at-home given last night by the daughters of Erin of St. Andrew's church, at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Campbell, 511 King street, was a very enjoyable affair. A programme of Irish music and readings added greatly to the pleasure of the evening.

Removing Dead Vines.

Chief Howard and a number of the members of the Fire Department were engaged in removing the dead vines clinging to the west wall of the tower of St. John's church. The withered limbs had sprung away from the wall, leaving them in a dangerous position. It is needless to say that the fire fighters made a good clean job of it.

Rural Mail in North Monaghan.

The completion of the rural mail route in the northern half of North Monaghan has inspired the southerners with a desire to have that part covered also. It is even more thickly settled than the northern half. Already a general petition is in circulation, it having been sent but a few days ago. Yesterday morning the forms of individual contract came in and it looks as if North Monaghan would have a full township covered by rural mail routes before the snow

Mr. Meyers Promoted.

The many friends of Mr. Frank Meyers, billing clerk in the G.T.R. freight office will be pleased to hear that he has been promoted to the head office of the northern division of the G.T.R. Mr. Meyers left on Monday for Allandale and will be appointed to the charge of some station. His host of friends will congratulate him on his advancement.

They Were Shoemakers.

Harry and Louis Stocker, the two men arrested here and taken to Belleville on Monday, charged with fraud were shoemakers and carried on a small repair shop in the Bay of Quinte city. They are charged with procuring goods from a number of persons to the amount of $400.

Y.M.C.A. at Lakefield.

It is proposed to organize a branch of the Y.M.C.A. at Lakefield, and with this object in view, a number of the officers of the local association will visit that village on November 3rd, where they will meet the ministers and others interested in the movement. It is hoped that a live, active branch will result.

Wild Geese Are Going South.

Mr. Louis Major, the well known painter informed The Times last night that he saw a very large flock of wild geese on their way south. He was attracted by the noise of their wings, the flock appearing to be not more than 50 or 75 feet above the ground. It is said that this is a sure sign of cold weather ahead.

Successful Church Function.

On Monday evening a fowl supper was given at Fairmouth Methodist Church, which was very successful. Anniversary sermons were preached on Sunday by Rev. Mr. McCall, of Napanee, an old Springville boy. After the supper stirring speeches were delivered by Rev. G. W. Henderson, of Charlotte street church, Rev. Mr. White, of Fraserville, and Mayor Morrow. Among the entertainers were the Charlotte street church quartette and Mr. John. As a result of the affair $65 was realized.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Given a Chance.

The case of Edward Kane, who is alleged to have forged a cheque for $90, was heard yesterday morning before Judge Huycke. The prisoner was found guilty, but on account of his youth and previous good behavior he was given an opportunity to make restitution to Mr. Kane, whose name he forged. He was let out on parole and must report to Chief Thompson every month. The Crown Attorney prosecuted and Mr. Gordon conducted the defence.

Arrested in Toronto.

A young man, 19 years of age, was arrested in Toronto yesterday charged with theft. It appears that he had been working for a man in Grasshill and when a shipment of hay was made here, it is alleged that Viener sold the hay and took the proceeds about $150, and cleared out. Chief Thompson was informed of the case and the arrest of the young man followed. His father lives at Toronto. Detective Newhall went to Toronto yesterday and brought the prisoner to Peterborough. He will probably come before Magistrate Dumble this morning.

Hon. Adam Beck Coming.

The Hon. Adam Beck will address the people next Thursday evening in the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute on the subject of tuberculosis. Mr. Beck has always taken a deep interest in the health of the people of Ontario and he was chiefly instrumental in the erection of the new $60,000 sanitarium in his home town, London, Ont. He is coming to Peterborough under the auspices of the Peterborough Health Association, and it is needless to say that his address will be extremely interesting. The general public are cordially invited to attend.

FROM TEXAS

Some Tea and Coffee Facts From the Lone Star State.

From a beautiful farm down in Texas, where gushing springs unite to form babbling brooks that wind their sparkling way through flowery meadcomes a note of gratitude for delivery from the coffee habit.

"When my baby boy came to me five years ago, I began to drink Postum, having a feeling that it would be better for him and me than the old kind of drug-laden coffee. I was not disappointed in it, for it enabled me, a small delicate woman, to nurse a bouncing, healthy baby 14 months.

"I have since continued the use of Postum for I have grown fond of it, and have discovered to my joy that it has entirely relieved me of a bilious habit which used to prostrate me two or three times a year, causing much discomfort to my family, and suffering to myself.

"My brother-in-law was cured of chronic constipation by leaving off coffee and using Postum. He has become even more fond of it than he was of the old coffee.

"In fact the entire family, from the latest arrival, (a 2-year-old who always calls for his 'potie' first thing in the morning) up to the head of the house, think there is no drink so good or so wholesome as Postum." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ontario.

The many friends of Mr. S. J. Stubbs will regret to learn that he is being threatened with appendicitis.

Mr. F. Snelgrove, the local tobacconist, has returned from a brief trip to the northwest.

Miss Brown, Gilmour street, returned yesterday from Edmonton, where she had been visiting friends.

The many friends of Mrs. A. F. Brookhout, 297 Maitland avenue, will regret to learn that she is confined to St. Joseph's hospital throughout illness.

Mr. T. R. Wilson, of the Bank of Montreal, Moncton, N.B., paid a short visit to his parents before going west, which he did on Monday evening on the 4.38 for Saskatoon, Man.

Miss Caroline Clementi, Water street, leaves to-day for a short visit with Miss Dorothy Hilliard, Lakefield.

WEDDING BELLS.

Condon—Maloney.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Joseph's church, Douro, on Tuesday morning, October 17, when Mary Loretta, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Maloney, became the bride of Mr. John W. Condon, of Douro. The bride was attired in a suit of blue cloth and wore a large black picture hat and carried pearl prayer beads. The bridesmaid was Miss Irene Condon, sister of the groom, she wore a suit of blue vecuna cloth with a large black picture hat. After the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Father McGuire, the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents where dinner was served and a pleasant afternoon spent.

SPORTS

HOCKEY.

A new hockey team has loomed into sight for the City League. Fred Denison is the manager of the new coterie of stars who will be known as the Nationals, and who figure on cutting a wide swarth and incidentally, some ice, in the local league, during the coming season. They have a number of well known players under contract and say they will have a seven that will keep them all guessing.

BASKETBALL.

Two games in the Junior Collegiate Basketball League took place yesterday when the Hungry Five won from the White Sox by the score of 8—10, and the Athletics defeated the Giants 20—14. The game between the Hungry Five and the Sox was fast and close, and was a good exhibition of basketball. Stratton's and Long's shooting saved the day for the Hungry Five. The following is the standing of the teams:

	P.	W.	L.
Hungry Five	2	2	0
White Sox	2	1	1
Athletics	2	1	1

FALL COURT OF ASSIZES

Four Important Cases to Come Up For Hearing Next Week.

Sir William Mulock will preside at the fall court of assizes which opens in the court house, Peterborough, on the 31st inst. There are three civil cases and one criminal. They are as follows:

HILLIER VS. CHICLE CO.

This is an action brought by Grace Hillier against the Canadian Chicle Co., Limited, in which the claimant claims $1,500 under the Workingman's Compensation for Injuries' Act, and $3,000 as liable, under the common law. The claim also is that the said Grace Hillier was requested to leave her ordinary employment of packing gum and feed a roller, where her gloved hand caught with the result that a finger was amputated and the hand permanently injured. Bennett & Goodwill for the plaintiff; O'Connell & Gordon, for defendant.

BANK OF OTTAWA VS. McDONOUGH.

The next case is the Bank of Ottawa vs. Thos. W. McDonough and Miss McDonough. The claim is that on the 3rd of January the defendants made a joint, and promissory note, in which each promised to pay the bank $2,500 on demand. Up to March 12th, 1910, they paid claimants $1,046.50, but since then paid nothing. The plaintiffs therefore claim the sum of $1,282.62, the balance of note and interest. Also cost of action. G. W. Hatton, for plaintiff; O'Connell & Gordon for defendants.

DARKE VS. C.G.E. CO.

This is a case in which Catharine Darke, widow of the late Hugh Darke claims $10,000 damages from the Canadian General Electric Company. The claim is for $10,000 damages and cost of action. The action being brought under the Workingman's Compensation for Injuries' Act and also the Ontario Factory Act. Plaintiff charges that Hugh Darke came to his death through negligence of the defendants and through a negligent system in carrying on the work in their factory.

THE CROWN VS. NEWALL.

This is a case where Newall is charged with having committed a serious offense upon a man named Moore.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES — WHY ?
The increasingly long evenings of Autumn give greater opportunity for Sewing, Writing, Reading, Study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt, accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.
Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

VOLXXXIV NO 247 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26 1911 — PRICE TWO CENTS

FORMER PETERBORO' MEN IN NEW INSURANCE CO.

THE STERLING LIFE WILL APPLY TO THE DOMINION HOUSE FOR CHARTER.

Head Office in Toronto—Capital to Be $1,000,000—J. W. Garvin Is Chief Promoter of the Concern.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—The Sterling Life Assurance Company of Canada, is the name of a new life insurance company that will seek incorporation under the Insurance Act of 1910 at the next session of the Dominion House. The head office is to be in Toronto. The capital to be asked for is $1,000,000. The shares will be $100, issued at a premium of 25 per cent. and a call of 50 per cent. made of both capital and premium. This company is really a revival of the insurance company contemplated four years ago by Mr. J. W. Garvin, with Ottawa capitalists behind it. The time was felt to be inopportune then.

It is proposed to sell both non-participating, ordinary and industrial life insurance. The applicants are A. E. Munn, lumberman, of Orillia; W. H. Shaw, principal of the Central Business College, Toronto; Dr. G. E. Smith, Toronto; A. P. Poussette, K.C., Toronto, and J. W. Garvin, insurance broker, Toronto.

The proposed managing director of the company, Mr. J. W. Garvin, B.A., is well known to insurance, educational, and political circles. He is first vice-president of the Life Underwriters' Association of Toronto, and last year was manager of the Agency Department of the Excelsior Life. Mr. Garvin was one time a political opponent of J. R. Stratton in Peterborough, for the Provincial House, as a Conservative. He was inspector of schools and the editor of the collected poems of Isabella Valancy Crawford. Both Mr. Poussette and Mr. Garvin have recently moved from Peterborough to Toronto. Mr. Poussette, as solicitor of the new company, with the intention of taking up counsel work in the city.

WEST UP IN ARMS OVER THE CENSUS

Believe That the Work Has Been Badly Bungled

WHOLE COUNTRY AROUSED

The Feeling Exists Everywhere That the Census Does Not Give the Facts, Especially in Regard to Population—Another Census Demanded.

Winnipeg, Oct. 24. NOWHERE in the West is there anything but the greatest dissatisfaction over the census, the whole country being up in arms. With the exception of Regina, there is not a city in Western Canada that does not feel that it has a just grievance in the announcement of population figures that are so much below what these cities have considered their right in the matter. The Regina exception only serves to make the feeling that mistakes of a serious nature have been made in the other cities stronger, and Edmonton, Saskatoon, and Moose Jaw have decided to take new counts to determine whether the Government figures are right or wrong. Unbiased opinion is strongly to the effect that something must be out of line and that the civic, directory and immigration figures cannot be so far wrong as the Government count makes them appear. The Winnipeg development and Industrial Bureau called attention sharply to the fact that many persons were being missed by the enumerators at the time the census was being taken, and this body will now consider the matter of taking a new census of Winnipeg.

Immigration Figures Correct.

Immigration figures—in which there can hardly be any serious errors—point sharply to the fact that people have been pouring into Western Canada in large numbers.

Mr. J. Bruce Walker, Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, reports that statistics compiled to date show that for the first eight months of 1911 immigration into Western Canada totals 270,757. Many of these new settlers are prosperous farmers from the United States, who have sold their valuable farms there and have bought cheaper land in Western Canada. A large proportion of them have secured farms in the agricultural province of Saskatchewan, where they will make their homes in future

Manitoba's Big Gain.

Manitoba, too, has made big gains in city and country population. In fact, Winnipeg has grown so rapidly that it is not possible for the dairymen to keep the milk supply up to the demands that are made upon them. In spite of an excellent season for pasture and hay, the dairymen about Winnipeg are away behind their trade demands and there is to be a movement made to induce more dairymen to take up this industry in a field which offers convincing proof of being underworked. It is an ascertained fact that dairymen who started in business no more than five years ago, with but a few hundred dollars, are to-day well-to-do and in possession of thousands of dollars' worth of property and big and growing trade.

Another Census Demanded.

Undoubtedly the country will demand that another census be taken. If it can be shown that the facts are as above, and that the whole thing has been bungled from end to end, the government may feel that it is their duty to do so. The matter no doubt will engage the attention of Parliament in due course.

Main Chinese Army Has Been Cut Off General Killed by Bombs at Canton

THIRTY SOLDIERS WHO WERE ACTING AS ESCORTS WERE KILLED WITH THE MANCHU GENERAL.

Alarming News Received at Capital—Revolutionists Capture Towa 250 Miles North of Hankow, Cutting Off Communication With Peking—More Cities Fall Into Their Hands.

Shanghai, Oct. 25.—The capture by the revolutionists of Chiang Chou, an important railroad centre in the Province of Honan, was announced in despatches which reached this city shortly after noon to-day.

From a strategic point of view this city should prove of great value to the rebels. It is the junction of the Kai-Fung and Peking-Hankow railroads, and is located about 250 miles north of Hankow.

Its capture apparently cuts off from Pekin all the Imperial troops now gathered around Hankow and Wu-Chang.

GENERAL AND 30 SOLDIERS KILLED.

Berlin, Oct. 25.—A despatch to the German Cablegram Company from Canton, says that the Manchu General Feng Sen was seriously wounded by bombs, which were thrown at his party as he and his wife debarked at Canton to-day. Thirty soldiers of the General's escort were killed and many others were wounded.

The General came from Shanghai. Later reports declared the general to be dead.

Shanghai, Oct. 25.—To-day's news from the lower Yang-Tse valley was all discouraging to the Government. With Kiu-Kiang in undesputed possession of rebels, the Imperial fleet has retreated on down the river, some of the vessels being reported as far eastward as Wu-Hu. Conditions are ominous not only in Wu-Hu, but also in Nanking. Most of the Manchu officials have left these two cities and are crowding into Shanghai, and where every hotel is already filled with refugees.

The Taotai, of Shanghai to-day became so alarmed over the possibility of the cession of the native city to the rebels that he removed his household to the foreign settlement. He has also put himself under the same protection.

NOTHING CAN AVERT A GREAT BRITISH RAILWAY STRIKE

London, Oct. 25It is believed now that nothing can avert another great railway strike, a prolonged fight to a finish between the companies and the men, which would inflict incalculable damage on the industries of the nation.

The men are entirely dissatisfied with the report of the Railway Commission, and at a meeting of the executives of the four unions on Monday next a resolution will be proposed refusing to accept the findings.

A nation railway strike in Britain would directly involve 360,000 employes, but a vastly greater number would soon be affected by the enforced curtailment or closing down of other industries. In fact, judging from the brief strike some weeks ago the whole nation would soon be in a state of industrial paralysis.

The last strike was terminated on August 21 by the Government's intervention. The men and the railways then agreed to allow the Government to appoint a special commission to investigate conditions, and the managers gave the assurance that the recommendations of the special commission would be loyally accepted, even if adverse to the contention of the companies on any question of representation, which presumably meant that if the commission decided that the principle of recognition of trades unions should be incorporated in the Conciliatory Board's agreement, the railway companies would accept that decision. As a matter of fact the commission reported that it was impossible that the companies should let their employes interfere with matters of discipline.

MAN LYING DEAD IN ROAD WITH THROAT SLASHED.

Montreal, Oct. 25.—While out riding this morning, attended by a groom, Miss Cecil Mignault, a well-known young society lady of Montreal, was horrified by the discovery of a man lying alongside the road, on upper Guy street, dead, with his throat cut from ear to ear.

The only one thing pointing to identification was the finding in the dead man's pocket of a cheque made out to one "Guay."

The victims clothing was of good quality and comparatively new.

STAG HUNT IN HAMILTON NEARLY GORED TO DEATH

Hamilton, Oct. 25.—Early this morning a stag escaped from the Dundurn Zoo and went on a rampage in the west end of the city.

On Locke street it attacked George Beavis and would probably have gored him to death, but for the timely arrival of George Scraggs, who ran to a nearby house, got an axe and killed the animal.

Beavis is badly hurt.

ABSENCE OF VIAL BAFFLES POLICE IN LINNELL CASE

Boston, Mass., Oct. 25.—A second autopsy was made to-day on the body of Avis Linnell.

At the same time, the mystery surrounding her death was deepened when a search of the girl's bathrobe failed to disclose any vial or paper which might have contained the cyanide of potassium which the medical authorities declare positively caused her death.

The second autopsy to-day was the third time the girl's body has been examined. The first was performed after the finding of her body in the bathroom in the Y.W.C.A. The second examination was made at midnight last night, when the girl's coffin brought back from the grave at Hyannis, was opened and the bath robe searched.

GERMAN LINERS ARE MADE READY FOR WAR

Melbourne, Oct. 25.—Grave concern is felt throughout the States comprising the Commonwealth over the assertion to the effect that all overseas vessels subsidized by foreign countries are easily convertible into commerce destroyers upon the outbreak of war. Private advices received in this country state that liners flying the German flag are especially equipped for this contingency. As the result of feeling of apprehension is prevailing throughout the country.

A resolution was moved to-day in the Federal Parliament by a member of the Opposition to the effect that action be taken forthwith to discourage such shipping from trading in Australia waters. Prime Minister Fisher in the discussion that followed said:

"We say most emphatically that ships of other nations which come to trade in our waters must presume too much on our good nature and equip themselves so that they may act as ships of war upon declaration of hostilities."

PUBLIC OPINION

THE PYRAMIDS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A recent magazine article expressed itself as of the opinion that the pyramids of Egypt were built of concrete. Will you kindly discuss the question in you valuable column? Do you think they knew about concrete? Is there any proof as to where the stone used (if so) were quarried? Is stone more durable than concrete properly prepared?

Thanking you in advance.

B.H.T.

Reply—The Pyramids were constructed of stupendous blocks of stone from the Nile Valley. Concrete is more durable than some stone, but no more durable than certain stone, such as granite.

Peterborough Man Was Elected First Vice-President of Baptist Convention

Return of the Local Delegation Yesterday—They Report a Most Successful Meeting — Peterborough Ministers Filled Montreal Pulpits on Sunday.

The recent convention in Montreal of the Baptists of Ontario and Quebec is reported to have been the best in the history of the church. The Peterborough delegation arrived home yesterday morning. The outstanding features of the gathering were the decision against Church Union and the consolidation of the convention boards of the Northwest Territories, the Maritime Provinces and Ontario and Quebec into a Dominion Board, for the purpose of controlling and directing the Foreign Mission work.

DR. SCOTT HONORED.

Dr. W. D. Scott, of Peterborough, was elected first vice-president of the convention, an honor which will be highly appreciated by the people of this city and district. For the first time in its history the convention has a French-Canadian president, Dr. Therrian having been elected to the head of the convention. Rev. J. R. Webb, the popular pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, took an active part in the proceedings of the convention, giving an address in connection with the Church Edifice Board.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE.

That the convention will be productive of good results there can be no doubt, the attendance being large and the addresses all marked with enthusiasm. Those who attended from Peterborough were Rev. J. R. Webb of the Murray street Baptist Church, Rev. W. C. Riddiford of Park street Baptist church, Rev. J. R. Bonner of Gilmour Memorial, Dr. and Mrs. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Garbutt, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Harding, and Mr. John Riddell of Murray street Baptist church and Mrs. Darling of Gilmour Memorial church.

ANOTHER SPLENDID CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

R. Moulaison, Whom Two Doctors Treated, Finds Relief and Permanent Cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Surette Island, Yarmouth Co., N. S., Oct. 25 — (Special)—Mr. Remie Moulaison, a well known resident here, is telling his neighbors of his cure from a severe attack of Kidney Disease which kept him in a state of pain and suspence for two months, and defied the efforts of two doctors who were treating him.

"My trouble started with a cold," Mr. Moulaison says. "My muscles would cramp and I had backache and dizzy spels. My head ached, and I had a tired, nervous feeling while specks of light flashed in front of my eyes.

"I suffered in this way for over two months and was treated by two doctors, but they didn't seem to be able to do much for me. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and they helped me almost at once. Six boxes cured me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the Kidneys. Cured Kidneys strain all the impurities out of the blood. That makes pure blood and good health.

MR. R. S. NEVILLE, K.C., DOES OBJECT TO VERDICT OF SUICIDE IN LETTER TO MINISTER OF EDUCATION.

The following letter has been sent to the Minister of Education, Hon. Dr. R. A. Pyne, by Mr. R. S. Neville K.C.:

Dear Dr. Pyne,—

You are, of course, acquainted with the circumstances surrounding the death of Miss Violet Smith of Dillon Port. It seems that Miss Smith on Monday morning left the house in which she was living with a respectable family, at about half past seven o'clock, and was seen no more until some ten days afterwards, her body was found in the river.

The coroner took it upon himself to tell the jury that it was a case of suicide, and on his ipse dixit the jury without further question brought in a verdict to that effect. No one apparently had seen Miss Smith after the hour above mentioned and there was nothing to show that she committed suicide except the fact that she was dead and that her death was caused by drowning in the river not far away.

Rumors had been circulated in the community and there seems to have been a desire to protect the good names of the living rather than the good reputation of the deceased. But there is nothing in the evidence reported which would cast any serious reflections upon Miss Smith or any of her associates, and it was apparent that neither she nor they had been guilty of any misconduct or indiscretion which would cause her to commit suicide. Her trouble with the school trustees was not worse than many teachers have to encounter, and the Inspector of the school had proclaimed her school work satisfactory. In fact, there was nothing in her situation to drive any one to despair, nor does it seem likely that the quite recent affection to one of her lungs would have done so. Mr. Ramsay speaks of a peculiar humming habit which the girl had and accepts insanity. Mrs. Ramsay speaks of this humming as a "far away" sound which seems to her peculiar. The ridiculous idea that Miss Smith should be considered insane on any such trumpery evidence as this is out of the question. She was doing her school work in the usual way and others who associated with her saw nothing uncommon about her except her quiet, studious habits.

I am sure no one appreciates more than you the intelligent work and self-sacrificing spirit of the great body of school teachers in Ontario, most of whom are ladies, and many of them quite young. It is particularly desireable that due appreciation of the self-sacrifice and devotion to duty of those young ladies who go to teach in the wilder parts of Ontario should be shown, and that they should have all the sympathy and protection that can be thrown around them; and it would be poor evidence of that sympathy and protection on the part of the Department of Education if you were to stand by and allow Miss Smith to be branded as a suicide on such evidence as was submitted to the coroner and jury.

I am not suggesting that any other person had a hand in her death, but there are many accidental ways in which she might have fallen into the river, and the ends of justice do not demand the specific finding as to whether she committed suicide or not. Any intelligent coroner, or juryman could have framed a verdict which would have completely exonerated any one and every one living from complicity in her death, without in any way finding that it was willful on her own part. It was no part of the coroner's duty to ram a verdict down the jurymen's throats in what seems to have been a mistaken idea that the verdict of suicide was the only one which would remove suspicion from some of Miss Smith's acquaintances.

I beg, therefore, to suggest to you as the guardian of honor of the profession of teachers that you should procure a further inquiry to be made. If it should turn out that there is no new evidence to be had than it ought to be made known for the sake of the deceased's friends, as well as her own reputation, that there is not sufficient evidence so show that she was guilty of her own death.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
R. S. NEVILLE.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

was incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of carrying on the business of Fire Insurance, as outlined in the Insurance Act and the Special Act of Incorporation.

Capital Stock Authorized by the Board.....$2,000,000
Capital Stock Subscribed to date.....$1,650,000

The Head Office of the Company is in the city of Winnipeg, and, in addition to this, Branch Offices and Agencies will be established throughout the Dominion.

It must be generally conceded that, owing to the satisfactory conditions at present prevailing throughout not only Western Canada, but the entire Dominion, this Company is being organized at a most favorable and opportune time.

Canada, and particularly the Western portion of the Dominion, is advancing in population and wealth more rapidly than at any other time in its history, and every indication points towards a period of great prosperity and development.

The great influx of settlers into Western Canada is resulting in tremendous activity in every line of business. Railroad construction is proceeding on a scale hitherto unknown in this country, and as adequate transportation is of vital importance in moving our immense crops with a proper degree of facility, it is highly encouraging to see so much well-directed energy along the lines of railway extension.

Coincident with railway expansion, we find many new districts rapidly filling up with desirable settlers, bringing with them a good supply of cash and effects. With the settlement of the rural districts, new towns and villages are springing up, which will, during the next few years, become, in many instances, important business centres.

With such unprecedented growth in Western as well as Eastern Canada, involving an expenditure of millions of dollars in building operations, it is at once evident that there is a very extensive and profitable field for a new Fire Insurance Company which will have a thorough organization throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion, and more particularly in the four Western Provinces.

As a great volume of our business will be transacted in the West, it is a matter of the greatest importance that the Head Office of the Company, as well as the Directors, should be located in the West, so that the affairs of the Company may be conducted to the best possible advantage.

DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors consists entirely of Western men with a very intimate knowledge of Western conditions, and they are, accordingly, well conversant with the financial and general business requirements of the West. They are thoroughly representative of the various important branches of financial, commercial, industrial and professional life in Western Canada, and with their wide reputation for business ability and integrity, as well as financial standing, combined with a long and varied experience, and practical knowledge of business affairs, they are exceptionally well qualified to render excellent service to a large financial institution.

As the Directors have valuable connections with extensive business interests and are also Directors of other financial corporations, as well as being otherwise identified with large and influential companies which control a great deal of high-grade fire insurance, they will be instrumental in placing a large portion of this desirable insurance with the new Company, so that we may safely conclude that from the very beginning of operations a large and profitable business will be assured.

Under these favorable conditions, and with a strong, energetic, as well as experienced and conservative management, combined with the fact that each Director has subscribed for eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500) of the Capital Stock, on which all calls have been paid, and takes an active interest in the welfare of the Company, there is only one conclusion to draw, and that is that the affairs of the Company will be conducted in such a careful, conscientious and intelligent manner that the interests of both policyholders and stockholders will be fully protected.

IT IS WORTHY OF NOTE THAT $1,650,000 OF CAPITAL STOCK HAS ALREADY BEEN SUBSCRIBED BY PROMINENT BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION AND ELSEWHERE.

No commission has been paid to anyone for securing stock subscriptions, and no expense has been incurred in the promotion and organization of the Company, except the expense in connection with securing the Charter and other necessary expenses.

THE CANADA NATIONAL FIRE.

The Canada National Fire, being organized in the West, MAY BE TRULY CALLED A WESTERN COMPANY, and, as such, should receive the liberal patronage and hearty co-operation of the citizens of Western Canada, as well as the support of people from Eastern Canada who desire to become associated with a strong and progressive Canadian Company.

When promoting this Company the Directors were fully convinced that there was a splendid opening in Western Canada for a Company prepared to carry on the business of Fire Insurance on a large and comprehensive scale, and which, at the same time, could offer ADEQUATE PROTECTION TO BOTH POLICYHOLDERS AND SHAREHOLDERS. Accordingly, when making application for a Dominion charter, the Company was incorporated with a capital of $3,000,000.00, of which amount the Directors decided to offer for public subscription the sum of $2,000,000.00.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT FEATURE IN FIRE INSURANCE IS PROTECTION, and with the LARGE CAPITAL, combined with the high standard of Reserve, which will be maintained through careful selection of risks and profits from judicious investments, the Directors and Management feel confident that this Company will be accorded a very hearty reception by Canadian citizens, and will soon rank as one of the leading Fire Companies.

WITHOUT A LARGE AND SUBSTANTIAL CAPITAL FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE POLICYHOLDERS, A FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IS SERIOUSLY HANDICAPPED, AND DOES NOT AFFORD THE POLICYHOLDER THAT PROTECTION TO WHICH HE IS JUSTLY ENTITLED, and the Directors of this Company, being fully aware of this most important fact, are adopting a very wise policy in OFFERING FOR SUBSCRIPTION SUCH A LARGE AMOUNT OF CAPITAL STOCK, and when our entire stock is subscribed and paid in full it will represent the largest amount of subscribed and paid-up capital of any Canadian Fire Insurance Company, and will be a tower of strength and of very material benefit to the company in carrying on its extensive operations.

Only GILT-EDGE securities will be considered, such as first mortgages on improved, productive real estate, stocks, bonds and debentures of companies of high repute, as well as Dominion securities and municipal, county and school debentures of well-established districts.

As a LARGE PERCENTAGE of these securities is READILY NEGOTIABLE, the Company will have abundant LIQUID ASSETS to meet any possible contingency that might arise.

Our first mortgage investments will be confined to Western Canada, and as the rate of interest obtainable on first-class productive real estate is FULLY TWO PER CENT. greater in the West than in Eastern Canada, the Company will have a DECIDED ADVANTAGE over Companies operating exclusively in the older portions of the Dominion. A fixed policy of the Company is to loan NOT MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT. of a conservative value of the property, and to stipulate for a definite return of principal, together with interest, each year during the term of the loan. With these periodical repayments of principal, and with land values in Western Canada steadily increasing, the Company's first mortgage securities will continue to improve year by year.

With the active development in Western Canada, a great deal of capital will be required for many years to come, and the Company will, therefore, experience a very ready demand for its funds on high-grade securities and at a profitable rate of interest.

The Directors decided to issue the stock at the price of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN DOLLARS PER SHARE, being at a premium of fifteen per cent.

THE TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION ARE:

On application, $25.00 per share, which shall include the premium of $15.00 per share, and the balance, payable in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of $9.00 per share, the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of shares.

Shares may be PAID IN FULL at time of subscription, but if purchased on the INSTALMENT PLAN the subscriber shall have the privilege of paying any or all of the instalments prior to due dates.

The Following Table Shows the Amount of First Call as Well as the Subsequent Payments:

NO BONUS STOCK shall be issued for any purpose whatsoever, and even the Directors, who [illegible] a very heavy stockholders in the Company, have paid the [illegible]AME PRICE for their shares as the general public. NOT ON[illegible]E SHARE has been or will be issued to any person at a [illegible] than $115.00 per share.

THIS IS A RARE OPPORTUNITY to secure some of the Capital Stock of a Western Fire Insurance Company. With a large amount of desirable and profitable business so readily obtainable by the Company through its valuable and extensive business connections, rapid progress should be made, and with investments carefully selected and unexcelled in earning power, the Company will be enabled to not only pay substantial dividends, but build up a large reserve, and thereby materially increase the value of the stock.

The Directors firmly believe in the policy that EVERY SHAREHOLDER SHOULD CO-OPERATE WITH THE MANAGEMENT of a Company and take an active interest in its welfare. For that reason, it is their intention to WIDELY DISTRIBUTE the CAPITAL STOCK, and by that means obtain the support of the leading business and professional men throughout the country.

With the rapid development of the West during recent years, involving an outlay of many millions of capital, it has become generally recognized that WESTERN CANADA IS VERY MUCH IN NEED OF MORE LARGE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS, AND ESPECIALLY OF WESTERN ORIGIN, to properly meet the growing requirements of the West, and to not only improve the present financial situation, but to materially assist in retaining, as much as possible, desirable business, with its resultant profits, within our own Western borders.

The business of fire insurance has now grown to such large proportions that it has become a very important factor in the financial and commercial world, and as its scope and influence is so general and widespread it is only natural to find that the question of AMPLE PROTECTION TO POLICYHOLDERS, which is the PRIMARY FUNCTION OF FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES, should be so GENERALLY DISCUSSED AT THE PRESENT TIME.

This important subject has given rise to a very STRONG FEELING in Western Canada that the TIME HAS NOW ARRIVED when the Western people should organize a Fire Insurance Company of such strength and proportions that it will soon rank as one of the leading fire companies of America, and command general respect and confidence, which is so ESSENTIAL to a company that solicits the support and patronage of all classes of the community.

The Directors have every confidence that they will receive the hearty co-operation of not only Western citizens, but of people from every part of the Dominion, to build up a GREAT fire insurance company with AMPLE PROTECTION for the people, and which will be a source of pride and credit to our country.

The following Canadian Government Insurance statistics should prove of ESPECIAL INTEREST:

In the year 1909 the total amount of fire premiums collected in Canada was $1,786,539.09, whereas in the year 1909 the total premiums charged amounted to the large sum of $22,293,633.25, and of this amount $6,551,644.41 was charged by Canadian Companies, $11,518,267.45 by British Companies, and $4,223,721.39 by American Companies.

During the last forty-one years the aggregate amount of fire insurance premiums collected in Canada reached the immense total of $280,740,466.00, of which the large sum of $218,310,047.00 represents the amount of fire premiums collected by FOREIGN COUNTRIES, and which, therefore, was taken out of the country to build up foreign companies and enrich foreign shareholders.

Notwithstanding that a considerable portion of the fire premiums collected in Canada by Foreign Companies has been repaid to Canadian policyholders, through fire losses, it must be evident that the larger the proportion of Canadian fire insurance that is placed with Canadian Companies, the larger is the amount of capital retained in the Dominion and always available for investment purposes, to build up our Canadian financial institutions, and thereby add to the general wealth and prosperity of our country.

The above figures are most significant and clearly demonstrate that while the CANADIAN FIRE COMPANIES have been doing a satisfactory business they HAVE SECURED only a SMALL portion of the Fire Insurance transacted in Canada, or, to be more exact, ONLY TWENTY-TWO PER CENT. of THE TOTAL FIRE INSURANCE WRITTEN IN CANADA, covering a period of the last forty-one years. With the extraordinary progress which Canada has been making during recent years, the field for financial institutions has become so widely extended that there is a CONSTANTLY INCREASING DEMAND for new large financial corporations.

By further reference to our Government statistics it will be observed that at December 31st, 1909, the total number of Canadian Fire Companies operating under Dominion charter was ONLY TWENTY-ONE, and of this number ONLY TWO HAD A PAID-UP CAPITAL IN EXCESS OF $500,000.

In promoting this large Canadian Company the Directors are fully confident that the new organization will, with characteristic Western energy and enterprise, soon come to be recognized as an important factor in the insurance world, and as The Canada National Fire will be instrumental in RETAINING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF CANADA a large amount of money which would otherwise be taken out of the country to build up foreign corporations the people of the growing Dominion will readily see the advisability of giving this Company their MORAL AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT, in order that we may build up a STRONG and VIGOROUS Company which will prove a valuable acquisition to our Canadian monetary institutions.

This is the last opportunity to secure, direct from the Company, some of this desirable stock.

It is worthy of special note that the demand for the stock has exceeded the Directors' most sanguine expectations; in fact, of the $2,000,000 of stock to be issued, $1,650,000 has already been subscribed, and, from present indications, with the large number of applications for stock being received daily, the Directors are confident that the balance of the issue, which is now only $350,000, will be subscribed by August 26th, 1911, the date appointed for the closing of stock subscriptions.

For this reason, the Directors strongly recommend the investing public to mail their applications for stock at their earliest possible opportunity.

Subscribers are requested to kindly fill in attached application form, stating name in full, number of shares desired, occupation and address, and mail the application, along with the first call of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per share on the stock, direct to the Head Office of the Company, Winnipeg, Man., or, if so desired, application may be made for the stock at any of the Company's Branch Offices or at any Branch of the Royal or Imperial Banks, where application blanks and any additional information will be readily furnished. Applications for stock will be considered in the order received, and on approval of the same by the Board of Directors a certificate for the number of shares subscribed will be issued and mailed the shareholders forthwith. Cheques, Drafts, Money Orders or other remittances on account of stock subscriptions should be made payable to The Canada National Fire Insurance Company.

APPLICATION FOR CAPITAL STOCK

I ..... hereby apply for ..... shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each of the Capital Stock of the Canada National Fire Insurance Company at the price of One Hundred and Fifteen Dollars ($115) per share, being at a premium of fifteen (15) per cent.; and I covenant and agree with the said Company to pay for the said shares as follows: Twenty-five dollars per share on application, which shall include the premium of fifteen dollars per share, and the balance in ten consecutive half-yearly instalments of nine dollars per share; the first of such half-yearly instalments to become due and payable six months from date of allotment of said shares.

I further agree to accept said shares when they are allotted to me, and I do hereby request that my name be duly registered on the books of the Company as the holder of such shares.

Applications for stock will be filed in the order received, and on approval of same by the Board of Directors a Stock Certificate will be issued and mailed forthwith.

The holder of these shares will be paid the dividends that may be declared on the same from time to time by the Board of Directors. Dividends shall be declared and apportioned in proportion to the amount paid into the Company on the par value of the shares.

Calls on shares may be paid prior to due dates, and when all of such calls have been paid a fully-paid certificate will be issued to the holder of these shares.

These shares are transferable only on the books of the Company by the owner in person or by attorney on surrender of the Certificate of Stock properly endorsed. Transfers shall not be valid unless approved by the Board of Directors.

KING EDWARD VACUM CLEANER

You cannot clean carpets, rugs and furniture by beating. If you think you have, just try a KING EDWARD VACUUM CLEANER and you will find the article full of dust, which breeds disease.
The KING EDWARD HAND MACHINE has no equal as compared with other hand machines. It is lighter to operate and its suction is much stronger. Its suction is stronger than many of the power machines, and the dusting is done away with. On account of the short stroke one person can operate it on carpets and rugs equally as well as two, and it is about half the weight of other hand machines to carry up and down stairs or from one room to another. It is sold for less money than any of the hand machines. All machines are guaranteed.

THE BIG STONE MOSES STRUCK

Many Antiquarians Convinced That Stone of Destiny Carried From Scotland to London, Is Rock From Which the Water Gushed.

The belief of the antiquary, quoted by Archdeacon Wilberforce, that the Coronation stone was the rock struck by Moses and that from it flowed the water for the thirsty Israelites, has made visitors to Westminster Abbey more than usually keen to see the Coronation chair and the famous relic which it encloses. The archdeacon, preaching in the Abbey stated that a well-known antiquary who had made a special study of the history connected with the stone was convinced that it was the stone on which Jacob rested his head when he had the vision of angels at Bethel, and that from that night it was considered sacred and carried from place to place. "He believed it was this stone that Moses struck, and that it was carried by the Israelites during their 40 years of wandering. He showed me a big cleft in the back from which he believed the water gushed out." The antiquary traced the stone from Solomon's temple to Spain, thence to Ireland, then to Scotland, thence to Westminster.

Only the front and sides of the stone can be seen by visitors to the Abbey, for the top is hidden by the seat of the Coronation chair and a rail prevents people passing behind the chair for an inspection of the back. To appearance it is a piece of purplish-grey rock about 2 ft. long, 16 in. wide, and 10 in. deep. At each end is a much-rusted, deep-sunken iron staple. Whatever its early history, there is little doubt that Kings of Scotland were crowned on it at Scone, and there is no doubt that Edward I. brought it to Westminster and that on it all the Sovereigns of Britain have been crowned from the time of Edward II.

In the book of Genesis it is recorded that Jacob, after his vision of the angels descending from Heaven, set up the stone on which his head had rested and poured oil on it. "And this stone which I have set for a pillar shall be God's House."

To Cure Ear Defects

Because many school children cannot hear well and because this deficiency makes them appear stupid in their classes, Prof. McCallie, a Trenton, N. J., school principal, recently got busy to determine their defects by inventing an ear testing machine.

This has proved a great success and by its means children who formerly appeared stupid are enabled to have their ears treated and cured. The merit of the invention is that the ears are tested without the little subject suspecting it.

The machine consists of a metal box, containing a tiny bell. Stethoscope tubes reach the child's ears and a tiny hammer strikes the bell at varying degrees of sound. The test consists in learning at what strength the tinkle of the bell is audible. Pupils are tested at the rate of one a minute.

Could the Tree Talk

Bishop Seymour was very fond of trees, and one day while walking with a young woman he pointed out to her some of the fine trees of the neighborhood. She professed great interest and delight. She cried—

"How the noble aspects of beautiful trees stir up the keenest emotions of the soul."

Then, patting a great rough trunk, she went on—

"You superb oak, what would you say to me if you could talk?"

The bishop smiled.

"I believe I can be his interpreter," he murmured. "He would probably say, 'I beg your pardon, miss; I am a beech.'"

Origin of "Tip"

In English coffee-houses, in the olden time, a contribution box was placed against the wall, and it was customary for guests to drop in small donations for the waiters. Over the box were the words, "To Insure Promptness." From the initials comes the modern tip.

About Cigarette Paper

Of the great army of cigarette smokers there is probably not more than one in a hundred who knows that rice paper, in which the tobacco is wrapped, has nothing to do with rice, but is made from the membranes of the breadfruit tree, or, more commonly, of fine new trimmings of flax and hemp. So light is this paper that 500 of the tiny sheets go to make an ounce. They are perfectly combustible, and give off the minimum of smoke.

High Sneezing Dangers

Sneezing is one of the greatest perils that confront aeronauts, declares Harry Atwood, the American aviator. "On my flight over Cleveland, Ohio," says Mr. Atwood, "a small insect flew into my nose. I felt the sneezing convulsion coming on and fought against it. Realising that a sneeze was inevitable, I braced myself so that I would not lose possession of my senses, even for an instant. It was the first time I ever had to sneeze while in the air, and it immediately dawned on me that more than one aviator probably owed his death to a sneeze — the spasmodic jerking of the head, the brief loss of sense direction, and probably a jerk of a lever which made recovery of balance impossible. Believe me, I never again want to sneeze while flying. It is one of the most serious perils of aviation."

An Interesting Booklet.

The Times is in receipt of a very interesting booklet dealing with the Maritime Provinces as a promising field for those who desire to establish new industries, or to profitably invest capital in the exploitation and development of natural resources. The obvious advantages of many parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are ably presented in detail, together with many cheerful facts that ought to impress those who have capital ready to invest in a new field that is certainly rich in opportunity. It is commendable that while the eyes of the world are upon Canada, and thousands of new settlers are pouring into the West from many countries, an honest effort is being made to point out the advantages that exist in the east. The booklet will be mailed free to those who write the Industrial Department Intercolonial Railway, Moncton, N. B.

Present Disadvantages of Canadian Farmers.

At present the United States farmers have a great advantage over us. It costs 25c a bushel to send wheat into the United States. They can send their wheat into Canada for 12c a bushel, with rebate of 99 per cent. of duty when ground in bond. It costs us 30c to send a bushel of barley to the United States. They can ship barley into Canada for 15c. If we want to ship beans into the United States we have to pay 45c a bushel duty. The beans can come into Canada for 22c. They charge us 25c a bushel on the apples we send them. We charge them only 40c a barrel on what they send us. They charge us $4 a ton on the hay we send them. We charge them $2. They charge us 6c a pound on cheese, we charge them 3c. Thus it is with almost every farm product.

Under reciprocity these disadvantages will be wiped out, and we will be able to deal with them on an equal basis. Is not this worth while?

Home for Christmas

The Steamship Lines are expecting a large home-going exodus for the holiday season this year, and are making extensive preparations to take care of all of those who are planning to visit the Old Country.

The White Star-Dominion Line has arranged for three special Christmas sailings, viz. the "Canada" December 2nd, "Magantic" December 9th, and "Teutonic" December 14th, from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S., to take care of these passengers. These steamers will arrive in ample time to enable passengers to reach their homes before Christmas whether in England or on the Continent.

The railways have recognized the growing popularity of these annual Christmas excursions and now run special trains from Montreal and the west to connect with the steamers, and the most complete arrangements are made by both the steamship companies and the rail lines to further the comfort of the homeward bound ones during the holiday season.

Grand Trunk Opening New Territory

The new territory in the Canadian Rocky Mountains that is being opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has already become the Mecca for a number of Alpine Climbers and those who love to get away from the turmoil of the busy city and explore mountain fastnesses that are practically unknown. Some of the travellers who have gone into this Yellow Head Pass territory are now returning, and one gentleman writes to the Grand Trunk Pacific Headquarters as follows:—"Lake Maligne is a beautiful lake between 16 and 18 miles long. I have visited all the other transcontinental lines both in Canada and the United States, and there is no lake or district along any of these lines that can compare with the Lake Maligne country. Some of the mountains around the lake are in the neighborhood of 12,000 feet. Lake Maligne is reached from Henry House a few miles west of Fitzhugh, the Second Divisional point, and covered with tea fields which make them very beautiful."

Change of Air

The cyclist was fighting hard against a strong head-wind and wondering what unhappy thought had prompted him to come so far away from home. Darkness was rapidly falling, and, to crown his misery, it was beginning to rain. After a little practice, the rain came down in its best style, and the wheelman got wet to the skin. Then, as the intelligent reader will have anticipated, a piece of glass laid his tyre open. Some people get all the luck.

Presently there drove up from the opposite direction a benevolent old gentleman in a pony-cart. Gazing at the upturned bike, the perspiring wheelman, and the repairing outfit which he had dropped in the mud, he inquired—

"Had a puncture, my friend?"

The cyclist looked up and swallowed his feelings with a huge gulp.

"No, sir," he replied. "I'm just changing the air in the tyres. The other lot's worn out, you know!"

An Arctic Cannonade.

At Sadonsk, in Northern Siberia, the silence of the intensely cold winter nights is sometimes broken by a loud report as of a cannon. This is due to the bursting of one of the ice-bubbles in the river. The streams coming down from the hills are frozen on the surface some six to nine inches thick. The water beneath flows faster than it can escape, and the pressure becomes irresistible. First the elasticity of the ice is seen by the rising of circular mounds from six to eight feet in diameter, and four to five feet high. The bursting point comes at last with a report like an explosion. The water escapes, but soon freezes again. Scores of these hillocks may be seen in a few miles of the river.

Advertisement by Water.

An ingenious machine has just been put on the Parisian market. According to details given in "La Publicité" the machine prints an announcement on the ground in water, which it sprays upon the soil in a fine shower. The letters or signs will last from twenty to thirty minutes, until the evaporation of the water is complete, and as the spray of water also serves the welcome purpose of laying the dust, the invention will doubtless be accorded a heartier welcome than the majority of advertising devices of this nature receive.

Small but Intelligent

I had been seated but a few minutes on the front porch of an old colonial house (says a correspondent) when my attention was called to a number of ants clustering around the base of the column at the head of the steps. My host, observing the direction of my gaze, then told me the following story:—"I had observed," he said, "that ants were eating away the wood below the floor, and yesterday I filled the hole up with borax, thinking to end the difficulty. An hour later I saw an ant work its way through the borax on to the floor, and crawl down the steps to the ground, followed by other ants. In less time than I can tell you, they had arranged themselves with the utmost precision in a perfectly straight line, horizontally and vertically, from the hole to the ground, down the five steps. Then, to my amazement, the ant at the edge of the hole passed a bit of the borax, which I had pounded, not powdered, to the next in line, who in turn passed it on until it reached the last on the ground. In half an hour they had conveyed all of the borax in the hole to a neat little pile at the foot of the steps, and the army then marched back to their quarters with the same quiet precision."

Lucky for the Peasant

To her resemblance to the German Empress a peasant woman owes her present good fortune. Not only is she the Empress's counterpart in form and feature, but she was married on the same day as her illustrious double, and the dates of birth and sex of the Imperial children are those of her own. This extraordinary sequence of coincidences was brought to the notice of the Emperor, who not only stood godfather to the poor woman's baby daughter, but promised to provide for the family's future.

OLD LEATHER FOR DINNER

Hungry Men Existed on Hard Leather, and It Might Be Well to Hold Old Boots Against Possible Crop Failure.

The famous Captain Morgan and his piratical crew were sometimes in tight places at Panama, and on one occasion were reduced to eating their leathern bags. Some persons who never were out of their mothers' kitchens may ask how these pirates could eat, swallow, and digest these pieces of leather, so hard and dry. "But," states one of the company who narrated the story, "could they once experience what hunger, or, rather, famine is, they would certainly find the manner, by their own necessity, as the pirates did. For these first took the leather and sliced it in pieces. Then did they beat it between two stones and rub it, often dipping it in the water of the river, to render it by these means supple and tender. Lastly, they scraped off the hair, and roasted or broiled it upon the fire. And being thus cooked they cut it into small morsels and ate it, helping it down with frequent gulps of water, which by good fortune they had right at hand."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

The Dirigible Balloon

It will be remembered that a year or two ago a lot of hysterical people in England were scared half out of their wits over the alleged danger of invasion from Germany by means of dirigible balloons, notes the "Colonist". It was in vain that saner people pointed out that the chief trouble with Count Zeppelin's machines was that they were never sure of going where they were sent, and that they displayed a fondness for such peaceful things as church steeples, groves of trees and other objects usually at right angles or so to the line of flight. The Kaiser has decided that the dirigible is not of much practical use, and is going to experiment with aeroplanes. This recalls the definition given by a boy, who was asked how flying machines could be used to advantage in war. He, having in mind the long list of fatal accidents, said: "By inducing the enemy to go up in them."

England's Surplus Women

The proportion of females to males in the population of England and Wales was 1,057 to 1,000 in 1901; it then declined census after census, though with some irregularity, down to 1851, when it stood at 1,042 to 1,000. But after that a change in the opposite direction set in, and up to 1901 there was a slight but continuous increase in the proportion of females to males. The proportion of females to males was the same in 1911 as in 1901, viz., 1,048 to 1,000.

STRANGE NESTS OF WILD BIRDS

Swinging Cradle Evolved by the Ingenious Tailor-Bird is of Leaves Neatly Sewn With Silk and Wool

The tailor-bird builds one of the most remarkable nests known to man. With only its beak for needle, it sews two or three leaves together in the form of a cup, and in this places its nest of wool, hair, and fine grass. It uses thread, which may be either silk, snatched from some caterpillar's cocoons, or pieces of wool or strong vegetable fibres. The The bird bores holes in the edges of the leaves, and threads the binding material through.

The oven-bird of South Africa collects horse-hair and fibre, and with these bind together the walls of the mud house which it builds. This mud house is wonderfully designed. It is built on a firm foundation of hardened mud; it has stout walls, and is covered in with a dome — a most difficult piece of work for a bird working with soft mud without scaffolding. Inside, the home is divided by a stout wall into two compartments, one of which is the nursery, and the other the living-room. The nest measures a foot in width, and weighs eight or nine pounds.

NEXT FORESTRY CONVENTION.

Ottawa was decided upon as the place for holding the next annual convention of the Canadian Forestry Association at a meeting of the Directors on Friday afternoon. The time is February 7 and 8, 1912, which coincides with the annual meeting of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, and it is proposed that the two Associations shall hold a joint banquet on the evening of February 7. Both Associations expect an array of distinguished speakers, and the event will be one of the biggest of the kind ever held in Canada. Efficient committees have been appointed to look after the different features and Mr. Frank Hawkins, Secretary of the Lumbermen's Association and Mr. James Lawler, Secretary of the Forestry Association both of whose offices are in Ottawa, will co-operate in the work.

EX-REEVE CHARGED WITH MURDER

Cornwall, Oct. 23.—The autumn Assizes will open to-morrow before Mr. Justice Sutherland. There are four cases on the criminal docket, including that of F. D. MacRae, late reeve of the township of Lancaster, who is charged with murder, he having shot and fatally wounded W. Shaw, of Carp, Ont., on July 1st.

Mr. MacRae has been incarcerated in the county's jail since the first week in July and despite his years and nervous temperament he has stood the ordeal well. G. R. Blackstock, K.C., will be Crown Prosecutor.

SHAW ONLY AN EMPLOYEE.

The MacRae case was an odd one, and from the evidence given at the coroner's inquest it would appear that both the accused and the late Mr. Shaw were about the last interested of all the parties mixed up in the squabble. Shaw was a druggist in the employ of Dr. Magee, who evidently was not in love with the expedition, and F. D. MacRae had remained at home at the request of his brother D. C. MacRae, who had been notified from Ottawa that his son-in law, Dr. Magee, of Carp, was on his way with a party to recover possession of his child.

A RELIGIOUS DISPUTE.

Dr. Magee and his wife did not agree very well on religious questions, and she left him last May, taking with her their infant son and making her home with her father. Mrs. Magee was brought up as a Roman Catholic, but became a Methodist before marrying Dr. Magee, who was a member of that denomination. They did not live together very peaceably after the birth of their only child.

It was on the occasion of Dr. Magee's second attempt to recover the child that the shooting occurred. The doctor, along with his brother, Wm. Shaw, and a Bainsville constable, named Uren, drove in a motor car from Ottawa entered D. C. MacRae's home and searched it in vain for Mrs. Magee and the child, who were hiding in a field. D. C. MacRae at the moment swore that Uren held him up in his own house at the point of a revolver.

SHOT IN THE BACK.

F. D. MacRae, who who is accused of killing Shaw, drove the party away by threatening to chop the tires of their car with an axe. Afterwards he secured a 44-calibre rifle and the Crown claims that he fired at the retreating party and shot Shaw in the back. Shaw died six days later in the Cornwall General Hospital.

Dr. Magee blames the tragedy on the Ne Temere decree.

Mr. Blackstock, of Toronto, will handle the Crown business and Mr. MacRae will be defended by R. A. Pringle and John A. Chisholm.

ELECTROCUTED.

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 21.—Joseph Holland, 26, who came here from Strathroy two months ago, was electrocuted in Detroit on Thursday night when he grasped the wire cable which supports the electric light at Clay street and Gratiot avenue. The cable was imperfectly insulated, and Holland received a shock of 18,000 volts, dying instantly. He was unmarried.

MANY LIVES LOST IN STAMBOUL FIRE.

Estimated That Victims Will Total Half a Hundred—Were Boiled to Death.

Constantinople, Oct. 23.—The death roll will be much longer than originally believed, it is certain to-day, as a result of the fire which began Saturday night in the Sultan Bacyzid quarter of Stamboul and is not yet entirely subdued. Its is estimated the victims will number at least forty or fifty. As is usual in Constantinople fires, most of the fatalities were due to occupants of the burning houses throwing themselves into the cisterns under the dwellings, where they were literally boiled to death. More than two thousand buildings already have been consumed.

T. C. HOLT, LTD. OF VANCOUVER

Splendid Investments Offered by This Well Known Firm.

The Times would call special attention of investors to the advertisement of the T. C. Holt, Limited, of North Vancouver, one of the most substantial and prosperous brokers and real estate firms on the Pacific Coast. Capitalists in the east are now looking to the west for safe and profitable investments, and there is probably no spot on the continent where more money has been made faster than in Vancouver real estate. North Vancouver is rapidly forging ahead, and those who are able to get in now will be sure to reap a golden harvest.

T. C. Holt, Limited, recommend the following investments to their clients :

1st.—While they last, 100 shares in the T. C. Holt Ltd. at $100 per Share. 25 per cent. on application and 10 per cent. per month until fully paid up. This Company being strictly under Government supervision is not allowed to sell their shares for less than par. We consider these shares a good and safe investment, as they will bring the investor a dividend of from 10 to 20 per cent. per year or more. Only a limited number left.

2nd—Investments in Real Estate. Remember, Mr. Investor, inside property in North Vancouver, is as yet cheaper than property in Point Grey, Fairview, South Vancouver, or Grand View, on the outskirts of Vancouver. 5 years ago an investor North Vancouver, far $10,000, to-day bought a corner on Lonsdale Avenue the same piece of property is worth $100,000.00. We can buy for our clients to-day property for investment from $1000 to $50,000.00 and over and can almost guarantee a profit of from 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. in a couple of years.

3rd—Investments in Mortgages and Agreements of Sale which represent a very safe and sure investment and bring in from 8 to 10 per cent. per year. Nearly every day some party calls in our office and invests his money in Mortgages or Agreements of Sale. They say they prefer absolute safety for their money with a good rate of interest, rather than no interest with a hope of increase in selling value.

Progress is the dominant note in the City of Vancouver to-day, and where progress is, where wealth accumulates, there will realty values advance, and this is inevitable in Vancouver.

Dying of Cholera

Local Physician Says Thousands Dying in Europe Can Be Saved With Proper Medicine.

What is it that keeps down cholera cramps, and summer complaints in America? Ask any doctor or live druggist and he will tell you "Nerviline." Just fancy, a million bottles are sold every year to people who use Nerviline for stomach disorder, cramps, flatulence, and summer complaint. For fifty years in most Canadian homes no other pain-relieving medicine but Nerviline is kept. Nothing cures the aches, pains and sickness of the entire family so quickly as Nerviline.

LETTER NO. 4672

"As far back as I can remember, at least 50 years ago, there was never a time that our house was without 'Nerviline,' in the summer time, when the children ate green apples and got sick with diarrhoea and cramps, it was Nerviline that cured them. My father used Nerviline frequently to cure gas on his stomach and acute indigestion. There are but few minor ailments that Nerviline does not cure, and I know of no medicine so useful; in fact, so indispensable around the home as Nerviline.'

This letter, written by Mrs. N. C. Butcher, a well known resident in Battersea, shows the high opinion entertained of Nerviline by those who have used it constantly for nearly half a century.

You'll never regret using Nerviline Get it to-day, keep it on hand for an accident or sudden case of sickness in your home. Refuse anything else offered you instead of Nerviline. Large size bottle 50c, or sample size 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Apples Grown in Kitsumkalum Valley.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have procured samples of apples grown in the Kitsumkalum Valley, ninety miles east of Prince Rupert. These apples are of different varieties, beautiful in their coloring, and the flavor is in every respect up to the perfect brands grown in Ontario, and entirely unlike the inferior flavored fruit grown under irrigation in the more southerly regions and in practically all of the Pacific Coast States

The specimens came from the orchard of Mr. D. Stewart, who has about fifteen acres under cultivation, and they represent the first grown on the operated line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

In the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers, with other areas along the Skeena River, there should be approximately 300,000 acres of ideal fruit lands placed under cultivation in comparatively few years, and much of this land can be procured by pre-emption in 160 acre lots, the only charge being $1.00 per acre in addition to the residence requirements of the law. It is confidently predicted that this territory will become the centre of a new and greater fruit district in British Columbia.

At Prince Rupert this summer strawberries grown along the Skeena River and in the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers came into market for the first time in considerable quantities, and the fruit is reported to be superior to anything grown on this continent, being extremely high colored, and as sweet and fine a flavor as wild strawberries their size was remarkable, running as large as a good size crab apple or a small snow apple.

There will no doubt be a class of settlers in this section of the country who are looking for and will get tremendous returns for their labor at comparatively small expense.

CHANGE OF TRAIN SERVICE.

Commencing on October 2nd the Lakefield train service will be changed, as follows : The train which has been leaving here at 8.30 a.m. will now leave at 7.00 a.m., and returning will arrive Peterboro' 8.15 a.m. The noon train for Lakefield will leave at 12.30, and returning will arrive Peterboro' 5.15 p.m. The evening train is discontinued. The public will be glad to learn that the new service inaugurated this summer to Port Hope will be maintained throughout the winter and will thus enable all passengers to leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m. and arrive Peterboro at mid-day. This train also affords good connection for all eastern points to Montreal and Boston.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

GEORGE TAYLOR, M.P.

If Mr. George Taylor could be induced to write his [illegible] memoirs the younger generation would be regaled with many interesting anecdotes of the late Sir John Macdonald, for this veteran was chief whip during the great conservative chief's reign and though retired from the active work of the office Mr. Taylor still assists with his seasoned advice the younger men of his party. Born in 1840, young Taylor after a good sound education went in for a commercial life and succeeded so well, first as a merchant and then a manufacturer, that in 1882 he was in a position to enter the lists for parliamentary honors. Mr. Taylor was reeve of Gananoque for seven years and warden of the counties of [illegible] and Granville.

MISS HARRIET FORD

The Canadian woman who is born with a gift for expressing beauty and truth by means of the art of painting has several conditions to face which must inevitably be met by her. As she grows up she will long above all things to go away to the old countries of the world where she may study great art and learn how to express for others what she sees herself. If she returns to Canada, she will miss the atmosphere of art and love of art in which she has been at work while studying abroad and which is of indescribable assistance in her work. If she required to earn her own living, which is the condition of the great majority of good Canadians, she knows that she will find it practically impossible to do so by means of painting only. An artist naturally would prefer to spend her working day in painting just as a writer prefers to write. We find in Canada that many of the young women who would paint pictures and nothing else if they had a choice frequently give lessons in painting, or they turn to commercial art and draw designs and illustrate fashions and advertisements. This means that the time of the artist in Canada is broken in on by occupations to some degree alien to her choice. All fine imaginative work needs long pondering. If the artist's mind is continually distracted by other work the artist actually experiences keen suffering and when the artist's work is good it is good in spite of the distraction and not because of it. There is a considerable number both of men and women painters in Canada and their names and work should be more familiar to the average Canadian reader than is the case at present. Among the Canadian women who have done really good work with the brush is Miss Harriet Ford who was born at Cobourg, Ontario. She gave much time to study and work abroad and returning to Canada took a studio in Toronto two or three years ago. A good part of her year, however, is spent in work on the Continent and in England. Her paintings secure attention, particularly from artists. Last winter at an exhibition in Toronto she showed some fifty studies in water colors, mainly of subjects taken from European cities in which the interpretation of architecture and the decorative treatment were particularly delightful and a credit to Canada.

Of all things there is nothing more to be detested than deceit, and those who practice it labor under the greatest folly in thinking it will remain undiscovered.

THE BACKWOODSMAN

By Acton Seymour.

"I was afraid they'd call on that orator for another oration at the grave," he confessed to the young man. "I stood one up at the house, and that's enough for one day."

He filled his pipe, and lighted it.

"What do you think of her, now that you've seen her?" he asked, closing one eye as he looked at George. "I know a lot of young chaps that would fall in love with her before they fell in love with her timberlands. But, in your case, I suppose you can combine business and pleasure.'

George was too disgusted to reply to this raillery.

"I was speaking to Blinn Wiggin about it," went on the jocose trouble stirrer. "I told him the Great Trust Co. knew what they were doing when they picked out a good-looking chap and sent him up here. Why, son, you began making good with her right there on the railroad platform, to-day, when you stood on the burning trunk and all but you had fled, or words to that effect. She began you, and that's something like loving. Now, you——"

"Kyle, I've told you once or twice that I don't relish that kind of joking. Now, you cut it out."

"What be you going to do about it, if I don't?" inquired Kyle lasily. He balanced his huge fists on his knees. "But I won't hurt you, son. All I'll do is brush you away, if you ever come at me. I'll have to do that much. But you really ought to get this matter with Blinn Wiggin straightened put. Save your muscle for him, son. For he didn't seem to like what I was telling him about you."

"What grudge have you got against me, Mr. Kyle? I'm attending to my own business. But you seem determined to get me into trouble"

"Don't they ever have a little innocent fun down where you come from?"

"Damn your sense of humor!" exploded the young man. "Try it on some one else."

"It seems to work best on you," replied Mr. Kyle serenely. Then, he chuckled his appreciation of the young man's wrath. "And young Wiggin has been paddling in enough foolish water, to-day, to have it work on him just about as nicely. I like to see things brought to a head."

"What in Heaven's name do you want to be so malicious for?" pleaded George desperately.

"Maybe I ain't had theatre shows enough in my lifetime," confessed Kyle. "I have to get up my own shows. A man can't go through his whole life suffering for entertainment."

Others had begun to flock back toward the tavern, the centre of the village. The hot sun had dulled the marching ardor of some; in the tavern was a room where Corran cheer was dispensed freely. In a few moments the big room, the porch and the street in front were thronged by clamourous celebrators.

One young man interested George in spite of himself. He passed and repassed several times, and stared at George with an expression that combined interest and insolence. When he strode by and stared, Kyle chuckled. George guessed the identity of this young man in the belted corduroy coat before his attendant tormentor saw fit to fully enlighten him.

Kyle was relishing the first rehearsal of the little drama he had planned.

"Blinn," he called, at length, when young Wiggin was at some distance, and the call therefore attracted attention, "you'd better come over here and be introduced. This is the feller, and he says he's going to show you a few city tricks in the girl-catching line that will make your performances up this way look like a June pelt after the moths have been into it."

Young Wiggin came forward promptly. It was plain that he was heated by liquor, though his gait was steady. He was excited enough by what he had drunk to be a victim to Kyle's malicious meddling.

"There's such a thing as joking on the wrong subject," he declared hotly. He addressed himself to the two of them.

"I am not joking Mr. Wiggin — I take that to be your name," interposed George, with dignity. "Kyle is making all the talk. You'll kindly leave me out."

"If you want to pick this thing up," cried Wiggin, now turning on George to the exclusion of the real culprit, "go ahead and pick. But you'll find it's got a hot end to it." It was plain that Kyle had done some artistic provoking. Young Wiggin was ready to fight at the first word from the one whom he thought his rival.

"You may make a fool of your own self over gossip, but you can't make one of me," said George, keeping his temper.

"If you hadn't been making some kind of cheap talk," insisted the other, "Kyle wouldn't have had anything to start on. I don't stand for any gossip about me. There's been too much of it along this border already. This is a good time to put a stop to it."

"Begin with those who have gossiped about you,' advised George, coldly and contemptuously. "As far as I'm concerned, I never heard of you till a few hours ago."

This did not placate Blinn. It rolled him more. It was dismissing him as a nobody.

"Because you're a Montreal dude, don't you think that anybody else amounts to anything else in the world? Now, you can't come up here and sneer at people! I'm going to close your mouth for you, and close it, now."

"That's the kind of talk, Blinn," shouted one of the bystanders. "You've sure got a reputation up and down the border, even if they don't know you where the bantam come from. Back it up, now!"

There was a good-sized crowd by this time. Others came running, summoned by the magic word, "Fight!" They grouped themselves in a hollow square, hemming in the two principals. The celerity with which this was done showed that fist duels in the north country were prised, respected, and were common.

"I was just thinkin' that that band music was li'ble to smooth out tempers and spoil the fightin', to-day," confided a burly woodsman to his neighbor in the press; "and that wouldn't have suited Cornelius. But them two young chaps seem to be husky enough to start 'er off in good shape."

"Now, back up what you've said about me," demanded Wiggin. "And there's only one way of backing it up."

The crowd had massed around so quickly that George could not retreat without fighting his way through the press. But he had no quarrel with this young fire eater. He had no appetite for fight. His desire at that moment was rather to fight the meddlesome Bill Kyle. The grin on that worthy's face stirred fury in his victim. To the astonishment of the crowd George turned his back on Wiggin, who already had his fists up, and walked over to Kyle.

"I'll not stand for this. You tell that man, there, that you've put up this job, or I'll settle this thing with you, Kyle, here and now. You've gone too far."

"Oh, go get a reputation!" chuckled the imperturbable boss. "Begin with a man of your own size. I'm startin' you right, son."

"Look-a-here," cried Wiggin, rushing to them, "don't you insult a friend of mine. You tattled your gossip to the wrong man, young fellow. Bill Kyle told me. Now, don't you go to giving him your 'impudence."

George kept his hands at his side in spite of the flourishing fists of his adversary.

"I'm not in the prize-fight class, Wiggin," he said. "When I have any reason for fighting with you, I'll do so. Just now, I don't propose to be made a spectacle of to entertain these drunken cattle."

It was righteous resentment, but it turned them all against him. The onlookers were used to seeing any man fight when he was provoked to it. This stranger seemed to be shirking. And his insult capped the climax. A man swore, and ran at George from behind, jolting both hands against his shoulders. The blow drove him forward toward Wiggin, and that young man did not wait for more definite challenge. He did not even give his opponent a fair chance. George's hands were still at his side. Wiggin struck him in the face and he went down. A roar from the crowd greeted the act, but it was not applause.

"A dirty trick Wiggin," shouted Kyle, first to resent it. "And now I hope he'll do you." There was no mistaking the sentiment of the crowd. They were woodsmen, and fair. A chorus of protest showed that they had turned against Wiggin in an instant.

Several men leaped to George, and raised him to his feet. His face was bleeding, and they wiped away the blood, giving him profane encouragement at the same time.

"I've a mind to give you a wallop, myself, for that," Kyle went on. "If you was that afraid he'd lick you fair, you ought to have stayed out of the fight. And now I hope he'll get the girl, too."

Drink and these reproaches drove out of Wiggin what little self-restraint he had left.

He cursed the lot of them. "This feller," he growled, "came up here bragging all along the way that he'd do me and have Clare Corran away from me."

"You lie, you drunken pup " George wrenched away from the hands that supported him. He was still dizzy from the blow, but his righteous anger now cleared his brain and steadied his nerves. As the other had become frantic, he became master of himself, though his face was rigid and gray with passion; the blood was a scarlet smear against the whiteness of his skin.

"I know what I'm talking about," screamed Wiggin. "It's my girl he's up here after, because she's got money, now."

Men in the crowd were crying protest. In that section, it was not well for any man to bandy Clare Corran's name in public brawl.

It was a mob that had grown till it filled the street. All the throngs had returned from the cemetery. They crowded on the outskirts. A man for whom they made way came thrusting through. He was tall and gaunt, a figure of angles. Even the gray beard on his cheeks was cut in the form of a carpenter's square.

"It's Jepson Wiggin — Blinn's old man," was the mutter that followed him through the crowd. "I guess he'll cal'late the youngster is talkin' too dev'lish much, just now."

In the wake of the old man followed Clare Corran on her big horse.

CORONATION,

ALBERTA

The Pacific Realty Co., Limited

154 Bay Street, Toronto, Phone Main 2435

has been authorized by the Land Department of the Candian a Pacific Railway to sell to the public CORONATION town lots.

Plan and map may be inspected at the office of The Pacific Realty Co., Limited, 154 Bay Street, Toronto, from 9.00 a.m. to 5.00 p. m., except Saturday, when the office closes at 1.00 p.m.

Facts About Coronation

Coronation is the first divisional town east of Lacombe, and is splendidly situated about twenty miles east of Castor, in the centre of some of the finest farming districts of Western Canada. Its natural advantages, combined with important railway developments, assure to it a future of considerable importance. Engineers are now locating two branch lines north and northwesterly from Coronation, and a third line is projected southeasterly to connect with the branch running northwesterly from Swift Current.

CORONATION will be:

A divisional centre on the great new railway route from St. Paul to Edmonton.

An important junctional centre, as three branch lines are already projected.

A distributing centre for a large and wealthy district.

A purchasing centre for thousands of Western Canada's most prosperous farmers.

If you wish to go into business or make a safe and profitable investment you cannot do better than purchase lots at Coronation, which is bound to rapidly become one of the most important towns of the West.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

Effective September 18th, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway inaugurated a mixed train service to be operated on the Regina Branch between Melville and Regina. This train will run Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, leaving Melville at 10.35 a.m., and arriving at Regina at 7.35 p.m. Leaving Regina Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 7 a.m., arriving at Melville at 4 p. m., and will make stops at the intermediate stations.

Mexico Oil

The Mexican Oil Fields, will probably break all records in the production of oil. The largest oil wells in the world are now flowing in the Tampico field, and development is just fairly begun. We offer an exceptionally attractive investment in the stock of a conservative Company, just organized, which controls 3500 acres, in the midst of the big producing section of the field. We are certain we can convince any one of the merits of the enterprise, and we want you to

INVESTIGATE

It will only cost you two cents to secure maps, booklet, and full description of what we have to offer. The stock is being sold for the purpose of drilling the property. Oil is now being produced on all four sides of this property. We will give you every opportunity to investigate the proposition itself and the officers in charge of its affairs. WRITE US for full information.

NORFOLK, Va.

A De Luxe Booklet.

The railways of the American Continent vie with each other in producing their publications in artistic and attractive style and the Grand Trunk have received the palm from connoisseurs for being the leaders in this direction. With their usual taste they have just issued a very handsome brochure slightly different to the ordinary run of railway booklets, inasmuch as there is not any descriptive matter in the publication, but it is a book of views that tell their story without words. The name of this unique piece of advertising is simply "Vistas" with the Grand Trunk trade mark on one corner of the cover. The cover itself is a reproduction in colors from a painting of "The International Limited" the finest and fastest train in Canada. Inside the book are found maps of the Grand Trunk Railway system and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and a series of sixty-one pictures of Canadian scenes. These pictures are reproduced in the finest of half tone process from direct photographic negatives and printed on high class coated paper. The booklet is a credit to the Company.

These awards have been made under the following:—"Arts and Crafts"; "Engineering, Lighting, and Transportation"; and "Building Trades"; also "Advertising." This is considered by the Companies named as a great honor, as other railways exhibiting at the Exhibition have only received one award.

The official report from the Grand Trunk representative at this Exhibition, for week ending September 9th, shows that the number of persons visiting the Grand Trunk Pavilion was 21,186, bringing the attendance up to September 9th to 279,942 people.

Out Canadian Rockies.

Trunk Pacific Railway from Mr. Armountain climber and topographer, who is at present in the Canadian Rockies making observations for the purpose of mapping out the district, he says:
